06/11/2014

An equality analysis has been produced to accompany those service offers where officers consider there is a potential significant impact on communities within Lancashire. Where no equality analysis has been produced we will consider further the potential impact of the service offer and, where appropriate, develop and refine our equality analysis over the period of consultation.

All equality analysis will be subject to ongoing review and further development where appropriate.

Adult Disability Provider Services (In House Domiciliary Services)
November 2014

Name/Nature of the Decision

Adult Disability Provider Services Service Offer (In House Domiciliary Services Review)

What in summary is the proposal being considered?

The project will concentrate on reducing the size of the In House Countywide Domiciliary Service. The project will review the existing supported living arrangements within the in house Domiciliary Service and make proposals to reduce the size of the service, over the next four years by exploring the availability of more cost effective supported living arrangements for some tenants

Is the decision likely to affect people across the county in a similar way or are specific areas likely to be affected – e.g. are a set number of branches/sites to be affected? If so you will need to consider whether there are equality related issues associated with the locations selected – e.g. greater percentage of BME residents in a particular area where a closure is proposed as opposed to an area where a facility is remaining open.

Could the decision have a particular impact on any group of individuals sharing protected characteristics under the Equality Act 2010, namely:

- Age
- Disability including Deaf people
- Gender reassignment
- Pregnancy and maternity
- Race/ethnicity/nationality
- Religion or belief

- Sex/gender
- Sexual orientation
- Marriage or Civil Partnership Status

In considering this question you should identify and record any particular impact on people in a sub-group of any of the above – e.g. people with a particular disability or from a particular religious or ethnic group.

It is particularly important to consider whether any decision is likely to impact adversely on any group of people sharing protected characteristics to a disproportionate extent. Any such disproportionate impact will need to be objectively justified.

People with learning disabilities who may also have some physical disabilities.

If you have answered "Yes" to this question in relation to any of the above characteristics, – please go to Question 1.
If you have answered "No" in relation to all the protected characteristics, please briefly document your reasons below and attach this to the decision-making papers. (It goes without saying that if the lack of impact is obvious, it need only be very briefly noted.)

Question 1 - Background Evidence

What information do you have about the different groups of people who may be affected by this decision – e.g. employees or service users (you could use monitoring data, survey data, etc to compile this). As indicated above, the relevant protected characteristics are:

- Age
- Disability including Deaf people
- Gender reassignment/gender identity
- Pregnancy and maternity
- Race/Ethnicity/Nationality
- Religion or belief
- Sex/gender
- Sexual orientation
- Marriage or Civil Partnership status (in respect of which the s. 149 requires only that due regard be paid to the need to eliminate discrimination, harassment or victimisation or other conduct which is prohibited by the Act).

In considering this question you should again consider whether the decision under consideration could impact upon specific subgroups e.g. people of a specific religion or people with a particular disability. You should also consider how the decision is likely to affect those who share two or more of the protected characteristics – for example, older women, disabled, elderly people, and so on.

People with a learning disability living in shared supported tenancies throughout the whole of Lancashire.

Lancashire county Council supports over 3200 adults with a learning disability including around 360 people who live in residential or nursing care. Over 2700 people are helped to live at home with over 1800 of those living in supported living within Lancashire. There are 794 individual or shared living schemes. 591 of these that have some form of night time support.

No one is supported in a house with more than 6 tenants sharing and the most frequent size of tenancies is three and four person schemes. Approximately 25 % of those people in supported living fall into the age band of 45-54 with the next highest (Approx 20%) falling into the 34-44 age group. Both the 25-54 and 55-54 age groups have approximately 18% each of the population living in supported living.

Approximately 11% of the population in supported living are over the age of 65. Approximately 2.5% of Supported Living tenants are of BME origin.

There are as twice as many men in supported living than women. The current level of vacancies at June 2012 was 125 accounting for about 7% of the overall capacity.

Question 2 - Engagement/Consultation

How have you tried to involve people/groups that are potentially affected by your decision? Please describe what engagement has taken place, with whom and when.

(Please ensure that you retain evidence of the consultation in case of any further enquiries. This includes the results of consultation or data gathering at any stage of the process)

The scope, actions, targets & outcomes of the project have yet to be determined however consultation with service users, their families, other providers and internal colleagues e.g Commissionign, PSC & Contracts, will be undertaken within an apporpriate timescale to ensure that feedback will influence the direction of the project as necessary.

Question 3 – Analysing Impact

Could your proposal potentially disadvantage particular groups sharing any of the protected characteristics and if so which groups and in what way?

It is particularly important in considering this question to get to grips with the actual practical impact on those affected. The decision-makers need to know in clear and specific terms what the impact may be and how serious, or perhaps minor, it may be – will people need to walk a few metres further to catch a bus, or to attend school? Will they be cut off altogether from vital services? The answers to such questions must be fully and frankly documented, for better or for worse, so that they can be properly evaluated when the decision is made.

Could your proposal potentially impact on individuals sharing the protected characteristics in any of the following ways:

- Could it discriminate unlawfully against individuals sharing any of the protected characteristics, whether directly or indirectly; if so, it must be amended. Bear in mind that this may involve taking steps to meet the specific needs of disabled people arising from their disabilities
- Could it advance equality of opportunity for those who share a particular protected characteristic? If not could it be developed or modified in order to do so?
- Does it encourage persons who share a relevant protected characteristic to participate in public life or in any activity in which participation by such persons is disproportionately low? If not could it be developed or modified in order to do so?
- Will the proposal contribute to fostering good relations between those who share a relevant protected characteristic and those who do not, for example by tackling prejudice and promoting understanding? If not could it be developed or modified in order to do so? Please identify any findings and how they might be addressed.

Further consideration of the potential impact will be assessed and added to this document later.

Question 4 – Combined/Cumulative Effect

Could the effects of your decision combine with other factors or decisions taken at local or national level to exacerbate the impact on any groups?

For example - if the proposal is to impose charges for adult social care, its impact on disabled people might be increased by other decisions within the County Council (e.g. increases in the fares charged for Community Transport and reductions in respite care) and national proposals (e.g. the availability of some benefits). Whilst LCC cannot control some of these decisions, they could increase the adverse effect of the proposal. The LCC has a legal duty to consider this aspect, and to evaluate the decision, including mitigation, accordingly.

If Yes – please identify these.

The Remodelling of Learning Disability Support Accommodation within the independent sector is running in parallel and the number of providers may reduce as a result of this programme, leading to a reduced choice to those service users seeking alternative provision

The programme of activity to be undertaken by the Remodelling Team is not intended to heighten disadvantages amongst any of the above groups and have used the following reference in support of this aim.

Commissioning Intention 5 states that we will 'Work with District Councils and housing partners to develop alternative types of accommodation which provide choice, enables people to retain their independence and whenever possible provides a home for life'.

Included in the actions to achieve this are:

To ensure that those people with learning disabilities who live in supported living schemes are supported in the most appropriate, flexible and cost effective way based on the principles of self directed support, maximising the use of personal budgets and universal services.

To remodel current supported living situations for people with learning disabilities to ensure that there will be a range of housing options available for people to choose from.

The Remodelling activity was commenced to support;

- 1. The County Council's response to Personalisation, now identified within future legislation Care and Support Bill.
- 2. The development of self directed supports in Lancashire
- 3. Citizens living in existing supported living fully understand the impact of self directed supports and what their choices and options may be.
- 4. Achieve a range of affordable housing and support options that maintain the integrity of self directed supports.

The remodelling activity will aim to improve life opportunities and maintain a range of affordable models of support and the review of the in house Supported Living provision will reflect these intentions.

The Remodelling Team have however noted that there are risks within the existing model of supported living that impact on choice, particularly in relation to vacancies and voids.

The planned activity however will aim to address these risks and seek to minimise the impact of the model on choice and control, thus reducing the impact of any perceived inequality.

Consideration will also need to be given to any changes to housing benefit and how this may influence the way vacancies will be looked at by district councils.

Other proposals which will impact on this proposal include the review of Supporting People, Telecare and the integration of health & social care

Question 5 - Identifying Initial Results of Your Analysis

As a result of your analysis have you changed/amended your original proposal?

Please identify how -

For example:

Adjusted the original proposal – briefly outline the adjustments

Continuing with the Original Proposal – briefly explain why

Stopped the Proposal and Revised it - briefly explain

Continuing with the Original Proposal as this will identify any issues which arise as a result of the review, these will then be considered.

Question 6 - Mitigation

Please set out any steps you will take to mitigate/reduce any potential adverse effects of your decision on those sharing any particular protected characteristic. It is important here to do a genuine and realistic evaluation of the effectiveness of the mitigation contemplated. Over-optimistic and over-generalised assessments are likely to fall short of the "due regard" requirement.

Also consider if any mitigation might adversely affect any other groups and how this might be managed.

- 1. Families and individual tenants who have been in receipt of support from the in house ADS Domiciliary Service (for over 20 years in some cases, when they were resettlement from the long stay hospitals) may not wish to move their support over to an external provider. Removing their choice to stay with the in house provider may prove problematic for some families.
- 2. The savings can only be made following the successful retendering of identified tenancies, which is dependent upon external providers being willing and able to deliver the required support within the level of the individual budgets of the tenants.

The above factors identified in 1. will be addressed in each tenancy with tenants and their relatives during the review process when their choices regarding future care and support will be discussed in detail. In regards to 2.detailed discussions will take place with all potential providers facilitated by LCC Commissioners and Contracts

Question 7 – Balancing the Proposal/Countervailing Factors

At this point you need to weigh up the reasons for the proposal – e.g. need for budget savings; damaging effects of not taking forward the proposal at this time – against the findings of your analysis. Please describe this assessment. It is important here to ensure that the assessment of any negative effects upon those sharing protected characteristics is full and frank. The full extent of actual adverse impacts must be acknowledged and taken into account, or the assessment will be inadequate. What is required is an honest evaluation, and not a marketing exercise. Conversely, while adverse effects should be frankly acknowledged, they need not be overstated or exaggerated. Where effects are not serious, this too should be made clear.

The context of this project is that it will run in parallel to the Supported Accommodation Review led by Commissioners and PSC, the Review of the LD Provider Framework and the work to generate FACE assessments of all 320 individual tenants, under the direction of PSC. This project will be very complicated as it will impact on 320 tenants, their families and approximately 820 overall staff within the current provider service, as well as several Housing Associations.

The level of financial savings required by the Council means that consideration must be given to reducing in house supports for people with more moderate needs, especially as there are other external providers who can offer a similar quality service at a more competitive rate. It is essential that this review of in house Supported Living is undertaken in parallel with a similar review of external provision under the 'Remodelling of Supported Accommodation Proposal', as there will be common issues raised within both projects which need to be considered together in order to develop a cohesive overall strategy for the future of all people with learning disabilities who live in supported accommodation across Lancashire.

Question 8 – Final Proposal

In summary, what is your final proposal and which groups may be affected and how?

To continue to review the needs of all 320 tenants within the in house Domiciliary Service in order to determine their social care needs and the level of individual budget to be made available to meet these needs. This will then lead to a review of the current supported living arrangements and whether the tenants can be supported by other providers who can offer a good quality service at a more competitive rate

Question 9 – Review and Monitoring Arrangements

Describe what arrangements you will put in place to review and monitor the effects of your proposal.

Care Navigation Service Offer

What in summary is the proposal being considered?

The service offer is to increase the provision of Care Navigator staffing within the Care Navigation/Brokerage service. Although the overall pay budget is reducing there is sufficient funding available to increase the provision and provide a wider service offer to encompass work that is currently undertaken by Social Workers in relation to Residential Care findings for the citizens of Lancashire. There will also be a wider provision of support to none Social Care clients otherwise known as private funders, who do contact the service directly but do not wish to undergo a Social Care assessment, and do not require to do so.

Is the decision likely to affect people across the county in a similar way or are specific areas likely to be affected – e.g. are a set number of branches/sites to be affected? If so you will need to consider whether there are equality related issues associated with the locations selected – e.g. greater percentage of BME residents in a particular area where a closure is proposed as opposed to an area where a facility is remaining open.

This affects the whole county.

There is no change to the groups of people that would be supported.

Could the decision have a particular impact on any group of individuals sharing protected characteristics under the Equality Act 2010, namely:

- Age
- Disability including Deaf people
- Gender reassignment
- Pregnancy and maternity

- Race/ethnicity/nationality
- Religion or belief
- Sex/gender
- Sexual orientation
- Marriage or Civil Partnership Status

In considering this question you should identify and record any particular impact on people in a sub-group of any of the above – e.g. people with a particular disability or from a particular religious or ethnic group.

It is particularly important to consider whether any decision is likely to impact adversely on any group of people sharing protected characteristics to a disproportionate extent. Any such disproportionate impact will need to be objectively justified.

No
If you have answered "Yes" to this question in relation to any of the above characteristics, – please go to Question 1.

If you have answered "No" in relation to all the protected characteristics, please briefly document your reasons below and attach this to the decision-making papers. (It goes without saying that if the lack of impact is obvious, it need only be very briefly noted.)

The service is continuing in its current service offer from an aspect of who can access it but will have more staff to undertake the work allowing for resources to be freed up from a Social Worker/RASO capacity.

Question 1 - Background Evidence

- Gender reassignment/gender identity
- Pregnancy and maternity
- Race/Ethnicity/Nationality
- · Religion or belief

- Marriage or Civil Partnership status (in respect of which the s. 149 requires only that due regard be paid to the need to eliminate discrimination, harassment or victimisation or other conduct which is prohibited by the Act).

Care Services

For Decision Making Items November 2014

Name/Nature of the Decision

Care Services Service Offer

What in summary is the proposal being considered?

There are 5 elements to the proposal;

- 1. We will review the number of care homes to establish the overall number of beds required. We will consider a range of issues including condition surveys and occupancy levels in determining whether our current level of provision is appropriate.
- 2. We will review the number of day centres to establish the overall level of need and to determine whether our current level of provision is appropriate.
- 3. Alter staff sleep-in procedures for on call arrangements in 15 residential homes for older people.
- 4. Create additional bedrooms as a result of freeing up staff sleep-in rooms and additional rooms from releasing space in attached day centres
- 5. Alternative additional hours and "cover" arrangements for care assistants on holiday or absent due to sickness etc in residential care homes.

Is the decision likely to affect people across the county in a similar way or are specific areas likely to be affected – e.g. are a set number of branches/sites to be affected? If so you will need to consider whether there are equality related issues associated with the locations selected – e.g. greater percentage of BME residents in a particular area where a closure is proposed as opposed to an area where a facility is remaining open.

The impact of proposals 1 and 2 will be dependent on the outcome of review of needs/provision. We will consider the impact on the population, residents and staffing.

Proposals 3 to 5 are all county wide proposals.

Could the decision have a particular impact on any group of individuals sharing protected characteristics under the Equality Act 2010, namely:

- Age
- Disability including Deaf people
- Gender reassignment
- Pregnancy and maternity
- Race/ethnicity/nationality
- Religion or belief
- Sex/gender
- Sexual orientation
- Marriage or Civil Partnership Status

In considering this question you should identify and record any particular impact on people in a sub-group of any of the above – e.g. people with a particular disability or from a particular religious or ethnic group.

It is particularly important to consider whether any decision is likely to impact adversely on any group of people sharing protected characteristics to a disproportionate extent. Any such disproportionate impact will need to be objectively justified.

- 1. Yes residents in residential homes are older people and some have a disability/dementia. (see Q1)
- 2. Yes service users at day centres are older people and some have a disability/dementia.

Proposals 3 to 5 - no.

If you have answered "Yes" to this question in relation to any of the above characteristics, – please go to Question 1.

Proposals 1 and 2 only

If you have answered "No" in relation to all the protected characteristics, please briefly document your reasons below and attach this to the decision-making papers. (It goes without saying that if the lack of impact is obvious, it need only be very briefly noted.)

- 3. Change to provision of on call provision at night, provision will still be provided.
- 4. Provides additional residential bedrooms.
- 5. Provides a system to cover additional hours in an alternative manner.

Question 1 - Background Evidence

What information do you have about the different groups of people who may be affected by this decision – e.g. employees or service users (you could use monitoring data, survey data, etc to compile this). As indicated above, the relevant protected characteristics are:

- Age
- Disability including Deaf people
- Gender reassignment/gender identity
- Pregnancy and maternity
- Race/Ethnicity/Nationality
- Religion or belief
- Sex/gender
- Sexual orientation
- Marriage or Civil Partnership status (in respect of which the s. 149 requires only that due regard be paid to the need to eliminate discrimination, harassment or victimisation or other conduct which is prohibited by the Act).

In considering this question you should again consider whether the decision under consideration could impact upon specific subgroups e.g. people of a specific religion or people with a particular disability. You should also consider how the decision is likely to affect those who share two or more of the protected characteristics – for example, older women, disabled, elderly people, and so on.

Following the review of needs and provision we will analyse:

staff employed within homes and day centres that may be affected

Question 2 – Engagement/Consultation

How have you tried to involve people/groups that are potentially affected by your decision? Please describe what engagement has taken place, with whom and when.

(Please ensure that you retain evidence of the consultation in case of any further enquiries. This includes the results of consultation or data gathering at any stage of the process)

Consultation process not in place at this stage. Services will continue to be provided at different locations.

Experience gained during the Care Home rationalisation project which was completed between 2005 and 2009 will be fully utilised. Consultation with residents and service users with regard to their choices of where they wish to move to, and wherever possible an alternative LCC run facility would be provided.

Question 3 – Analysing Impact

Could your proposal potentially disadvantage particular groups sharing any of the protected characteristics and if so which groups and in what way?

It is particularly important in considering this question to get to grips with the actual practical impact on those affected. The decision-makers need to know in clear and specific terms what the impact may be and how serious, or perhaps minor, it may be – will people need to walk a few metres further to catch a bus, or to attend school? Will they be cut off altogether from vital services? The answers to such questions must be fully and frankly documented, for better or for worse, so that they can be properly evaluated when the decision is made.

Could your proposal potentially impact on individuals sharing the protected characteristics in any of the following ways:

- Could it discriminate unlawfully against individuals sharing any of the protected characteristics, whether directly or indirectly; if so, it must be amended. Bear in mind that this may involve taking steps to meet the specific needs of disabled people arising from their disabilities
- Could it advance equality of opportunity for those who share a particular protected characteristic? If not could it be developed or modified in order to do so?
- Does it encourage persons who share a relevant protected characteristic to participate in public life or in any activity in which participation by such persons is disproportionately low? If not could it be developed or modified in order to do so?

If the number of homes or day centres were to reduce there may some additional travelling involved with regard to family members visiting residents in residential homes, and service users attending alternative day care facilities.

Question 4 –Combined/Cumulative Effect

Could the effects of your decision combine with other factors or decisions taken at local or national level to exacerbate the impact on any groups?

For example - if the proposal is to impose charges for adult social care, its impact on disabled people might be increased by other decisions within the County Council (e.g. increases in the fares charged for Community Transport and reductions in respite care) and national proposals (e.g. the availability of some benefits). Whilst LCC cannot control some of these decisions, they could increase the adverse effect of the proposal. The LCC has a legal duty to consider this aspect, and to evaluate the decision, including mitigation, accordingly.

If Yes – please identify these.

With regards to transport costs there may be other proposals regarding service users access to transport.

With regards to the transformation of the whole of LCC, current austerity measures and budget reductions may reduce options for staff affected by the decisions in obtaining new employment. The vast majority of staff who might be affected by any change in provision are female part time workers.

Question 5 - Identifying Initial Results of Your Analysis

As a result of your analysis have you changed/amended your original proposal?

Please identify how -

For example:

Adjusted the original proposal – briefly outline the adjustments

Continuing with the Original Proposal – briefly explain why

Stopped the Proposal and Revised it - briefly explain

The proposals will be developed in line with the service offer.

Question 6 - Mitigation

Please set out any steps you will take to mitigate/reduce any potential adverse effects of your decision on those sharing any particular protected characteristic. It is important here to do a genuine and realistic evaluation of the effectiveness of the mitigation contemplated.

Over-optimistic and over-generalised assessments are likely to fall short of the "due regard" requirement.

Also consider if any mitigation might adversely affect any other groups and how this might be managed.

The proposals do not result in the cessation of the provision of any services but might impact on where the services are provided.

Question 7 - Balancing the Proposal/Countervailing Factors

At this point you need to weigh up the reasons for the proposal – e.g. need for budget savings; damaging effects of not taking forward the proposal at this time – against the findings of your analysis. Please describe this assessment. It is important here to ensure that the assessment of any negative effects upon those sharing protected characteristics is full and frank. The full extent of actual adverse impacts must be acknowledged and taken into account, or the assessment will be inadequate. What is required is an honest evaluation, and not a marketing exercise. Conversely, while adverse effects should be frankly acknowledged, they need not be overstated or exaggerated. Where effects are not serious, this too should be made clear.

The proposal is necessary to help enable the Council to achieve savings targets of £300m. By reducing our costs we are better placed to safeguard front line delivery to residents in Lancashire.

Question 8 – Final Proposal

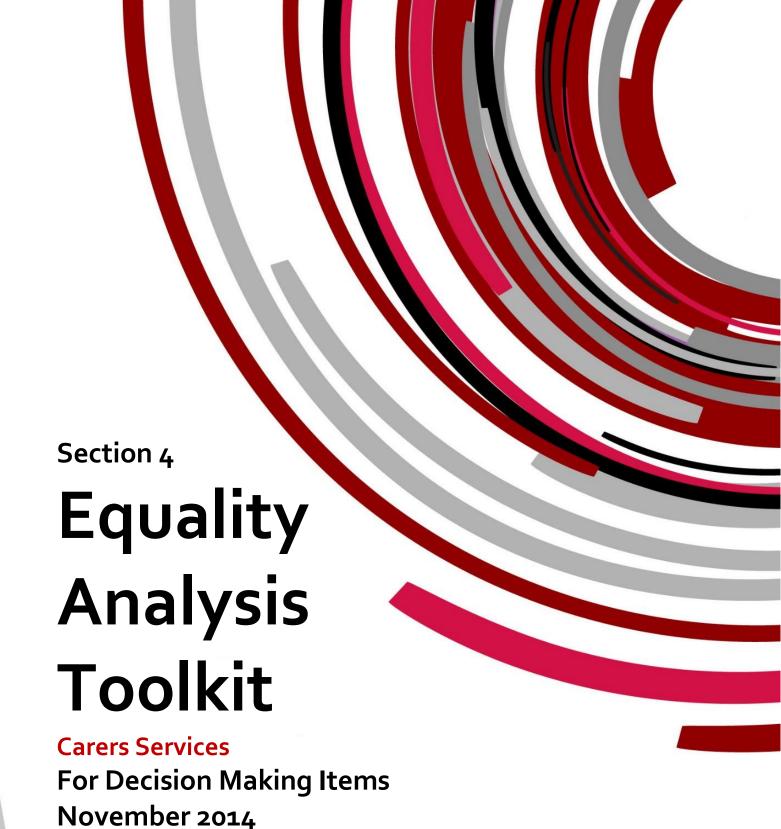

In summary, what is your final proposal and which groups may be affected and how?

Our final proposal is to proceed with new Care Services service offer.

Question 9 – Review and Monitoring Arrangements

Describe what arrangements you will put in place to review and monitor the effects of your proposal.

We will develop monitoring arrangements as our proposals develop further.

Agreement is being sought to agree to re-procure the carers support service with a revised specification across all areas of Lancashire.

What in summary is the proposal being considered?

A Lancashire wide carers support service is currently funded on an East, Central and North footprint to provide tailored support to carers. The current providers are n-compass (North), Central and West Lancs Carers (Central) and Carers Link Lancashire (East).

Negotiations are under way with CCG's to secure additional funding as part of Better Care Fund (BCF) arrangements. As BCF plans will not be in place before the start of the tender, the new contract will be an interim arrangement for up to 3 years.

A procurement process will enable a consistent service to be commissioned supporting carers in their role, preventing a deterioration of their mental and physical wellbeing which will also support service users to maintain their life opportunities. Procurement will be undertaken in 5 lots mirroring CCG areas.

The re-tendered service will not significantly differ from the current contract but will include the need to undertake carers assessments on behalf of LCC as the numbers of carers assessment referrals are likely to increase significantly due to legislation changes in the Care Act April 2015. The new contract will focus on:

- A reduction in carer breakdown
- Development of emergency plans (Peace of Mind 4 Carers)
- A reduction in residential care admissions
- Ensuring the carer gets a break
- A reduction in acute admissions to hospital
- Improved health and emotional wellbeing of service users and carers
- Improved life opportunities for carers and service users
- Providing 1:1 support for carers

- Offering carers a carers assessment
- Offering appropriate and timely information
- Offering opportunities for carers to get their voice heard
- Offer opportunities for peer support
- Offer an accessible service

Is the decision likely to affect people across the county in a similar way or are specific areas likely to be affected – e.g. are a set number of branches/sites to be affected? If so you will need to consider whether there are equality related issues associated with the locations selected – e.g. greater percentage of BME residents in a particular area where a closure is proposed as opposed to an area where a facility is remaining open.

There will be a core offer that all carers across Lancashire will have the opportunity to access. However, where additional CCG funding is secured, additional funding will be available that may focus on identification of carers in a health setting and also increase the Time for Me money that is available.

Could the decision have a particular impact on any group of individuals sharing protected characteristics under the Equality Act 2010, namely:

- Age
- Disability including Deaf people
- Gender reassignment
- Pregnancy and maternity
- Race/ethnicity/nationality
- Religion or belief
- Sex/gender
- Sexual orientation
- Marriage or Civil Partnership Status

In considering this question you should identify and record any particular impact on people in a sub-group of any of the above – e.g. people with a particular disability or from a particular religious or ethnic group.

It is particularly important to consider whether any decision is likely to impact adversely on any group of people sharing protected characteristics to a disproportionate extent. Any such disproportionate impact will need to be objectively justified.

Yes, carers are likely to be caring for people who fall within the protected characteristic categories. Additionally, many carers are older females and around 8.5% of carers are from BME communities.

If you have answered "Yes" to this question in relation to any of the above characteristics, – please go to Question 1.					ove characteristics, – please go to Question 1.

If you have answered "No" in relation to all the protected characteristics, please briefly document your reasons below and attach this to the decision-making papers. (It goes without saying that if the lack of impact is obvious, it need only be very briefly noted.)

Question 1 - Background Evidence

What information do you have about the different groups of people who may be affected by this decision – e.g. employees or service users (you could use monitoring data, survey data, etc to compile this). As indicated above, the relevant protected characteristics are:

- Age
- Disability including Deaf people
- Gender reassignment/gender identity
- Pregnancy and maternity
- Race/Ethnicity/Nationality
- Religion or belief
- Sex/gender
- Sexual orientation
- Marriage or Civil Partnership status (in respect of which the s. 149 requires only that due regard be paid to the need to eliminate discrimination, harassment or victimisation or other conduct which is prohibited by the Act).

In considering this question you should again consider whether the decision under consideration could impact upon specific subgroups e.g. people of a specific religion or people with a particular disability. You should also consider how the decision is likely to affect those who share two or more of the protected characteristics – for example, older women, disabled, elderly people, and so on.

Current contract monitoring information reveals that more women use the service than men, which is in line with data from the 2011 census which says that 58% of carers are female. The majority of carers accessing the service are over 45 years with very few carers being supported between 18 and 35 years old. 8.5% of the current carers supported are from BME communities.

The new contract will specify the need to provide specialist BME workers who are able to provide support in appropriate languages.

The new contract is to support all carers over the age of 18 irrespective of gender, religion, beliefs etc. The contract will specify the need to ensure all carers are supported appropriately by offering a flexible service making use of accessible buildings, technology, home visits, facilitating specialist support groups, such as LGBT support groups etc.

Question 2 - Engagement/Consultation

How have you tried to involve people/groups that are potentially affected by your decision? Please describe what engagement has taken place, with whom and when.

(Please ensure that you retain evidence of the consultation in case of any further enquiries. This includes the results of consultation or data gathering at any stage of the process)

As part of procurement plans, the following methods have been used to consult with various stakeholders:

- 1. Monitoring visits with current carers service providers
- 2. Consultation with the Lancashire Carers Forum October 2014
- 3. Carers will be involved in the tender process
- 4. On-going discussions with CCG's

The outcome of the consultation was that carers are happy with the current service they receive from the carers service. Particular features that they valued is the Time for Me Grant, the 1:1 support offered by carers service workers and the Peace of Mind emergency planning service.

Additionally, CCGs are keen to ensure that carers services link in with health related services such as hospitals and GP's. They are also keen to ensure that services for carers are provided in neighbourhood localities.

Question 3 – Analysing Impact

Could your proposal potentially disadvantage particular groups sharing any of the protected characteristics and if so which groups and in what way?

It is particularly important in considering this question to get to grips with the actual practical impact on those affected. The decision-makers need to know in clear and specific terms what the impact may be and how serious, or perhaps minor, it may be – will people need to walk a few metres further to catch a bus, or to attend school? Will they be cut off altogether from vital services? The answers to such questions must be fully and frankly documented, for better or for worse, so that they can be properly evaluated when the decision is made.

Could your proposal potentially impact on individuals sharing the protected characteristics in any of the following ways:

- Could it discriminate unlawfully against individuals sharing any of the protected characteristics, whether directly or indirectly; if so, it must be amended. Bear in mind that this may involve taking steps to meet the specific needs of disabled people arising from their disabilities
- Could it advance equality of opportunity for those who share a particular protected characteristic? If not could it be developed or modified in order to do so?
- Does it encourage persons who share a relevant protected characteristic to participate in public life or in any activity in which participation by such persons is disproportionately low? If not could it be developed or modified in order to do so?

The proposal will encourage carers to participate more in public life by ensuring they have the support in place to enable them to have a break from their caring role.

Carers who do feel stigmatised because of the nature of the illness the person they care for will be supported, should they choose, to come together where they can openly talk about their issues and receive relevant information and advice. The need to facilitate social media mechanisms will be in the contract and will enable carers, where appropriate, to communicate with each other providing a source of support and potentially increase carers confidence. It is envisaged that this type of support will enable carers to develop friendships and circles of support to increase their general wellbeing by feeling less isolated. Interested carers who do not have access to a PC or the skills to use social media will have access to training and will also be able to apply for a grant to purchase a computer/tablet. Carers also have the option to attend various support groups held in areas where they live, such as garden centres.

The new contracted service will have at its guiding principle the need to treat people with dignity and respect. The service will seek to tackle discrimination and harassment of certain groups of carers by challenging discrimination when identified within organisations.

Question 4 – Combined/Cumulative Effect

Could the effects of your decision combine with other factors or decisions taken at local or national level to exacerbate the impact on any groups?

For example - if the proposal is to impose charges for adult social care, its impact on disabled people might be increased by other decisions within the County Council (e.g. increases in the fares charged for Community Transport and reductions in respite care) and national proposals (e.g. the availability of some benefits). Whilst LCC cannot control some of these decisions, they could increase the adverse effect of the proposal. The LCC has a legal duty to consider this aspect, and to evaluate the decision, including mitigation, accordingly.

If Yes – please identify these.

There are a number of changes planned that are impacting on carers:

- Care Act 2014

 — this legislation removes the current eligibility for carers to access a carers assessment increasing the numbers of carers that can access an assessment. In addition, eligible carers from April 2015 will be entitled to a personal budget. Carers services will be providing carers assessment and potentially in the longer term commissioning budgets for carers via the new contract.
- Reduced budgets General budget reductions and policy changes within the authority may have an impact on carers, for example, reduced formal support for the cared for person, increased service user charges impacting

- on the family finances, reduced services available. The impact of these changes can lead to greater pressures and stress for the carer.
- Welfare Reform benefit changes are impacting on carers as fewer people are eligible for benefits to support them and/or the person that they care for. Carers also find the processes of claiming for benefits under the reforms stressful and complicated.
- Help Direct review the redesign of Help Direct may potentially impact on carers
- Provider Framework the implementation of the provider framework will potentially impact on carers as providers they currently use may have to change in future

Question 5 – Identifying Initial Results of Your Analysis

As a result of your analysis have you changed/amended your original proposal?

Please identify how -

For example:

Adjusted the original proposal – briefly outline the adjustments

Continuing with the Original Proposal - briefly explain why

Stopped the Proposal and Revised it - briefly explain

The decision has been taken to continue with the original proposal as it is felt that it has no detrimental impact on particular groups sharing any of the protected characteristics. A communication strategy will be developed with carers services to ensure carers are aware of the support available to them. Consultation will be a major feature of the contract with the carers service which will include local consultation and Lancashire wide.

Monitoring of the contract will include ensuring robust contract monitoring is in place across the protected characteristics.

Question 6 - Mitigation

Please set out any steps you will take to mitigate/reduce any potential adverse effects of your decision on those sharing any particular protected characteristic. It is important here to do a genuine and realistic evaluation of the effectiveness of the mitigation contemplated. Over-optimistic and over-generalised assessments are likely to fall short of the "due regard" requirement.

Also consider if any mitigation might adversely affect any other groups and how this might be managed.

It is highly unlikely that there will be any adverse effects on groups sharing relevant protected characteristics, all carers 18 + will be eligible to access the service.

Robust communication and consultation strategies will be put in place to ensure maximum uptake of carers services to support carers around the changes affecting carers.

Question 7 – Balancing the Proposal/Countervailing Factors

At this point you need to weigh up the reasons for the proposal – e.g. need for budget savings; damaging effects of not taking forward the proposal at this time – against the findings of your analysis. Please describe this assessment. It is important here to ensure that the assessment of any negative effects upon those sharing protected characteristics is full and frank. The full extent of actual adverse impacts must be acknowledged and taken into account, or the assessment will be inadequate. What is required is an honest evaluation, and not a marketing exercise. Conversely, while adverse effects should be frankly acknowledged, they need not be overstated or exaggerated. Where effects are not serious, this too should be made clear.

The reason for the proposal is to ensure that carers have the support they need to ensure the sustainability of their caring role. Caring for someone can be very demanding and stressful. Carers often require specialised information around, for example, treatment, medication, conditions, getting a break and navigation through the health and social care systems.

Additionally, the Care Act, which comes into force in April 2015 introduces a change in eligibility for a carers assessment which is highly likely to result in greater numbers of carers requiring a carers assessment. The new contract will include the requirement for the provider to carry out carers assessments on behalf of the Authority to meet the new potential demand.

The potential result of not providing this specialised support is a breakdown of the caring role, which may then lead to costly interventions and services.

Question 8 – Final Proposal

In summary, what is your final proposal and which groups may be affected and how?

The recommended proposal is to retender the current carers service on a CCG footprint basis (East Lancs, Fylde and Wyre, North Lancs, West Lancs and Chorley, South Ribble and Greater Preston) There is clear evidence that a carers support service is required to support carers to maintain their own health and well being and support them to continue to care.

A procurement process would enable a consistent service to be commissioned supporting carers in their role, preventing a deterioration of their mental and physical wellbeing which will also support service users to maintain their life opportunities.

It is anticipated that all carers 18+ across Lancashire will be able to access the service so no protected groups would be adversely affected.

Question 9 – Review and Monitoring Arrangements

Describe what arrangements you will put in place to review and monitor the effects of your proposal.

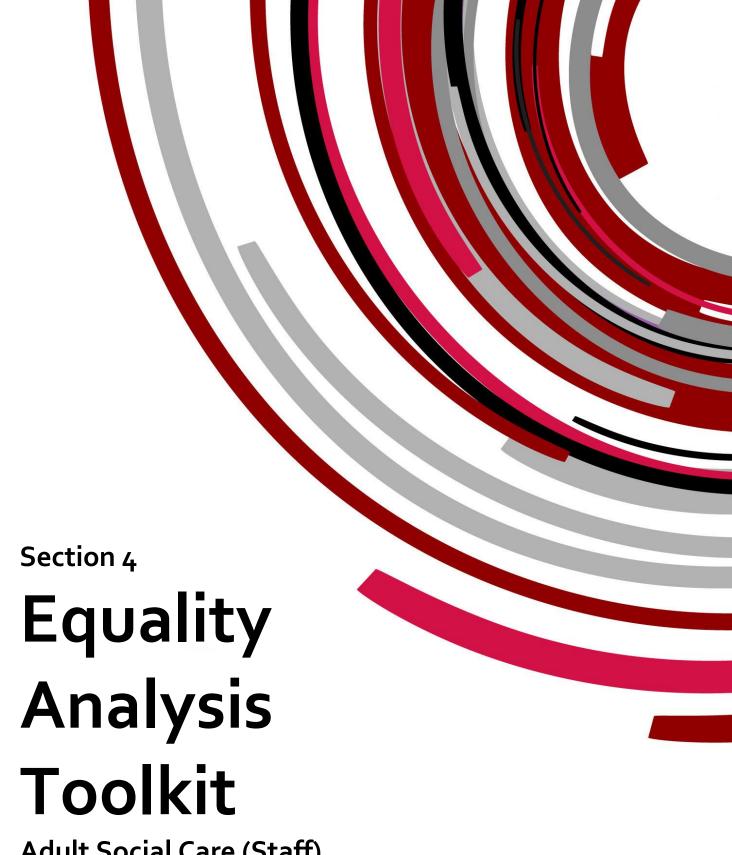

We will review the contract internally every 6 months and with the provider annually.

Progress on development of the newly commissioned service will be reported at least annually to the Multi Agency Carers Strategy Group.

Monitoring systems will take account of the 9 protected characteristic groups.

Name/Nature of the Decision

Adult Social Care (Staff) Service Offer

What in summary is the proposal being considered?

A redesign of Personal Social Care to offer a professional, person centred service focussed on service users and carers having a high quality experience during the time they are in contact with the service. The service will work effectively and efficiently with other organisations for the benefit of service users and carers to deliver the best outcomes for them so that they feel supported, safe, well and protected.

Is the decision likely to affect people across the county in a similar way or are specific areas likely to be affected – e.g. are a set number of branches/sites to be affected? If so you will need to consider whether there are equality related issues associated with the locations selected – e.g. greater percentage of BME residents in a particular area where a closure is proposed as opposed to an area where a facility is remaining open.

The redesign will affect all staff and all Personal Social Care service users in Lancashire

Could the decision have a particular impact on any group of individuals sharing protected characteristics under the Equality Act 2010, namely:

- Age
- Disability including Deaf people
- Gender reassignment
- Pregnancy and maternity
- Race/ethnicity/nationality
- Religion or belief

- Sex/gender
- Sexual orientation
- Marriage or Civil Partnership Status

In considering this question you should identify and record any particular impact on people in a sub-group of any of the above – e.g. people with a particular disability or from a particular religious or ethnic group.

It is particularly important to consider whether any decision is likely to impact adversely on any group of people sharing protected characteristics to a disproportionate extent. Any such disproportionate impact will need to be objectively justified.

Yes
If you have answered "Yes" to this question in relation to any of the above characteristics, – please go to Question 1.
If you have answered "No" in relation to all the protected characteristics, please briefly document your reasons below and attach this to the decision-making papers. (It goes without saying that if the lack of impact is obvious, it need only be very briefly noted.)

Question 1 - Background Evidence

What information do you have about the different groups of people who may be affected by this decision – e.g. employees or service users (you could use monitoring data, survey data, etc to compile this). As indicated above, the relevant protected characteristics are:

- Age
- Disability including Deaf people
- Gender reassignment/gender identity
- Pregnancy and maternity
- Race/Ethnicity/Nationality
- Religion or belief
- Sex/gender
- Sexual orientation
- Marriage or Civil Partnership status (in respect of which the s. 149 requires only that due regard be paid to the need to eliminate discrimination, harassment or victimisation or other conduct which is prohibited by the Act).

In considering this question you should again consider whether the decision under consideration could impact upon specific subgroups e.g. people of a specific religion or people with a particular disability. You should also consider how the decision is likely to affect those who share two or more of the protected characteristics – for example, older women, disabled, elderly people, and so on.

All staff in Personal Social Care – approximately 500 workers and managers.

All adult service users groups – older people, people with physical disabilities, people with learning disabilities and their carers.

Question 2 - Engagement/Consultation

How have you tried to involve people/groups that are potentially affected by your decision? Please describe what engagement has taken place, with whom and when.

(Please ensure that you retain evidence of the consultation in case of any further enquiries. This includes the results of consultation or data gathering at any stage of the process)

Staff and management involvement will be included in the redesign workshops and informal consultation will take place to seek the views of all staff on the outcomes of the project.

Formal consultation will take place as part of the eventual restructure

Consultation with other relevant groups will also be considered

Question 3 – Analysing Impact

Could your proposal potentially disadvantage particular groups sharing any of the protected characteristics and if so which groups and in what way?

It is particularly important in considering this question to get to grips with the actual practical impact on those affected. The decision-makers need to know in clear and specific terms what the impact may be and how serious, or perhaps minor, it may be – will people need to walk a few metres further to catch a bus, or to attend school? Will they be cut off altogether from vital services? The answers to such questions must be fully and frankly documented, for better or for worse, so that they can be properly evaluated when the decision is made.

Could your proposal potentially impact on individuals sharing the protected characteristics in any of the following ways:

- Could it discriminate unlawfully against individuals sharing any of the protected characteristics, whether directly or indirectly; if so, it must be amended. Bear in mind that this may involve taking steps to meet the specific needs of disabled people arising from their disabilities
- Could it advance equality of opportunity for those who share a particular protected characteristic? If not could it be developed or modified in order to do so?

- Does it encourage persons who share a relevant protected characteristic to participate in public life or in any activity in which participation by such persons is disproportionately low? If not could it be developed or modified in order to do so?

Staff are unlikely to be disadvantaged as the redesign will include staff engagement, staff learning and development and a formal restructure or transformation process.

Service Users are unlikely to be disadvantaged as the changes to the service will offer

- early resolution of referrals where possible and a proportionate response.
- reduced handovers for service users.
- a more personalised service.
- improved safeguards

However we will have a clearer indication of any potential negative impacts following the consultation and further analysis

Question 4 - Combined/Cumulative Effect

Could the effects of your decision combine with other factors or decisions taken at local or national level to exacerbate the impact on any groups?

For example - if the proposal is to impose charges for adult social care, its impact on disabled people might be increased by other decisions within the County Council (e.g. increases in the fares charged for Community Transport and reductions in respite care) and national proposals (e.g. the availability of some benefits). Whilst LCC cannot control some of these decisions, they could increase the adverse effect of the proposal. The LCC has a legal duty to consider this aspect, and to evaluate the decision, including mitigation, accordingly.

If Yes – please identify these.

The implementation of the Care Act which brings additional responsibilities for the local authority which will impact upon social work teams and coincides with the service redesign.

A Care Act Project Team are evaluating the impact of the Act on the workforce and the learning and development required to meet the requirements of the Act.

Service users will be facing various changes from local and national government which will need careful handling and managing from a local service point of view

Question 5 – Identifying Initial Results of Your Analysis

As a result of your analysis have you changed/amended your original proposal?

Please identify how –

For example:

Adjusted the original proposal – briefly outline the adjustments

Continuing with the Original Proposal – briefly explain why

Stopped the Proposal and Revised it - briefly explain

Once the detail of the proposals have been mapped out and the consultation and further analysis has been undertaken we will update and review the detailed Equality Analysis (toolkit 2)

Question 6 - Mitigation

Please set out any steps you will take to mitigate/reduce any potential adverse effects of your decision on those sharing any particular protected characteristic. It is important here to do a genuine and realistic evaluation of the effectiveness of the mitigation contemplated. Over-optimistic and over-generalised assessments are likely to fall short of the "due regard" requirement.

Also consider if any mitigation might adversely affect any other groups and how this might be managed.

A communication strategy including staff briefings and regular updates from the project team to ensure that all staff are kept informed by a variety of methods.

Practise development to support new ways of working and revised policies, procedures and guidance for staff will reduce any impact upon service users.

Other mitigating actions will be developed as and when issues are identified during the roll out of the project

Question 7 - Balancing the Proposal/Countervailing Factors

At this point you need to weigh up the reasons for the proposal – e.g. need for budget savings; damaging effects of not taking forward the proposal at this time – against the findings of your analysis. Please describe this assessment. It is important here to ensure that the assessment of any negative effects upon those sharing protected characteristics is full and frank. The full extent of actual adverse impacts must be acknowledged and taken into account, or the assessment will be inadequate. What is required is an honest evaluation, and not a marketing exercise. Conversely, while adverse effects should be frankly acknowledged, they need not be overstated or exaggerated. Where effects are not serious, this too should be made clear.

The redesign is required to achieve budget savings but will also lead to a more personalised and efficient service giving staff professional autonomy and service users more choice and control.

Question 8 – Final Proposal

In summary, what is your final proposal and which groups may be affected and how?

A redesign of Personal Social Care to offer a professional, person centred service focussed on service users and carers having a high quality experience during the time they are in contact with the service. The service will work effectively and efficiently with other organisations for the benefit of all service users and carers to deliver the best outcomes for them so that they feel supported, safe, well and protected.

A restructure of the service will be required which will impact on all staff by introducing new ways of working and will impact upon service users and carers by offering a more personalised and efficient service.

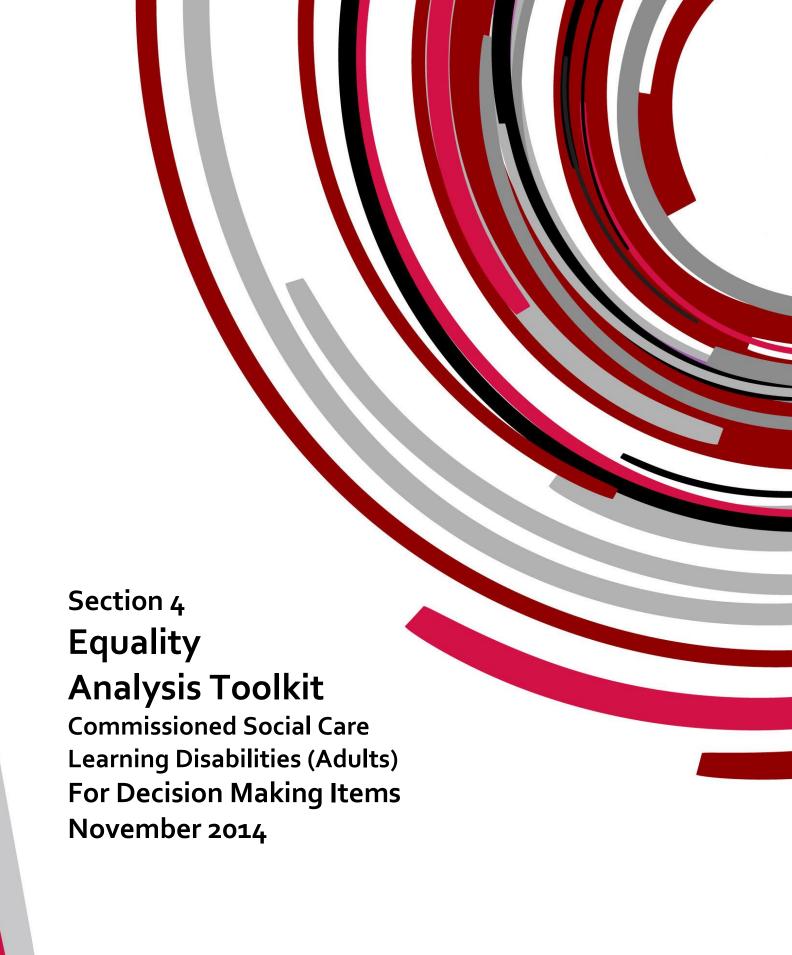

Question 9 – Review and Monitoring Arrangements

Describe what arrangements you will put in place to review and monitor the effects of your proposal.

The project will be reviewed and monitored by the Senior Leadership Team in the new Corporate Management Structure. Monitoring across all 9 of the protected characteristic groups will be undertaken

Equality Analysis Prepared By Barbara Lewis

Position/Role Head of Service

Name/Nature of the Decision

Commissioned Social Care Learning Disabilities (Adults)

To agree the service offer with regard to Lancashire's contribution to practical support to people eligible for social care and their carers.

What in summary is the proposal being considered?

A new service offer which will move towards more equity in terms of community based service provision across service users groups through a consistent and fair review process.

Is the decision likely to affect people across the county in a similar way or are specific areas likely to be affected – e.g. are a set number of branches/sites to be affected? If so you will need to consider whether there are equality related issues associated with the locations selected – e.g. greater percentage of BME residents in a particular area where a closure is proposed as opposed to an area where a facility is remaining open.

By providing more equity in terms of service provision across service users groups, the offer is likely to have an adverse effect to a varying degree upon all groups.

Could the decision have a particular impact on any group of individuals sharing protected characteristics under the Equality Act 2010, namely:

- Age
- Disability including Deaf people
- Gender reassignment
- Pregnancy and maternity
- Race/ethnicity/nationality
- Religion or belief

- Sex/gender
- Sexual orientation
- Marriage or Civil Partnership Status

In considering this question you should identify and record any particular impact on people in a sub-group of any of the above – e.g. people with a particular disability or from a particular religious or ethnic group.

It is particularly important to consider whether any decision is likely to impact adversely on any group of people sharing protected characteristics to a disproportionate extent. Any such disproportionate impact will need to be objectively justified.

Yes
If you have answered "Yes" to this question in relation to any of the above characteristics, – please go to Question 1.
If you have answered "No" in relation to all the protected characteristics please briefly document your reasons below and attach this to the decision-making papers. (It goes without saying that if the lack of impaction obvious, it need only be very briefly noted.)

Question 1 - Background Evidence

What information do you have about the different groups of people who may be affected by this decision – e.g. employees or service users (you could use monitoring data, survey data, etc to compile this). As indicated above, the relevant protected characteristics are:

- Age
- Disability including Deaf people
- Gender reassignment/gender identity
- Pregnancy and maternity
- Race/Ethnicity/Nationality
- Religion or belief
- Sex/gender
- Sexual orientation
- Marriage or Civil Partnership status (in respect of which the s. 149 requires only that due regard be paid to the need to eliminate discrimination, harassment or victimisation or other conduct which is prohibited by the Act).

In considering this question you should again consider whether the decision under consideration could impact upon specific subgroups e.g. people of a specific religion or people with a particular disability. You should also consider how the decision is likely to affect those who share two or more of the protected characteristics – for example, older women, disabled, elderly people, and so on.

The number of service users meeting current eligibility criteria and receiving community based services is approximately as follows:

Older people - 4545

People with a physical disability - 1790

People with a learning disability - 3000

Question 2 – Engagement/Consultation

How have you tried to involve people/groups that are potentially affected by your decision? Please describe what engagement has taken place, with whom and when.

(Please ensure that you retain evidence of the consultation in case of any further enquiries. This includes the results of consultation or data gathering at any stage of the process)

Consultation will be arranged to take into account the views of service users, carers and other stakeholders.

Question 3 – Analysing Impact

Could your proposal potentially disadvantage particular groups sharing any of the protected characteristics and if so which groups and in what way?

It is particularly important in considering this question to get to grips with the actual practical impact on those affected. The decision-makers need to know in clear and specific terms what the impact may be and how serious, or perhaps minor, it may be – will people need to walk a few metres further to catch a bus, or to attend school? Will they be cut off altogether from vital services? The answers to such questions must be fully and frankly documented, for better or for worse, so that they can be properly evaluated when the decision is made.

Could your proposal potentially impact on individuals sharing the protected characteristics in any of the following ways:

- Could it discriminate unlawfully against individuals sharing any of the protected characteristics, whether directly or indirectly; if so, it must be amended. Bear in mind that this may involve taking steps to meet the specific needs of disabled people arising from their disabilities
- Could it advance equality of opportunity for those who share a particular protected characteristic? If not could it be developed or modified in order to do so?

- Does it encourage persons who share a relevant protected characteristic to participate in public life or in any activity in which participation by such persons is disproportionately low? If not could it be developed or modified in order to do so?

Implementation of the new service offer will lead to a reduction in the provision of commissioned care to meet long-term care needs and enable the move towards a more consistent and fair approach across client groups. Commissioned care will reduce overall by a different percentage across client groups to reflect the move to a more equitable offer.

Reducing the offer to service users may result in speeding up deterioration in service users' health and wellbeing leading to increased crisis situations, admissions to hospital and residential care, increased impact upon informal carers.

There could be no change for some service users and a more equitable distribution of resources could be seen as a positive outcome in general.

Question 4 - Combined/Cumulative Effect

Could the effects of your decision combine with other factors or decisions taken at local or national level to exacerbate the impact on any groups?

For example - if the proposal is to impose charges for adult social care, its impact on disabled people might be increased by other decisions within the County Council (e.g. increases in the fares charged for Community Transport and reductions in respite care) and national proposals (e.g. the availability of some benefits). Whilst LCC cannot control some of these decisions, they could increase the adverse effect of the proposal. The LCC has a legal duty to consider this aspect, and to evaluate the decision, including mitigation, accordingly.

If Yes – please identify these.

Other service offer proposals could heighten disadvantage to the above groups (aids and adaptations, transport, in-house provider services)

Question 5 - Identifying Initial Results of Your Analysis

As a result of your analysis have you changed/amended your original proposal?

Please identify how -

For example:

Adjusted the original proposal – briefly outline the adjustments

Continuing with the Original Proposal – briefly explain why

Stopped the Proposal and Revised it - briefly explain

The offer/service design will take account of information gained from consultation and further analysis – we are just at the start of the process so no changes are planned in the immediate future.

Question 6 - Mitigation

Please set out any steps you will take to mitigate/reduce any potential adverse effects of your decision on those sharing any particular protected characteristic. It is important here to do a genuine and realistic evaluation of the effectiveness of the mitigation contemplated. Over-optimistic and over-generalised assessments are likely to fall short of the "due regard" requirement.

Also consider if any mitigation might adversely affect any other groups and how this might be managed.

Reviews will be undertaken in a sensitive and consistent manner to mitigate against any negative impact.

Mitigation will also be achieved by co-ordination of all service offers, project management approach to reviews, widespread consultation and publicity campaign and the promotion and development of alternative supports.

As and when other issues are identified we will revisit our plans and take account of issues identified via the consultation undertaken to support this review

Question 7 – Balancing the Proposal/Countervailing Factors

At this point you need to weigh up the reasons for the proposal – e.g. need for budget savings; damaging effects of not taking forward the proposal at this time – against the findings of your analysis. Please describe this assessment. It is important here to ensure that the assessment of any negative effects upon those sharing protected characteristics is full and frank. The full extent of actual adverse impacts must be acknowledged and taken into account, or the assessment will be inadequate. What is required is an honest evaluation, and not a marketing exercise. Conversely, while adverse effects should be frankly acknowledged, they need not be overstated or exaggerated. Where effects are not serious, this too should be made clear.

The offer has been developed to achieve budget savings. The reductions will only be realised by comprehensive reviews which will be time consuming and intensive and likely to result in complaints which will need to be managed.

Question 8 – Final Proposal

In summary, what is your final proposal and which groups may be affected and how?

A new service offer which will move towards more equity in terms of community based service provision across service users groups through a consistent and fair review process.

There is potential negative impact for all adult service user groups – older people, physical disabilities, learning disabilities – also carers and children in transitions.

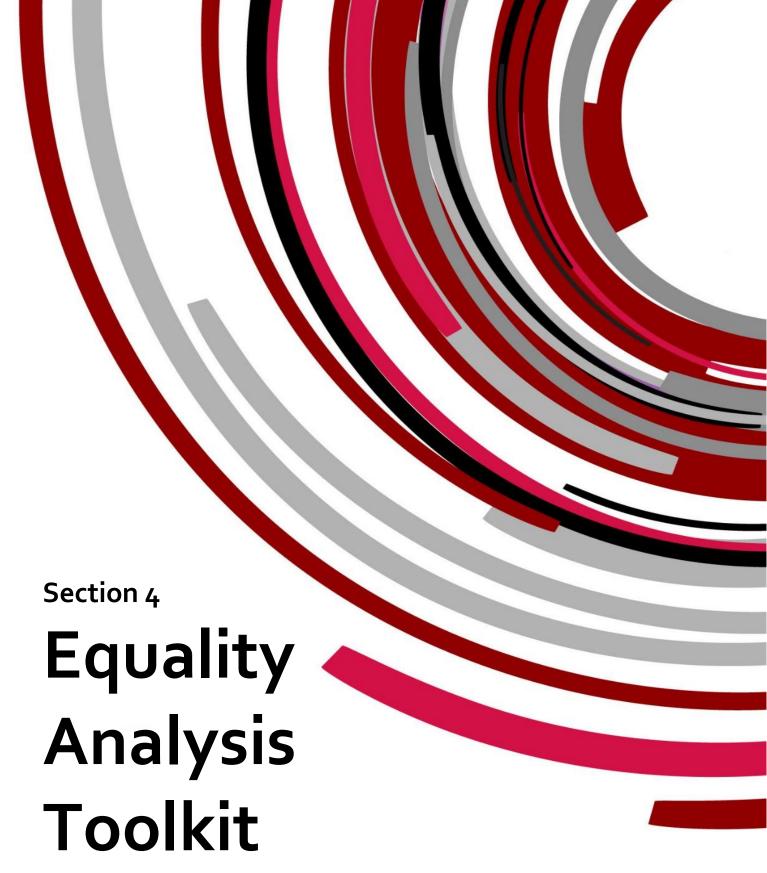

Question 9 – Review and Monitoring Arrangements

Describe what arrangements you will put in place to review and monitor the effects of your proposal.

The establishment of a Project Board and Steering Group reporting to the Senior Leadership Team, Adult Services, Health and Wellbeing. We will ensure that the 9 x protected characteristic groups are monitored in terms of service take-up/losses.

The Reablement Service is commissioned through the existing framework agreement with the five independent sector reablement providers and LCCG withdraw from the delivery of reablement and from the support they currently provide.

What in summary is the proposal being considered?

The Reablement Service forms part of the transitional care pathway (which is a range of integrated services) and supports the promotion of independence and faster recovery from illness. The Service aims to;

- prevent unnecessary acute hospital admission
- prevent premature admission to residential care
- support timely discharge from hospital
- minimise, delay or avoid the need for long term domiciliary supports
- maximise independent living.

If people have been ill or had an accident they may need help to re-learn some of the skills they have lost while unwell and get their confidence back. Reablement service staff work with those people to help them gradually feel more confident and able to do things for themselves that they did before they were unwell, so that the person can live as independently as possible.

The proposal is being made because the current model of reablement in Lancashire is not sustainable. Whilst the service is effective in delivering positive outcomes for individuals, reducing demand for ongoing support and thereby generating savings, the costs of the current service model significantly reduces the level of savings deliverable. In order for the service to be sustainable and make the largest contribution possible towards the significant financial savings required by the County Council, a new delivery model and increased numbers of people receiving reablement are required. A separate project is underway to improve access to reablement and thereby increase the numbers of people benefiting from reablement.

Equality Analysis - Development of the Reablement Service 15th February 2012

Item: Development of the Reablement Service - Invest to Save. Approved 6th and 7th March 2012

Is the decision likely to affect people across the county in a similar way or are specific areas likely to be affected – e.g. are a set number of branches/sites to be affected? If so you will need to consider whether there are equality related issues associated with the locations selected – e.g. greater percentage of BME residents in a particular area where a closure is proposed as opposed to an area where a facility is remaining open.

The proposal is expected to affect people equally across Lancashire county.

Could the decision have a particular impact on any group of individuals sharing protected characteristics under the Equality Act 2010, namely:

- Age
- Disability including Deaf people
- Gender reassignment
- Pregnancy and maternity
- Race/ethnicity/nationality
- Religion or belief
- Sex/gender
- Sexual orientation
- Marriage or Civil Partnership Status

There is no detrimental effect anticipated for any of the individuals sharing protected characteristics under the Equality Act 2010.

The reablement service is free to everyone for up to six weeks and the redesign of the reablement process and resultant change in delivery mechanisms will benefit more of Lancashire's citizens as the redesign will increase the number of citizens who are able to receive reablement.

If you have answered "Yes" to this question in relation to any of the above characteristics, – please go to Question 1.

Reablement is a key driver in the Council's approach to improving outcomes for citizens and minimising demand for social care services. The aim is to ensure that all social care referrals, where the person's presenting needs indicate that they have the potential to benefit from reablement, have the opportunity to do so. This means ensuring that there is sufficient capacity available to meet predicted demand, that the service design is accessible and that the reablement support delivered is effective.

The decision making paper outlines progress towards a new delivery model which will result in increased numbers of people receiving reablement, make the service more sustainable and make the largest contribution possible towards the significant financial savings required by the County Council.

The benefits of receiving reablement which are positive for all citizens of Lancashire and those people with protected characteristics are that;

- a person can be supported to improve their skills regardless of their age (providing they are over eighteen) or disability.
- Service users are gradually encouraged to do more and more for themselves, with the ultimate goal of becoming as independent as possible, thereby minimising the need for long-term homecare packages.
- timely periods of social care reablement, focusing on skills for daily living, can enable people to live more independently and reduce their need for ongoing support
- independence is maximised whilst providing a safe supportive environment where people can achieve their full potential through a programme of active reablement
- the service is person-centred and outcome-focused enabling people to live as independently as possible in their own homes whilst feeling connected to their communities.

The new service model and significant increase in capacity has a positive impact on the groups of individuals sharing protected characteristics as more people will be able to access the service.

Adult Social Care - Maintained Equipment For Decision Making Items November 2014

Name/Nature of the Decision

Adult Social Care (Maintained Equipment) Service Offer

The proposal is to cease providing service and maintenance for stair lifts, through floor lifts, step lifts, close-mat-toilets and any other equipment excluding ceiling track hoists. Except for the most vulnerable. The proposal is also for LCC to cease providing equipment through supply contracts. The service will be closed to new applicants from an agreed date and alternative options to support individuals will be developed.

What in summary is the proposal being considered?

Lancashire County Council will cease to have any involvement in the supply, installation, maintenance and removal of equipment (except ceiling track hoists). By ceasing the sign over of equipment to LCC, the Council would no longer be legally liable for maintaining the equipment.

- An Occupational Therapist assesses the persons need for adaptation in line with the Disabled Facilities Grant guidance (DFG)
- If a recommendation is made that an item of equipment is needed as part of the DFG i.e. stair lift, through floor lift, wash and dry toilet, rise and fall bath, step lift the District Council in which the person is responsible for the funding of DFG.

The DFG guidance states that DFG funding cannot be used to fund extended warranties or maintenance of equipment. DFG funding would be used more effectively by not funding extended warranties therefore generating savings for district councils

LCC will no longer fund fast track stair lifts for end of life care, the arrangements for this offer are currently inequitable as LCC only fund straight lifts. Many of the items ordered are cancelled or removed within a number of weeks.

Is the decision likely to affect people across the county in a similar way or are specific areas likely to be affected – e.g. are a set number of branches/sites to be affected? If so you will need to consider whether there are equality related issues associated with the locations selected – e.g. greater percentage of BME residents in a particular area where a closure is proposed as opposed to an area where a facility is remaining open.

From 1st April 2015 West Lancashire, South Ribble, Preston, Chorley district councils will be making their own arrangements for the supply of equipment outside of the contract with LCC, and will not be funding an extended warranty. From 1st April the supply and maintenance arrangements will be inequitable across the county and will place more pressure on LCC finances therefore the current arrangements cannot be maintained.

Could the decision have a particular impact on any group of individuals sharing protected characteristics under the Equality Act 2010, namely:

- Age
- Disability including Deaf people
- Gender reassignment
- Pregnancy and maternity
- Race/ethnicity/nationality
- Religion or belief
- Sex/gender
- Sexual orientation
- Marriage or Civil Partnership Status

In considering this question you should identify and record any particular impact on people in a sub-group of any of the above – e.g. people with a particular disability or from a particular religious or ethnic group.

It is particularly important to consider whether any decision is likely to impact adversely on any group of people sharing protected characteristics to a disproportionate extent. Any such disproportionate impact will need to be objectively justified.

The council currently funds servicing and maintenance for 2,600 pieces of equipment each year. Some households may have more than 1 piece of equipment. The majority of people who access DFG are either over 65 or have a disability.

LCC does not monitor demographic data for this group of people as the provision of the equipment is funded via the District Councils. Therefore a piece of work will need to take place to understand the impact on any group with protected negative impact on elderly and disabled people.

characteristics. It is highly probably however that this proposal is likely to have a

Question 1 – Background Evidence

What information do you have about the different groups of people who may be affected by this decision – e.g. employees or service users (you could use monitoring data, survey data, etc to compile this). As indicated above, the relevant protected characteristics are:

- Age
- Disability including Deaf people
- Gender reassignment/gender identity
- Pregnancy and maternity
- Race/Ethnicity/Nationality
- Religion or belief
- Sex/gender
- Sexual orientation
- Marriage or Civil Partnership status (in respect of which the s. 149 requires only that due regard be paid to the need to eliminate discrimination, harassment or victimisation or other conduct which is prohibited by the Act).

In considering this question you should again consider whether the decision under consideration could impact upon specific subgroups e.g. people of a specific religion or people with a particular disability. You should also consider how the decision is likely to affect those who share two or more of the protected characteristics – for example, older women, disabled, elderly people, and so on.

LCC do not hold information on the profiles of people who have been provided with equipment under DFG so we are unable to quantify the impact to this level at the moment.

Question 2 - Engagement/Consultation

How have you tried to involve people/groups that are potentially affected by your decision? Please describe what engagement has taken place, with whom and when.

(Please ensure that you retain evidence of the consultation in case of any further enquiries. This includes the results of consultation or data gathering at any stage of the process)

Consultation with District Councils and users of the service will need to take place.

Question 3 – Analysing Impact

Could your proposal potentially disadvantage particular groups sharing any of the protected characteristics and if so which groups and in what way?

It is particularly important in considering this question to get to grips with the actual practical impact on those affected. The decision-makers need to know in clear and specific terms what the impact may be and how serious, or perhaps minor, it may be – will people need to walk a few metres further to catch a bus, or to attend school? Will they be cut off altogether from vital services? The answers to such questions must be fully and frankly documented, for better or for worse, so that they can be properly evaluated when the decision is made.

Could your proposal potentially impact on individuals sharing the protected characteristics in any of the following ways:

- Could it discriminate unlawfully against individuals sharing any of the protected characteristics, whether directly or indirectly; if so, it must be amended. Bear in mind that this may involve taking steps to meet the specific needs of disabled people arising from their disabilities
- Could it advance equality of opportunity for those who share a particular protected characteristic? If not could it be developed or modified in order to do so?
- Does it encourage persons who share a relevant protected characteristic to participate in public life or in any activity in which participation by such persons is disproportionately low? If not could it be developed or modified in order to do so?

 Will the proposal contribute to fostering good relations between those who share a relevant protected characteristic and those who do not, for example by tackling prejudice and promoting understanding? If not could it be developed or modified in order to do so? Please identify any findings and how they might be addressed.

Yes – the proposal is likely to disadvantage elderly and disabled people if other supply and maintenance routes are not in place.

Question 4 - Combined/Cumulative Effect

Could the effects of your decision combine with other factors or decisions taken at local or national level to exacerbate the impact on any groups?

For example - if the proposal is to impose charges for adult social care, its impact on disabled people might be increased by other decisions within the County Council (e.g. increases in the fares charged for Community Transport and reductions in respite care) and national proposals (e.g. the availability of some benefits). Whilst LCC cannot control some of these decisions, they could increase the adverse effect of the proposal. The LCC has a legal duty to consider this aspect, and to evaluate the decision, including mitigation, accordingly.

If Yes – please identify these.

Unknown until the full range of budget proposals are agreed however we are aware of a number of local activities and central government benefit reforms that will be impacting on the groups likely to be affected by this proposal (elderly and disabled)

Question 5 – Identifying Initial Results of Your Analysis

As a result of your analysis have you changed/amended your original proposal?

Please identify how -

For example:

Adjusted the original proposal – briefly outline the adjustments

Continuing with the Original Proposal – briefly explain why

Stopped the Proposal and Revised it - briefly explain

Until further work has been conducted in terms of analysing the full impact the proposal will remain the same

Question 6 - Mitigation

Please set out any steps you will take to mitigate/reduce any potential adverse effects of your decision on those sharing any particular protected characteristic. It is important here to do a genuine and realistic evaluation of the effectiveness of the mitigation contemplated. Over-optimistic and over-generalised assessments are likely to fall short of the "due regard" requirement.

Also consider if any mitigation might adversely affect any other groups and how this might be managed.

LCC propose to continue to provide a service to people who are most vulnerable due to safeguarding concerns. A criteria for assessing 'most vulnerable' will need to be drawn up.

Question 7 – Balancing the Proposal/Countervailing Factors

At this point you need to weigh up the reasons for the proposal – e.g. need for budget savings; damaging effects of not taking forward the proposal at this time – against the findings of your analysis. Please describe this assessment. It is important here to ensure that the assessment of any negative effects upon those sharing protected characteristics is full and frank. The full extent of actual adverse impacts must be acknowledged and taken into account, or the assessment will be inadequate. What is required is an honest evaluation, and not a marketing exercise. Conversely, while adverse effects should be frankly acknowledged, they need not be overstated or exaggerated. Where effects are not serious, this too should be made clear.

The key driver for this proposal is to achieve budget savings.

Question 8 – Final Proposal

In summary, what is your final proposal and which groups may be affected and how?

The proposal is to cease providing service and maintenance for stair lifts, through floor lifts, step lifts, close-mat-toilets and any other equipment excluding ceiling track hoists. Except for the most vulnerable. The proposal is also for LCC to cease providing equipment through supply contracts. The service will be closed to new applicants from an agreed date and alternative options to support individuals will be developed. The proposal will affect older people and people with disabilities.

Question 9 – Review and Monitoring Arrangements

Describe what arrangements you will put in place to review and monitor the effects of your proposal.

Once implemented, we will monitor the impact across the 9 protected characteristic groups as far as we are able (not all requests will continue to be dealt with by LCC so monitoring will be limited)

Mental Health Commissioning
November 2014

Name/Nature of the Decision

Mental Health Commissioning Service Offer

Mental Health services for adults 18 - 65 yrs in Lancashire are delivered through various arrangements, many of which involve partnerships with NHS bodies both at a service level and certainly at a whole system level.

However, most local stakeholders would share a common analysis that the "whole system" of MH services in Lancashire and some of its key components are not working effectively to deliver cost effective and affordable outcomes either for many of the target individuals who use the services or for the mental health commissioners and providers of services. Budget pressures are bringing many of these concerns to a head and certainly for the council there is an imperative to get to the budget under control and reduce it alongside other ACS & PH budgets – the current budget likely to be unaffordable to sustain over the next few years unless there are further significant transfers from the NHS.

The pressures are undoubtedly increasing further due to the impact of changes in the CJ and penal system, the LCFT hospital inpatient reconfiguration and - at a neighbourhood and individual level - challenges to the resilience of many vulnerable people whose mental health may be at greater risk during these difficult economic times. It's also widely recognised that LCC MH spend is unbalanced with far more spent on nursing / residential care than nationally benchmarked averages, and this reflects a lack of commissioning and procurement capacity devoted to achieving the right balance of services in each area. Since Residential and nursing home placements can easily default to "homes for life" for relatively young adults (ie the under 50s), it can lead to institutionalisation, over dependence and an indeterminate spending commitment for the Council for an individual extending potentially over decades.

This offer development follows on from the work to reshape the s75 MH rehabilitation and supported living services and the recommissioning of mental health services project begun in 2013 (The latter was the subject of an EIA completed December 2013).

What in summary is the proposal being considered?

An integrated service provision for adults with mental health problems in Lancashire that is based around rehabilitation and recovery rather than maintenance and dependence. It will be made up of distinct elements that work together. The offer will be based upon the principles and proposed actions contained within the Recommissioning Mental Health Services project, initiated in 2013, of less reliance on residential and nursing home care, greater access to community alternatives either in own home or in supported living settings and improved flow throughout the "system". In addition it will use the review of rehabilitation services carried out recently on behalf of the CCGs and three Local Authorities to develop a systematic approach in commissioning effective rehabilitation services and the associated pathway.

The offer will have less residential and nursing care provision, greater access to domiciliary care, a rehabilitation system that prevents unnecessary long stays in residential care, greater access to supported living settings when living independently is not an option and domiciliary care that is fit for purpose. The offer will make better use of universal services such as Integrated Well Being Services.

The offer will also see a shift from single provider provision in the ex "In house" services to a greater access to Self Directed Support and personal budgets through a process of review of all service users and where possible through the reconfiguration and reengineering of the service.

Is the decision likely to affect people across the county in a similar way or are specific areas likely to be affected – e.g. are a set number of branches/sites to be affected? If so you will need to consider whether there are equality related issues associated with the locations selected – e.g. greater percentage of BME residents in a particular area where a closure is proposed as opposed to an area where a facility is remaining open.

The decision will affect the residents of Lancashire in similar ways as the frameworks developed will ensure a consistent approach in all geographical areas.

Could the decision have a particular impact on any group of individuals sharing protected characteristics under the Equality Act 2010, namely:

- Age
- Disability including Deaf people
- Gender reassignment
- Pregnancy and maternity
- Race/ethnicity/nationality
- Religion or belief

- Sex/gender
- Sexual orientation
- Marriage or Civil Partnership Status

In considering this question you should identify and record any particular impact on people in a sub-group of any of the above – e.g. people with a particular disability or from a particular religious or ethnic group.

It is particularly important to consider whether any decision is likely to impact adversely on any group of people sharing protected characteristics to a disproportionate extent. Any such disproportionate impact will need to be objectively justified.

Tes
If you have answered "Yes" to this question in relation to any of the above characteristics, – please go to Question 1.
If you have answered "No" in relation to all the protected characteristics, please briefly document your reasons below and attach this to the decision-making papers. (It goes without saying that if the lack of impact is obvious, it need only be very briefly noted.)

Question 1 – Background Evidence

What information do you have about the different groups of people who may be affected by this decision – e.g. employees or service users (you could use monitoring data, survey data, etc to compile this). As indicated above, the relevant protected characteristics are:

- Age
- Disability including Deaf people
- Gender reassignment/gender identity
- Pregnancy and maternity
- Race/Ethnicity/Nationality
- Religion or belief
- Sex/gender
- Sexual orientation
- Marriage or Civil Partnership status (in respect of which the s. 149 requires only that due regard be paid to the need to eliminate discrimination, harassment or victimisation or other conduct which is prohibited by the Act).

In considering this question you should again consider whether the decision under consideration could impact upon specific subgroups e.g. people of a specific religion or people with a particular disability. You should also consider how the decision is likely to affect those who share two or more of the protected characteristics – for example, older women, disabled, elderly people, and so on.

It is widely accepted that between 1 in 4 and 1 in 3 people will suffer from some form of mental health problem during their lifetime. For Lancashire this means that between approximately 300000 and 450000 people will experience such and as this will also affect their families and carers it is unlikely that anyone will remain untouched by mental health problems.

The Lancashire Mental Health Joint Strategic Needs Assessment provides an overview of mental health in Lancashire. It presents data on prevalence, hospitalisation and mortality and data relating to some important risk factors for mental ill health.

Prevalence

- In Burnley, Fylde, Hyndburn, Pendle and Preston the prevalence of mental health is significantly higher than England
- In Chorley, South Ribble, West Lancashire and Wyre, the prevalence of mental health is significantly lower than England
- In Fylde, Hyndburn, Hyndburn Lancaster Pendle, Preston, West Lancashire and Wyre the prevalence of dementia is significantly higher than England
- In all Lancashire districts the prevalence of 18+ depression is significantly higher than England
- In Burnley, Chorley, Hyndburn, Lancaster and Preston, the prevalence of 18+ learning disabilities is significantly higher than England
- In Ribble Valley, Rossendale, South Ribble and Wyre, the prevalence of 18+ learning disabilities is significantly lower than England
- In 11 out of 12 districts there is a positive correlation between mental health prevalence and practice deprivation; strongest in Chorley, Fylde, Ribble Valley & Wyre district
- In 9 out of 12 districts there is a negative correlation between dementia prevalence and practice deprivation; this correlation highest in Burnley, Pendle, Preston, Rossendale, South Ribble, West Lancashire & Wyre
- In 6 out of 12 districts there is a negative correlation between 18+ depression prevalence and practice deprivation
- In Ribble Valley, Rossendale, South Ribble and Wyre there is a moderate positive correlation between 18+ depression prevalence and practice deprivation
- In all districts there is a positive correlation between 18+ Learning disabilities prevalence and practice deprivation; strongest in Ribble Valley and West Lancashire

Hospitalisation & Mortality

- Apart from Ribble Valley & South Ribble, in all other Lancashire districts emergency hospital admissions for intentional self-harm are significantly higher than England
- Apart from Fylde, Hyndburn, Pendle and Ribble Valley in all other Lancashire districts, the rate of emergency hospital admissions from neurosis is significantly higher than England
- In Burnley, Hyndburn, Pendle, Preston and West Lancashire the rate of emergency hospital admissions as a result of schizophrenia is significantly higher than England's rate
- In Preston mortality from suicide and injury undetermined (15-44 year olds) is significantly higher than England.

Risk factors

A risk factor is any attribute, characteristic or exposure of an individual that increases the likelihood of developing a disease, injury or mental health problem. Some examples of the more important risk factors in mental health are under and overweight, low levels of physical activity, drug abuse, tobacco and alcohol consumption, and homelessness (www.nepho.org.uk/cmhp, Lancashire mental health profile).

Deprivation

According to the rank of average Index of Multiple Deprivation (IMD) 2010 score, Burnley, Pendle, Hyndburn, Preston and Rossendale are the five most deprived districts in Lancashire, respectively. According to the rank of employment, Preston is most deprived and Lancaster is second most deprived.

Unemployment

Out of all Lancashire districts, in Burnley, the percentage of 16-64 year olds claiming Job Seekers Allowance (JSA) is considerably higher than England percentage.

Although Burnley has the highest proportion of 16-64 year old JSA claimants, it should be noted that within most Lancashire districts (apart from Ribble Valley) there are wards with higher than England percentage of JSA claimants.

Ethnicity

In Pendle and Preston the percentage of BME populations is significantly higher than the England percentage.

Asian and British Asian populations form a higher proportion of the BME populations and therefore figure 14 presents the percentage of Asian and British Asian populations in each district. In Burnley, Hyndburn, Pendle and Preston the percentage of Asian/British Asian populations is significantly higher than the England percentage.

Long-term health problems

Apart from Ribble Valley, in all other Lancashire districts the percentage of population stating that day to day activities limited a little or a lot by a long term health problem or disability, is significantly higher than the England percentage.

Alcohol related self-harm

In Burnley, Chorley, Hyndburn, Pendle, Preston, Rossendale, South Ribble and West Lancashire the rate of hospital stays for alcohol related harm is significantly higher (worse) than the England rate. In Ribble Valley and Wyre the rate of hospital stays for alcohol related harm is significantly lower (better) than the England rate.

Drug Misuse

In Burnley, Hyndburn, Lancaster, Pendle and Preston the rate of drug misuse is significantly higher than the England rate. In Chorley, Fylde, Ribble Valley, Rosendale, South Ribble and West Lancashire rate of drug misuse is significantly lower than the England rate.

Prevalence Data by group

Detailed prevalence data is available across the above and age and ethnicity groups based upon geographical locations within the county. This will be used to identify how project activity should be shaped and targeted and also to give baselines of prevalence so that the effect of actions to reduce the impact of inequalities on mental health in communities can be measured and monitored.

The table below gives an overall mental heath profile for the county.

Question 2 – Engagement/Consultation

How have you tried to involve people/groups that are potentially affected by your decision? Please describe what engagement has taken place, with whom and when.

(Please ensure that you retain evidence of the consultation in case of any further enquiries. This includes the results of consultation or data gathering at any stage of the process)

There has not as yet been any specific consultation in connection with this project. However ongoing engagement with a number of service user and carer groups supports the direction of this project.

An early action within the project is to communicate effectively with

- Citizens, people who experience long term mental illness, carers / families
- Lancashire Care Foundation Trust... management and community staff
- NHS commissioners and NHS Commissioning Support Unit
- Lancashire County Council staff who work in s75 services
- Councillors, MPs
- Care Quality Commission
- Residential care providers
- Home Care providers
- Housing providers
- Lancashire County Council Personal social care, Finance, Business Intelligence, property, Care Connect, Procurement

Communication with services users will be undertaken using a "Working together for change" approach where people are asked to say what isn't working, what things should look like and how they would be different.

Consultation will be tailored in such a way that groups such as the deaf community are enabled to participate fully e.g. through the provision of communication resources.

Similarly those from ethnic minority backgrounds will be provided with different language information as required.

Another example will be the provision of easy read versions for those with learning disabilities as appropriate.

Question 3 – Analysing Impact

Could your proposal potentially disadvantage particular groups sharing any of the protected characteristics and if so which groups and in what way?

It is particularly important in considering this question to get to grips with the actual practical impact on those affected. The decision-makers need to know in clear and specific terms what the impact may be and how serious, or perhaps minor, it may be – will people need to walk a few metres further to catch a bus, or to attend school? Will they be cut off altogether from vital services? The answers to such questions must be fully and frankly documented, for better or for worse, so that they can be properly evaluated when the decision is made.

Could your proposal potentially impact on individuals sharing the protected characteristics in any of the following ways?

- Could it discriminate unlawfully against individuals sharing any of the protected characteristics, whether directly or indirectly; if so, it must be amended? Bear in mind that this may involve taking steps to meet the specific needs of disabled people arising from their disabilities
- Could it advance equality of opportunity for those who share a particular protected characteristic? If not could it be developed or modified in order to do so?
- Does it encourage persons who share a relevant protected characteristic to participate in public life or in any activity in which participation by such persons is disproportionately low? If not could it be developed or modified in order to do so?

It is not envisaged that the project will discriminate unlawfully against individuals sharing any of the protected characteristics. It will seek to promote the rights of individuals and groups.

It is expected that this work will enable individuals to play a greater part in community life. For example through moving away from residential care provision to community alternatives individuals will be automatically less isolated and able to participate in and contribute to, with the right level of support, their community.

The stigmatisation of those with mental health problems reinforces negative stereotypes and consequently further isolates those individuals. This work will enable and empower individuals to become greater participants in their communities, become more visible and make communication and understanding across the mental "illness" boundary more achievable. Where services are to be developed in new settings, and perhaps in new communities, work will be undertaken to allay fears and improve understanding.

Could the effects of your decision combine with other factors or decisions taken at local or national level to exacerbate the impact on any groups?

For example - if the proposal is to impose charges for adult social care, its impact on disabled people might be increased by other decisions within the County Council (e.g. increases in the fares charged for Community Transport and reductions in respite care) and national proposals (e.g. the availability of some benefits). Whilst LCC cannot control some of these decisions, they could increase the adverse effect of the proposal. The LCC has a legal duty to consider this aspect, and to evaluate the decision, including mitigation, accordingly.

If Yes – please identify these.

It is not envisaged that this work will combine with other work elsewhere to result in a negative effect upon any individual or groups. Through working through joint commissioning plans both of the County Council (including both social care and public health) and Clinical Commissioning Groups and also with other key partners such as District councils it is expected that aligning this work will result in overall greater effectiveness through greater coordination and economies of scale. Wherever possible services for people with mental health problems will be mainstream not "specialist" so this requires this project to be part of a whole system approach.

Examples of complimentary work streams are those for developing the whole Transitional Acre Pathway, Hospital Discharge, Reablement Services, Integrated Wellness and Supported Housing options.

It is acknowledged however that there are a range of other budget proposals currently being considered that will also impact on this group (supported housing, integrated wellness, substance misuse) whilst some of the proposals will not necessarily have a negative impact they will nevertheless incur a change which can be an added barrier/stress to people sufferance with mental illness.

Question 5 – Identifying Initial Results of Your Analysis

As a result of your analysis have you changed/amended your original proposal?

Please identify how -

For example:

Adjusted the original proposal – briefly outline the adjustments

Continuing with the Original Proposal – briefly explain why

Stopped the Proposal and Revised it - briefly explain

As a result of this analysis it is intended to continue with the original proposal but with a strengthening around the consultation with service users and their carers and families. This is because the core elements of the proposal are strong around anticipating and responding to the potential for negative impacts upon groups and individuals including those with relevant protected characteristics.

Question 6 - Mitigation

Please set out any steps you will take to mitigate/reduce any potential adverse effects of your decision on those sharing any particular protected characteristic. It is important here to do a genuine and realistic evaluation of the effectiveness of the mitigation contemplated.

Over-optimistic and over-generalised assessments are likely to fall short of the "due regard" requirement.

Also consider if any mitigation might adversely affect any other groups and how this might be managed.

As there have not been any adverse impacts identified as yet there are no mitigating actions required at this time. The monitoring arrangements referred to below will identify if there is any change in this and trigger appropriate mitigation.

A clear communication strategy will be developed to ensure that changes are clearly spelt out in easy read formats for service users and their carers.

Question 7 – Balancing the Proposal/Countervailing Factors

At this point you need to weigh up the reasons for the proposal – e.g. need for budget savings; damaging effects of not taking forward the proposal at this time – against the findings of your analysis. Please describe this assessment. It is important here to ensure that the assessment of any negative effects upon those sharing protected characteristics is full and frank. The full extent of actual adverse impacts must be acknowledged and taken into account, or the assessment will be inadequate. What is required is an honest evaluation, and not a marketing exercise. Conversely, while adverse effects should be frankly acknowledged, they need not be overstated or exaggerated. Where effects are not serious, this too should be made clear.

The proposal has at its core a desire to enhance to outcomes for individuals while also achieving significant value for money and savings. While there is some tension in this there is evidence that moving to more community based alternatives that look to recovery and rehabilitation rather than maintaining and accommodating are more cost effective. In addition they result in a much more person centred and empowering approach. There are not seen to be any negative effects for individuals or groups as a result.

Question 8 – Final Proposal

In summary, what is your final proposal and which groups may be affected and how?

It is proposed that the project continues as originally set out with strengthening of the engagement and consultation framework.

Question 9 – Review and Monitoring Arrangements

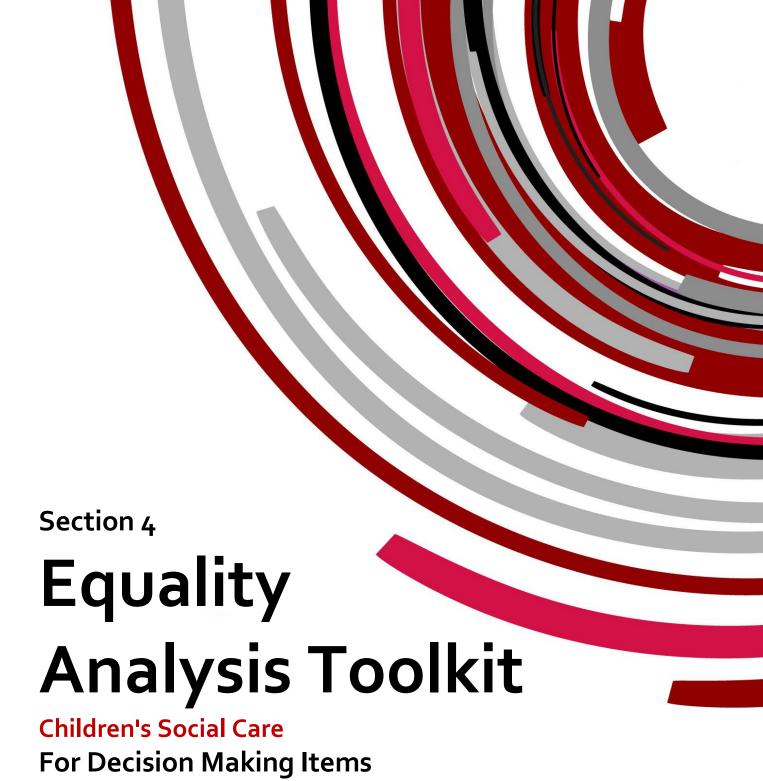

Describe what arrangements you will put in place to review and monitor the effects of your proposal.

The project has in place a proper project management structure and governance arrangements.

The project board meets monthly and will consider the equality impact of the work as part of its standing agenda as reported to it by its sub groups and where practical will develop monitoring mechanisms that take account of the 9 protected characteristic groups.

Equality Analysis Prepared By Paul Robinson

Position/Role Area Commissioning Manager

Name/Nature of the Decision

Children's Social Care Service Offer

What in summary is the proposal being considered?

Redesign in line with Grade 11+ transformation

Is the decision likely to affect people across the county in a similar way or are specific areas likely to be affected – e.g. are a set number of branches/sites to be affected? If so you will need to consider whether there are equality related issues associated with the locations selected – e.g. greater percentage of BME residents in a particular area where a closure is proposed as opposed to an area where a facility is remaining open.

N/A

Could the decision have a particular impact on any group of individuals sharing protected characteristics under the Equality Act 2010, namely:

- Age
- · Disability including Deaf people
- Gender reassignment
- Pregnancy and maternity
- Race/ethnicity/nationality
- Religion or belief
- Sex/gender
- Sexual orientation
- Marriage or Civil Partnership Status

In considering this question you should identify and record any particular impact on people in a sub-group of any of the above –

e.g. people with a particular disability or from a particular religious or ethnic group.

It is particularly important to consider whether any decision is likely to impact adversely on any group of people sharing protected characteristics to a disproportionate extent. Any such disproportionate impact will need to be objectively justified.

N/A
If you have answered "Yes" to this question in relation to any of the above characteristics, – please go to Question 1.

If you have answered "No" in relation to all the protected characteristics, please briefly document your reasons below and attach this to the decision-making papers. (It goes without saying that if the lack of impact is obvious, it need only be very briefly noted.)

There will be no impact upon the nature of the services delivered; we will continue to deliver statutory services.

Question 1 - Background Evidence

What information do you have about the different groups of people who may be affected by this decision – e.g. employees or service users (you could use monitoring data, survey data, etc to compile this). As indicated above, the relevant protected characteristics are:

- Age
- Disability including Deaf people
- · Gender reassignment/gender identity
- Pregnancy and maternity
- Race/Ethnicity/Nationality
- Religion or belief
- Sex/gender
- Sexual orientation
- Marriage or Civil Partnership status (in respect of which the s. 149 requires only that due regard be paid to the need to eliminate discrimination, harassment or victimisation or other conduct which is prohibited by the Act).

In considering this question you should again consider whether the decision under consideration could impact upon specific subgroups e.g. people of a specific religion or people with a particular disability. You should also consider how the decision is likely to affect those who share two or more of the protected characteristics – for example, older women, disabled, elderly people, and so on.

The grade 11+ restructure will not impact upon service delivery. There will be no detrimental impact upon managers grade 11+ as all posts and additional posts in corporate restructure are available for application for all current post holders

How have you tried to involve people/groups that are potentially affected by your decision? Please describe what engagement has taken place, with whom and when.

(Please ensure that you retain evidence of the consultation in case of any further enquiries. This includes the results of consultation or data gathering at any stage of the process)

Regular consultation with senior, team and practice managers through weekly briefings and a series of redesign events.

Question 3 – Analysing Impact

Could your proposal potentially disadvantage particular groups sharing any of the protected characteristics and if so which groups and in what way?

It is particularly important in considering this question to get to grips with the actual practical impact on those affected. The decision-makers need to know in clear and specific terms what the impact may be and how serious, or perhaps minor, it may be – will people need to walk a few metres further to catch a bus, or to attend school? Will they be cut off altogether from vital services? The answers to such questions must be fully and frankly documented, for better or for worse, so that they can be properly evaluated when the decision is made.

Could your proposal potentially impact on individuals sharing the protected characteristics in any of the following ways:

- Could it discriminate unlawfully against individuals sharing any of the protected characteristics, whether directly or indirectly; if so, it must be amended. Bear in mind that this may involve taking steps to meet the specific needs of disabled people arising from their disabilities
- Could it advance equality of opportunity for those who share a particular protected characteristic? If not could it be developed or modified in order to do so?
- Does it encourage persons who share a relevant protected characteristic to participate in public life or in any activity in which participation by such persons is disproportionately low? If not could it be developed or modified in order to do so?

 Will the proposal contribute to fostering good relations between those who share a relevant protected characteristic and those who do not, for example by tackling prejudice and promoting understanding? If not could it be developed or modified in order to do so? Please identify any findings and how they might be addressed.

The proposal does not have any discriminating elements. Access to statutory services is for the whole community.

Question 4 - Combined/Cumulative Effect

Could the effects of your decision combine with other factors or decisions taken at local or national level to exacerbate the impact on any groups?

For example - if the proposal is to impose charges for adult social care, its impact on disabled people might be increased by other decisions within the County Council (e.g. increases in the fares charged for Community Transport and reductions in respite care) and national proposals (e.g. the availability of some benefits). Whilst LCC cannot control some of these decisions, they could increase the adverse effect of the proposal. The LCC has a legal duty to consider this aspect, and to evaluate the decision, including mitigation, accordingly.

If Yes – please identify these.

No.

Question 5 – Identifying Initial Results of Your Analysis

As a result of your analysis have you changed/amended your original proposal?

Please identify how -

For example:

Adjusted the original proposal – briefly outline the adjustments

Continuing with the Original Proposal – briefly explain why

Stopped the Proposal and Revised it - briefly explain

No	ch	ar	ige) .

Question 6 - Mitigation

Please set out any steps you will take to mitigate/reduce any potential adverse effects of your decision on those sharing any particular protected characteristic. It is important here to do a genuine and realistic evaluation of the effectiveness of the mitigation contemplated. Over-optimistic and over-generalised assessments are likely to fall short of the "due regard" requirement.

Also consider if any mitigation might adversely affect any other groups and how this might be managed.

There will be no direct impact upon service delivery or staffing, for any particular protected characteristics.

Question 7 – Balancing the Proposal/Countervailing Factors

At this point you need to weigh up the reasons for the proposal – e.g. need for budget savings; damaging effects of not taking forward the proposal at this time – against the findings of your analysis. Please describe this assessment. It is important here to ensure that the assessment of any negative effects upon those sharing protected characteristics is full and frank. The full extent of actual adverse impacts must be acknowledged and taken into account, or the assessment will be inadequate. What is required is an honest evaluation, and not a marketing exercise. Conversely, while adverse effects should be frankly acknowledged, they need not be overstated or exaggerated. Where effects are not serious, this too should be made clear.

The proposal has been developed in conjunction with the senior leadership group (SGL) and in line with budget savings. The impact will be continually monitored against service demand/ trends and risks will be highlighted to SLG.

Question 8 – Final Proposal

In summary, what is your final proposal and which groups may be affected and how?

There will be no change to delivery of a statutory service. There will be reduced management capacity to lead the service and manage risk. Responsibility for elements of the service will transfer to public health directorate.

Question 9 – Review and Monitoring Arrangements

Describe what arrangements you will put in place to review and monitor the effects of your proposal.

The 14 / 15 service plan will support regular consultation with frontline practitioners and managers to monitor impact in line with services demand.

To deliver residential provision for children looked after, including those young people with complex needs, for whom long term residential care is appropriate. The residential provision will include an assessment unit, mainstream units and a complex needs unit.

For the assessment unit and fostering service to maximise the use of approved placements for young people who would otherwise have been placed in residential homes. To recruit, assess and train connected and mainstream foster carers and adopters within current legislation to provide care and permanence where appropriate, to children and young people who are unable to live with their birth families.

To implement a placement strategy that maximises the use of current and new foster care resource. To provide post permanence support from the fostering and adoption services to prevent adoption and fostering breakdowns.

To delivery youth justice services across Lancashire – preventing entry into the system and reducing reoffending.

The overnight break Service provides overnight/short care packages for children with profound learning or physical disabilities but does not look after young people with a medium – profound disability. Lancashire County Council will continue to meet its statutory obligations in respect of providing services for children in need of accommodation.

The adoption service was rated good by Ofsted in 2011, and the fostering service rated as excellent in 2012. Performance on the adoption score card is slowly improving.

4) Who are the people who will benefit from your service?

The answer to this question could be everyone in Lancashire, or it could be everyone within a District of Lancashire e.g. Burnley, or everyone within a ward e.g. Daneshouse etc. Alternatively, the answer could be a particular group of people e.g. young people in Leyland, people with a disability in Frenchwood etc.

Information on Lancashire's population can be found at http://www.lancashire.gov.uk/profile

The main people who will benefit from our service are young people in Lancashire in need of care or interventions. In addition to this our foster carers and residential staff will also benefit from our service by giving them different opportunities, experience and training.

Children looked after

The total number of CLA has increased over recent months. Most, but not all, districts have shown a small increase since the beginning of this year. Approximately 70% of these are in foster care, which equates to approximately 930 children. An outreach service will support the assessment unit to work with families, foster carers and young people to achieve foster care placements, whilst also working with young people and families on the edge of care to remain at home.

The fostering service will work alongside the residential assessment unit to identify and offer foster care placements to those children who need longer term care who would otherwise be placed in residential units.

The fostering and adoption services will be provided through the amalgamation of recruitment and assessment and support functions. This will allow more flexible use of resources across the services to respond to the needs of children, foster carers and adopters. The criteria for accepting applications will be more flexible.

The fostering service will make additional use of tier 3 foster carers in supporting new carers, service developments, specific projects and post adoption support.

Delivering emotional health and wellbeing training to residential practitioners from all ten Lancashire County Council residential homes.

The provision of emotional health and wellbeing interventions with children, young people and carers supported by an appropriate therapeutic intervention which is responsive to the level of identified need.

The overnight short break provision will provide 6-bed new-build home/s.

In the Central/South area this first new build is under construction and will help facilitate a review of all provision across the county based on a further reduction of need.

Overnight short break provision will be offered to other Local Authorities on a full cost recovery basis.

There will be no change to the delivery of youth justice services.

5) How do you monitor the use of your service and which citizens do you monitor? Please ensure you retain information in relation to your monitoring as evidence of it may be required.

We have a legal duty under the Equality Act 2010 to monitor the use of our services by users who share the following protected characteristics:

- age
- disability (including Deaf people)
- gender reassignment/gender identity
- race/ethnicity/nationality
- sex/gender
- pregnancy/maternity
- religion or belief
- sexual orientation
- marriage/civil partnership (in respect of which the s.149 requires only that due regard be paid to the need to eliminate discrimination, harassment or victimisation or other conduct prohibited by the Act)

Monitoring can be done in a variety of ways, to best meet the needs of the service. See the corporate service monitoring form at lccintranet2/corporate/web/?siteid=5580&pageid=33450&e=e

If you are not currently monitoring across all these characteristics, please say how you will develop your monitoring systems to do so.

The Service will continue to consult with local stakeholders when determining the development of provision. It will work in partnership with all those affected and ensure that any impact is minimal.

The fostering, adoption and residential service will continue to review and monitor the use of the service through statistical data and will make any judgements as a part of ongoing business planning. However it is clear that service users are motivated and coordinated, when considering change to overnight break services it is acknowledged that considerable resistance may lead to incidents of disharmony.

We monitor foster carer's information all on one spreadsheet that is regularly updated when necessary. Columns on this spreadsheet include: ethnicity, religion, date of birth, relationship, gender etc.

The spreadsheet is used to collate statistics on a monthly basis and for other ad hoc research projects such as looking at the number of black minority ethnic (BME) carers and same sex couple carers in Lancashire.

6) What does your monitoring information tell you about who is and who is not using your service?

The monitoring information tells us that this proposal will impact on services to Preston, Leyland and Chorley residents who currently or potentially will, access the residential short break service for children and young people with disabilities. This is the first phase of a county wide restructure of the service and additional Cabinets reports will be presented to implement the restructure in other areas. The new service offer will match current need, in terms of nights available, as the new unit/s will be operational for 364 nights per year. Existing units are closed for a significant number of nights. The provision will meet the needs of all young people with disabilities, assessed as eligible and requiring overnight breaks, even those with the most complex needs. Currently not all units can meet the needs of all young people due to building restrictions. Young people in other parts of the county with complex needs are currently served by units in their areas but the new build could be accessed by any young person in Lancashire, if it is assessed that a local unit could not meet their need.

Foster placements are required for young people across Lancashire. Likewise county provision is required for youth justice services.

7) How do you consult, inform, and involve people in developing your service? Please ensure you retain materials relating to your consultation in case evidence of it is required.

There are a range of techniques to involve people in developing your services. They include:

- service user surveys and panels
- service user satisfaction surveys
- focus groups
- community consultation and engagement exercises
- residents' surveys, including the Living in Lancashire survey see
 http://lccintranet2/corporate/web/?siteid=2660&pageid=3543&e=e
- for more information.
- discussion with front line employees
- complaints, compliments, and comments
- Customer Focus Consultancy see lccintranet2/corporate/web/?siteid=5196&pageid=27362 for more information

- Joint Strategic Needs Assessment (JSNA) see
 http://www.lancashire.gov.uk/jsna for more information
- mystery shopping
- talking to voluntary, community, and faith sector (VCFS) organisations that represent different groups of people
- feedback from district and sub district groups i.e. Local Strategic Partnerships, Area Forums, Area Committees, Neighbourhood Management Boards, Parish and Town Council meetings, Police and Community Together (PACT) meetings etc.

See the Neighbourhood Engagement Intranet site at lccintranet2/corporate/web/view.asp?siteid=3949&pageid=21780&e=e for further advice.

Consultation:

All staff working within the service and other partners will be invited to consultation events to give their views on any suggested changes.

Finally, all young people have been encouraged to participate in the consultation process. Their views are paramount in shaping the service to the needs of young people.

- 8) Which groups of people do you involve in developing your service? Are there any particular groups that you need to target? In considering this question, you should focus first on whether the service has particular relevance to groups of individuals who share the protected characteristics under the Equality Act, namely:
 - age
 - disability (including Deaf people)

- gender reassignment/gender identity
- pregnancy or maternity
- race, ethnicity or nationality
- religion or belief
- sex/gender
- sexual orientation
- marriage/civil partnership (in respect of which s.149 requires only that due regard be paid to the need to eliminate discrimination, harassment or victimisation or other conduct prohibited by the Act)

In doing so, where relevant, you should consider any effects on specific groups or sub-groups sharing one or more protected characteristics such as, for example:

- older people
- people of a particular religion or ethnic group
- Gypsy, Roma and Traveller communities
- Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual or Transgender communities
- It may also be appropriate to consider the specific needs of those with non-statutory characteristics, e.g.:
- people living in deprived areas
- people living in rural areas
- Children Looked After
- young people not in education, employment or training (NEET)
- carers
- other groups as appropriate e.g. teenage parents, offenders etc

If there are groups that you need to target, how will you do this?

The Children in Care Council (CiCC) is a group for children and young people looked after by Lancashire. It is designed to give the children the opportunity to have a voice and influence over the decisions made for them. It also provides them with the opportunity to get involved and help make a difference.

The fostering forum is a regular meeting that includes foster carer representatives and county councillors. The representatives take any questions they have from the foster carers under their remit and get information to feedback from them. It is also a time where information about the service is passed to them to fill in the other carers. It is useful as it is a direct route to county councillors on a regular basis and gives foster carers direct responsibility and involvement.

Lancashire Parent Carer forum operates on a three monthly basis and will be updated and consulted with as part of the new service offer.

The corporate parenting board will also be consulted on the above.

9) If appropriate, how have you involved the following in developing your service? Again, please retain any evidence of this.

- Voluntary, Community and Faith Sector (VCFS) organisations
- county councillors
- parish and town councils see
 lccintranet/corporate/atoz/a to z/service.asp?u id=2339&tab=1
 for more information
- district ward councillors/district councillors
- overview and scrutiny committees see
 lccintranet/corporate/atoz/a_to_z/service.asp?u_id=1788&tab=1
- other statutory agencies e.g. National Health Service, Lancashire Constabulary etc

Not considered at this point.

10) Taking into consideration the information you have collected already, are there any potential negative impacts that might affect citizens because of their:

- age
- disability including Deaf people
- race/ethnicitynationality
- sex/gender
- gender reassignment/ gender identity
- religion or belief
- sexual orientation
- pregnancy or maternity status
- marriage or civil partnership status

Or because they are:

- people who have young children
- living in an area of deprivation
- living in a rural area
- Children Looked After
- young people not in education, employment or training (NEET)
- teenage parents
- carers
- others e.g. offenders, people out of work, problem drug users etc.

There is the potential for negative impact on those families living in rural areas accessing one unit for Residential overnight breaks. This would be dependent on the location of any further new builds.

Please note that the consideration of potential negative effects should be specific and realistic. Potential adverse effects should not be minimised or exaggerated.

n/a

11) Does your review indicate that the effect of the policy or decision under review could combine with other policies or decisions of LCC or other public authorities?

Yes

Could the results of your review combine with other decisions within LCC or elsewhere to affect any of the above groups (i.e. the cumulative effect)?

Yes

Are you aware of other local or national decisions which could combine with this decision to particularly disadvantage any specific groups?

No

12) In relation to your service review findings, whether viewed alone or in combination with other factors, are these likely to have adverse effects on groups sharing relevant protected characteristics? If so you must consider how to mitigate such adverse effects.

Please set out any steps you will take to mitigate/reduce any potential adverse effects of your conclusions/proposals on those sharing any relevant protected characteristic. It is important here to do a genuine and realistic evaluation of the likely effectiveness of the mitigation proposed. Over-optimistic and over-generalised assessments are likely to fall short of the due regard requirement.

Also consider if the mitigation might adversely affect any other groups and how this might be managed.

Clearly, when some provision is modified this usually means that a particular area or group will receive a different service. However, it is believed that the clear and fair basis on which these proposals have been developed together with widespread consultation should minimise the chances of any disharmony.

13) Think about the potential positive impacts your service could have on certain groups of people, and in particular those sharing protected characteristics. What are they and how might they be developed?

Use this information to think about how your service might improve quality of life and assist in relation to promoting equality.

Will the positive impacts be accompanied by any negative impacts on groups of citizens sharing the protected characteristics? If so, how might these be addressed or balanced?

The proposals aim is to Improve the emotional health and well-being of Lancashire's children who are looked after/ adopted and whom Lancashire has a responsibility Increase the understanding about emotional health and well-being issues for children and young people who are looked after/ adopted amongst all those working within the professional and carer network. To maintain a professional training programme for foster carers, adopters and staff to ensure the services are equipped to deliver quality care to children and young people.

14) How can your service contribute to the following priority areas:

 Eliminating discrimination, harassment, victimisation or any other unlawful conduct

Will the service be provided by people who treat all clients/customers/service users with dignity and respect?

Yes

Will assessment or eligibility criteria be set objectively and fairly? Will training in some form be available to ensure that these requirements are properly applied?

Yes

 Tackling social exclusion and advancing equality of opportunity between persons who share relevant protected characteristics and those who do not share it.

This will involve taking steps to remove or minimise disadvantages suffered by persons who share a relevant protected characteristic and that are connected to that particular characteristic, taking steps to meet the needs of persons who share a relevant protected characteristic that are different from the needs of persons who do not share it, and encouraging persons who share a relevant protected characteristic to participate in public life or in any other activity in which participation by such persons is disproportionately low.

It is important to bear in mind that taking steps to meet the needs of disabled persons which are different from those of persons who do not share that disability include steps to take account of the disabilities in question. This may even include treating some persons more favourably than others in order to allow them to participate in social or public life.

Activities that help improve social inclusion include those that improve the quality of life for people who are disadvantaged or are in danger of poor outcomes in their lives through various circumstances e.g. a lack of money, difficulty in accessing services difficulties accessing premises, and barriers to taking part in relationships and activities that are available to most people in communities etc.

 Improving community cohesion /Fostering Good Relations between persons who share a relevant protected characteristic and those who do not share it

This may include thinking about ways to tackle prejudice and promote understanding between groups of people with protected characteristics and those who do not share those characteristics. Activities that help improve community cohesion include those that bring people from different communities together (e.g. people of different ethnicities, faiths, ages, geographical backgrounds etc); those that empower communities and those that reduce tensions in communities. (See the Community Cohesion website at http://www.lancashire.gov.uk/corporate/web/view.asp?siteid=2966&page id=5956&e=e for more information).

Improving health and wellbeing

Health and wellbeing means that people feel well enough and sufficiently supported to live their lives to the full. Activities that help improve health and wellbeing include those that ensure that basic needs are met, that individuals have a sense of purpose, that they feel able to achieve important personal goals and participate in society.

• Supporting the county council's role as a corporate parent

The Corporate Parenting Board ensures that Children Looked After have the same opportunities as their peers to a good quality of life. Activities that help support this are those that help improve health and wellbeing outcomes for children and young people who are looked after and those that support them to be prepared for the future. (See Corporate Parenting Board website at lccintranet2/corporate/web/view.asp?siteid=4183&pageid=17628&e=e for more information).

15) Taking into consideration all the information you have collected in answering the previous questions, what are the changes/actions you will carry out to tackle any issues you have identified? These may be – no change to the service; adjust the proposal; continue with proposed changes or stop the changes and reconsider.

If going ahead with changes, what are the factors you have balanced – e.g. financial, operational – which you have considered alongside your Analysis findings (countervailing factors).

Adjust the proposal.

16) When will you review your actions?

Monitoring should be at least half yearly in line with the business planning performance management cycle.

As appropriate

17) When will you report progress on your actions and who to?

Progress on actions should be reported to relevant county councillors, officers, partnerships and groups etc

As and when required to Head of service.

18) When will you review your service or service plan?

As required there will be ongoing monitoring in place.

County Benefits (Care and Urgent Needs Support Scheme) November 2014

Name/Nature of the Decision

County Benefits Service Offer

Approval of the County Council's revised service offer which does not continue funding of the Care and Urgent Needs Support Scheme following the withdrawal of specific grant by the Government.

What in summary is the proposal being considered?

As part of the County Council's proposed service offer it is proposed to discontinue the current Care and Urgent Needs Support Scheme because the specific grant funding for it is being withdrawn by the Government.

Key features of the scheme are:

- Targeting support at the most vulnerable residents of Lancashire
- Signposting or referring to other sources of support where appropriate to meet the wider needs of the customer
- Partnership working in particular with furniture re-use organisations and food banks
- Reducing perceived abuse of the previous DWP schemes that have been replaced, by avoiding cash awards wherever possible

Is the decision likely to affect people across the county in a similar way or are specific areas likely to be affected – e.g. are a set number of branches/sites to be affected? If so you will need to consider whether there are equality related issues associated with the locations selected – e.g. greater percentage of BME residents in a particular area where a closure is proposed as opposed to an area where a facility is remaining open.

The decision will affect people equally across the county. The Care and Urgent Needs Support Scheme is available to all Lancashire residents who are eligible, and all applications are determined on priority of need of the applicant, regardless of which district they live in.

Could the decision have a particular impact on any group of individuals sharing protected characteristics under the Equality Act 2010, namely:

- Age
- Disability including Deaf people
- Gender reassignment
- Pregnancy and maternity
- Race/ethnicity/nationality
- Religion or belief
- Sex/gender
- Sexual orientation
- Marriage or Civil Partnership Status

In considering this question you should identify and record any particular impact on people in a sub-group of any of the above – e.g. people with a particular disability or from a particular religious or ethnic group.

It is particularly important to consider whether any decision is likely to impact adversely on any group of people sharing protected characteristics to a disproportionate extent. Any such disproportionate impact will need to be objectively justified.

Yes, the decision could have a particular impact on groups of individuals sharing protected characteristics of Age, Disability including Deaf people, Race/ethnicity/nationality, Religion or belief and Sex/gender. Many applications are made by people with long-term disabilities, reliant on benefits that have been reduced or stopped due in the main to the Welfare Reform programme, or people needing items of furniture to assist them in returning to live in the community or in more appropriate accommodation to meet their needs.

If you have answered "No" in relation to all the protected characteristics, please briefly document your reasons below and attach this to the decision-making papers. (It goes without saying that if the lack of impact

If you have answered "Yes" to this question in relation to any of the above characteristics, - please go to Question 1.

is obvious, it need only be very briefly noted.)

Question 1 - Background Evidence

What information do you have about the different groups of people who may be affected by this decision – e.g. employees or service users (you could use monitoring data, survey data, etc to compile this). As indicated above, the relevant protected characteristics are:

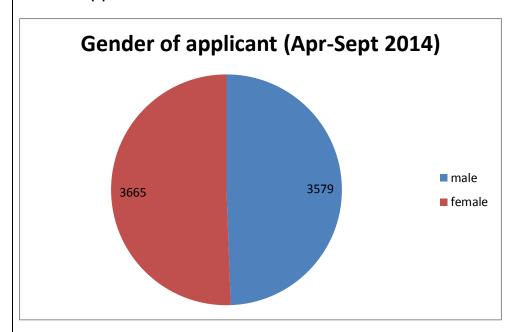

- Age
- Disability including Deaf people
- Gender reassignment/gender identity
- Pregnancy and maternity
- Race/Ethnicity/Nationality
- Religion or belief
- Sex/gender
- Sexual orientation
- Marriage or Civil Partnership status (in respect of which the s. 149 requires only that due regard be paid to the need to eliminate discrimination, harassment or victimisation or other conduct which is prohibited by the Act).

In considering this question you should again consider whether the decision under consideration could impact upon specific subgroups e.g. people of a specific religion or people with a particular disability. You should also consider how the decision is likely to affect those who share two or more of the protected characteristics – for example, older women, disabled, elderly people, and so on.

The Care and Urgent Needs Support Scheme has limitations on its monitoring data, due to the ICT system (Northgate) in use to process applications. In Feb 2014 an analysis of applications at that time identified that over 50% of clients were recorded as having a health issue or disability, however it was not possible to additionally note how many of these applicants also had other protected characteristics as outlined above.

In the past 6 months from April 2014 to the end of September 2014, an analysis of applications has shown that 31% of clients were recorded as having a health issue or disability.

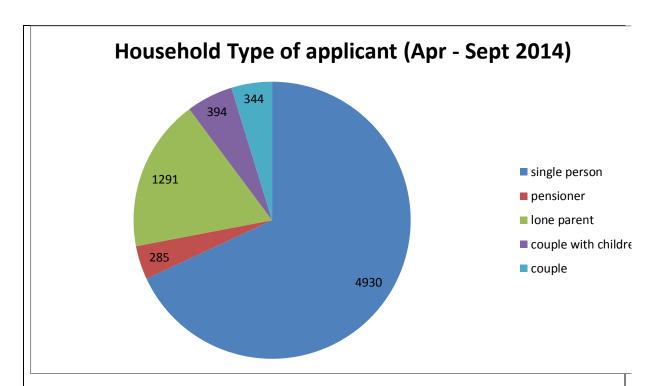

Those applications also show an almost 50% split between male and female applicants.

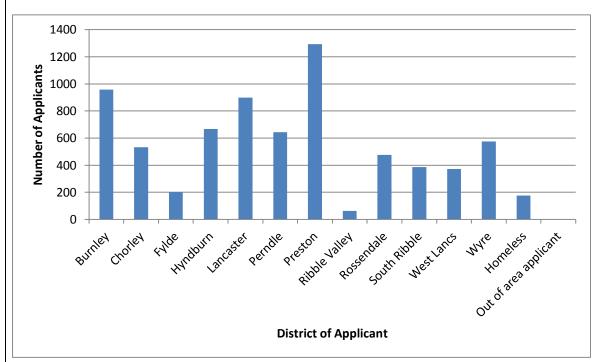

The last 6 months data also shows that the applicant household type is made up predominantly of single people, see below. This probably reflects the core priorities of the care needs scheme which is to help people re-establish themselves in the community, e.g. following homelessness.

The second biggest household type is lone parent, again probably reflecting the scope of the scheme and, for example, the assistance with essential household goods offered to families fleeing domestic violence.

Pensioners are underrepresented in the Care and Urgent Needs Support Service. This may be because pensioner poverty levels have significantly reduced over the past decade and therefore, this household type has less need of a scheme of last resort such as Care and Urgent Needs Support Service.

We also have district data available for the last 6 months which shows the highest number of applications were received from Burnley and Preston (see below)

While the proportion of applications receiving an award under the scheme is greater than under its predecessor run by the DWP both the total number of applications and the number of successful applications are significantly less than under the Social Fund arrangements. Thus there is a significant element of potential demand which has either been "absorbed" by other sources of support within the community or has been deterred for other reasons, such as the fact that the CAUNS Scheme aims not to provide access to cash.

Question 2 - Engagement/Consultation

How have you tried to involve people/groups that are potentially affected by your decision? Please describe what engagement has taken place, with whom and when.

(Please ensure that you retain evidence of the consultation in case of any further enquiries. This includes the results of consultation or data gathering at any stage of the process)

In May 2014 over 150 stakeholders were contacted on behalf of the Cabinet Working Group after the Care and Urgent Needs Support Scheme had been in operation for a year. This was to consider whether the original objectives and policy framework remained appropriate and also whether there may be more appropriate means of meeting the same objectives. Stakeholders views were sought on ways in which they thought the scheme could be improved.

Six responses were received. This is a low response rate when compared with the briefings that were held prior to scheme launch and in September last year when over 20 organisations attended County Hall.

Four housing providers responded and three were happy with the scheme. There was a suggestion of providing fridge/freezers as an essential item rather than just a fridge, however this issue had already been acted on and these are now available from the scheme in appropriate cases. One housing provider works with severely disabled customers who are unable to apply to the scheme without assistance. That provider had experienced some problems whilst acting as third party. Care and Urgent Needs Support Scheme staff contacted the provider to pick up their concerns and explain the application procedures and decision making process. This appears to have resolved their concerns.

Preston Job Centre expressed concerns about the cost of calls to the service, and when they were contacted following the feedback it was apparent that they were not aware of the change to an 0300 number, but when informed of this the issue was resolved.

Ribble Valley CAB expressed concerns mainly relating to the Care and Urgent Needs Support Service policies of not meeting needs that are within the remit of the benefits system and to the maximum payment levels. The current Care and Urgent Needs Support Scheme policy is not to meet needs that should be covered by state benefits. The previous briefing to members of the working group highlighted the increasing difficulty in maintaining this policy in the face of obvious failure of benefit systems to administer claims promptly and the harshness of implementation of sanctions and other penalties. It is estimated that over 75% of Urgent Needs Awards relate to failures within the benefits and tax credits system.

The final improvement suggestion was that Care and Urgent Needs Support Scheme should be able to accept emailed applications from intermediaries and respond to intermediaries. This request was actually already available via the on-line portal. The portal was rarely used at that time, so the team undertook a briefing session offered to all stakeholders to increase awareness and usage of this channel, however to date, it still remains underused. There is also a pilot project running in partnership with North Lancs CAB who are able to make awards on behalf of the Care and Urgent Needs Support Scheme, subject to certain controls and limits, improving the process for the most vulnerable customers, i.e. those without access to a phone or email. This pilot is currently being reviewed, and a report will follow outlining the possibility of expanding the scheme with other CABx.

Thus in general terms the Cabinet Working Group was able to conclude that stakeholders, while seeking changes to the detailed operation of the scheme were supportive of the broad policy framework and mode of operation, and would be supportive of the continuation of the scheme.

Question 3 – Analysing Impact

Could your proposal potentially disadvantage particular groups sharing any of the protected characteristics and if so which groups and in what way?

It is particularly important in considering this question to get to grips with the actual practical impact on those affected. The decision-makers need to know in clear and specific terms what the impact may be and how serious, or perhaps minor, it may be – will people need to walk a few metres further to catch a bus, or to attend school? Will they be cut off altogether from vital services? The answers to such questions must be fully and frankly documented, for better or for worse, so that they can be properly evaluated when the decision is made.

Could your proposal potentially impact on individuals sharing the protected characteristics in any of the following ways:

- Could it discriminate unlawfully against individuals sharing any of the protected characteristics, whether directly or indirectly; if so, it must be amended. Bear in mind that this may involve taking steps to meet the specific needs of disabled people arising from their disabilities
- Could it advance equality of opportunity for those who share a particular protected characteristic? If not could it be developed or modified in order to do so?
- Does it encourage persons who share a relevant protected characteristic to participate in public life or in any activity in which participation by such persons is disproportionately low? If not could it be developed or modified in order to do so?
- Will the proposal contribute to fostering good relations between those who share a relevant protected characteristic and those who do not, for example by tackling prejudice and promoting understanding? If not could it be developed or modified in order to do so? Please identify any findings and how they might be addressed.

The Care and Urgent Needs Support Scheme prioritises and targets those who are most vulnerable in society. This includes groups who possess one or more protected characteristics, such as disabled older people. Prioritisation on the basis of vulnerability and need should advance equality of opportunity through targeting support for instance to allow people in these groupings to maintain their independence in the community. The list of groups subject to prioritisation is not exhaustive, but includes:

- Older people at risk of harm (Age)
- People fleeing domestic abuse (Sex/ Gender)
- People moving out of institutional or residential care (Age and Disability)
- Chronically or terminally ill people(Age and Disability)
- People with alcohol or drug issues (in some cases Disability)
- People with learning difficulties (Disability)
- People with mental health issues (Disability)

Promotion of the Care and Urgent Needs Support Scheme has taken place across the County with partner organisations such as drug and alcohol rehabilitation units, children's centres, a prison, food banks and furniture recycling organisations to try to ensure support reaches clients most in need at the appropriate time. This helps to ensure that access to the scheme is available to anyone who may be disadvantaged and at risk.

The potential withdrawal of the scheme as a result of the withdrawal of government funding would clearly have a negative impact on all these groups, however, the impact on any one group would not be disproportionate relative to the others.

Question 4 –Combined/Cumulative Effect

Could the effects of your decision combine with other factors or decisions taken at local or national level to exacerbate the impact on any groups?

For example - if the proposal is to impose charges for adult social care, its impact on disabled people might be increased by other decisions within the County Council (e.g. increases in the fares charged for Community Transport and reductions in respite care) and national proposals (e.g. the availability of some benefits). Whilst LCC cannot control some of these decisions, they could increase the adverse effect of the proposal. The LCC has a legal duty to consider this aspect, and to evaluate the decision, including mitigation, accordingly.

If Yes – please identify these.

Yes. The Care and Urgent Needs Support Scheme is one of many welfare reform changes that have happened in 2012 and 2013. The combined effect of changes such as district Housing Benefit changes, Universal Credit, Personal Independence Payment, mandatory reconsiderations of Employment and Support decisions, the increase to 7 waiting days before benefit entitlement is payable, could particularly impact those in the protected characteristics group of Disabled.

Future demand on the Care and Urgent Needs Support Scheme is very hard to predict. The urgent needs component, in particular, could be quite volatile long term. Most applications are reactive and driven by factors such as benefit changes. This August, for example, there was spike in awards caused by HMRC withdrawing tax credits from claimants who had failed to send their renewals claim before the deadline. In previous years HMRC may have been more relaxed about this deadline. This year, the first many families knew was when the money did not appear in their bank account.

The continued roll out of Universal Credit could increase awards, e.g. because applicants may have to wait up to 6 weeks for their first payment.

Against this background it is also important to understand that whilst the Government transferred responsibility for the former Social Fund functions to Councils from April 2013 it did not impose a new statutory duty on Councils to provide any form of service. Thus it was clearly an option for local authorities not to make any specific arrangements to replace the Social Fund and simply use the specific grant funding to top up existing budgets such as those provided under s.17 of the Children Act 1989. Arguably the Government's expectation reflected in their withdrawal of the specific grant funding is that schemes of this sort will cease.

Question 5 – Identifying Initial Results of Your Analysis

As a result of your analysis have you changed/amended your original proposal?

Please identify how –

For example:

Adjusted the original proposal – briefly outline the adjustments

Continuing with the Original Proposal – briefly explain why

Stopped the Proposal and Revised it - briefly explain

As outlined in the answer to Question 2, in consultation with stakeholders and as issues arise within the team itself, changes to the original scheme have been made. To date these changes have not had a material impact on the level of demand coming through the scheme,

In considering the Council's service offer for the future which has to be designed within a cash limited resource envelope the Cabinet is faced with a policy choice over whether to reduce other services which support groups with protected characteristics in order to continue funding the Care and Urgent Needs Support Scheme, or discontinuing funding of the scheme.

Question 6 - Mitigation

Please set out any steps you will take to mitigate/reduce any potential adverse effects of your decision on those sharing any particular protected characteristic. It is important here to do a genuine and realistic evaluation of the effectiveness of the mitigation contemplated. Over-optimistic and over-generalised assessments are likely to fall short of the "due regard" requirement.

Also consider if any mitigation might adversely affect any other groups and how this might be managed.

As outlined in the response to question 4 above, the combined effect of this decision together with other welfare reforms in 2014 and beyond could particularly impact those in the protected characteristics group of Disabled. There is a limit to what the council can do to mitigate/reduce the cumulative effects, but there will be a continued focus in the scheme on identifying and prioritising those most in need, including those most likely to require immediate support or assistance to establish or maintain a home in the community from the protected characteristics group of Disabled.

The Council has through the Public Health function instituted a programme of support for Food Banks across the County, thus while the contractual funding from the Care and Urgent Needs Support Scheme may be withdrawn the network of food banks will continue to exist and be available to directly support individuals who would otherwise have been referred by the Scheme.

Similarly the Furniture Recycling Network will continue to exist as a means of providing domestic items to individuals.

The Care and Urgent Needs Support Scheme is assisting some of the most deprived people in Lancashire, however, the scheme cannot replace the Social Security benefits that are lost or replicate the previous DWP discretionary schemes as the cost would be prohibitive.

As a service that is being delivered locally, and meeting local needs, it will continue to seek feedback to ensure equal access and consistent decision making for all Lancashire residents, whilst at the same time ensuring that assistance is given to those most in need.

Question 7 - Balancing the Proposal/Countervailing Factors

At this point you need to weigh up the reasons for the proposal – e.g. need for budget savings; damaging effects of not taking forward the proposal at this time – against the findings of your analysis. Please describe this assessment. It is important here to ensure that the assessment of any negative effects upon those sharing protected characteristics is full and frank. The full extent of actual adverse impacts must be acknowledged and taken into account, or the assessment will be inadequate. What is required is an honest evaluation, and not a marketing exercise. Conversely, while adverse effects should be frankly acknowledged, they need not be overstated or exaggerated. Where effects are not serious, this too should be made clear.

The Care and Urgent Needs Support Scheme assists some of the most vulnerable people in Lancashire, people who have been left with no money for the most basic of needs such as food and fuel. At the same time, Lancashire County Council is facing an extremely difficult challenge in meeting the savings needed as part of the financial strategy to manage the reduction in funding from Government.

The scheme provides assistance in two ways, one is through Urgent Needs awards which may comprise of an emergency cash payment (via the Pay Point web portal) and/or a food parcel provided through several Food Banks who receive grant funding from the scheme.

The second way of providing assistance is through Care Needs Awards which comprise of essential household goods, such as beds, cookers and seating. These are usually provided through an agreement with the network of Lancashire Furniture Re-Use Organisations. These not-for-profit organisations mainly supply good quality second hand or reconditioned items.

Working in partnership with local Food Banks and with the Furniture Re-Use network supports the Council's stated policy that through this service, LCC wishes to invest in local established charities and social enterprises, and in doing so, to support local employment and training opportunities.

Any reduction to the Care and Urgent Needs Support Scheme will impact on both the people who apply for assistance from the scheme, many of whom, as stated, have a disability. It will also impact on the local established charities and social enterprises that the scheme supports.

At the same time the specific funding provided to the Council which has been used to fund the Scheme is being withdrawn and the Council needs to balance the benefits of a scheme targeted at the most vulnerable in society (whether forming part of a group with protected characteristics or not) with the fact that continuing to fund the scheme will require other services to be reduced. Given the balance of the Council's spending on services continuing to fund this scheme would mean that further reductions in services that impact on groups with protected characteristics would be required.

Question 8 – Final Proposal

In summary, what is your final proposal and which groups may be affected and how?

The Council's Service offer presented for consultation is predicated on the discontinuation of the Care and Urgent Needs Support Scheme from 31st March 2015.

As outlined in Question 7, the particular groups that will be most affected if the Scheme ends are people with disabilities or long term health problems. There are however many voluntary sector agencies and other statutory services who are also supporting people with disabilities who are struggling for example due to changes brought in by the Welfare reform programme, or delays in payments of benefit due to administration delays.

The County Council will through its new organisational arrangements be making a significant investment in "well being" services, including the Welfare Rights Service, and will as indicated above be continuing through other avenues to support the Food Bank network. While not replacing the scheme these measures do provide some mitigation for the discontinuation of the scheme,

Partnership working to try to protect our most vulnerable residents is essential in assisting those who fall within any protected group, and due regard will continue to be given to those groups.

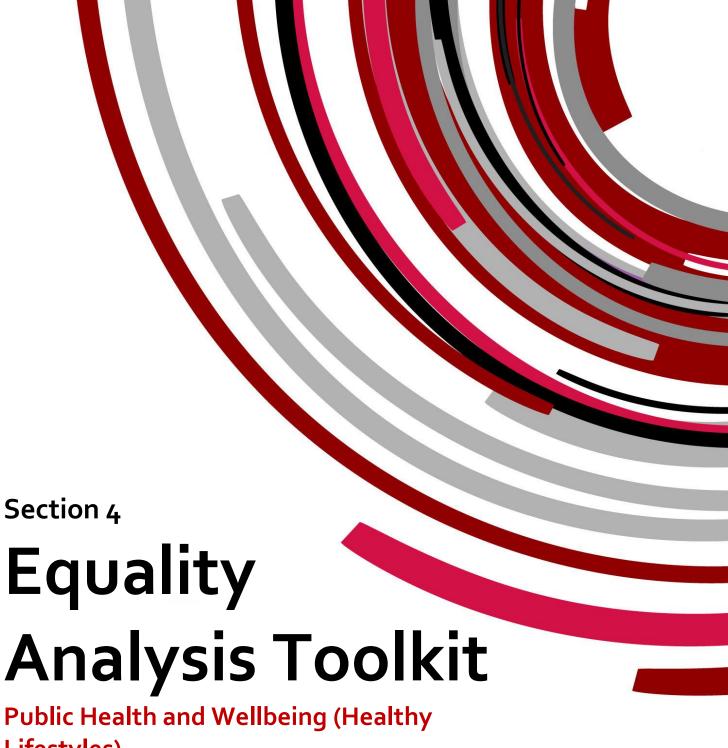

Question 9 – Review and Monitoring Arrangements

Describe what arrangements you will put in place to review and monitor the effects of your proposal.

The Welfare Rights Service will continue to monitor referrals and the more general levels of demand for schemes such as this through its research and partnership arrangements and the Public Health Service will through its work with Food Banks be able to access information on demand for support from individuals.

Public Health and Wellbeing Service Offer

NHS Health Checks and Healthy Lifestyles Service Offer

What in summary is the proposal being considered?

What is the service offer

The budgets included in the Healthy Lifestyles cost centres are varied and are not part of one overarching service. They include the following:

- 1. The NHS Health Checks screening programme
- 2. Healthy weight and physical activity including:
 - -Weight management and exercise referral services
 - -Food growing/ community allotment projects (2 one in East Lancs one in Central Lancs)
 - -Some walking and cycling schemes
- 3. Other Healthy Lifestyles projects including:
 - -Healthy Living Centres/ community healthy lifestyles initiatives (contribution to 2 in East Lancs)
 - -Active Ageing (East Lancs)
- 4. East Lancashire Health Improvement Service (training, capacity building, health education/ promotion, community development
- 5. Other:
 - Home Improvement Agency (2 in North Lancs) Sayhelian Women's Forum (grant, Central Lancs)
 - Communities against Cancer project (promoting early presentation and detection of cancer, East Lancs

Only NHS Health Checks, weight management and exercise referral services are commissioned in every locality of Lancashire. The remainder vary according to locality, and are based on differing historical commissioning priorities from the legacy PCTs whose public health contracts transitioned to LCC in 2013. There are multiple providers including the Third and statutory sectors. Some services are commissioned from NHS providers and part of large NHS Trust "block" contracts.

The service offers related to these are described below:

What is the service offer?

This service will be provided as part of the wellbeing, prevention and early help service and will include NHS Health Checks, healthy weight and physical activity programmes.

The NHS Health Checks programme is a national initiative aimed at early detection and management of people aged 40-74 who are at risk of developing cardio vascular disease, diabetes and kidney disease. It also aims to raise awareness of dementia in people aged between 65 - 74 and includes an alcohol assessment.

How will the service offer be provided?

NHS Health Checks

Health checks will be provided by primary care providers including community pharmacies; a community and workplace outreach programme will be commissioned which will expand the delivery across a range of other providers e.g. borough council health improvement services already commissioned by LCC to deliver healthy weight and physical activity services.

Weight management and exercise referrals service will include:

- Children and family weight management services embedded as part of the wider offer for children, young people and families.
- Promotion of physical activity including lower level activities such as walking; cycling; green gyms
- Personalised support for people at higher risk e.g. exercise referral

- Health Trainers/ physical activity peer activators
- Community based programmes in target areas e.g. community allotments; community cafes
- Brief interventions and training for front line workers to Make Every Contact Count

Is the decision likely to affect people across the county in a similar way or are specific areas likely to be affected – e.g. are a set number of branches/sites to be affected? If so you will need to consider whether there are equality related issues associated with the locations selected – e.g. greater percentage of BME residents in a particular area where a closure is proposed as opposed to an area where a facility is remaining open.

Yes the decision will affect people across the county in a similar way:

NHS Health Checks

Health checks will be provided by primary care providers including community pharmacies; a community and workplace outreach programme will be commissioned which will expand the delivery across a range of other providers e.g. borough council health improvement services already commissioned by LCC to deliver healthy weight and physical activity services.

Healthy Weight and Physical activity

Through a redesigned Healthy weight and physical activity pathway which will include:

- Children and family weight management services
- Promotion of physical activity including lower level activities such as walking; cycling; green gyms
- Personalised support for people at higher risk e.g. exercise referral
- Health Trainers/ physical activity peer activators
- Community based programmes in target areas e.g. community allotments; community cafes

 Brief interventions and training for front line workers to Make Every Contact Count

Could the decision have a particular impact on any group of individuals sharing protected characteristics under the Equality Act 2010, namely:

- Age
- Disability including Deaf people
- Gender reassignment
- Pregnancy and maternity
- Race/ethnicity/nationality
- · Religion or belief
- Sex/gender
- Sexual orientation
- Marriage or Civil Partnership Status

In considering this question you should identify and record any particular impact on people in a sub-group of any of the above – e.g. people with a particular disability or from a particular religious or ethnic group.

It is particularly important to consider whether any decision is likely to impact adversely on any group of people sharing protected characteristics to a disproportionate extent. Any such disproportionate impact will need to be objectively justified.

No it is not envisaged that there will be any disproportionate negative impact on any group of people sharing protected characteristics:

NHS Health Checks

There will be no adverse impact on the service provision, which will be more accessible to service users by having a more community based access points, in addition to the established GP programme.

Healthy Weight and physical activity

These projects are not funded uniformly across Lancashire at present, and therefore the current inequities in provision will be reduced through including the budgets in the county wide service redesign.

The providers of those services would be able to bid to deliver different types of services as part of this re-design.

A more integrated way of commissioning Lifestyle Services including Stop Smoking will be pursued, which will create efficiencies in management costs.

If you have answered "Yes" to this question in relation to any of the above characteristics, – please go to Question 1.

N/A

If you have answered "No" in relation to all the protected characteristics, please briefly document your reasons below and attach this to the decision-making papers. (It goes without saying that if the lack of impact is obvious, it need only be very briefly noted.)

Services will be re-designed and current inequities in provision will be reduced as described above, therefore this service offer is not considered to disproportionately affect any group of people with protected characteristics.

Question 1 - Background Evidence

What information do you have about the different groups of people who may be affected by this decision – e.g. employees or service users (you could use monitoring data, survey data, etc to compile this). As indicated above, the relevant protected characteristics are:

- Gender reassignment/gender identity
- Pregnancy and maternity
- Race/Ethnicity/Nationality
- Religion or belief
- Sex/gender
- Sexual orientation
- Marriage or Civil Partnership status (in respect of which the s. 149 requires only that due regard be paid to the need to eliminate discrimination, harassment or victimisation or other conduct which is prohibited by the Act).

In considering this question you should again consider whether the decision under consideration could impact upon specific subgroups e.g. people of a specific religion or people with a particular disability. Name/Nature of the Decision

Public Health and Wellbeing Service Offer

What in summary is the proposal being considered?

The corporate savings plan requires all service areas to realign existing resources to deliver more efficient and effective provision within a reduced financial envelope.

Sexual Health covers more than the services that LCC commissions. For the purposes of this offer we have concentrated on the authority's commissioning responsibilities.

LCC is the main commissioner of sexual health services (clinical/ non-clinical), the only exclusions are abortion care (Clinical Commissioning Group [CCG]) and the responsibility for the treatment and care of those living with HIV, (NHS England) though local authorities are responsible for testing and screening for HIV.

LCC is mandated with the commissioning of "Comprehensive open access sexual health services". Comprehensive sexual health services include;

- Genitourinary medicine (GUM), including HIV screening and GUM care for those living with HIV
- Contraception services (what were family planning services)
- Designated Young Peoples Services (providing primarily contraception, but inclusive of some screening for Chlamydia and HIV)
- Sexual Health aspects of Psychosexual (current understanding is that it excludes treatment for erectile dysfunction where the cause is mechanical and not psychosexual)
- Cervical Screening within contraceptive services (the responsibility for screening lies with NHS England, but this service is part of the integrated offer for women and will continue to offer opportunistic screening services)
- Condom Distribution
- Chlamydia screening to achieve the diagnostic indicator

- Outreach services
- Education and training (in and out of services)
- Pharmacy Emergency Contraception schemes

General practice delivery of Sub Dermal Implants and Intrauterine Contraceptive devices.

How will the service offer be provided?

Funding Approach

Sexual health services are currently funded through a mixture of large NHS Trust "Block" contracts for Contraception services and "tariff" payments for Genitourinary Medicine services (GUM). There are currently 5 providers of these clinical services. Sexual health services will continue to be commissioned from suitably qualified providers. In the future, we intend to use the basis of a nationally developed Integrated tariff for the procurement, this will be the means to make cost efficiencies and early indication suggests this will affect the required savings. However as services are 'open-access', meaning Lancashire residents can attend anywhere in the country and vice versa, (the funding follows the resident) we need to model demand and any increase overtime to ensure that the risk of increased cost is mitigated. If we foresee an increase we will need to add marginal rates to try and minimise impact, to ensure that increased demand doesn't cancel out savings.

What will be different and why?

It is anticipated that there will be able to reduce costs by £1m. The revised service will include;

- Better integration of contraception and sexually transmitted infection services, delivered in parallel
- The requirement for all contraceptive methods to be available at all sites and at all times
- Flexible hours of operation according to need
- Central hubs with greater number of opening hours
- Satellite services to meet needs of geography (less sites than previously)
- Provision of dedicated young people's services.
- outreach and Psychosexual services
- prevention services

We believe we can make the efficiencies from re-procurement, as the services have largely remained the same for a number of years without the benefit of re-procurement. Additionally, we have inherited multiple providers of similar services, with the associated on costs for each, however, reducing the current resource by £1 million, will require;

 Provision of a reduced offer at each visit, difficult to achieve, other than not moving to integration of contraception and STI screening or

Discontinue some of the current services (Outreach, Condom Distribution)

or

Reduce the demand by limiting access (less sites).

Is the decision likely to affect people across the county in a similar way or are specific areas likely to be affected – e.g. are a set number of branches/sites to be affected? If so you will need to consider whether there are equality related issues associated with the locations selected – e.g. greater percentage of BME residents in a particular area where a closure is proposed as opposed to an area where a facility is remaining open.

Yes. The proposed budget savings will be achieved through integrating services and reducing management costs, without impacting on sexual health activity and outcomes within the Public Health outcomes:

Re-procurement of a Lancashire-wide Sexual Health Service During 2015/16 we are planning to tender for one Lancashire-wide sexual health service, which will commence from April 2016. This will reduce the five current services into one. Savings will be made by reducing management costs from five teams to one. Whilst TUPE transfer will apply to all staff, savings will be made by reducing the management costs from five services to one. A sexual health needs assessment and consultation events will be undertaken to support the re-procurement process, which will include current stakeholders and service users.

The formation of a one Lancashire-wide sexual health service will also facilitate consistency of service delivery and ensure all Lancashire citizens have access to the same range of sexual health services offer.

Review of commissioned initiatives and programmes

All elements of the sexual health agenda, including GUM, CASH, condom distribution, chlamydia screening programmes and Young People's provision will all be reviewed to deliver savings as part of a more integrated approach to other programmes and processes.

Could the decision have a particular impact on any group of individuals sharing protected characteristics under the Equality Act 2010, namely:

- Age
- Disability including Deaf people
- Gender reassignment
- Pregnancy and maternity
- Race/ethnicity/nationality
- Religion or belief
- Sex/gender
- Sexual orientation
- Marriage or Civil Partnership Status

In considering this question you should identify and record any particular impact on people in a sub-group of any of the above – e.g. people with a particular disability or from a particular religious or ethnic group.

It is particularly important to consider whether any decision is likely to impact adversely on any group of people sharing protected characteristics to a disproportionate extent. Any such disproportionate impact will need to be objectively justified.

No, it is not considered that the proposed savings from the sexual health budget will have an adverse impact on any groups of individuals sharing protected characteristics. The service offer will continue in the Lancashire-wide service.

The proposed budget savings will be achieved through integrating services and reducing management costs, without impacting on sexual health activity and the achievement of the Public Health outcomes.

The formation of a one Lancashire-wide sexual health service will facilitate consistency of service delivery and ensure all Lancashire citizens regardless of gender, ethnicity, marital status, disability and sexual orientation are offered effective support in order to reduce the rates of teenage conceptions, chlamydia diagnosis and to aid with the early detection of HIV.

If you have answered "Yes" to this question in relation to any of the above characteristics, – please go to Question 1.

If you have answered "No" in relation to all the protected characteristics, please briefly document your reasons below and attach this to the decision-making papers. (It goes without saying that if the lack of impact is obvious, it need only be very briefly noted.)

Approval of the proposal to achieve savings from the sexual health budget is not considered to have an adverse impact on any groups of individuals sharing protected characteristics.

The savings will be achieved through integrating services and reducing management costs, without impacting on sexual health activity. Overall targets (North, East and Central Lancashire) will be maintained to ensure activity is directed to areas of sexual health need to address health inequalities.

In addition, the formation of a one Lancashire-wide sexual health service will facilitate consistency of service delivery and ensure all Lancashire residents regardless of gender, ethnicity, marital status, disability and sexual orientation are offered effective support in order to reduce the rates of sexually transmitted infections and other sexual health needs in order for them to enjoy positive relationships.

The sexual health needs assessment process has included consultation with a range of groups with protected characteristics in order to make sure that the new services best meet the requirements of these groups. Details of all these consultations can be viewed on request. It is hoped that some of the groups identified will have better access via the new service offer than they have currently with existing arrangements.

It is expected that the new service offer will advance equality of opportunity for those who share the listed protected characteristics.

Question 1 – Background Evidence

What information do you have about the different groups of people who may be affected by this decision – e.g. employees or service users (you could use monitoring data, survey data, etc to compile this). As indicated above, the relevant protected characteristics are:

- Age
- Disability including Deaf people
- Gender reassignment/gender identity
- Pregnancy and maternity
- Race/Ethnicity/Nationality
- Religion or belief
- Sex/gender
- Sexual orientation
- Marriage or Civil Partnership status (in respect of which the s. 149 requires only that due regard be paid to the need to eliminate discrimination, harassment or victimisation or other conduct which is prohibited by the Act).

In considering this question you should again consider whether the decision under consideration could impact upon specific subgroups e.g. people of a specific religion or people with a particular disability. You should also consider how the decision is likely to affect those who share two or more of the protected characteristics – for example, older women, disabled, elderly people, and so on.

N/A

Question 2 - Engagement/Consultation

How have you tried to involve people/groups that are potentially affected by your decision? Please describe what engagement has taken place, with whom and when.

(Please ensure that you retain evidence of the consultation in case of any further enquiries. This includes the results of consultation or data gathering at any stage of the process)

N/A

Question 3 – Analysing Impact

Could your proposal potentially disadvantage particular groups sharing any of the protected characteristics and if so which groups and in what way?

It is particularly important in considering this question to get to grips with the actual practical impact on those affected. The decision-makers need to know in clear and specific terms what the impact may be and how serious, or perhaps minor, it may be – will people need to walk a few metres further to catch a bus, or to attend school? Will they be cut off altogether from vital services? The answers to such questions must be fully and frankly documented, for better or for worse, so that they can be properly evaluated when the decision is made.

Could your proposal potentially impact on individuals sharing the protected characteristics in any of the following ways:

- Could it discriminate unlawfully against individuals sharing any of the protected characteristics, whether directly or indirectly; if so, it must be amended. Bear in mind that this may involve taking steps to meet the specific needs of disabled people arising from their disabilities
- Could it advance equality of opportunity for those who share a particular protected characteristic? If not could it be developed or modified in order to do so?

- Does it encourage persons who share a relevant protected characteristic to participate in public life or in any activity in which participation by such persons is disproportionately low? If not could it be developed or modified in order to do so?
- Will the proposal contribute to fostering good relations between those who share a relevant protected characteristic and those who do not, for example by tackling prejudice and promoting understanding? If not could it be developed or modified in order to do so? Please identify any findings and how they might be addressed.

N/A

Question 4 - Combined/Cumulative Effect

Could the effects of your decision combine with other factors or decisions taken at local or national level to exacerbate the impact on any groups?

For example - if the proposal is to impose charges for adult social care, its impact on disabled people might be increased by other decisions within the County Council (e.g. increases in the fares charged for Community Transport and reductions in respite care) and national proposals (e.g. the availability of some benefits). Whilst LCC cannot control some of these decisions, they could increase the adverse effect of the proposal. The LCC has a legal duty to consider this aspect, and to evaluate the decision, including mitigation, accordingly.

If Yes – please identify these.

N/A

Question 5 – Identifying Initial Results of Your Analysis

As a result of your analysis have you changed/amended your original proposal?

Please identify how -

For example:

Adjusted the original proposal – briefly outline the adjustments

Continuing with the Original Proposal – briefly explain why

Stopped the Proposal and Revised it - briefly explain

N/A

Question 6 - Mitigation

Please set out any steps you will take to mitigate/reduce any potential adverse effects of your decision on those sharing any particular protected characteristic. It is important here to do a genuine and realistic evaluation of the effectiveness of the mitigation contemplated. Over-optimistic and over-generalised assessments are likely to fall short of the "due regard" requirement.

Also consider if any mitigation might adversely affect any other groups and how this might be managed.

Question 7 - Balancing the Proposal/Countervailing Factors

At this point you need to weigh up the reasons for the proposal – e.g. need for budget savings; damaging effects of not taking forward the proposal at this time – against the findings of your analysis. Please describe this assessment. It is important here to ensure that the assessment of any negative effects upon those sharing protected characteristics is full and frank. The full extent of actual adverse impacts must be acknowledged and taken into account, or the assessment will be inadequate. What is required is an honest evaluation, and not a marketing exercise. Conversely, while adverse effects should be frankly acknowledged, they need not be overstated or exaggerated. Where effects are not serious, this too should be made clear.

If so you will need to consider whether there are equality related issues associated with the locations selected – e.g. greater percentage of BME residents in a particular area where a closure is proposed as opposed to an area where a facility is remaining open.

Yes. The proposed budget savings will be achieved through integrating services and reducing management costs, without impacting on smoking cessation and smokefree activity:

Re-procurement of a Lancashire-wide Stop Smoking Service
During 2015/16 we are planning to tender for one Lancashire-wide stop smoking service, which will commence from April 2016. This will reduce the four current services into one. It will be undertaken as part of the integrated health and wellbeing model and therefore there is potential to link with healthy weight and physical activity services.
Savings will be made by reducing management costs from four teams to one. Whilst TUPE transfer will apply to all staff, savings will be made by reducing the management costs from four services to one. The Authority will need to consider the redundancy costs for staff of the current four services in 2016/17. A review and consultation events will be undertaken to support the re-procurement process, which will include current stakeholders and service users.

A small reduction can also be made to the NRT voucher scheme budget in line with the 0.5-1% annual decrease in smoking prevalence. The smokefree homes and cars programme and supporting a smokefree pregnancy scheme will also be integrated into the service model.

The overall quit target will remain in line with the target of 5% of the total smoking population⁸ and locality targets (North, East and Central Lancashire) regarding four-week quits and smokefree homes will continue to ensure activity is directed to areas of higher smoking prevalence to address health inequalities.

The formation of a one Lancashire-wide stop smoking service will also facilitate consistency of service delivery and ensure all smokers are offered effective support in order to reduce the rates of smoking.

Review of commissioned initiatives and programmes

All elements of the tobacco control agenda, including Tobacco Free Futures, Smoking in Pregnancy, Smokefree Play Programme and Tobacco Use in Young People will all be reviewed to deliver savings as part of a more integrated approach to other programmes and processes. For example, the inclusion of stop smoking into the future service delivery model for health visitors, maternity services and peer mentor services.

No, it is not considered that the proposed savings from the tobacco control budget will have an adverse impact on any groups of individuals sharing protected characteristics. All smokers aged 12 years and above of all gender, ethnicity, marital status, disability and sexual orientation can currently access the stop smoking services for quit support and this will continue in the Lancashire-wide service.

The proposed budget savings will be achieved through integrating services and reducing management costs, without impacting on smoking cessation and smokefree activity.

Overall four-week quit and smokefree home targets and locality targets (North, East and Central Lancashire) will be maintained to ensure activity is directed to areas of higher smoking prevalence to address health inequalities. In 2014/15 a Lancashire-wide service specification was introduced to all four stop smoking which included targets regarding routine and manual workers and the unemployed (50% of all four-week quits), BME communities (6% of all four-week quits) and pregnant women (10% of pregnant smoking population) to address health inequalities. These targets will also be maintained in the Lancashire-wide stop smoking service.

The formation of a one Lancashire-wide stop smoking service will facilitate consistency of service delivery and ensure all smokers aged 12 years and above of all gender, ethnicity, marital status, disability and sexual orientation are offered effective support in order to reduce the rates of smoking.

Public Health and Wellbeing (Children Young People and Families Public Health) For Decision Making Items November 2014

Name/Nature of the Decision

Public Health and Wellbeing Service Offer

Children Young People & Families Public Health Services Service

There will be an integrated wellbeing, prevention and early help offer for children and young people with a proposed reduction of £1m from the current children and young people's public health budget by 2018.

What in summary is the proposal being considered?

The corporate savings plan requires all service areas to realign existing resources to deliver more efficient and effective provision within a reduced financial envelope.

This proposal forms part of the corporate savings plans and outlines how a saving of approximately £1m could be achieved from the CYP Public Health Services budget. Savings will be realised through redesign and re-procurement and based on alignment of PH CYP existing services with LCC services, where appropriate, in order to streamline pathways, avoid duplication and better integrate services.

Is the decision likely to affect people across the county in a similar way or are specific areas likely to be affected – e.g. are a set number of branches/sites to be affected? If so you will need to consider whether there are equality related issues associated with the locations selected – e.g. greater percentage of BME residents in a particular area where a closure is proposed as opposed to an area where a facility is remaining open.

A number of services under review as part of the commissioning cycle were previously commissioned by East Lancashire Primary Care Trust in response to need. These services are not currently replicated elsewhere across the county and might be affected following the review.

Other services under review e.g. School Nursing and Health Visiting provide a universal service to all Children & Young People.

Could the decision have a particular impact on any group of individuals sharing protected characteristics under the Equality Act 2010, namely:

- Age
- Disability including Deaf people
- Gender reassignment
- Pregnancy and maternity
- Race/ethnicity/nationality
- Religion or belief
- Sex/gender
- Sexual orientation
- Marriage or Civil Partnership Status

In considering this question you should identify and record any particular impact on people in a sub-group of any of the above – e.g. people with a particular disability or from a particular religious or ethnic group.

It is particularly important to consider whether any decision is likely to impact adversely on any group of people sharing protected characteristics to a disproportionate extent. Any such disproportionate impact will need to be objectively justified.

No

If you have answered "Yes" to this question in relation to any of the above characteristics, – please go to Question 1.

NA

If you have answered "No" in relation to all the protected characteristics, please briefly document your reasons below and attach this to the decision-making papers. (It goes without saying that if the lack of impact is obvious, it need only be very briefly noted.)

It is not considered that the proposed savings from the Children's public health budget will have a specific adverse impact on any groups of individuals sharing protected characteristics.

Engagement and consultation processes will inform all service redesign to ensure that new commissioned services are accessible and open to Children, Young People and Families with any of the protected characteristics. Other key stakeholders will be consulted to ensure any potential issues are identified and addressed during the recommissioning of services.

We will update and refine the Equality Impact Assessment (EIA) as we gather information on the impact that these changes may have on people from groups with protective characteristics. This will enable the LCC Children's Public Health Commissioners to ensure that service users diverse needs are recognised and new commissioned services are able to meet their needs. Providers of any new service provision will be expected to work within the UK legislative framework.

Question 1 – Background Evidence

What information do you have about the different groups of people who may be affected by this decision – e.g. employees or service users (you could use monitoring data, survey data, etc to compile this). As indicated above, the relevant protected characteristics are:

- Age
- Disability including Deaf people
- Gender reassignment/gender identity
- Pregnancy and maternity
- Race/Ethnicity/Nationality
- Religion or belief
- Sex/gender
- Sexual orientation
- Marriage or Civil Partnership status (in respect of which the s. 149 requires only that due regard be paid to the need to eliminate discrimination, harassment or victimisation or other conduct which is prohibited by the Act).

In considering this question you should again consider whether the decision under consideration could impact upon specific subgroups e.g. people of a specific religion or people with a particular disability. You should also consider how the decision is likely to affect those who share two or more of the protected characteristics – for example, older women, disabled, elderly people, and so on.

N/A

Question 2 - Engagement/Consultation

How have you tried to involve people/groups that are potentially affected by your decision? Please describe what engagement has taken place, with whom and when.

(Please ensure that you retain evidence of the consultation in case of any further enquiries. This includes the results of consultation or data gathering at any stage of the process)

To date we have not undertaken any consultation work regarding this proposal. When the proposal is agreed we will begin a comprehensive series of engagement and consultation activities with service users, schools, and partners as part of the review, redesign and recommissioning of services.

Question 3 – Analysing Impact

Could your proposal potentially disadvantage particular groups sharing any of the protected characteristics and if so which groups and in what way?

It is particularly important in considering this question to get to grips with the actual practical impact on those affected. The decision-makers need to know in clear and specific terms what the impact may be and how serious, or perhaps minor, it may be – will people need to walk a few metres further to catch a bus, or to attend school? Will they be cut off altogether from vital services? The answers to such questions must be fully and frankly documented, for better or for worse, so that they can be properly evaluated when the decision is made.

Could your proposal potentially impact on individuals sharing the protected characteristics in any of the following ways:

 Could it discriminate unlawfully against individuals sharing any of the protected characteristics, whether directly or indirectly; if so, it must be amended. Bear in mind that this may involve taking steps to meet the specific needs of disabled people arising from their disabilities

- Could it advance equality of opportunity for those who share a particular protected characteristic? If not could it be developed or modified in order to do so?
- Does it encourage persons who share a relevant protected characteristic to participate in public life or in any activity in which participation by such persons is disproportionately low? If not could it be developed or modified in order to do so?
- Will the proposal contribute to fostering good relations between those who share a relevant protected characteristic and those who do not, for example by tackling prejudice and promoting understanding? If not could it be developed or modified in order to do so? Please identify any findings and how they might be addressed.

The consultation and engagement processes will be ongoing as we seek to review, redesign and re-commission Children & Young Peoples Service, it is too soon to predict the potential impact this project may have and any reduction in funding will take into consideration the rising demands around:

- The new legislation re SEND reforms and supporting children with medical needs.
- Education Health Care Plans and the work required around this
- The increase in Children Looked After (CLA), referrals to Social Services and cases of Domestic Violence

Question 4 –Combined/Cumulative Effect

Could the effects of your decision combine with other factors or decisions taken at local or national level to exacerbate the impact on any groups?

For example - if the proposal is to impose charges for adult social care, its impact on disabled people might be increased by other decisions within the County Council (e.g. increases in the fares charged for Community Transport and reductions in respite care) and national proposals (e.g. the availability of some benefits). Whilst LCC cannot control some of these decisions, they could increase the adverse effect of the proposal. The LCC has a legal duty to consider this aspect, and to evaluate the decision, including mitigation, accordingly.

If Yes – please identify these.

It is not expected that individuals or groups covered by the protected characteristics would be more adversely impacted upon as a result of the decision to progress the review, redesign and re-commissioning of services than those people without protected characteristics

Question 5 - Identifying Initial Results of Your Analysis

As a result of your analysis have you changed/amended your original proposal?

Please identify how -

For example:

Adjusted the original proposal – briefly outline the adjustments

Continuing with the Original Proposal - briefly explain why

Stopped the Proposal and Revised it - briefly explain

As a result of the evidence gathering and consultations through engagement activities, an action plan will be drawn up to incorporate any recommendations into the redesigned service specifications for services within the treatment system.

The EIA will be updated throughout the projects life time to reflect learning and feedback from the different groups with protected characteristics.

Question 6 - Mitigation

Please set out any steps you will take to mitigate/reduce any potential adverse effects of your decision on those sharing any particular protected characteristic. It is important here to do a genuine and realistic evaluation of the effectiveness of the mitigation contemplated. Over-optimistic and over-generalised assessments are likely to fall short of the "due regard" requirement.

Also consider if any mitigation might adversely affect any other groups and how this might be managed.

All newly commissioned services will have to comply with the legislative requirements as set out in the Equalities Act 2010.

Question 7 – Balancing the Proposal/Countervailing Factors

At this point you need to weigh up the reasons for the proposal – e.g. need for budget savings; damaging effects of not taking forward the proposal at this time – against the findings of your analysis. Please describe this assessment. It is important here to ensure that the assessment of any negative effects upon those sharing protected characteristics is full and frank. The full extent of actual adverse impacts must be acknowledged and taken into account, or the assessment will be inadequate. What is required is an honest evaluation, and not a marketing exercise. Conversely, while adverse effects should be frankly acknowledged, they need not be overstated or exaggerated. Where effects are not serious, this too should be made clear.

The integration, redesign and re-commissioning aims to make these savings without impacting on the universal delivery and it is not anticipated that the proposal will disadvantage any individuals from within groups with protected characteristics.

Question 8 – Final Proposal

In summary, what is your final proposal and which groups may be affected and how?

The corporate savings plan requires all service areas to realign existing resources to deliver more efficient and effective provision within a reduced financial envelope.

This proposal forms part of the corporate savings plans and outlines how a saving of approximately £1.m can be achieved from the CYP Public Health Services budget. Savings will be realised through review, redesign and re-procurement and based on alignment of PH CYP existing services with LCC services, where appropriate, in order to streamline pathways, avoid duplication and better integrate services.

Any re-procurement/decommission, service redesign will be closely aligned to the 0-5 HCP which although does not transfer until October 2015 and is likely to be mandated for 18 months provides opportunities to further enhance value for money and social value

All newly re-commissioned services will have built into their service specifications the following statement:

The Service Provider shall ensure that their workforce is equipped with good local knowledge of services, initiatives and schemes within their area(s). They must also ensure that staff can respond sensitively and appropriately to the needs of individuals who are defined in law as sharing protected characteristics under the Equality Act 2010, namely:

- o Age;
- o Disability including Deaf people;
- o Gender reassignment;
- o Pregnancy and maternity;
- o Race/ethnicity/nationality;
- o Religion or belief;
- o Sex/ Gender;

- o Sexual orientation;
- o Marriage or civil partnership status.

Question 9 – Review and Monitoring Arrangements

Describe what arrangements you will put in place to review and monitor the effects of your proposal.

All services will have key performance indicators and performance management frameworks in place to monitor and review the service offer against the effects of the proposal and also the Public Health outcome measures

Reductions will not be taken from across the entire budget. The outline proposition is to invest in young people's services and recovery infrastructure in order to enhance prevention at the start of substance misuse careers and protect treatment gains by maximising sustained recovery; leaving adult services to pick up the impact of efficiency requirements. All services will be re-commissioned with a view to further enhance value for money and social value.

Is the decision likely to affect people across the county in a similar way or are specific areas likely to be affected – e.g. are a set number of branches/sites to be affected? If so you will need to consider whether there are equality related issues associated with the locations selected – e.g. greater percentage of BME residents in a particular area where a closure is proposed as opposed to an area where a facility is remaining open.

The decision may impact on people across the county who have been assessed as requiring access to Tier 3 Community Services substance misuse treatment services and Tier 4 residential and community based detoxification and rehabilitation services. We will undertake evidence gathering and consult with existing providers, service users and broader stakeholders to assess the impact that these changes may have upon people and groups sharing protected characteristics. As we review, redesign and re-commission services for the substance misuse treatment system representatives from protected groups will be consulted during the engagement phase of the process.

The aim of the proposal is not to reduce the number of people accessing treatment but to continue to modernise and develop the treatment system.

It is worth noting that the treatment system has been through a process of modernisation over the last eight years and substantial savings have already been made. The proposed changes may have an adverse impact of the total quality of the treatment offer to the people of Lancashire and may result in a general reduction in the amount and range of interventions that can be offered. We will also seek to build and promote prevention by focusing additional resources on young people's services and by continuing to invest in the recovery community to prevent relapse and representations.

Could the decision have a particular impact on any group of individuals sharing protected characteristics under the Equality Act 2010, namely:

- Age
- Disability including Deaf people
- Gender reassignment
- Pregnancy and maternity
- Race/ethnicity/nationality
- Religion or belief
- Sex/gender
- Sexual orientation
- Marriage or Civil Partnership Status

In considering this question you should identify and record any particular impact on people in a sub-group of any of the above – e.g. people with a particular disability or from a particular religious or ethnic group.

It is particularly important to consider whether any decision is likely to impact adversely on any group of people sharing protected characteristics to a disproportionate extent. Any such disproportionate impact will need to be objectively justified. The engagement and consultation process will be an on-going process as we move through and review, redesign and re-commission different aspects of the substance misuse treatment system and will involve consultation with individuals and representatives from groups with protected characteristics. Other key stakeholders will be consulted to ensure any potential issues are identified and addressed during the recommissioning of services.

Access to the services being developed is based on clinical and social care need and will be available to all citizens that require support and treatment through the substance misuse treatment system.

We will be analysing the composition and demographics of our past, current and potential service users to establish that new commissioned services are accessible and open to people with any of the protected characteristics.

We will be undertaking a pathways analysis with key stakeholders and substance misuse services to ensure that clients with protected characteristics are able to access newly commissioned services and that those services meet the needs of a diverse client group.

We will update and refine the Equality Impact Assessment (EIA) as we gather information on the impact that these changes may have on people from groups with protective characteristics. This will enable the LCC Public Health Substance Misuse Commissioners to ensure that service users diverse needs are recognised and new commissioned services are able to meet their needs. Providers of any new service provision will be expected to work within the UK legislative framework.

If you have answered "Yes" to this question in relation to any of the	е
above characteristics, – please go to Question 1.

If you have answered "No" in relation to all the protected characteristics, please briefly document your reasons below and attach this to the decision-making papers. (It goes without saying that if the lack of impact is obvious, it need only be very briefly noted.)

Question 1 – Background Evidence

What information do you have about the different groups of people who may be affected by this decision – e.g. employees or service users (you could use monitoring data, survey data, etc to compile this). As indicated above, the relevant protected characteristics are:

- Age
- Disability including Deaf people
- Gender reassignment/gender identity
- Pregnancy and maternity
- Race/Ethnicity/Nationality
- Religion or belief
- Sex/gender
- Sexual orientation
- Marriage or Civil Partnership status (in respect of which the s. 149 requires only that due regard be paid to the need to eliminate discrimination, harassment or victimisation or other conduct which is prohibited by the Act).

In considering this question you should again consider whether the decision under consideration could impact upon specific subgroups e.g. people of a specific religion or people with a particular disability. You should also consider how the decision is likely to affect those who share two or more of the protected characteristics – for example, older women, disabled, elderly people, and so on.

The service review, redesign and re-commissioning of services within the substance misuse treatment system will be informed by data from the existing services data sets and information from key partners and stakeholders, for example from the Police, Probation (and new Crime Reduction Companies, CRC) and Clinical Commissioning Group's (CCG). We will also use information from national data sets including: The Diagnostic and Outcomes Monitoring Executive Summary (DOMES), National Drug Treatment Monitoring System (NDTMS) data set, from activity reports and performance management framework data from community and prison based substance misuse services.

We will be using guidance and evidence generated by a comprehensive literature search and guidance produced by Public Health England. We will consult with the national recovery lead at Public Health England to ensure that any newly commissioned services comply with current best practice, ensuring value for money and promoting social value.

Question 2 - Engagement/Consultation

How have you tried to involve people/groups that are potentially affected by your decision? Please describe what engagement has taken place, with whom and when.

(Please ensure that you retain evidence of the consultation in case of any further enquiries. This includes the results of consultation or data gathering at any stage of the process)

To date we have not undertaken any consultation work regarding this proposal. When the proposal is agreed we will begin a comprehensive series of engagement and consultation activities with service user groups as part of the review, redesign and re-commissioning of services.

We will hold focus groups in community substance misuse providers, non-residential and residential treatment providers with current service users. We will ensure that participants are representative of the client base of those organisations; including individuals from groups with protected characteristics.

We also plan to consult with different bodies and groups that represent the interests of individuals from groups with protected characteristics.

In addition to the engagement work undertaken with service users we will establish a framework for engagement with the following:

- Community treatment providers,
- Current providers of inpatient detoxification services,
- Current providers of residential rehabilitation services,
- Other leading providers highlighted as delivering best practice,
- Public Health England,
- NHS England,
- Lancashire Constabulary,
- Lancashire Probation Trust (and the new Community Rehabilitation Company)
- Partners and stakeholders within LCC
 - The five Lancashire CCG's
 - Lancashire based NHS Trusts

Question 3 – Analysing Impact

Could your proposal potentially disadvantage particular groups sharing any of the protected characteristics and if so which groups and in what way?

It is particularly important in considering this question to get to grips with the actual practical impact on those affected. The decision-makers need to know in clear and specific terms what the impact may be and how serious, or perhaps minor, it may be – will people need to walk a few metres further to catch a bus, or to attend school? Will they be cut off altogether from vital services? The answers to such questions must be fully and frankly documented, for better or for worse, so that they can be properly evaluated when the decision is made.

Could your proposal potentially impact on individuals sharing the protected characteristics in any of the following ways:

- Could it discriminate unlawfully against individuals sharing any of the protected characteristics, whether directly or indirectly; if so, it must be amended. Bear in mind that this may involve taking steps to meet the specific needs of disabled people arising from their disabilities
- Could it advance equality of opportunity for those who share a particular protected characteristic? If not could it be developed or modified in order to do so?
- Does it encourage persons who share a relevant protected characteristic to participate in public life or in any activity in which participation by such persons is disproportionately low? If not could it be developed or modified in order to do so?
- Will the proposal contribute to fostering good relations between those who share a relevant protected characteristic and those who do not, for example by tackling prejudice and promoting understanding? If not could it be developed or modified in order to do so? Please identify any findings and how they might be addressed.

The consultation and engagement processes will be ongoing as we seek to review, redesign and re-commission services within the Substance Misuse Treatment Service, it is too soon to predict the potential impact this project may have upon service users in treatment with protected characteristics. We will be developing the project products/deliverables ensuring accessibility to all citizens of Lancashire that have a need for substance misuse treatment. The consultations will also play a key part in understanding potential impact and helping to identify solutions to these.

Could the effects of your decision combine with other factors or decisions taken at local or national level to exacerbate the impact on any groups?

For example - if the proposal is to impose charges for adult social care, its impact on disabled people might be increased by other decisions within the County Council (e.g. increases in the fares charged for Community Transport and reductions in respite care) and national proposals (e.g. the availability of some benefits). Whilst LCC cannot control some of these decisions, they could increase the adverse effect of the proposal. The LCC has a legal duty to consider this aspect, and to evaluate the decision, including mitigation, accordingly.

If Yes – please identify these.

Within the review and redesign of substance misuse services we are not proposing to remove, reduce or limit access to treatment for service users with protected characteristics. We do not expect individuals or groups covered by the protected characteristics to be more adversely impacted upon as a result of the decision to progress the review, redesign and re-commissioning of services than those people without protected characteristics

We will work with representative from groups with protected characteristics to ensure fair access to treatment services and that those services reflect their needs.

Question 5 – Identifying Initial Results of Your Analysis

As a result of your analysis have you changed/amended your original proposal?

Please identify how -

For example:

Adjusted the original proposal – briefly outline the adjustments

Continuing with the Original Proposal – briefly explain why

Stopped the Proposal and Revised it - briefly explain

As a result of the evidence gathering and consultations through engagement activities, an action plan will be drawn up to incorporate any recommendations into the redesigned service specifications for services within the treatment system.

The EIA will be updated throughout the projects life time to reflect learning and feedback from the different groups with protected characteristics.

Data from our community providers consistently show that the gender balance in treatment services is biased towards males.

In the east locality at the end of year 2013 – 2014 the gender split remained consistent throughout the year for primary drug use with approximately 70% male to 30% female. Alcohol use is split at approximately 60% male to 40% female. These gender divisions are consistent across the country with males making up the majority of clients.

At present individuals from BME communities are underrepresented in treatment services. In the east locality the percentage of people from BME communities receiving support for a drug problem is 6% and for alcohol only 2%. We will include consultations with BME groups both within treatment and outside to seek to understand why this is.

Question 6 - Mitigation

Please set out any steps you will take to mitigate/reduce any potential adverse effects of your decision on those sharing any particular protected characteristic. It is important here to do a genuine and realistic evaluation of the effectiveness of the mitigation contemplated.

Over-optimistic and over-generalised assessments are likely to fall short of the "due regard" requirement.

Also consider if any mitigation might adversely affect any other groups and how this might be managed.

This will be determined through the engagement activities and data collection and analysis. We will develop an action plan which will minimise and/or mitigate any potential negative impacts on those that share a protected characteristic.

All newly commissioned services will have to comply with the legislative requirements as set out in the Equalities Act 2010.

Question 7 – Balancing the Proposal/Countervailing Factors

At this point you need to weigh up the reasons for the proposal – e.g. need for budget savings; damaging effects of not taking forward the proposal at this time – against the findings of your analysis. Please describe this assessment. It is important here to ensure that the assessment of any negative effects upon those sharing protected characteristics is full and frank. The full extent of actual adverse impacts must be acknowledged and taken into account, or the assessment will be inadequate. What is required is an honest evaluation, and not a marketing exercise. Conversely, while adverse effects should be frankly acknowledged, they need not be overstated or exaggerated. Where effects are not serious, this too should be made clear.

This will be completed when the results of the consultations through engagement and work from the action plan have been considered.

This new service offer for substance misuse services is part of the wider authorities cost savings initiatives.

The integration, redesign and re-commissioning aims to make these savings without having to reduce the overall access to treatment services for people in need and we do not anticipate the proposal will disadvantage any individuals from within groups with protected characteristics.

Question 8 – Final Proposal

In summary, what is your final proposal and which groups may be affected and how?

The funding reduction will not be taken from across the entire budget. The outline proposition is to invest in young people's services and recovery infrastructure in order to enhance prevention at the start of substance misuse careers and protect treatment gains by maximising sustained recovery; leaving adult services to pick up the impact of efficiency requirements. All services will be re-commissioned with a view to further enhance value for money and social value

- Re-commission via open tender services for young people
- Re-commission via open tender services for adult substance misusers
- Re-commission recovery services

All newly re-commissioned services will have built into their service specifications the following statement:

The Service Provider shall ensure that their workforce is equipped with good local knowledge of services, initiatives and schemes within their area(s). They must also ensure that staff can respond sensitively and appropriately to the needs of individuals who are defined in law as sharing protected characteristics under the Equality Act 2010, namely:

- o Age;
- o Disability including Deaf people;
- o Gender reassignment;
- o Pregnancy and maternity;
- o Race/ethnicity/nationality;

- o Religion or belief;
- o Sex/ Gender;
- o Sexual orientation;
- Marriage or civil partnership status.

Question 9 – Review and Monitoring Arrangements

Describe what arrangements you will put in place to review and monitor the effects of your proposal.

The Public Health substance misuse commissioning team will be responsible to reviewing the effects of the proposed and recommissioned services during and after the process.

To ensure that the effects of the proposal are monitored beyond the life of the project, metrics and intermediate indicators will be developed that sit within:

- A refreshed service specification and performance framework for all newly re-commissioned services.
- We will include within the monitoring system the ability to monitor take-up of services/referrals for each of the protected characteristic groups
- All newly commissioned services will need to continue to comply with national targets for treatment effectiveness and will use information from the national data sets to demonstrate the treatment systems impact and the outcomes achieved by individuals.

Equality Analysis Prepared By: Lee Harrington

Position/Role: Public Health Coordinator – Substance Misuse

Commissioning

Public Health and Wellbeing (Wellbeing Prevention and Early Help) For Service Managers November 2014

1) What is the aim of your service?

This should complement the County Council's Corporate Strategy or your Directorate's objectives.

Public Health and Wellbeing Service Offer

In line with Lancashire's corporate strategy and the Children and Young People's plan the service aim is to

- improve and protect the health and wellbeing of Lancashire's population and improve the health of the most vulnerable, enable children, young people and families to achieve success, resist stress, manage change and uncertainty, and make safe decisions about their future
- improve and protect the health and wellbeing of Lancashire's families, prioritising vulnerable groups of children, young people and their families to reduce health inequalities

2) What outcomes do you want to achieve from your service?

The service offer will contribute to achieving the following outcomes:

- Children and young people and families are resilient, aspirational and have the knowledge, capability and capacity to deal with wider factors which affect their health and wellbeing
- 2. Children, young people and their families are helped to live healthy lifestyles, make healthy choices
- 3. Children, young people and families health is protected from major incidents and other threats, whilst reducing health inequalities
- 4. Targeting those in more disadvantaged communities, the number of children, young people and families living with preventable ill health and people dying prematurely is reduced

In addition to improving outcomes this service model will aim to reduce demand on specialist services.

3) How is your service performing?

Write here any information you have collected that shows how your service is performing. See the corporate intranet site at <a href="https://linear.google.com/linear.google.com/linear.google.

This service will become operational once the corporate transformation process is completed. Monitoring and performance arrangements will be developed alongside the service Outcomes Framework.

4) Who are the people who will benefit from your service?

The answer to this question could be everyone in Lancashire, or it could be everyone within a District of Lancashire e.g. Burnley, or everyone within a ward e.g. Daneshouse etc. Alternatively, the answer could be a particular group of people e.g. young people in Leyland, people with a disability in Frenchwood etc.

Information on Lancashire's population can be found at http://www.lancashire.gov.uk/profile

The Wellbeing Prevention and Early Help Service will deliver a universal prevention offer to all children, young people and their families and a targeted early help offer for those that are most vulnerable and those with the highest level of need.

5) How do you monitor the use of your service and which citizens do you monitor? Please ensure you retain information in relation to your monitoring as evidence of it may be required.

We have a legal duty under the Equality Act 2010 to monitor the use of our services by users who share the following protected characteristics:

- age
- disability (including Deaf people)
- gender reassignment/gender identity

- race/ethnicity/nationality
- sex/gender
- pregnancy/maternity
- religion or belief
- sexual orientation
- marriage/civil partnership (in respect of which the s.149 requires only that due regard be paid to the need to eliminate discrimination, harassment or victimisation or other conduct prohibited by the Act)

Monitoring can be done in a variety of ways, to best meet the needs of the service. See the corporate service monitoring form at lccintranet2/corporate/web/?siteid=5580&pageid=33450&e=e

If you are not currently monitoring across all these characteristics, please say how you will develop your monitoring systems to do so.

Monitoring arrangements will be developed incorporating all of the characteristics defined in the Equality Act 2010.

6) What does your monitoring information tell you about who is and who is not using your service?

This will be collated and evaluated as part of the monitoring and performance arrangements once the service is operational.

7) How do you consult, inform, and involve people in developing your service? Please ensure you retain materials relating to your consultation in case evidence of it is required.

There are a range of techniques to involve people in developing your services. They include:

- service user surveys and panels
- service user satisfaction surveys
- focus groups
- community consultation and engagement exercises
- residents' surveys, including the Living in Lancashire survey see
 http://lccintranet2/corporate/web/?siteid=2660&pageid=3543&e=e
- for more information.
- discussion with front line employees
- complaints, compliments, and comments
- Customer Focus Consultancy see lccintranet2/corporate/web/?siteid=5196&pageid=27362 for more information
- Joint Strategic Needs Assessment (JSNA) see
 http://www.lancashire.gov.uk/jsna for more information
- mystery shopping
- talking to voluntary, community, and faith sector (VCFS) organisations that represent different groups of people
- feedback from district and sub district groups i.e. Local Strategic Partnerships, Area Forums, Area Committees, Neighbourhood Management Boards, Parish and Town Council meetings, Police and Community Together (PACT) meetings etc.

See the Neighbourhood Engagement Intranet site at lccintranet2/corporate/web/view.asp?siteid=3949&pageid=21780&e=e for further advice.

There will be an extensive and inclusive communication and engagement programme that will underpin the Wellbeing Prevention and Early Help service.

Widespread communication and co-operation with all partners will allow for the views of a wide range of stakeholders including; children, young people, families, frontline practitioners, elected members, the voluntary, community and faith sector, LCC CYP Partnership Board and Partnership members, district CYP partnerships, Lancashire Constabulary and health commissioners and providers, etc to be heard.

- 8) Which groups of people do you involve in developing your service? Are there any particular groups that you need to target? In considering this question, you should focus first on whether the service has particular relevance to groups of individuals who share the protected characteristics under the Equality Act, namely:
 - age
 - disability (including Deaf people)
 - gender reassignment/gender identity
 - pregnancy or maternity
 - race, ethnicity or nationality
 - religion or belief
 - sex/gender
 - sexual orientation
 - marriage/civil partnership (in respect of which s.149 requires only that due regard be paid to the need to eliminate discrimination, harassment or victimisation or other conduct prohibited by the Act)

In doing so, where relevant, you should consider any effects on specific groups or sub-groups sharing one or more protected characteristics such as, for example:

- older people
- people of a particular religion or ethnic group
- Gypsy, Roma and Traveller communities
- Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual or Transgender communities
- It may also be appropriate to consider the specific needs of those with non-statutory characteristics, e.g.:
- people living in deprived areas
- people living in rural areas
- Children Looked After
- young people not in education, employment or training (NEET)
- carers
- other groups as appropriate e.g. teenage parents, offenders etc

If there are groups that you need to target, how will you do this?

The Wellbeing Prevention and Early Help Service will deliver a universal prevention offer to all children, young people and their families and a targeted early help offer for those that are most vulnerable based on assessed levels of need i.e. CLA, Young Carers, NEET.

9) If appropriate, how have you involved the following in developing your service? Again, please retain any evidence of this.

- Voluntary, Community and Faith Sector (VCFS) organisations
- county councillors
- parish and town councils see
 lccintranet/corporate/atoz/a_to_z/service.asp?u_id=2339&tab=1
 for more information
- district ward councillors/district councillors
- overview and scrutiny committees see
 lccintranet/corporate/atoz/a to z/service.asp?u id=1788&tab=1
- other statutory agencies e.g. National Health Service, Lancashire Constabulary etc

There will be an extensive and inclusive communication and engagement programme that will underpin the Wellbeing Prevention and Early Help service.

Feedback from this will inform the design and delivery of the service offer.

Findings will be included in reports that will be presented through the appropriate governance arrangements.

10) Taking into consideration the information you have collected already, are there any potential negative impacts that might affect citizens because of their:

- age
- disability including Deaf people
- race/ethnicity/nationality
- sex/gender
- gender reassignment/ gender identity
- religion or belief
- sexual orientation
- pregnancy or maternity status
- marriage or civil partnership status

Or because they are:

- people who have young children
- living in an area of deprivation
- living in a rural area
- Children Looked After
- young people not in education, employment or training (NEET)
- teenage parents

- carers
- others e.g. offenders, people out of work, problem drug users etc.

A reduction in budget contributing to the organisation achieving its efficiency targets will impact on the scale and scope of the delivery of the Wellbeing Prevention and Early Help offer.

Please note that the consideration of potential negative effects should be specific and realistic. Potential adverse effects should not be minimised or exaggerated.

A robust risk assessment will underpin the Wellbeing Prevention & Early Help offer

11) Does your review indicate that the effect of the policy or decision under review could combine with other policies or decisions of LCC or other public authorities?

This service offer will align with all other LCC service offers delivering support to children, young people and families across Lancashire's Continuum of Need.

Could the results of your review combine with other decisions within LCC or elsewhere to affect any of the above groups (i.e. the cumulative effect)?

It is not anticipated that there will be any heightened disadvantage among any of the identified groups; in fact it is likely that this service model will align with other policy and strategic developments to provide further advantages amongst the outlined groups.

The service review is being undertaken in order to bring together a coordinated prevention and early response which might otherwise take place in an isolated and uncoordinated way, thus maximising the impact, effectiveness and cost of improving outcomes for children, young people and families.

Are you aware of other local or national decisions which could combine with this decision to particularly disadvantage any specific groups?

It is not anticipated that there will be and disadvantage to the outlined groups as a result of local or national decisions although a reduction in budgets will impact on the scale and scope of the delivery of the Wellbeing Prevention and Early Help offer.

12) In relation to your service review findings, whether viewed alone or in combination with other factors, are these likely to have adverse effects on groups sharing relevant protected characteristics? If so you must consider how to mitigate such adverse effects.

Please set out any steps you will take to mitigate/reduce any potential adverse effects of your conclusions/proposals on those sharing any relevant protected characteristic. It is important here to do a genuine and realistic evaluation of the likely effectiveness of the mitigation proposed. Over-optimistic and over-generalised assessments are likely to fall short of the due regard requirement.

Also consider if the mitigation might adversely affect any other groups and how this might be managed.

Once the Wellbeing Prevention and Early Help service is operational, regular review of both service delivery and the risk assessments will be undertaken. Responsive action will be taken to mitigate the level of risk identified.

13) Think about the potential positive impacts your service could have on certain groups of people, and in particular those sharing protected characteristics. What are they and how might they be developed?

Use this information to think about how your service might improve quality of life and assist in relation to promoting equality.

Will the positive impacts be accompanied by any negative impacts on groups of citizens sharing the protected characteristics? If so, how might these be addressed or balanced?

The Wellbeing Prevention and Early Help service delivers a unified approach focussing on achieving improved outcomes for Lancashire's children, young people and families. There will be a focus on ensuring every contact with service users counts, enabling early identification of need to avoid escalation of poor health and wellbeing and prevent the intervention from statutory services.

14) How can your service contribute to the following priority areas:

 Eliminating discrimination, harassment, victimisation or any other unlawful conduct

Will the service be provided by people who treat all clients/customers/service users with dignity and respect?

The service is committed to ensuring all stakeholders are treated with dignity and respect.

Will assessment or eligibility criteria be set objectively and fairly? Will training in some form be available to ensure that these requirements are properly applied?

Assessment of need will follow Lancashire's Continuum of Need threasholds. Training is available to the wider workforce to ensure this approach is fully embedded.

 Tackling social exclusion and advancing equality of opportunity between persons who share relevant protected characteristics and those who do not share it.

This will involve taking steps to remove or minimise disadvantages suffered by persons who share a relevant protected characteristic and that are connected to that particular characteristic, taking steps to meet the needs of persons who share a relevant protected characteristic that are different from the needs of persons who do not share it, and encouraging persons who share a relevant protected characteristic to participate in public life or in any other activity in which participation by such persons is disproportionately low.

It is important to bear in mind that taking steps to meet the needs of disabled persons which are different from those of persons who do not share that disability include steps to take account of the disabilities in question. This may even include treating some persons more favourably than others in order to allow them to participate in social or public life.

Activities that help improve social inclusion include those that improve the quality of life for people who are disadvantaged or are in danger of poor outcomes in their lives through various circumstances e.g. a lack of money, difficulty in accessing services difficulties accessing premises, and barriers to taking part in relationships and activities that are available to most people in communities etc.

 Improving community cohesion /Fostering Good Relations between persons who share a relevant protected characteristic and those who do not share it

This may include thinking about ways to tackle prejudice and promote understanding between groups of people with protected characteristics and those who do not share those characteristics. Activities that help improve community cohesion include those that bring people from different communities together (e.g. people of different ethnicities, faiths, ages, geographical backgrounds etc); those that empower communities and those that reduce tensions in communities. (See the Community Cohesion website at http://www.lancashire.gov.uk/corporate/web/view.asp?siteid=2966&page id=5956&e=e for more information).

Improving health and wellbeing

Health and wellbeing means that people feel well enough and sufficiently supported to live their lives to the full. Activities that help improve health and wellbeing include those that ensure that basic needs are met, that individuals have a sense of purpose, that they feel able to achieve important personal goals and participate in society.

Supporting the county council's role as a corporate parent

The Corporate Parenting Board ensures that Children Looked After have the same opportunities as their peers to a good quality of life. Activities that help support this are those that help improve health and wellbeing outcomes for children and young people who are looked after and those that support them to be prepared for the future. (See Corporate Parenting Board website at lccintranet2/corporate/web/view.asp?siteid=4183&pageid=17628&e=e for more information).

The Wellbeing Prevention and Early Help service will contribute to improving the social determinents of health of Lancashire's population:

- improve and protect the health and wellbeing of Lancashire's population, improve the health of the most vulnerable, enable children, young people and families to achieve success, resist stress, manage change and uncertainty, and make safe decisions about their future
- improve and protect the health and wellbeing of Lancashire's families, prioritising vulnerable groups of children, young people and their families to reduce health inequalities

15) Taking into consideration all the information you have collected in answering the previous questions, what are the changes/actions you will carry out to tackle any issues you have identified? These may be – no change to the service; adjust the proposal; continue with proposed changes or stop the changes and reconsider.

If going ahead with changes, what are the factors you have balanced - e.g. financial, operational – which you have considered alongside your Analysis findings (countervailing factors).

Service development will continually be reviewed to ensure an appropriate response to any issues that are identified.

16) When will you review your actions?

Monitoring should be at least half yearly in line with the business planning performance management cycle.

Monitoring will be in line with the corporate business planning performance management cycle.

17) When will you report progress on your actions and who to?

Progress on actions should be reported to relevant county councillors, officers, partnerships and groups etc

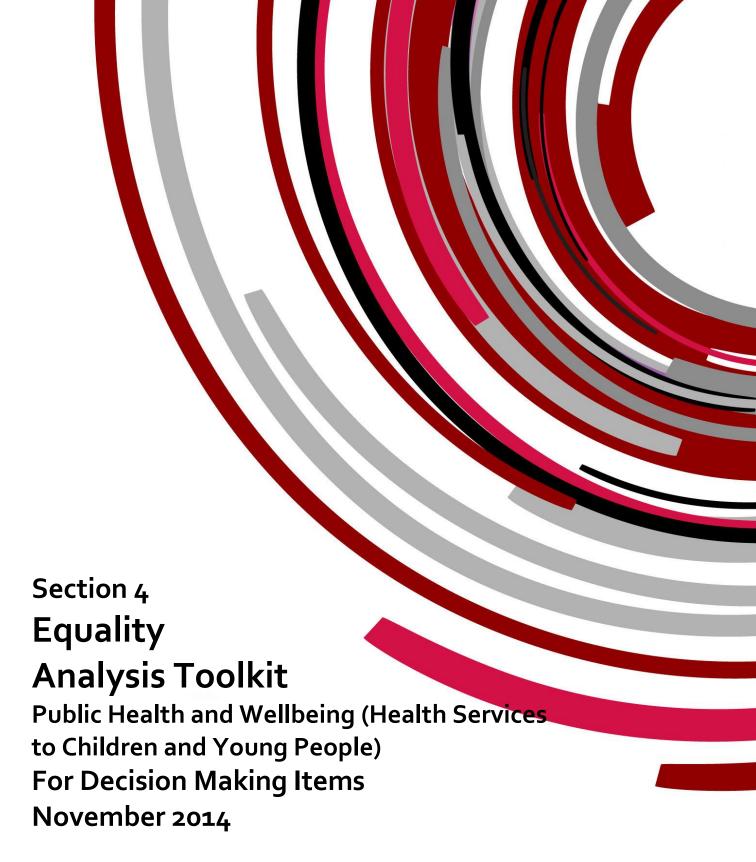

Progress will be reported through the appropriate governance structure once the corporate transformation is compete.

18) When will you review your service or service plan?

Service plans will be review in line with the corporate review cycle.

Name/Nature of the Decision

Public Health and Wellbeing Service Offer

Health Services to Children and Young People

What in summary is the proposal being considered?

All commissioning decisions supported by the service will include a robust needs analysis and consultation with service users and stakeholders, build on assets within communities and be underpinned by a sound evidence base.

A comprehensive commissioning review of CAMHS has been agreed by the Health and Wellbeing Board and the Local Authority's contribution will be reviewed alongside all other responsible agencies to ensure that the 5% reduction in funding is managed appropriately through a service redesign aimed at intervening earlier.

A draft commissioning Strategy for CAMHS has been developed and a separate draft Equality Impact Analysis has been completed for this.

Is the decision likely to affect people across the county in a similar way or are specific areas likely to be affected – e.g. are a set number of branches/sites to be affected? If so you will need to consider whether there are equality related issues associated with the locations selected – e.g. greater percentage of BME residents in a particular area where a closure is proposed as opposed to an area where a facility is remaining open.

The service offer for commissioned support should not affect the population directly.

The review of CAMHS will be undertaken across Lancashire and it is anticipated to affect all areas in a similar way. As services at tier 3 are commissioned by the 6 Clinical Commissioning Groups (CCGs) however, the variance in their contribution may impact on some areas more than others.

This will be understood and considered with the CCGs as part of the review.

Could the decision have a particular impact on any group of individuals sharing protected characteristics under the Equality Act 2010, namely:

- Age
- Disability including Deaf people
- Gender reassignment
- Pregnancy and maternity
- Race/ethnicity/nationality
- Religion or belief
- Sex/gender
- Sexual orientation
- Marriage or Civil Partnership Status

In considering this question you should identify and record any particular impact on people in a sub-group of any of the above – e.g. people with a particular disability or from a particular religious or ethnic group.

It is particularly important to consider whether any decision is likely to impact adversely on any group of people sharing protected characteristics to a disproportionate extent. Any such disproportionate impact will need to be objectively justified.

Yes for the CAMHS element only, as set out below.

If you have answered "Yes" to this question in relation to any of the above characteristics, – please go to Question 1.
ge to the transfer of

If you have answered "No" in relation to all the protected characteristics, please briefly document your reasons below and attach this to the decision-making papers. (It goes without saying that if the lack of impact	t s obvious, it need only be very briefly noted.)

Question 1 - Background Evidence

What information do you have about the different groups of people who may be affected by this decision – e.g. employees or service users (you could use monitoring data, survey data, etc to compile this). As indicated above, the relevant protected characteristics are:

- Age
- Disability including Deaf people
- Gender reassignment/gender identity
- Pregnancy and maternity
- Race/Ethnicity/Nationality
- Religion or belief
- Sex/gender
- Sexual orientation
- Marriage or Civil Partnership status (in respect of which the s. 149 requires only that due regard be paid to the need to eliminate discrimination, harassment or victimisation or other conduct which is prohibited by the Act).

In considering this question you should again consider whether the decision under consideration could impact upon specific subgroups e.g. people of a specific religion or people with a particular disability. You should also consider how the decision is likely to affect those who share two or more of the protected characteristics – for example, older women, disabled, elderly people, and so on.

The impact on staffing at Grades 10 and below will be considered as part of Phase 2 of the County Council's Transformation.

It is estimated that in 2015 the number of children and young people with an Emotional Health and Wellbeing need requiring an intervention at tier 2 will be 20,751 and at tier 3 will be 5,118. Children and young people with protective characteristics are more at risk of having an emotional health and wellbeing need, this is broken down in detail in the draft EHWB Commissioning Strategy.

Question 2 – Engagement/Consultation

How have you tried to involve people/groups that are potentially affected by your decision? Please describe what engagement has taken place, with whom and when.

(Please ensure that you retain evidence of the consultation in case of any further enquiries. This includes the results of consultation or data gathering at any stage of the process)

Consultation has already taken place with children and young people, service users, carers and other stakeholders to inform the strategy. This will be used to inform the review along with further consultation around current gaps, models of delivery and what works.

Question 3 – Analysing Impact

Could your proposal potentially disadvantage particular groups sharing any of the protected characteristics and if so which groups and in what way?

It is particularly important in considering this question to get to grips with the actual practical impact on those affected. The decision-makers need to know in clear and specific terms what the impact may be and how serious, or perhaps minor, it may be – will people need to walk a few metres further to catch a bus, or to attend school? Will they be cut off altogether from vital services? The answers to such questions must be fully and frankly documented, for better or for worse, so that they can be properly evaluated when the decision is made.

Could your proposal potentially impact on individuals sharing the protected characteristics in any of the following ways:

 Could it discriminate unlawfully against individuals sharing any of the protected characteristics, whether directly or indirectly; if so, it must be amended. Bear in mind that this may involve taking steps to meet the specific needs of disabled people arising from their disabilities

- Could it advance equality of opportunity for those who share a particular protected characteristic? If not could it be developed or modified in order to do so?
- Does it encourage persons who share a relevant protected characteristic to participate in public life or in any activity in which participation by such persons is disproportionately low? If not could it be developed or modified in order to do so?
- Will the proposal contribute to fostering good relations between those who share a relevant protected characteristic and those who do not, for example by tackling prejudice and promoting understanding? If not could it be developed or modified in order to do so? Please identify any findings and how they might be addressed.

Reducing the Tier 2/3 CAMHS offer to service users may result in speeding up deterioration in service users' emotional health and wellbeing leading to increased demand for Children's Social Care, Tier 4 residential CAMHS, and hospital admissions. It may also have an impact upon parents/carers resulting in increased family and placement breakdowns.

It is hoped that by reviewing and redesigning with partners the current provision of CAMHS across Lancashire that the reduction in resource is managed. While it is likely that specialist service capacity will be reduced it is hoped that redirection of resource to preventative services should mitigate some of this and enable CYP needs to be met earlier and more effectively.

This would be considered in more detail as part of the review.

Question 4 –Combined/Cumulative Effect

Could the effects of your decision combine with other factors or decisions taken at local or national level to exacerbate the impact on any groups?

For example - if the proposal is to impose charges for adult social care, its impact on disabled people might be increased by other decisions within the County Council (e.g. increases in the fares charged for Community Transport and reductions in respite care) and national proposals (e.g. the availability of some benefits). Whilst LCC cannot control some of these decisions, they could increase the adverse effect of the proposal. The LCC has a legal duty to consider this aspect, and to evaluate the decision, including mitigation, accordingly.

If Yes – please identify these.

Other service offer proposals could heighten disadvantage to children and young people with emotional health and wellbeing needs.

Question 5 – Identifying Initial Results of Your Analysis

As a result of your analysis have you changed/amended your original proposal?

Please identify how -

For example:

Adjusted the original proposal – briefly outline the adjustments

Continuing with the Original Proposal – briefly explain why

Stopped the Proposal and Revised it - briefly explain

The CAMHS service redesign will take account of information gained from consultation and further analysis – we are just at the start of the process so no changes are planned in the immediate future.

Question 6 - Mitigation

Please set out any steps you will take to mitigate/reduce any potential adverse effects of your decision on those sharing any particular protected characteristic. It is important here to do a genuine and realistic evaluation of the effectiveness of the mitigation contemplated. Over-optimistic and over-generalised assessments are likely to fall short of the "due regard" requirement.

Also consider if any mitigation might adversely affect any other groups and how this might be managed.

Reviews will be undertaken in a sensitive and consistent manner to mitigate against any negative impact.

Mitigation will also be achieved by co-ordination of all internal service offers, partner agencies commissioning intentions, a project management approach to the review, widespread consultation and publicity campaign and the promotion and development of alternative supports.

As and when other issues are identified we will revisit our plans and take account of issues identified via the consultation undertaken to support this review

Question 7 - Balancing the Proposal/Countervailing Factors

At this point you need to weigh up the reasons for the proposal – e.g. need for budget savings; damaging effects of not taking forward the proposal at this time – against the findings of your analysis. Please describe this assessment. It is important here to ensure that the assessment of any negative effects upon those sharing protected characteristics is full and frank. The full extent of actual adverse impacts must be acknowledged and taken into account, or the assessment will be inadequate. What is required is an honest evaluation, and not a marketing exercise. Conversely, while adverse effects should be frankly acknowledged, they need not be overstated or exaggerated. Where effects are not serious, this too should be made clear.

The offer has been developed to achieve budget savings. The reductions will only be realised by the comprehensive review which will be time consuming and intensive and likely to result in complaints which will need to be managed.

Question 8 - Final Proposal

In summary, what is your final proposal and which groups may be affected and how?

A new service offer for commissioning support which will move towards consistency in robust commissioning process and enable the services commissioned for the population of Lancashire to be effective in improving outcomes and offer value for money.

A new service offer for the Local Authority's contribution to CAMHS which is developed in partnership with children, young people, parents and carers and all partner agencies following a comprehensive review. There is potential negative impact for children, young people and families and upon other agencies if the services available for emotional health and wellbeing are not sufficient.

Question 9 – Review and Monitoring Arrangements

Describe what arrangements you will put in place to review and monitor the effects of your proposal.

The review of CAMHS will be undertaken by a multi- agency task and finish group reporting to the Health and Wellbeing Board. Recommendations within the review will be considered by each agency's senior leadership teams prior to implementation. The review and subsequent services commissioned will ensure that the 9 x protected characteristic groups are monitored in terms of service take-up/losses.

Equality Analysis Prepared By Lesley Tiffen

Position/Role Integrated Health Manager

Public Health and Wellbeing (Community Safety)

For Service Managers November 2014

1) What is the aim of your service?

This should complement the County Council's Corporate Strategy or your Directorate's objectives.

- Overall responsibility within Lancashire County Council for the continuous improvement of effective partnerships and systems to make Lancashire's communities safer, including collaborating with partners to improve and maintain the Lancashire Community Safety Strategy Group (LCSSG), and wider community safety and criminal justice partnership working
- Identification and implementation of changes to the community safety and criminal justice systems in the county in response to the legislative reforms
- Strategic leadership of Lancashire County Council's approach to community safety, ensuring it is effectively integrated into the wider management and planning mechanisms within the County Council
- Enabling effective engagement and collaboration with the Police and Crime Commissioner for Lancashire including delivery of the Community Safety Agreement, Police and Crime Plan and subsequent delivery plans
- Ensuring a joined up, strategic approach to tackling domestic abuse for the county council and on behalf of partners through the joint commissioning of support services and delivery of the domestic abuse strategy.
- The service enables the county council to meet its statutory duties under a range of legislation, in particular the Crime and Disorder Act 1998, Police Reform Act 2006 and the Police Reform and Social Responsibility Act 2011

2) What outcomes do you want to achieve from your service?

The service coordinates, influences, drives and develops community safety initiatives and services on behalf of the county council and in partnership. This includes:

- Development of services and initiatives aimed at reducing crime and anti-social behaviour through:
 - o Working with partners to secure central government and other grant funding
 - o Building pooled budgets with partners through which to commission services
 - o Coordinating partner bids for OPCC grant applications
- Improved delivery, review and performance through the production of a single Strategic Needs Assessment and supporting analytical products through which to support evidence based decision making across the partnership landscape
- Effective advice and guidance on community safety and criminal justice matters for the PCC and community safety partners
- Effective advice and guidance on changes in community safety related legislation to enable the development of local preparations and a consistent response across the county eg use of ASB tools and powers
- Strategic and secretariat support to Lancashire Community Safety Strategy Group and Area Community Safety Steering Groups
- Strategic support and guidance to key thematic delivery groups to ensure delivery against the Community Safety Agreement and thematic delivery plans
- Delivery against the Community Safety Agreement, Police and Crime Plan and associated delivery plans eg domestic abuse strategy, reducing reoffending, organised crime, early action, CONTEST and preventing violent extremism

- Collaboration with the OPCC, to drive effective partnership working at a district, area, county and pan-Lancashire level in order to achieve the shared strategic priorities of reducing the harm caused to communities by domestic abuse, violent crime, anti-social behaviour and hate crime, anti-social road use, offending and re-offending, and substance misuse
- Strategic direction for tackling domestic abuse in partnership across Lancashire incorporating: commissioning support services for victims, children, young people and families; prevention programmes for perpetrators; workforce development; pathway improvement; and, the conduct of statutory functions eg Domestic Homicide Reviews

3) How is your service performing?

Write here any information you have collected that shows how your service is performing. See the corporate intranet site at <a href="https://linear.google.com/linear.google.com/linear.google.

The community safety team maintains a performance scorecard on behalf of community safety partners which shows that in general crime continues to reduce and that performance against priority issues is good. This can be found at: www.saferlancashire/made

4) Who are the people who will benefit from your service?

The answer to this question could be everyone in Lancashire, or it could be everyone within a District of Lancashire e.g. Burnley, or everyone within a ward e.g. Daneshouse etc. Alternatively, the answer could be a particular group of people e.g. young people in Leyland, people with a disability in Frenchwood etc.

Information on Lancashire's population can be found at http://www.lancashire.gov.uk/profile

The service benefits everyone in the county through working with partners to keep Lancashire a safe place to live, work and visit. However there is a particular focus on improving outcomes for vulnerable victims of crime and anti-social behaviour and in working to reduce levels of offending, re-offending and substance.

5) How do you monitor the use of your service and which citizens do you monitor? Please ensure you retain information in relation to your monitoring as evidence of it may be required.

We have a legal duty under the Equality Act 2010 to monitor the use of our services by users who share the following protected characteristics:

- age
- disability (including Deaf people)
- gender reassignment/gender identity
- race/ethnicity/nationality
- sex/gender
- pregnancy/maternity
- religion or belief
- sexual orientation
- marriage/civil partnership (in respect of which the s.149 requires only that due regard be paid to the need to eliminate discrimination, harassment or victimisation or other conduct prohibited by the Act)

Monitoring can be done in a variety of ways, to best meet the needs of the service. See the corporate service monitoring form at lccintranet2/corporate/web/?siteid=5580&pageid=33450&e=e

If you are not currently monitoring across all these characteristics.

please say how you will develop your monitoring systems to do so.

6) What does your monitoring information tell you about who is and who is not using your service?

The service is provided at a general level across the population. Where groups with protected characteristics are found to be disproportionately affected by particular crime types/incidents, the service works with partner agencies to better understand the problem and where possible to develop targeted interventions to improve outcomes.

7) How do you consult, inform, and involve people in developing your service? Please ensure you retain materials relating to your consultation in case evidence of it is required.

There are a range of techniques to involve people in developing your services. They include:

- service user surveys and panels
- service user satisfaction surveys
- focus groups
- community consultation and engagement exercises
- residents' surveys, including the Living in Lancashire survey see

http://lccintranet2/corporate/web/?siteid=2660&pageid=3543&e=e

- for more information.
- discussion with front line employees
- complaints, compliments, and comments
- Customer Focus Consultancy see lccintranet2/corporate/web/?siteid=5196&pageid=27362 for more information
- Joint Strategic Needs Assessment (JSNA) see http://www.lancashire.gov.uk/jsna for more information
- mystery shopping
- talking to voluntary, community, and faith sector (VCFS) organisations that represent different groups of people
- feedback from district and sub district groups i.e. Local Strategic Partnerships, Area Forums, Area Committees, Neighbourhood Management Boards, Parish and Town Council meetings, Police and Community Together (PACT) meetings etc.

See the Neighbourhood Engagement Intranet site at lccintranet2/corporate/web/view.asp?siteid=3949&pageid=21780&e=e for further advice.

The service conducts regular surveys through Living in Lancashire. The survey is designed to be representative of the community in Lancashire, with the most recent showing:

9 out of 10 residents consider the local area to be safe, the most common reasons given were having a good community and neighbours, living in a quiet area without trouble, having good street lighting and low levels of crime. 3 out of 5 also said they feel safe after dark.

4 out of 5 said that anti-social behaviour was not a big problem in their area and over half think that the police are successfully tackling anti-social behaviour. Two thirds agree that the police are successful in tackling crime in the local area however less than 1 in 5 believe that offenders get tough enough sentences.

The service produces community safety intelligence products (modelled on the JSNA) to better understand the profile of priority issues and to inform the development of services and interventions. These products are available on www.saferlancashire/made

Community safety commissions specialist services to provide support to victims of domestic abuse. Whilst this issue can affect anybody, national statistics show that 1 in 4 women and 1 in 7 men will experience domestic abuse at some point in their lives. Local service data shows that there is still considerable under-reporting of the issue but that all groups with protected characteristics are both affected by the issue and access support services. All commissioned services are required to collect service user data as part of contract monitoring and are supported to improve access where appropriate and possible. The commissioned service has a separate equality impact analysis.

- 8) Which groups of people do you involve in developing your service? Are there any particular groups that you need to target? In considering this question, you should focus first on whether the service has particular relevance to groups of individuals who share the protected characteristics under the Equality Act, namely:
 - age
 - disability (including Deaf people)
 - gender reassignment/gender identity
 - pregnancy or maternity

- race, ethnicity or nationality
- religion or belief
- sex/gender
- sexual orientation
- marriage/civil partnership (in respect of which s.149 requires only that due regard be paid to the need to eliminate discrimination, harassment or victimisation or other conduct prohibited by the Act)

In doing so, where relevant, you should consider any effects on specific groups or sub-groups sharing one or more protected characteristics such as, for example:

- older people
- people of a particular religion or ethnic group
- Gypsy, Roma and Traveller communities
- Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual or Transgender communities
- It may also be appropriate to consider the specific needs of those with non-statutory characteristics, e.g.:
- people living in deprived areas
- people living in rural areas
- Children Looked After
- young people not in education, employment or training (NEET)
- carers
- other groups as appropriate e.g. teenage parents, offenders etc

If there are groups that you need to target, how will you do this?

Service users and groups with protected characteristics are consulted in the development of community safety intelligence products and as part of the commissioning cycle to ensure that their views inform both service design and delivery. The providers of commissioned services eg Domestic Abuse, are required to consult with service users as part of their contracted duties.

9) If appropriate, how have you involved the following in developing your service? Again, please retain any evidence of this.

- Voluntary, Community and Faith Sector (VCFS) organisations
- county councillors
- parish and town councils see
 lccintranet/corporate/atoz/a to z/service.asp?u id=2339&tab=1
 for more information
- district ward councillors/district councillors
- overview and scrutiny committees see
 lccintranet/corporate/atoz/a to z/service.asp?u id=1788&tab=1
- other statutory agencies e.g. National Health Service, Lancashire Constabulary etc

Community Safety Partnerships are required to consult stakeholders in carrying out the Strategic Assessement of Crime and Disorder which in turn is used to inform development of the Community Safety Agreement (CSA - the pan-Lancashire strategic document produced every 2 to 3 years). The Living in Lancashire Survey forms part of this consultation in conjunction with a range of other surveys carried out across the partnership and by partner agencies including: the police, the police and crime commissioner, local authorities, criminal justice agencies etc. Community Safety is required to report to overview and scrutiny on an annual basis to consider any performance or significant service developments. In addition, the CSA is subject to the approval of overview and scrutiny, cabinet and full council, and takes account of the priorities of the Police and Crime Commissioner. In addition, the service participates in consultation with VCFS, communities and councillors as part of local partnership arrangements.

Stakeholders and service users are consulted as an integral part of the commissioning process where new services are developed or where reviews of service delivery are carried out.

Consultation will be ongoing with relevant stakeholders throughout the review of the service.

10) Taking into consideration the information you have collected already, are there any potential negative impacts that might affect citizens because of their:

- age
- disability including Deaf people
- race/ethnicity/nationality
- sex/gender
- gender reassignment/ gender identity
- religion or belief
- sexual orientation
- pregnancy or maternity status
- marriage or civil partnership status

Or because they are:

- people who have young children
- living in an area of deprivation
- living in a rural area
- Children Looked After
- young people not in education, employment or training (NEET)
- teenage parents
- carers
- others e.g. offenders, people out of work, problem drug users etc.

No

Please note that the consideration of potential negative effects should be specific and realistic. Potential adverse effects should not be minimised or exaggerated.

N/a

11) Does your review indicate that the effect of the policy or decision under review could combine with other policies or decisions of LCC or other public authorities?

There are implications for other public bodies in relation to potential reduction in funding for PCSOs and subsequent re-direction of resource towards front-line delivery of domestic abuse services.

Could the results of your review combine with other decisions within LCC or elsewhere to affect any of the above groups (i.e. the cumulative effect)?

The results of this review would combine with other decisions to provide an ongoing, secure service for vulnerable victims of domestic abuse.

Are you aware of other local or national decisions which could combine with this decision to particularly disadvantage any specific groups?

There may be a cumulative impact in the potential reduction of funding allocated towards PCSO numbers where other authorities carry out a similar review of their contributions. However this would impact across the population rather than disproportionately against any particular group.

12) In relation to your service review findings, whether viewed alone or in combination with other factors, are these likely to have adverse effects on groups sharing relevant protected characteristics? If so you must consider how to mitigate such adverse effects.

Please set out any steps you will take to mitigate/reduce any potential adverse effects of your conclusions/proposals on those sharing any relevant protected characteristic. It is important here to do a genuine and realistic evaluation of the likely effectiveness of the mitigation proposed. Over-optimistic and over-generalised assessments are likely to fall short of the due regard requirement.

Also consider if the mitigation might adversely affect any other groups and how this might be managed.

LCC is developing its provision of prevention and early help services which would mitigate against any reduction in PCSO numbers.

13) Think about the potential positive impacts your service could have on certain groups of people, and in particular those sharing protected characteristics. What are they and how might they be developed?

Use this information to think about how your service might improve quality of life and assist in relation to promoting equality.

Will the positive impacts be accompanied by any negative impacts on groups of citizens sharing the protected characteristics? If so, how might these be addressed or balanced?

The service aims to improve the quality of life of communities in Lancashire through maintaining a reducing level of crime and antisocial behaviour. This aims holds true for all communities and groups with protected characteristics. Where particular groups are found to be disproportionately affected by particular crime types or incidents, evidence based steps will be taken to influence service delivery and so produce better outcomes for these groups.

Whilst there is a reduction in the core funding allocated to Community Safety, the remaining resource will be re-aligned towards front-line delivery and in particular towards services which aim to reduce and prevent harm caused by domestic abuse.

14) How can your service contribute to the following priority areas:

 Eliminating discrimination, harassment, victimisation or any other unlawful conduct

Will the service be provided by people who treat all clients/customers/service users with dignity and respect?

Yes, this is required of all commissioned services

Will assessment or eligibility criteria be set objectively and fairly? Will training in some form be available to ensure that these requirements are properly applied?

Yes, this is required of all commissioned services

 Tackling social exclusion and advancing equality of opportunity between persons who share relevant protected characteristics and those who do not share it.

This will involve taking steps to remove or minimise disadvantages suffered by persons who share a relevant protected characteristic and that are connected to that particular characteristic, taking steps to meet the needs of persons who share a relevant protected characteristic that are different from the needs of persons who do not share it, and encouraging persons who share a relevant protected characteristic to participate in public life or in any other activity in which participation by such persons is disproportionately low.

It is important to bear in mind that taking steps to meet the needs of disabled persons which are different from those of persons who do not share that disability include steps to take account of the disabilities in question. This may even include treating some persons more favourably than others in order to allow them to participate in social or public life.

Activities that help improve social inclusion include those that improve the quality of life for people who are disadvantaged or are in danger of poor outcomes in their lives through various circumstances e.g. a lack of money, difficulty in accessing services difficulties accessing premises, and barriers to taking part in relationships and activities that are available to most people in communities etc.

 Improving community cohesion /Fostering Good Relations between persons who share a relevant protected characteristic and those who do not share it This may include thinking about ways to tackle prejudice and promote understanding between groups of people with protected characteristics and those who do not share those characteristics. Activities that help improve community cohesion include those that bring people from different communities together (e.g. people of different ethnicities, faiths, ages, geographical backgrounds etc); those that empower communities and those that reduce tensions in communities. (See the Community Cohesion website at http://www.lancashire.gov.uk/corporate/web/view.asp?siteid=2966&page id=5956&e=e for more information).

Improving health and wellbeing

Health and wellbeing means that people feel well enough and sufficiently supported to live their lives to the full. Activities that help improve health and wellbeing include those that ensure that basic needs are met, that individuals have a sense of purpose, that they feel able to achieve important personal goals and participate in society.

Supporting the county council's role as a corporate parent

The Corporate Parenting Board ensures that Children Looked After have the same opportunities as their peers to a good quality of life. Activities that help support this are those that help improve health and wellbeing outcomes for children and young people who are looked after and those that support them to be prepared for the future. (See Corporate Parenting Board website at lccintranet2/corporate/web/view.asp?siteid=4183&pageid=17628&e=e for more information).

15) Taking into consideration all the information you have collected in answering the previous questions, what are the changes/actions you will carry out to tackle any issues you have identified? These may be – no change to the service; adjust the proposal; continue with proposed changes or stop the changes and reconsider.

If going ahead with changes, what are the factors you have balanced – e.g. financial, operational – which you have considered alongside your Analysis findings (countervailing factors).

Changes will continue to evolve in line with the organisational transformation.

16)	When	will	you	review	your	actions	?

Monitoring should be at least half yearly in line with the business planning performance management cycle.

17) When will you report progress on your actions and who to?

Progress on actions should be reported to relevant county councillors, officers, partnerships and groups etc

18) When will you review your service or service plan?

Review is currently ongoing in line with the organisational transformation.

Role Community Safety Manager

Public Health and Wellbeing (Road Safety)

November 2014

Nature of the Decision

Speed Management

There will be a reduction in the number of road safety and speed management courses delivered as follows:

- Non-diversionary courses including Older Drivers and Motorcyles but number of courses delivered is reduced by 50%
- Speed Tasking, deployment of SPIDS, speed counts but quantum delivered reduced by 50%

Safer Travel Unit

To reduce the amount of training provided by the Safer Travel Unit as follows:

- Road safety education delivery through the Moodle or through partners such as police, fire and rescue, health and Children's Trust
- Delivery of cycling schemes but only those that are funded externally, principally through DfT eg. bikeability
- Road safety and sustainable travel engagement, including early years, but output reduced by 25%
- Healthy Streets programme but output reduced by 50% but with the potential to deliver more by increased delivery through partnership working and other means
- Reduced resources focused on areas of highest need as directed by Strategic Casualty Assessments.

What in summary is the proposal being considered?

- Reduce the level of direct motorcycle engagement/awareness which currently only impacts on a relatively small number of riders and focus on supporting police engagement campaigns
- An increased targeted approach towards speed management working with the police to target the worst areas for enforcement, engagement and engineering measures. Limited SpID deployment, encouraging Parish and Community Groups to own their own SpIDs. Working with Police to do more Community Road Watch
- Direct social media campaigns aimed at young drivers who represent a disproportionate percentage of the killed and seriously injured casualties in Lancashire and are most open to influence through social marketing
- Focus Older Driver courses in areas of highest need and work with Public Health to support safe driving and sustainable modes of travel

Is the decision likely to affect people across the county in a similar way or are specific areas likely to be affected – e.g. are a set number of branches/sites to be affected? If so you will need to consider whether there are equality related issues associated with the locations selected – e.g. greater percentage of BME residents in a particular area where a closure is proposed as opposed to an area where a facility is remaining open.

The proposal to target areas of greatest need will mean that there will be disproportionate effects on people dependent upon where they live in the County. Whilst there will be a service reduction, an intelligence based targeted approach will ensure areas of greatest need continue to be delivered so impact of service reduction will be minimised.

It is anticipated that the proposal would not have a disproportionate negative impact on anyone or groups of people with a protected characteristic, with the exception of the Older Driver courses which will have some impacts on the elderly. Road safety education to younger people will change with more road safety education delivery through the Moodle.

Could the decision have a particular impact on any group of individuals sharing protected characteristics under the Equality Act 2010, namely:

- Age
- Disability including Deaf people
- Gender reassignment
- Pregnancy and maternity
- Race/ethnicity/nationality
- Religion or belief
- Sex/gender
- Sexual orientation
- Marriage or Civil Partnership Status

In considering this question you should identify and record any particular impact on people in a sub-group of any of the above – e.g. people with a particular disability or from a particular religious or ethnic group.

It is particularly important to consider whether any decision is likely to impact adversely on any group of people sharing protected characteristics to a disproportionate extent. Any such disproportionate impact will need to be objectively justified.

The reduction in the number of Older Driver courses will have an impact on the elderly.

If you have answered "Yes" to this question in relation to any of the above characteristics, – please go to Question 1.

If you have answered "No" in relation to all the protected characteristics, please briefly document your reasons below and attach this to the decision-making papers. (It goes without saying that if the lack of impact is obvious, it need only be very briefly noted.)

Question 1 - Background Evidence

What information do you have about the different groups of people who may be affected by this decision – e.g. employees or service users (you could use monitoring data, survey data, etc to compile this). As indicated above, the relevant protected characteristics are:

- Age
- Disability including Deaf people
- Gender reassignment/gender identity
- Pregnancy and maternity
- Race/Ethnicity/Nationality
- Religion or belief
- Sex/gender
- Sexual orientation
- Marriage or Civil Partnership status (in respect of which the s. 149 requires only that due regard be paid to the need to eliminate discrimination, harassment or victimisation or other conduct which is prohibited by the Act).

In considering this question you should again consider whether the decision under consideration could impact upon specific subgroups e.g. people of a specific religion or people with a particular disability. You should also consider how the decision is likely to affect those who share two or more of the protected characteristics – for example, older women, disabled, elderly people, and so on.

Budget savings and resulting reduction and changes in service means that the services provided through the Moodle are equally accessible to all schools in Lancashire and the reduced delivery of other resources will be targeted at areas of highest need identified through statistics

The reduction in the number of Older Driver courses will have an impact on the elderly. Currently, 500 courses per year are delivered with County Council funding and it is proposed that this will be reduced by 50% and targeted to those geographical areas with the most need.

Question 2 – Engagement/Consultation

How have you tried to involve people/groups that are potentially affected by your decision? Please describe what engagement has taken place, with whom and when.

(Please ensure that you retain evidence of the consultation in case of any further enquiries. This includes the results of consultation or data gathering at any stage of the process)

At this stage, views have not been sought but should the proposals progress then wider consultation will be undertaken to develop a fuller understanding of the impacts.

Question 3 – Analysing Impact

Could your proposal potentially disadvantage particular groups sharing any of the protected characteristics and if so which groups and in what way?

It is particularly important in considering this question to get to grips with the actual practical impact on those affected. The decision-makers need to know in clear and specific terms what the impact may be and how serious, or perhaps minor, it may be – will people need to walk a few metres further to catch a bus, or to attend school? Will they be cut off altogether from vital services? The answers to such questions must be fully and frankly documented, for better or for worse, so that they can be properly evaluated when the decision is made.

Could your proposal potentially impact on individuals sharing the protected characteristics in any of the following ways:

- Could it discriminate unlawfully against individuals sharing any of the protected characteristics, whether directly or indirectly; if so, it must be amended. Bear in mind that this may involve taking steps to meet the specific needs of disabled people arising from their disabilities
- Could it advance equality of opportunity for those who share a particular protected characteristic? If not could it be developed or modified in order to do so?
- Does it encourage persons who share a relevant protected characteristic to participate in public life or in any activity in which participation by such persons is disproportionately low? If not could it be developed or modified in order to do so?
- Will the proposal contribute to fostering good relations between those who share a relevant protected characteristic and those who do not, for example by tackling prejudice and promoting understanding? If not could it be developed or modified in order to do so? Please identify any findings and how they might be addressed.

The reduction in the number of Older Driver courses will have an impact on the elderly. Those elderly people who will be unable to attend a course, the impact may be that they will have to give up driving sooner than if they had attended a course. This will mean that they would have to use public transport, seek lifts from others or be at risk of social isolation.

Question 4 - Combined/Cumulative Effect

Could the effects of your decision combine with other factors or decisions taken at local or national level to exacerbate the impact on any groups?

For example - if the proposal is to impose charges for adult social care, its impact on disabled people might be increased by other decisions within the County Council (e.g. increases in the fares charged for Community Transport and reductions in respite care) and national proposals (e.g. the availability of some benefits). Whilst LCC cannot control some of these decisions, they could increase the adverse effect of the proposal. The LCC has a legal duty to consider this aspect, and to evaluate the decision, including mitigation, accordingly.

If Yes – please identify these.

The proposed withdrawal of all subsidised bus services is likely to exacerbate the impact of this proposal.

Question 5 – Identifying Initial Results of Your Analysis

As a result of your analysis have you changed/amended your original proposal?

Please identify how -

For example:

Adjusted the original proposal – briefly outline the adjustments

Continuing with the Original Proposal – briefly explain why

Stopped the Proposal and Revised it - briefly explain

Analysis stage has not yet been and further work will be required if the proposals progress.

Question 6 - Mitigation

Please set out any steps you will take to mitigate/reduce any potential adverse effects of your decision on those sharing any particular protected characteristic. It is important here to do a genuine and realistic evaluation of the effectiveness of the mitigation contemplated.

Over-optimistic and over-generalised assessments are likely to fall short of the "due regard" requirement.

Also consider if any mitigation might adversely affect any other groups and how this might be managed.

We will continue to provide a reduced level of Older Driver courses and these will be targeted to those geographical areas identified to have the most need.

Question 7 - Balancing the Proposal/Countervailing Factors

At this point you need to weigh up the reasons for the proposal – e.g. need for budget savings; damaging effects of not taking forward the proposal at this time – against the findings of your analysis. Please describe this assessment. It is important here to ensure that the assessment of any negative effects upon those sharing protected characteristics is full and frank. The full extent of actual adverse impacts must be acknowledged and taken into account, or the assessment will be inadequate. What is required is an honest evaluation, and not a marketing exercise. Conversely, while adverse effects should be frankly acknowledged, they need not be overstated or exaggerated. Where effects are not serious, this too should be made clear.

Budget reductions have to be achieved and LCC is required to find £300m in budget savings over the period 2014 – 2018 and these proposals will contribute to this reduction.

Question 8 – Final Proposal

In summary, what is your final proposal and which groups may be affected and how?

At this stage, the proposal is set out as above.

Question 9 – Review and Monitoring Arrangements

Describe what arrangements you will put in place to review and monitor the effects of your proposal.

The new service area will need to develop appropriate review and monitoring arrangements as it moves forward.

Public Health and Wellbeing (Scientific Services)

For Decision Making Items November 2014

Name/Nature of the Decision

Public Health and Wellbeing Service Offer

Reductions to the Lancashire County Scientific Service (LCSS) budget creating an opportunity to review the commercial business model for this service. This review will aim to produce a new commercial business model that will provide a high quality analytical 'in-house' service whilst working commercially to generate external income.

What in summary is the proposal being considered?

Lancashire County Scientific Services (LCSS) provides a wide range of UKAS accredited environmental, food substance and agricultural testing services for the council and on behalf of the council as an income generating service.

Historically, the service has aimed to offer a wide range of analytical scientific services whilst positioning itself as a centre of excellence for analytical services in the North West. The service is classified as an 'Official Food Control Laboratory' recognised at national and EU level. It is also the platform that provides LCSS with the reputation to deliver services across other areas.

However, with a reduction on the level of budget provided to this service and a change in the nature of demand for services there is a need for the service to adapt and respond to these changing markets.

The service has spent the last two years scrutinising services both financially and strategically and establishing performance management systems that have and continue to enable the commercial viability of these services to be tested. This work supports the need for a fundamental reprioritisation of services and remodelling of the service if it is to become more financially self sustaining.

The service will therefore focus its resources upon the growth of its 'core' business areas which best meet the internal needs of the County Council and those where we are most likely to maintain a strong position commercially. This will happen whilst remaining open to developing new areas of activity as business opportunities arise.

This approach may result in ending the delivery of some services where there is a business case that some services are better being procured through external sources by LCC or where there is little commercial viability for continuing with their delivery and where staff can be redeployed or reduced in numbers. Any decisions to cease services going forward will be accompanied by a consideration of the impact of such a decision and will consider especially the impact on protected groups.

The service will also, where appropriate, continue to contribute to strategic projects such as the Priority Neighbourhoods work, for example, by working with Trading Standards to undertake nutritional profiling, testing and advice to the public in these areas.

Services will be tailored around work programmes and customer needs so that they are demand led and can respond quickly to changes in workloads and priorities.

Is the decision likely to affect people across the county in a similar way or are specific areas likely to be affected – e.g. are a set number of branches/sites to be affected? If so you will need to consider whether there are equality related issues associated with the locations selected – e.g. greater percentage of BME residents in a particular area where a closure is proposed as opposed to an area where a facility is remaining open.

The service provides internal services to LCC and is commercially led so work is provided to wherever the demand is.

There are unlikely to be any equality related issues relating to the budget savings being proposed as these relate mostly to:

- A reduction in management costs, overtime, mileage, operational consumables, the termination of leases for buildings no longer required, minimising the use of agency staff and re-negotiating servicing contracts with suppliers.
- An increase in the level of income being achieved by the service.
- The ending of some services however LCSS does not provide services which are designed specifically for any group of individuals and provides to a general market.

It should be noted however that as proposals become clearer it will be necessary to review any equality related issues again.

Could the decision have a particular impact on any group of individuals sharing protected characteristics under the Equality Act 2010, namely:

- Age
- Disability including Deaf people
- Gender reassignment
- Pregnancy and maternity
- Race/ethnicity/nationality
- · Religion or belief
- Sex/gender
- Sexual orientation
- Marriage or Civil Partnership Status

In considering this question you should identify and record any particular impact on people in a sub-group of any of the above – e.g. people with a particular disability or from a particular religious or ethnic group.

It is particularly important to consider whether any decision is likely to impact adversely on any group of people sharing protected characteristics to a disproportionate extent. Any such disproportionate impact will need to be objectively justified.

This decision would not have a particular impact on any group of individuals sharing protected characteristics under the Equality Act 2010. It should be noted however that as proposals become clearer it will be necessary to review any equality related issues again.

ir you nave answered "Y	es" to this question in relation	on to any of the
above characteristics, –	please go to Question 1.

If you have answered "No" in relation to all the protected characteristics, please briefly document your reasons below and attach this to the decision-making papers. (It goes without saying that if the lack of impact is obvious, it need only be very briefly noted.)

I do not believe that the reductions proposed to Scientific Services budget will have a particular and disproportionate impact on any group of people sharing protected characteristics under the equality Act 2010. It should be noted however that as proposals become clearer it will be necessary to review any equality related issues again.

Question 1 - Background Evidence

What information do you have about the different groups of people who may be affected by this decision – e.g. employees or service users (you could use monitoring data, survey data, etc to compile this). As indicated above, the relevant protected characteristics are:

- Age
- Disability including Deaf people
- Gender reassignment/gender identity
- Pregnancy and maternity
- Race/Ethnicity/Nationality
- · Religion or belief
- Sex/gender
- Sexual orientation
- Marriage or Civil Partnership status (in respect of which the s. 149 requires only that due regard be paid to the need to eliminate discrimination, harassment or victimisation or other conduct which is prohibited by the Act).

In considering this question you should again consider whether the decision under consideration could impact upon specific subgroups e.g. people of a specific religion or people with a particular disability. You should also consider how the decision is likely to affect those who share two or more of the protected characteristics – for example, older women, disabled, elderly people, and so on.

Question 2 - Engagement/Consultation

How have you tried to involve people/groups that are potentially affected by your decision? Please describe what engagement has taken place, with whom and when.

(Please ensure that you retain evidence of the consultation in case of any further enquiries. This includes the results of consultation or data gathering at any stage of the process)

Question 3 – Analysing Impact

Could your proposal potentially disadvantage particular groups sharing any of the protected characteristics and if so which groups and in what way?

It is particularly important in considering this question to get to grips with the actual practical impact on those affected. The decision-makers need to know in clear and specific terms what the impact may be and how serious, or perhaps minor, it may be – will people need to walk a few metres further to catch a bus, or to attend school? For Decision Making Items

Name/Nature of the Decision

Public Health and Wellbeing Service Offer

Reductions to the Trading Standards Service budget leading to a consequent reduction in capacity across the service. Reference should be made to the Safe Trader Scheme Equality Analysis.

What in summary is the proposal being considered?

The new Service offer is strongly focused on high risk activities, being increasingly intelligence led and prioritising available resources towards the most vulnerable in Lancashire communities and/or those problems which affect large numbers of people and cause the greatest detriment. Services which are being delivered at present will need to be reduced, refocused and some activities will not be undertaken on the same scale or at all going forward.

All services provided will have a clear statutory basis, except consumer support which provides second tier advice and assistance to consumers and maintains vital civil law expertise to assist Lancashire businesses comply with their civil obligations in their dealings with their customers. The team also monitors and deals with some of the most complained about businesses in Lancashire. While this Service will still be provided due to its significant contribution to supporting vulnerable and elderly people and those in the most deprived communities the policies under which it operates will be amended to reflect the need to prioritise resources to these priority customers. The level of assistance provided and level of detriment involved before certain support can be provided will need to be adjusted to reflect the reduction in Service resources.

As services are statutory it is essential to maintain some level of activity/capacity to respond in each area. This activity is intelligence led and risk based, so that resources are directed to areas of greatest need – this means that it is not possible at this stage to indicate other than in broad terms what the service will be delivering in terms of specific projects, inspections and visits in 2017/18, although the offer will involve reductions to the level of activity on each these. However, while we will seek to minimise the impact of any reductions, increased response times, focus on high risk premises with limited audit based and intelligence led interventions at other premises and an increased prioritisation of advice to more vulnerable consumers and smaller businesses will be an aspect of the service offer.

Resources will be deployed to areas of greatest need and in line with intelligence available, delivery will be prioritised to the most significant consumer and business detriment and focused on priority neighbourhoods and areas of deprivation as appropriate.

The Service will be more closely linked with LCSS and efficiencies resulting from this alignment will be identified and realised to the benefit of both Services.

The Service will also seek to have in house capacity to pursue Proceeds of Crime Act (POCA) funding in appropriate cases. While this money can only be pursued in certain types of cases and has to be reinvested in enforcement, it can reduce the costs of Service provision.

Is the decision likely to affect people across the county in a similar way or are specific areas likely to be affected – e.g. are a set number of branches/sites to be affected? If so you will need to consider whether there are equality related issues associated with the locations selected – e.g. greater percentage of BME residents in a particular area where a closure is proposed as opposed to an area where a facility is remaining open.

The Trading Standards service is intelligence led and undertakes a range of statutory duties which impact on the health and wellbeing of residents of Lancashire. The service operates from County Hall in Preston, officers respond to complaints and intelligence, and carry out inspections dealing with consumers and businesses across the County, and beyond.

The current proposal is to maintain activity across all areas of Trading Standards, with an emphasis on high risk issues and businesses.

The service will maintain a focus on service delivery in all districts from its base in County Hall and will continue to consider any potential disproportionate impact of trading standards contraventions on vulnerable neighbourhoods of Lancashire.

Could the decision have a particular impact on any group of individuals sharing protected characteristics under the Equality Act 2010, namely:

- Age
- Disability including Deaf people
- Gender reassignment
- Pregnancy and maternity
- Race/ethnicity/nationality
- Religion or belief
- Sex/gender
- Sexual orientation

Marriage or Civil Partnership Status

In considering this question you should identify and record any particular impact on people in a sub-group of any of the above – e.g. people with a particular disability or from a particular religious or ethnic group.

It is particularly important to consider whether any decision is likely to impact adversely on any group of people sharing protected characteristics to a disproportionate extent. Any such disproportionate impact will need to be objectively justified.

This service already has a strong focus on protecting the elderly and vulnerable groups and it is proposed that this focus will be maintained including prioritising work which impacts on public health and elderly vulnerable consumers.

If you have answered "Yes" to this question in relation to any of the above characteristics, – please go to Question 1.

If you have answered "No" in relation to all the protected characteristics, please briefly document your reasons below and attach this to the decision-making papers. (It goes without saying that if the lack of impact is obvious, it need only be very briefly noted.)

I do not believe that the reductions proposed to Trading Standards service delivery will have a particular and disproportionate impact on any group of people sharing protected characteristics of:

- Age
- Disability including Deaf people
- · Gender reassignment
- Pregnancy and maternity
- Race/ethnicity/nationality
- Religion or belief
- Sex/gender
- Sexual orientation
- Marriage or Civil Partnership Status

The service will continue to deliver across the full range of Trading Standards functions with an increased emphasis on dealing with high risk issues and provision of support to elderly and vulnerable consumers. As the transformation process progresses further equality impact assessments may need to be undertaken to ensure that any more detailed proposals do not impact on groups with protected characteristics.

Question 1 – Background Evidence

What information do you have about the different groups of people who may be affected by this decision – e.g. employees or service users (you could use monitoring data, survey data, etc to compile this). As indicated above, the relevant protected characteristics are:

- Age
- Disability including Deaf people
- Gender reassignment/gender identity
- Pregnancy and maternity
- Race/Ethnicity/Nationality
- Religion or belief
- Sex/gender
- Sexual orientation
- Marriage or Civil Partnership status (in respect of which the s. 149 requires only that due regard be paid to the need to eliminate discrimination, harassment or victimisation or other conduct which is prohibited by the Act).

In considering this question you should again consider whether the decision under consideration could impact upon specific subgroups e.g. people of a specific religion or people with a particular disability. Question 3 – Analysing Impact

It is particularly important in considering this question to get to grips with the actual practical impact on those affected. Question 4 –Combined/Cumulative Effect
Could the effects of your decision combine with other factors or decisions taken at local or national level to exacerbate the impact on any groups?
For example - if the proposal is to impose charges for adult social care, its impact on disabled people might be increased by other decisions within the County Council (e.g. increases in the fares charged for Community Transport and reductions in respite care) and national proposals (e.g. the availability of some benefits). Whilst LCC cannot control some of these decisions, they could increase the adverse effect of the proposal. Equality Analysis Prepared By Amanda Maxim/David Scott

Position/Role Trading Standards Managers

Public Health and Wellbeing (Safe Trader Scheme)

For Decision Making Items November 2014

Name/Nature of the Decision

A change in the funding arrangements for the Safe Trader Scheme to include provision in the core Trading Standards Service Budget leading to a consequent reduction in resource allocated to the scheme. Reference should be made to the full Trading Standards Service Equality Impact.

What in summary is the proposal being considered?

The Safe Trader Scheme is currently part of the Help Direct programme and has been in operation since October 2009 operated by the Environment Directorate's Trading Standards Service. The Safe Trader scheme is currently largely funded by ASHW and as part of the ASHW savings plans it is intended to cease funding of this service by the end of March 2015. It is proposed that the scheme will in future be administered as part of the Trading Standards Service's core service offer. The way the service operates will also be reviewed and efficiencies sought.

The scheme is part of the Help Direct programme which is currently being redesigned as part of the new Integrated Health and Wellbeing Framework, which will include the provision of information and advice. In addition, there is also a project underway to look at how Adult Services provides information and advice regarding its services and support to members of the public including self-funders via the internet. This project is looking towards development of an IT database and customer portal which can include information about some service providers currently in the Safe Trader scheme although by no means all categories of traders.

ASHW would seek to support the future scheme by aligning with projects across all directorates including the Home Improvement Service, Retail model, community portal and the local offer linked to the SEN reforms.

The Trading Standards Service is currently looking into options to continue and sustain the service long term as the service supports a number of priorities such as preventing doorstep crime, protecting vulnerable consumers and supporting businesses. Future options include potentially charging traders to be part of the scheme, as some other authorities currently do. If this is pursued consultation with businesses will be undertaken.

The new Trading Standards Service offer is strongly focused on high risk activities, being increasingly intelligence led and prioritising available resources towards the most vulnerable in Lancashire communities and/or those problems which affect large numbers of people and cause the greatest detriment. Services which are being delivered at present will need to be reduced, refocused and some activities will not be undertaken on the same scale or at all going forward. In relation to the Safe Trader Scheme it is proposed that the scheme will be maintained with a reduced resource resulting in slower development, recruitment to and publicising of the scheme, but little impact on the service users including protected groups, especially the elderly and vulnerable who are key target users of the scheme.

Is the decision likely to affect people across the county in a similar way or are specific areas likely to be affected – e.g. are a set number of branches/sites to be affected? If so you will need to consider whether there are equality related issues associated with the locations selected – e.g. greater percentage of BME residents in a particular area where a closure is proposed as opposed to an area where a facility is remaining open.

The Safe Trader Scheme is available to all residents of Lancashire so any reduction in service will affect the whole county equally.

Could the decision have a particular impact on any group of individuals sharing protected characteristics under the Equality Act 2010, namely:

- Age
- Disability including Deaf people
- Gender reassignment
- Pregnancy and maternity
- Race/ethnicity/nationality
- Religion or belief
- Sex/gender
- Sexual orientation
- Marriage or Civil Partnership Status

In considering this question you should identify and record any particular impact on people in a sub-group of any of the above – e.g. people with a particular disability or from a particular religious or ethnic group.

It is particularly important to consider whether any decision is likely to impact adversely on any group of people sharing protected characteristics to a disproportionate extent. Any such disproportionate impact will need to be objectively justified.

Trading Standards already has a strong focus on protecting the elderly and vulnerable groups, however a reduction in resource for safe trader, which, while used by all is of considerable benefit to the elderly and vulnerable, has the potential to impact disproportionately on those groups and therefore it will be imperative that we review delivery of the scheme as the transformation process progresses to assess the impact and address those issues which can be resolved.

if you have answered feet to this question in relation to any of the above characteristics, – please go to Question 1.

If you have answered "No" in relation to all the protected characteristics, please briefly document your reasons below and attach this to the decision-making papers. (It goes without saying that if the lack of impact is obvious, it need only be very briefly noted.)

I do not believe that the reductions proposed at present to delivery of the safe trader scheme will necessarily have a particular and disproportionate impact on any group of people sharing protected characteristics of:

- Age
- Disability including Deaf people
- · Gender reassignment
- Pregnancy and maternity
- Race/ethnicity/nationality
- Religion or belief
- Sex/gender
- Sexual orientation
- Marriage or Civil Partnership Status

The service will continue to deliver the scheme with an increased emphasis on provision of support to elderly and vulnerable consumers, and with appropriate support as identified to other groups with protected characteristics.

However, as we move through the transformation process, we will need to carefully monitor any changes or reductions to the scheme to assess the impact on groups with protected characteristics, and take appropriate steps to mitigate these effects where possible. Further Equality Impact Assessments will therefore be undertaken as necessary during the transformation process.

Question 1 - Background Evidence

What information do you have about the different groups of people who may be affected by this decision – e.g. employees or service users (you could use monitoring data, survey data, etc to compile this). As indicated above, the relevant protected characteristics are:

- Age
- Disability including Deaf people
- Gender reassignment/gender identity
- Pregnancy and maternity
- Race/Ethnicity/Nationality
- · Religion or belief
- Sex/gender
- Sexual orientation
- Marriage or Civil Partnership status (in respect of which the s. 149 requires only that due regard be paid to the need to eliminate discrimination, harassment or victimisation or other conduct which is prohibited by the Act).

In considering this question you should again consider whether the decision under consideration could impact upon specific subgroups e.g. people of a specific religion or people with a particular disability. You should also consider how the decision is likely to affect those who share two or more of the protected characteristics – for example, older women, disabled, elderly people, and so on.

Question 2 - Engagement/Consultation

How have you tried to involve people/groups that are potentially affected by your decision? Please describe what engagement has taken place, with whom and when.

(Please ensure that you retain evidence of the consultation in case of any further enquiries. This includes the results of consultation or data gathering at any stage of the process)

Question 3 – Analysing Impact

Could your proposal potentially disadvantage particular groups sharing any of the protected characteristics and if so which groups and in what way?

It is particularly important in considering this question to get to grips with the actual practical impact on those affected. The decision-makers need to know in clear and specific terms what the impact may be and how serious, or perhaps minor, it may be – will people need to walk a few metres further to catch a bus, or to attend school? Will they be cut off altogether from vital services? The answers to such questions must be fully and frankly documented, for better or for worse, so that they can be properly evaluated when the decision is made.

Could your proposal potentially impact on individuals sharing the protected characteristics in any of the following ways:

- Could it discriminate unlawfully against individuals sharing any of the protected characteristics, whether directly or indirectly; if so, it must be amended. Bear in mind that this may involve taking steps to meet the specific needs of disabled people arising from their disabilities
- Could it advance equality of opportunity for those who share a particular protected characteristic? If not could it be developed or modified in order to do so?
- Does it encourage persons who share a relevant protected characteristic to participate in public life or in any activity in which participation by such persons is disproportionately low? If not could it be developed or modified in order to do so?
- Will the proposal contribute to fostering good relations between those who share a relevant protected characteristic and those who do not, for example by tackling prejudice and promoting understanding? If not could it be developed or modified in order to do so? Please identify any findings and how they might be addressed.

Question 4 –Combined/Cumulative Effect
Could the effects of your decision combine with other factors or decisions taken at local or national level to exacerbate the impact on any groups?
For example - if the proposal is to impose charges for adult social care, its impact on disabled people might be increased by other decisions within the County Council (e.g. increases in the fares charged for Community Transport and reductions in respite care) and national proposals (e.g. the availability of some benefits). Whilst LCC cannot control some of these decisions, they could increase the adverse effect of the proposal. The LCC has a legal duty to consider this aspect, and to evaluate the decision, including mitigation, accordingly.
If Yes – please identify these.
Question 5 – Identifying Initial Results of Your Analysis
As a result of your analysis have you changed/amended your original proposal?
Please identify how –
For example:
Adjusted the original proposal – briefly outline the adjustments
Continuing with the Original Proposal – briefly explain why
Stopped the Proposal and Revised it - briefly explain

Question 6 - Mitigation
Please set out any steps you will take to mitigate/reduce any potential adverse effects of your decision on those sharing any particular protected characteristic. It is important here to do a genuine and realistic evaluation of the effectiveness of the mitigation contemplated. Over-optimistic and over-generalised assessments are likely to fall short of the "due regard" requirement.
Also consider if any mitigation might adversely affect any other groups and how this might be managed.
Question 7 – Balancing the Proposal/Countervailing Factors
At this point you need to weigh up the reasons for the proposal – e.g. need for budget savings; damaging effects of not taking forward the proposal at this time – against the findings of your analysis. Please describe this assessment. It is important here to ensure that the assessment of any negative effects upon those sharing protected characteristics is full and frank. The full extent of actual adverse impacts must be acknowledged and taken into account, or the assessment will be inadequate. What is required is an honest evaluation, and not a marketing exercise. Conversely, while adverse effects should be frankly acknowledged, they need not be overstated or exaggerated. Where effects are not serious, this too should be made clear.

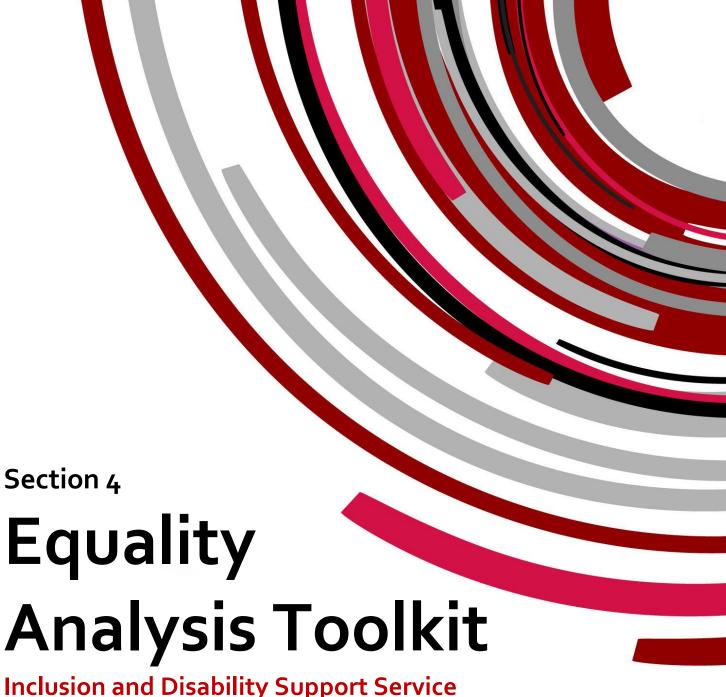

Question 8 – Final Proposal

In summary, what is your final proposal and which groups may be affected and how?

Question 9 – Review and Monitoring Arrangements
Describe what arrangements you will put in place to review and monitor the effects of your proposal.

Equality Analysis Prepared By Amanda Maxim/David Scott

Position/Role Trading Standards Managers

Inclusion and Disability Support Service For Decision Making Items November 2014

Name/Nature of the Decision

Inclusion and Disability Support Service - Service Offer

What in summary is the proposal being considered?

The Service Offer sets out the proposals for reduced service provision by 2016/17 which takes account of significant efficiency savings required within service delivery to children and young people with special educational needs and disabilities (SEND) and their families.

Is the decision likely to affect people across the county in a similar way or are specific areas likely to be affected – e.g. are a set number of branches/sites to be affected? If so you will need to consider whether there are equality related issues associated with the locations selected – e.g. greater percentage of BME residents in a particular area where a closure is proposed as opposed to an area where a facility is remaining open.

Affects all districts

Could the decision have a particular impact on any group of individuals sharing protected characteristics under the Equality Act 2010, namely:

- Age
- Disability including Deaf people
- Gender reassignment
- Pregnancy and maternity
- Race/ethnicity/nationality
- Religion or belief
- Sex/gender
- Sexual orientation
- Marriage or Civil Partnership Status

In considering this question you should identify and record any particular impact on people in a sub-group of any of the above – e.g. people with a particular disability or from a particular religious or ethnic group.

It is particularly important to consider whether any decision is likely to impact adversely on any group of people sharing protected characteristics to a disproportionate extent. Any such disproportionate impact will need to be objectively justified.

		•	•	,	, ,
Disability	y

If you have answered "Yes" to this question in relation to any of the above characteristics, – please go to Question 1.

Yes

If you have answered "No" in relation to all the protected characteristics, please briefly document your reasons below and attach this to the decision-making papers. (It goes without saying that if the lack of impact is obvious, it need only be very briefly noted.)

N/A

Question 1 – Background Evidence

What information do you have about the different groups of people who may be affected by this decision – e.g. employees or service users (you could use monitoring data, survey data, etc to compile this). As indicated above, the relevant protected characteristics are:

- Age
- Disability including Deaf people
- Gender reassignment/gender identity
- Pregnancy and maternity
- Race/Ethnicity/Nationality
- Religion or belief
- Sex/gender
- Sexual orientation
- Marriage or Civil Partnership status (in respect of which the s. 149 requires only that due regard be paid to the need to eliminate discrimination, harassment or victimisation or other conduct which is prohibited by the Act).

In considering this question you should again consider whether the decision under consideration could impact upon specific subgroups e.g. people of a specific religion or people with a particular disability. You should also consider how the decision is likely to affect those who share two or more of the protected characteristics – for example, older women, disabled, elderly people, and so on.

The Inclusion and Disability Support Service provides statutory identification, assessment, intervention and monitoring for children and young people from birth to 25 with special educational needs and disabilities (SEND) and their families. This reflects the new legislative requirements set out in the Children and Families Act 2014, SEND Regulations 2014, SEN (Personal Budget) Regulations 2014 and the 0-25 SEN Code of Practice 2014 including:

- Joint identification, assessment and commissioning with adults services and health partners of services across education, health and social care for children and young people with special educational needs and disabilities from birth to 25 years.
- Co-ordinated assessment with health services for Education Health and Care Plans (EHCP).

- A local offer of special educational needs and disabilities services.
- Provision of information, advice and support on special educational needs and disabilities.
- Provision of personal budgets for young people/parent/carers who request them.
- Supporting transitions and preparation for adulthood.
- Provision of mediation and disagreement resolution services.
- Provision of home to school/college SEN and respite transport.
- Compliance with the Special Educational Needs and Disability Tribunal.

The Service also provides statutory duties for children with disabilities linked to the Children Act 1989, Chronically Sick and Disabled Persons Act 1970, Children (Leaving Care) Act 2000, Breaks for Carers Regulations 2000 and the National Health Service and Community Care Act 1990 including:

- Children in Need (section 17).
- Provision of accommodation (section 20).
- Care and supervision orders for children with disabilities (section 31).
- Safeguarding and promoting the welfare of children with disabilities (section 47).
- Breaks for carers.
- Services assessed as required for chronically sick and disabled children including practical assistance at home, short breaks, home adaptations, fixtures and fittings.
- Assistance to young people with disability who have been looked-after;

The group of people who will be affected by this decision can be identified by two specific protected characteristics; disability and age.

Although the children and young people are referred to as SEND there are two distinct groups; special educational needs (SEN) and disability (D) and a child/young person who has special educational needs may, or may not, also have a disability.

There are approximately 5,500 children and young people who have a Statement of Special Educational Needs (SEN). Approximately 1,000 children are identified with SEN in the early years between 0-2 years and it is estimated that around 2,000 young people have some form of SEN in further education settings.

At any one time, approximately 700 children and young people are assessed as children with disabilities as defined in the Children Act 1989 and Chronically Sick and Disabled Persons Act 1970. There are around 175 young people with a Statement of SEN who are looked after.

Statistics illustrate a large gap between the attainment of pupils with Statement of Special Educational Need and other pupils.

In 2014 in Key Stage Four, the gap between pupils with a Statement of SEN and other pupils achieving 5 GCSEs A^* – C in English and mathematics reduced from 52.2% to 47.8%, thanks mainly to an increase in the proportion of statemented pupils achieving the required grades (7.7% to 13.4%).

Young people with learning difficulties and/or disabilities are twice as likely to be not in education, training or employment (NEET) as those without. 11.6% of young people with LDD were NEET compared with 5.8% of those without as at April 2014. In the current economic climate the opportunities in the employment market for young people with learning difficulties and/or disabilities are likely to reduce further.

Often parents are on benefits due to full time carer responsibilities.

Individuals who share other protected characteristics have been considered as follows;

Race/ethnicity/nationality

There is no evidence to suggest that there may be a disproportionately negative impact on persons with this protected characteristic. 82% of children with special educational needs or disabilities aged 5-16 in January 2014 were White British. Monitoring information would suggest that people from an ethnic minority background tend to be part of communities showing higher rates of deprivation.

Sex/Gender

Monitoring information from the school census of children and young people aged 5-16 taken in January 2014 illustrates that 72.5% of pupils with a statement of special educational need are male compared to 27.5% female. This may suggest that there could be a disproportionately negative effect on the long term prospects of male children and young people with a special educational need.

Religion/belief

We do not consistently collect data on the religion of learners who access SEND support and so are unable to assess the impact of these proposals on persons with this protected characteristic. There is no evidence to suggest that there may be a disproportionately negative impact on people with different religious beliefs or with no religious belief.

Sexual orientation

We have no information on the numbers or proportion of Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual (LGB) communities likely to be affected by changes to the SEND service provision. There is no evidence to suggest that there may be a disproportionately negative impact on persons with this protected characteristic.

Gender Reassignment

We have no information on the numbers or proportion of Trans communities likely to be affected by changes to the SEND service delivery. There is no evidence to suggest that there may be a disproportionately negative impact on persons with this protected characteristic.

Marriage or civil partnership status

There is no evidence to suggest that there may be a disproportionately negative impact on persons with this protected characteristic.

Women who are pregnant or on maternity leave

Information on numbers of learners who are pregnant is not collected. There is no evidence to suggest that there may be a disproportionately negative impact on persons with this protected characteristic

Question 2 – Engagement/Consultation

How have you tried to involve people/groups that are potentially affected by your decision? Please describe what engagement has taken place, with whom and when.

(Please ensure that you retain evidence of the consultation in case of any further enquiries. This includes the results of consultation or data gathering at any stage of the process)

The Service will be reshaped to provide 3 area teams (replacing 5 locality teams) serving north (Lancaster, Fylde and Wyre), central (Preston, South Ribble, Chorley, West Lancashire) and east (Hyndburn, Ribble Valley, Burnley, Pendle and Rossendale) of the county with effect from 1 April 2015. Four functions will be covered through integrated teams for:

- SEND integrated assessment (with health services)
- Children with disabilities social care
- Educational psychology support
- Specialist learner support inclusion teaching

A new post for SEND Compliance Commissioning and Provision will be created at Team Manager level to pick up some of the duties previously undertaken by Service Managers.

This restructure will lead to the removal of 2 Service Manager posts and 5 Team Manager posts and therefore enable significant management savings. Further, the Service is considering alternative models of delivery which would provide effective and efficient delivery of the Service Offer within available resources.

A traded service offer from specialist Educational Psychologists and Inclusion Teachers to enable individual pupil support, intervention strategies and bespoke training packages will be delivered through the Traded Services Offer although professional oversight for staff will continue through the Inclusion and Disability Support Service.

The Service will deliver identification, assessment and intervention differently by:

- Routine monitoring visits by Learner Support Inclusion teachers to identify children and young people with SEN in early years settings and schools will cease. Instead, schools and early years settings must meet their statutory duties to identify and inform the Local Authority of any children and young people with additional and different needs from the majority of pupils.
- Routine Educational Psychology link visits to schools to identify and provide early intervention strategies for children and young people with SEN in early years settings and schools will be replaced by local "clinic-style" arrangements whereby Special Educational Needs Co-ordinators (SENCOs) can discuss specific children by appointment and receive advice and intervention strategies from Educational Psychologists.
- Critical Incident Support work for schools and early years settings where traumatic incidents occur will cease unless the Schools Forum can be persuaded to meet the costs of the Critical Incident Support Team.
- Some social care packages will be reviewed through sharper assessment and care planning processes and the introduction of a resource allocation system aligned to the one currently used for adults with disabilities.
- Attendance at and reading for Fostering and Adoption Panels will no longer be provided as it is not a statutory requirement for Educational Psychologists and/or Children with Disabilities Social Workers to participate.
- The Lancashire Break Time programme of non-assessed breaks for children with disabilities will reduce. Some of this loss can be offset by Early Help provision from Children's Centres and Youth Zones enhancing their universal offer to children and young people with disabilities. However, some families will be eligible for statutory assessed breaks from caring and therefore further discussion is needed with parent/carers on the most effective way to commission such provision so that those children and families most in need of breaks from caring are able to receive them.
- Funding for Inclusion Development projects in special schools will cease. However, schools will continue to be supported to implement the new SEND reforms through Dedicated Schools Grant funding.
- Further reductions will be made to SEN home to school/college and respite transport costs through new managerial arrangements within Integrated Transport and various efficiency arrangements including:
 - Adherence to policy for transport to be provided only where child attends nearest school;
 - More special schools taking on responsibility for managing their own transport;

- Stop deviate and drop off for respite (which increases the costs via a variation charged monthly by contractors);
- Cease variations to commissioned transport contract costs monthly agreed by Integrated Transport Unit (provider) without reference to commissioners;
- Implement charging for post-16 transport as approved through recent Cabinet Member decision;
- Work with schools/colleges to move towards independent travel and meet and pick up points, minibus routes at start and end of college day as opposed to individual taxi runs;
- Promoting independent travel training to reduce number of young people requiring transport and/or a passenger assistance;
- Define a Respite transport policy to be provided for children and young people at risk of family breakdown or where there are concerns about safeguarding or their welfare;
- Investigate again if transport can be provided by parents who have higher level Disability Living Allowance and mobility vehicles.

Further reductions in staffing costs following consideration of alternative models of delivery enabling effective and efficient delivery of the Service Offer within available resources.

At this stage, no formal consultation has been conducted on these proposals.

However, there has been informal discussion with the SEND Reforms Governance Board, a multi-agency group which oversees the implementation of the reforms to special educational needs and disabilities. The Board has parent/carers as representatives from the Lancashire Parent Carer Forum.

Further, the Local Authority supports the Lancashire Parent Carer Forum which has 12 district forums linked to each of the Lancashire district council boundaries. Each district forum can nominate up to two parent/carers to represent them on the county-wide Lancashire Parent Carer Forum. There has been limited discussion with members of the LPCF who are involved in commissioning our short breaks programme for children with disabilities known as Lancashire Break Time about the possibility of the budget reducing over time. However, these discussions have been very low key as none of us were in a position to speculate about future budget allocations.

The Local Authority commissions Barnardos to run regular groups across the county to seek the views and enable representation and participation of children and young people with SEND. This group is known as POWAR and has over 100 representatives within the consultative groups. Some young people have participated in the national network known as EPIC which is run by the Council for Disabled Children as part of the SEND reforms where they have contributed to ministerial discussions on the impact of the SEND reforms for young people with disabilities. However, there has been no formal discussion with young people at this stage on the potential impact upon them of a reduced service offer.

Question 3 – Analysing Impact

Could your proposal potentially disadvantage particular groups sharing any of the protected characteristics and if so which groups and in what way?

It is particularly important in considering this question to get to grips with the actual practical impact on those affected. The decision-makers need to know in clear and specific terms what the impact may be and how serious, or perhaps minor, it may be – will people need to walk a few metres further to catch a bus, or to attend school? Will they be cut off altogether from vital services? The answers to such questions must be fully and frankly documented, for better or for worse, so that they can be properly evaluated when the decision is made.

Could your proposal potentially impact on individuals sharing the protected characteristics in any of the following ways:

- Could it discriminate unlawfully against individuals sharing any of the protected characteristics, whether directly or indirectly; if so, it must be amended. Bear in mind that this may involve taking steps to meet the specific needs of disabled people arising from their disabilities
- Could it advance equality of opportunity for those who share a particular protected characteristic? If not could it be developed or modified in order to do so?
- Does it encourage persons who share a relevant protected characteristic to participate in public life or in any activity in which participation by such persons is disproportionately low? If not could it be developed or modified in order to do so?

By 1st April 2015

The management restructure for all grade 11 posts and above will be completed. This will remove 2 Service Manager posts and 5 Team Manager posts. (2 Team Manager posts for Learner Support will also be removed but these posts are funded from Schools Block and therefore do not contribute to the LCC saving efficiency targets).

A new post for SEND Compliance Commissioning and Provision will be created at Team Manager level.

The Service is considering alternative models of delivery which would provide effective and efficient delivery of the Service Offer within available resources. It is anticipated that alternative models will be developed by January 2015 followed by appropriate consultations with interested parties.

During 2015/16:

The post-16 means tested charging policy for SEND transport will be introduced from September 2015. This will bring about savings previously identified in a Cabinet Member report.

The Service will need to evaluate the impact and progress made in implementing the SEND reforms and ensure that we are compliant with national targets and monitoring set out in the SEND (Transformation) Regulations 2014. Any remedial action required will need to be considered at this time.

The Service will continue to downsize in line with the new models of delivery and effective and efficient delivery of the Service Offer within available resources.

Social and emotional impacts on children and young people with SEND and their families:

(a) Charging for SEND transport

Where means tested charge for post-16 SEND transport may apply, some families will struggle financially to meet these charges, juggling limited family finances to ensure that their child can attend further education.

Learners in possession of a Blind and Disabled Person Nowcard who are able to access the local bus network would fall under the concessionary scheme and would be eligible to travel free after 9.30am on weekdays, and for a heavily subsidised flat rate before 9.30am. However, they may not be able to access public transport vehicles, particularly if they have physical difficulties and low floor vehicles are not used or are used inconsistently.

Whilst a developing independence is encouraged it is noted that there is evidence of harassment of SEND young people when travelling on public transport. The Council mitigates this impact through a range of safer travel initiatives delivered through the safer travel unit in conjunction with local bus operators.

There is the possibility that the introduction of charges could deter learners from participating in further education altogether.

The ability to access further education can lead to positive outcomes for young people with learning difficulties and/or disabilities supporting them to develop skills and aptitudes to go into sustainable employment and participate in their community.

(b) Wider community impacts:

In the current economic climate many families have been affected by job losses and/or a general reduction in household income which will exacerbate their ability to support their child/young person with social and community activities where short breaks opportunities are reduced or removed.

Often the parents are on benefits due to full time carer responsibilities so the impact of these proposals is mitigated by the proposal to apply an exemption for families on qualifying benefits.

Population figures imply that there is a higher level of children and young people with special educational needs and disabilities in the known areas of deprivation across Lancashire; Burnley. Hyndburn, Pendle, Rossendale and Wyre. The areas with least deprivation, Ribble Valley and Fylde have the lowest levels of children and young people with special educational needs and disabilities. This supports national statistics that children and young people with SEND tend to come from low income families.

There is a large gap between the attainment of pupils with a statement of special educational need and other pupils. In 2013 the gap between pupils with a Statement of SEN and other pupils achieving 5 GCSEs A* – C in English and mathematics reduced from 52.2% to 47.8%, thanks mainly to an increase in the proportion of statemented pupils achieving the required grades (7.7% to 13.4%). Lancashire had a smaller gap at key stage four than that seen nationally - 47.8%, compared with 51.3%.

Young people with learning difficulties and/or disabilities are twice as likely to be not in education, training or employment (NEET) as those without. In the current economic climate youth unemployment is expected to rise which can intensify the lack of employment prospects for young people with SEND, particularly if they have not progressed through the further education system.

Failure to achieve a positive outcome can result in isolation, depression and longer term poor health leading to a long term dependency on the benefit system.

If some SEND learners are deterred from entering into further post 16 learning as a result of the proposal to introduce charges this may have a significant long term impact on their health, wellbeing and quality of life.

Question 4 – Combined/Cumulative Effect

Could the effects of your decision combine with other factors or decisions taken at local or national level to exacerbate the impact on any groups?

For example - if the proposal is to impose charges for adult social care, its impact on disabled people might be increased by other decisions within the County Council (e.g. increases in the fares charged for Community Transport and reductions in respite care) and national proposals (e.g. the availability of some benefits). Whilst LCC cannot control some of these decisions, they could increase the adverse effect of the proposal. The LCC has a legal duty to consider this aspect, and to evaluate the decision, including mitigation, accordingly.

If Yes – please identify these.

The Inclusion and Disability Support Service Offer supports the Children's Social Care Service Offer in reducing the number of children placed within agency placements. It also supports the Ageing Well Adults Learning Disability Offer.

It also links to the Early Help Offer whereby universal services fulfil their duties to children and young people with SEND and the Traded Services Offer offering individual support for children in schools and early years settings and in providing bespoke SEND training courses and consultancies.

It is also important to take account of a number of related developments included in other Service Offer across children's and adults' services, including:

 The Welfare Reform Bill proposes a series of changes to the benefits system that include the introduction of universal credit and an overall benefit cap. This could result in changes or reductions in the amount of benefit that families receive increasing the financial difficulty that would be faced by families.

- Research through the Rowntree Trust shows that children with disabilities are much more likely to be part of a single-parent household, relationship break up is twice as likely as for couples with non-disabled children, living costs are considerably higher whilst the capacity to work is considerably diminished.
- Changes to housing benefit has introduced a different approach where there are 'spare' bedrooms in a household that are not occupied. This housing benefit reduction is called the under-occupancy charge, but is more commonly known as the 'bedroom' tax and does impact on a number of families of children with disabilities.
- The Lancashire Break Time programme of non-assessed breaks for children with disabilities will reduce. Some of this loss can be offset by Early Help provision from Children's Centres and Youth Zones enhancing their universal offer to children and young people with disabilities. However, some families will be eligible for statutory assessed breaks from caring and therefore further discussion is needed with parent/carers on the most effective way to commission such provision so that those children and families most in need of breaks from caring are able to receive them. This will result in cost shift to the Children with Disabilities Agency budget rather than an overall reduction in costs.
- Any changes to the number of Children with Disabilities Overnight Break Units may also have a 'knock-on' effect. Although the number of children and young people requesting such provision has reduced resulting from the successful flexible family support packages that have been provided, some families would be concerned if their local overnight provision were to reduce or cease. This too could result in more families seeking a re-assessment and alternative packages through agency provision.
- Provision of transport to overnight break units is discretionary. The proposed Service Offer suggests that a Respite Transport Policy would need to be agreed whereby transport would only be provided for children and young people at risk of family breakdown or where there are concerns about safeguarding or their welfare. Some families would not be willing or able to pay the costs of respite transport which may impact up on wellbeing, breaks from caring and for the sustainability and viability of the overnight break units.
- Start Well and Age Well are currently investigating the provision of an "all age" disability service which may result in additional savings and the removal of current transition points issues.

This section needs to be reviewed following consideration by the Cabinet Budget Committee.

Question 5 - Identifying Initial Results of Your Analysis

As a result of your analysis have you changed/amended your original proposal?

Please identify how -

For example:

Adjusted the original proposal – briefly outline the adjustments

Continuing with the Original Proposal – briefly explain why

Stopped the Proposal and Revised it - briefly explain

No changes have been made to the original proposals. This will be reviewed following consideration and recommendations of the SEND Service Offer by the Cabinet Committee in November 2014.

Question 6 - Mitigation

Please set out any steps you will take to mitigate/reduce any potential adverse effects of your decision on those sharing any particular protected characteristic. It is important here to do a genuine and realistic evaluation of the effectiveness of the mitigation contemplated. Over-optimistic and over-generalised assessments are likely to fall short of the "due regard" requirement.

Also consider if any mitigation might adversely affect any other groups and how this might be managed.

No changes have been made to the original proposals. This will be reviewed following consideration and recommendations of the SEND Service Offer by the Cabinet Committee in November 2014.

Question 7 - Balancing the Proposal/Countervailing Factors

At this point you need to weigh up the reasons for the proposal – e.g. need for budget savings; damaging effects of not taking forward the proposal at this time – against the findings of your analysis. Please describe this assessment. It is important here to ensure that the assessment of any negative effects upon those sharing protected characteristics is full and frank. The full extent of actual adverse impacts must be acknowledged and taken into account, or the assessment will be inadequate. What is required is an honest evaluation, and not a marketing exercise. Conversely, while adverse effects should be frankly acknowledged, they need not be overstated or exaggerated. Where effects are not serious, this too should be made clear.

Question 8 - Final Proposal

In summary, what is your final proposal and which groups may be affected and how?

No changes have been made to the original proposals. This will be reviewed following consideration and recommendations of the SEND Service Offer by the Cabinet Committee in November 2014.

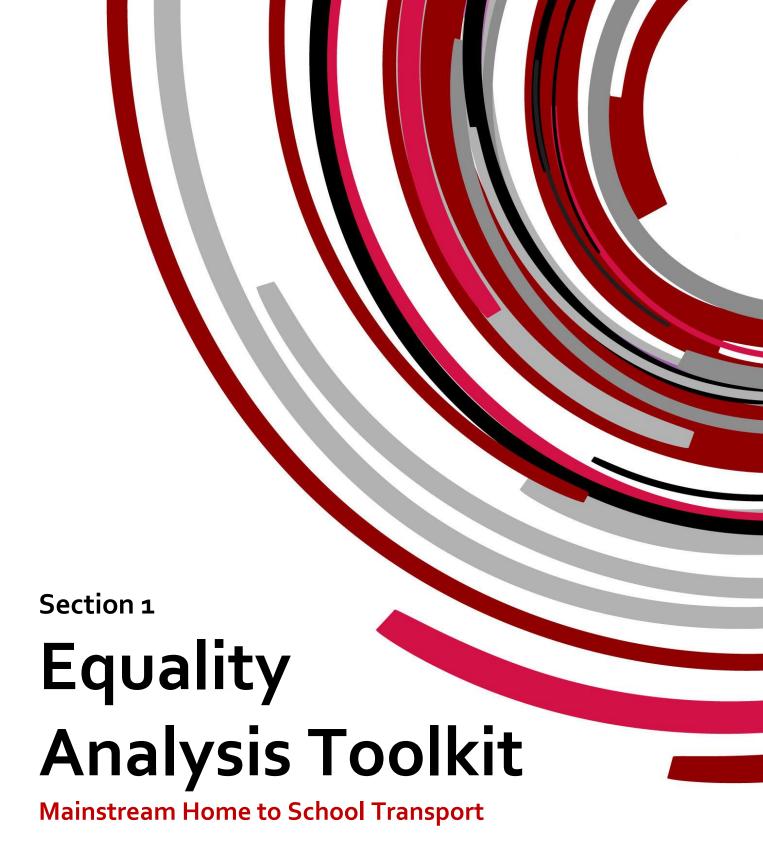

Question 9 – Review and Monitoring Arrangements

Describe what arrangements you will put in place to review and monitor the effects of your proposal.

No changes have been made to the original proposals. This will be reviewed following consideration and recommendations of the SEND Service Offer by the Cabinet Committee in November 2014.

Equality Analysis Prepared By - Sally Riley

Position/Role - Head of Inclusion and Disability Support Servie

November 2014

1) What is the aim of your service?

This should complement the County Council's Corporate Strategy or your Directorate's objectives.

Mainstream Home to School Transport Service Offer

The current aim of the service is to provide assistance with home to mainstream school transport in accordance with statutory requirements and Lancashire County Council policy on discretionary elements.

The option presented is in response to the need to further reduce budgets by 2017/18 and involves the removal of subsidised travel for non-statutory travellers. Non-statutory travellers include:

- pupils who attend a faith school that is not their nearest school and who currently pay a contributory charge (discretionary denominational transport); and
- other pupils not attending their nearest school (or attend a school within statutory walking distances and choose to use school transport) who pay daily fares or purchase a season ticket

Removal of subsidised travel for non-statutory travellers can be done in one of two ways:

- apply full cost recovery across all routes
- reduce vehicle routes and capacities and allow only statutory travellers to travel

The cost reductions required would necessitate an immediate rather than phased implementation.

2) What outcomes do you want to achieve from your service?

To provide an efficient and equitable service for users at least cost to the County Council. This aim has to be set against the impacts on families who may need to change schools to a nearer one if either no alternative means of travel exists or the full cost fares are unaffordable. Note that low income families were protected from the recent fare increases / policy changes in the report to Cabinet Member dated 6 February 2014.

3) How is your service performing?

Write here any information you have collected that shows how your service is performing. See the corporate intranet site at <a href="https://linear.google.com/linear.google.com/linear.google.

4) Who are the people who will benefit from your service?

The answer to this question could be everyone in Lancashire, or it could be everyone within a District of Lancashire e.g. Burnley, or everyone within a ward e.g. Daneshouse etc. Alternatively, the answer could be a particular group of people e.g. young people in Leyland, people with a disability in Frenchwood etc.

Information on Lancashire's population can be found at http://www.lancashire.gov.uk/profile

Children and young people living in Lancashire who live over statutory walking distances from their nearest suitable school* receive free transport to school in accordance with statutory provisions. A range of discretionary transport is also provided and many children and young people pay either:

 the denominational charge to attend the faith school of their choice (which is not the nearest suitable school); or daily or season ticket fares to travel to schools that are either less than statutory walking distances from home or are not their nearest suitable school.

*Nearest suitable school is a school that caters for the appropriate age range with available places. More generous criteria apply for pupils from low income families.

5) How do you monitor the use of your service and which citizens do you monitor? Please ensure you retain information in relation to your monitoring as evidence of it may be required.

We have a legal duty under the Equality Act 2010 to monitor the use of our services by users who share the following protected characteristics:

- age
- disability (including Deaf people)
- gender reassignment/gender identity
- race/ethnicity/nationality
- sex/gender
- pregnancy/maternity
- religion or belief
- sexual orientation
- marriage/civil partnership (in respect of which the s.149 requires only that due regard be paid to the need to eliminate discrimination, harassment or victimisation or other conduct prohibited by the Act)

Monitoring can be done in a variety of ways, to best meet the needs of the service. See the corporate service monitoring form at

lccintranet2/corporate/web/?siteid=5580&pageid=33450&e=e

6) What does your m who is not using you	onitoring information tell you about who is and service?
If you are not currently please say how you w	I develop your monitoring systems to do so.

7) How do you consult, inform, and involve people in developing your service? Please ensure you retain materials relating to your consultation in case evidence of it is required.

There are a range of techniques to involve people in developing your services. They include:

- service user surveys and panels
- service user satisfaction surveys
- focus groups
- community consultation and engagement exercises
- residents' surveys, including the Living in Lancashire survey see

Changes to the Home to Mainstream School Transport policy are consulted upon widely via the Council's Internet pages and via the schools' portal/meeting with Diocesan Boards. In addition, where routes are altered or services are discontinued the individual families are consulted. The service monitors compliments, comments and complaints.

- 8) Which groups of people do you involve in developing your service? Are there any particular groups that you need to target? In considering this question, you should focus first on whether the service has particular relevance to groups of individuals who share the protected characteristics under the Equality Act, namely:
 - age
 - disability (including Deaf people)
 - gender reassignment/gender identity
 - pregnancy or maternity

- race, ethnicity or nationality
- religion or belief
- sex/gender
- sexual orientation
- marriage/civil partnership (in respect of which s.149 requires only that due regard be paid to the need to eliminate discrimination, harassment or victimisation or other conduct prohibited by the Act)

In doing so, where relevant, you should consider any effects on specific groups or sub-groups sharing one or more protected characteristics such as, for example:

- older people
- people of a particular religion or ethnic group
- Gypsy, Roma and Traveller communities
- Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual or Transgender communities
- It may also be appropriate to consider the specific needs of those with non-statutory characteristics, e.g.:
- people living in deprived areas
- people living in rural areas
- Children Looked After
- young people not in education, employment or training (NEET)
- carers
- other groups as appropriate e.g. teenage parents, offenders etc

If there are groups that you need to target, how will you do this?

- 9) If appropriate, how have you involved the following in developing your service? Again, please retain any evidence of this.
 - Voluntary, Community and Faith Sector (VCFS) organisations
 - county councillors
 - parish and town councils see
 lccintranet/corporate/atoz/a_to_z/service.asp?u_id=2339&tab=1
 for more information
 - district ward councillors/district councillors
 - overview and scrutiny committees see
 lccintranet/corporate/atoz/a_to_z/service.asp?u_id=1788&tab=1
 - other statutory agencies e.g. National Health Service, Lancashire Constabulary etc

As above

- 10) Taking into consideration the information you have collected already, are there any potential negative impacts that might affect citizens because of their:
 - age
 - disability including Deaf people
 - race/ethnicitynationality
 - sex/gender
 - gender reassignment/ gender identity
 - religion or belief

- sexual orientation
- pregnancy or maternity status
- marriage or civil partnership status

Or because they are:

- people who have young children
- living in an area of deprivation
- living in a rural area
- Children Looked After
- young people not in education, employment or training (NEET)
- teenage parents
- carers
- others e.g. offenders, people out of work, problem drug users etc.

The negative impacts of the current proposal will be on children and young people; those families whose child(ren) attend particular schools because of their religion / belief (where there are other school(s) are nearer to home); and any other families whose child(ren) do not attend their nearest suitable school and where they rely on non-statutory school transport services. These families can include any from across the protected characteristics.

Please note that the consideration of potential negative effects should be specific and realistic. Potential adverse effects should not be minimised or exaggerated.

Individual cases will need to be considered as part of the review as it is clear that some children and young people will have no other means of getting to school if services are suddenly withdrawn. Likewise, full cost recovery will be unaffordable for some families as in the most costly cases, full cost recovery would entail families paying upwards of £5,000 per child per annum in addition to what they already pay.

11) Does your review indicate that the effect of the policy or decision under review could combine with other policies or decisions of LCC or other public authorities?

The review would overlap with any wider review of LCC transport provision

Could the results of your review combine with other decisions within LCC or elsewhere to affect any of the above groups (i.e. the cumulative effect)?

Are you aware of other local or national decisions which could combine with this decision to particularly disadvantage any specific groups?

No

12) In relation to your service review findings, whether viewed alone or in combination with other factors, are these likely to have adverse effects on groups sharing relevant protected characteristics? If so you must consider how to mitigate such adverse effects.

Please set out any steps you will take to mitigate/reduce any potential adverse effects of your conclusions/proposals on those sharing any relevant protected characteristic. It is important here to do a genuine and realistic evaluation of the likely effectiveness of the mitigation proposed. Over-optimistic and over-generalised assessments are likely to fall short of the due regard requirement.

Also consider if the mitigation might adversely affect any other groups and how this might be managed.

Mitigation factors could include:

- Withdrawal of services only where other services are available;
- Applying full cost recovery capped at a limit deemed to be reasonable; and
- Phasing in all other changes to apply only to new starters (reduction of vehicle capacities/routes and full cost recovery) so that families are fully aware of the implications when applying for school places

If these mitigating factors are applied the savings will be small in the first year and will take five years and above to be fully effective.

13) Think about the potential positive impacts your service could have on certain groups of people, and in particular those sharing protected characteristics. What are they and how might they be developed?

Use this information to think about how your service might improve quality of life and assist in relation to promoting equality.

Will the positive impacts be accompanied by any negative impacts on groups of citizens sharing the protected characteristics? If so, how might these be addressed or balanced?

14) How can your service contribute to the following priority areas:

 Eliminating discrimination, harassment, victimisation or any other unlawful conduct vice be provided by people who treat all comers/service users with dignity and respect?

and fairly?	sment or eligibility criteria be set objectively Will training in some form be available to t these requirements are properly applied?

 Tackling social exclusion and advancing equality of opportunity between persons who share relevant protected characteristics and those who do not share it.

This will involve taking steps to remove or minimise disadvantages suffered by persons who share a relevant protected characteristic and that are connected to that particular characteristic, taking steps to meet the needs of persons who share a relevant protected characteristic that are different from the needs of persons who do not share it, and encouraging persons who share a relevant protected characteristic to participate in public life or in any other activity in which participation by such persons is disproportionately low.

It is important to bear in mind that taking steps to meet the needs of disabled persons which are different from those of persons who do not share that disability include steps to take account of the disabilities in question. This may even include treating some persons more favourably than others in order to allow them to participate in social or public life.

Activities that help improve social inclusion include those that improve the quality of life for people who are disadvantaged or are in danger of poor outcomes in their lives through various circumstances e.g. a lack of money, difficulty in accessing services difficulties accessing premises, and barriers to taking part in relationships and activities that are available to most people in communities etc.

 Improving community cohesion /Fostering Good Relations between persons who share a relevant protected characteristic and those who do not share it

This may include thinking about ways to tackle prejudice and promote understanding between groups of people with protected characteristics and those who do not share those characteristics. Activities that help improve community cohesion include those that bring people from different communities together (e.g. people of different ethnicities, faiths, ages, geographical backgrounds etc); those that empower communities and those that reduce tensions in communities. (See the Community Cohesion website at http://www.lancashire.gov.uk/corporate/web/view.asp?siteid=2966&page id=5956&e=e for more information).

Improving health and wellbeing

Health and wellbeing means that people feel well enough and sufficiently supported to live their lives to the full. Activities that help improve health and wellbeing include those that ensure that basic needs are met, that individuals have a sense of purpose, that they feel able to achieve important personal goals and participate in society.

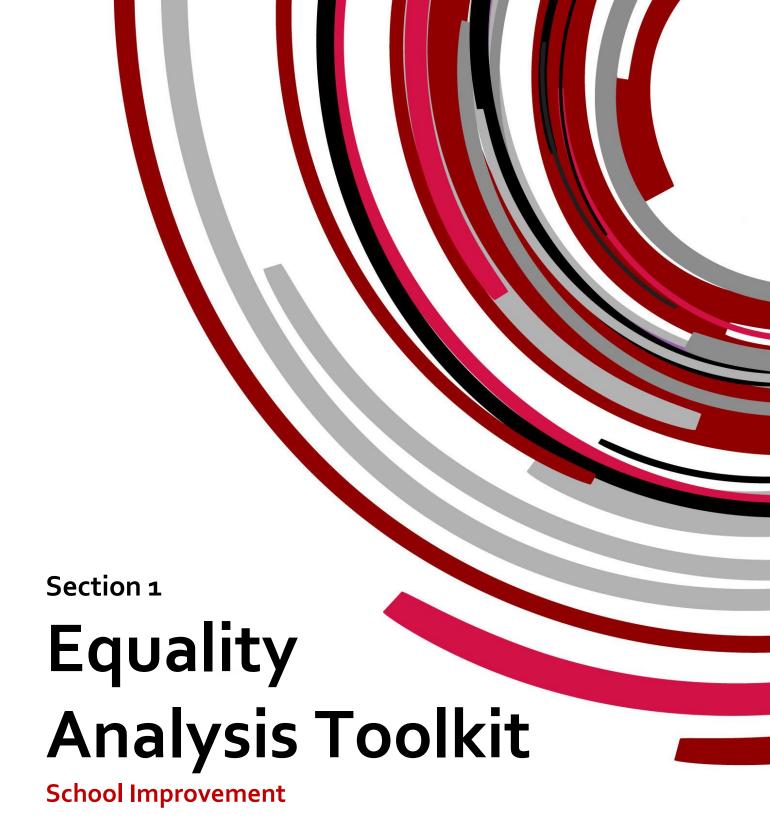

Supporting the county council's role as a corporate parent

The Corporate Parenting Board ensures that Children Looked After have the same opportunities as their peers to a good quality of life. Activities that help support this are those that help improve health and wellbeing outcomes for children and young people who are looked after and those that support them to be prepared for the future. (See Corporate Parenting Board website at

lccintranet2/corporate/web/view.asp?siteid=4183&pageid=17628&e=e
for more information).
15) Taking into consideration all the information you have collected in answering the previous questions, what are the changes/actions you will carry out to tackle any issues you have identified? These may be – no change to the service; adjust the proposal; continue with proposed changes or stop the changes and reconsider.
If going ahead with changes, what are the factors you have balanced – e.g. financial, operational – which you have considered alongside your Analysis findings (countervailing factors).
We will continue to develop our proposals and equality analysis
16) When will you review your actions?
Monitoring should be at least half yearly in line with the business planning performance management cycle.
17) When will you report progress on your actions and who to?
Progress on actions should be reported to relevant county councillors, officers, partnerships and groups etc
18) When will you review your service or service plan?

Children, young people and families across Lancashire

5) How do you monitor the use of your service and which citizens do you monitor? Please ensure you retain information in relation to your monitoring as evidence of it may be required.

We have a legal duty under the Equality Act 2010 to monitor the use of our services by users who share the following protected characteristics:

- age
- disability (including Deaf people)
- gender reassignment/gender identity
- race/ethnicity/nationality
- sex/gender
- pregnancy/maternity
- · religion or belief
- sexual orientation
- marriage/civil partnership (in respect of which the s.149 requires only that due regard be paid to the need to eliminate discrimination, harassment or victimisation or other conduct prohibited by the Act)

Monitoring can be done in a variety of ways, to best meet the needs of the service. See the corporate service monitoring form at lccintranet2/corporate/web/?siteid=5580&pageid=33450&e=e

If you are not currently monitoring across all these characteristics, please say how you will develop your monitoring systems to do so.

We provide universal services which are open to all children and young people and their families and we specifically monitor the performance of groups with the following characteristics

- age
- disability (including Deaf people)
- race/ethnicity/nationality
- sex/gender
- pregnancy/maternity
- religion or belief

6) What does your monitoring information tell you about who is and who is not using your service?

We are a universal service and attendance at schools is compulsory so all families benefit from the services we provide.

7) How do you consult, inform, and involve people in developing your service? Please ensure you retain materials relating to your consultation in case evidence of it is required.

There are a range of techniques to involve people in developing your services. They include:

- service user surveys and panels
- service user satisfaction surveys
- focus groups
- community consultation and engagement exercises
- residents' surveys, including the Living in Lancashire survey see for further advice.

We consult with schools about the services we provide through:

Service quality questionnaires

Directly through Headteacher and governor forums

The CYP Sounding Board

Schools Forum

We also receive feedback on our work from young people through the Pupil Attitude Questionnaire

- 8) Which groups of people do you involve in developing your service? Are there any particular groups that you need to target? In considering this question, you should focus first on whether the service has particular relevance to groups of individuals who share the protected characteristics under the Equality Act, namely:
 - age
 - disability (including Deaf people)
 - gender reassignment/gender identity
 - pregnancy or maternity
 - race, ethnicity or nationality
 - religion or belief
 - sex/gender
 - sexual orientation
 - marriage/civil partnership (in respect of which s.149 requires only that due regard be paid to the need to eliminate discrimination, harassment or victimisation or other conduct prohibited by the Act)

In doing so, where relevant, you should consider any effects on specific groups or sub-groups sharing one or more protected characteristics such as, for example:

- older people
- people of a particular religion or ethnic group
- Gypsy, Roma and Traveller communities
- Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual or Transgender communities
- It may also be appropriate to consider the specific needs of those with non-statutory characteristics, e.g.:
- people living in deprived areas
- people living in rural areas
- Children Looked After
- young people not in education, employment or training (NEET)
- carers
- other groups as appropriate e.g. teenage parents, offenders etc

If there are groups that you need to target, how will you do this?

N/A

We provide services to the schools rather than the young people and families directly

- 9) If appropriate, how have you involved the following in developing your service? Again, please retain any evidence of this.
 - Voluntary, Community and Faith Sector (VCFS) organisations
 - county councillors

- parish and town councils see

- other statutory agencies e.g. National Health Service, Lancashire Constabulary etc

We report to the Education Scrutiny Committee who have reviewed support for disadvantaged pupils and identified areas for development We report to Districts through the CYP Trusts and receive feedback on key priorities for action

10) Taking into consideration the information you have collected already, are there any potential negative impacts that might affect citizens because of their:

- age
- disability including Deaf people
- race/ethnicity/nationality
- sex/gender
- gender reassignment/ gender identity
- religion or belief
- sexual orientation
- pregnancy or maternity status
- marriage or civil partnership status

Or because they are:

- people who have young children
- living in an area of deprivation
- living in a rural area
- Children Looked After
- young people not in education, employment or training (NEET)
- teenage parents
- carers
- others e.g. offenders, people out of work, problem drug users etc.

If we reduce the amount of support for schools serving lower attaining groups of pupils because traded services are not purchased widely this may have an impact on the attainment of some of the groups above including:

Those in an area of deprivation

Those from disadvantaged backgrounds

Those who have English as an additional language

Please note that the consideration of potential negative effects should be specific and realistic. Potential adverse effects should not be minimised or exaggerated.

1) Does your review indicate that the effect of the policy of ecision under review could combine with other policies of ecisions of LCC or other public authorities?

Could the results of your review combine with other decisions within LCC or elsewhere to affect any of the above groups (i.e. the cumulative effect)?

This is possible if services are not purchased.

Are you aware of other local or national decisions which could combine with this decision to particularly disadvantage any specific groups?

No

12) In relation to your service review findings, whether viewed alone or in combination with other factors, are these likely to have adverse effects on groups sharing relevant protected characteristics? If so you must consider how to mitigate such adverse effects.

Please set out any steps you will take to mitigate/reduce any potential adverse effects of your conclusions/proposals on those sharing any relevant protected characteristic. It is important here to do a genuine and realistic evaluation of the likely effectiveness of the mitigation proposed. Over-optimistic and over-generalised assessments are likely to fall short of the due regard requirement.

Also consider if the mitigation might adversely affect any other groups and how this might be managed.

In order to mitigate possible adverse effects of the revised service offer we are:

Engaging schools and the Early Years sector in the development of effective strategies to support vulnerable groups

Providing training which will help to create sustainable support for vulnerable groups

Working with schools and the Early Years sector to create support which they will continue to purchase

Creating resources which can be purchased directly by schools to support vulnerable groups

Establishing self help networks so good practice can be shared in working with vulnerable groups

Closely monitoring the performance of vulnerable groups and challenging providers to meet their needs by using statutory powers

13) Think about the potential positive impacts your service could have on certain groups of people, and in particular those sharing protected characteristics. What are they and how might they be developed?

Use this information to think about how your service might improve quality of life and assist in relation to promoting equality.

Will the positive impacts be accompanied by any negative impacts on groups of citizens sharing the protected characteristics? If so, how might these be addressed or balanced?

We closely monitor the performance of vulnerable groups of children and young people and we will share this information widely so that stakeholders, partners and agencies can target their support more effectively.

14) How can your service contribute to the following priority areas:

 Eliminating discrimination, harassment, victimisation or any other unlawful conduct

Will the service be provided by people who treat all clients/customers/service users with dignity and respect?

Monitoring the impact of provision in schools and Early Years settings on different groups of pupils

Challenging the providers where there are concerns about equality Providing support and training on the promotion of the Equality duty eg in curriculum provision, challenging stereotypes, anti bullying policies

Will assessment or eligibility criteria be set objectively and fairly? Will training in some form be available to ensure that these requirements are properly applied?

Yes if purchased

Support will continue to be available to schools on community cohesion and health and well being on a marketed basis Support for children looked after and those at risk of social exclusion will continue to be provided centrally

15) Taking into consideration all the information you have collected in answering the previous questions, what are the changes/actions you will carry out to tackle any issues you have identified? These may be – no change to the service; adjust the proposal; continue with proposed changes or stop the changes and reconsider.

If going ahead with changes, what are the factors you have balanced – e.g. financial, operational – which you have considered alongside your Analysis findings (countervailing factors).

We have balanced

Statutory duties to monitor and challenge educational provision and provide sufficient high quality early years places

Financial constraints

Operational factors such as what can be marketed to schools/ providers

16) When will you review your actions?

Monitoring should be at least half yearly in line with the business planning performance management cycle.

We will review our offer in September 2016

17) When will you report progress on your actions and who to?

Progress on actions should be reported to relevant county councillors, officers, partnerships and groups etc

We will report to the Director of Children's Services

Residential Services, Fostering and Adoption / Youth Offending

November 2014

1) What is the aim of your service?

This should complement the County Council's Corporate Strategy or your Directorate's objectives.

We are committed to doing everything we can to help and support the children and young people in Lancashire to have a positive future. 2) What outcomes do you want to achieve from your service?

To deliver residential provision for children looked after, including those young people with complex needs, for whom long term residential care is appropriate. The residential provision will include an assessment unit, mainstream units and a complex needs unit.

For the assessment unit and fostering service to maximise the use of approved placements for young people who would otherwise have been placed in residential homes. To recruit, assess and train connected and mainstream foster carers and adopters within current legislation to provide care and permanence where appropriate, to children and young people who are unable to live with their birth families.

To implement a placement strategy that maximises the use of current and new foster care resource. To provide post permanence support from the fostering and adoption services to prevent adoption and fostering breakdowns.

To delivery youth justice services across Lancashire – preventing entry into the system and reducing reoffending.

The overnight break Service provides overnight/short care packages for children with profound learning or physical disabilities but does not look after young people with a medium – profound disability. Lancashire County Council will continue to meet its statutory obligations in respect of providing services for children in need of accommodation.

The adoption service was rated good by Ofsted in 2011, and the fostering service rated as excellent in 2012. Performance on the adoption score card is slowly improving.

4) Who are the people who will benefit from your service?

The answer to this question could be everyone in Lancashire, or it could be everyone within a District of Lancashire e.g. Burnley, or everyone within a ward e.g. Daneshouse etc. Alternatively, the answer could be a particular group of people e.g. young people in Leyland, people with a disability in Frenchwood etc.

Information on Lancashire's population can be found at http://www.lancashire.gov.uk/profile

The main people who will benefit from our service are young people in Lancashire in need of care or interventions. In addition to this our foster carers and residential staff will also benefit from our service by giving them different opportunities, experience and training.

Children looked after

The total number of CLA has increased over recent months. Most, but not all, districts have shown a small increase since the beginning of this year. Approximately 70% of these are in foster care, which equates to approximately 930 children. An outreach service will support the assessment unit to work with families, foster carers and young people to achieve foster care placements, whilst also working with young people and families on the edge of care to remain at home.

The fostering service will work alongside the residential assessment unit to identify and offer foster care placements to those children who need longer term care who would otherwise be placed in residential units.

The fostering and adoption services will be provided through the amalgamation of recruitment and assessment and support functions. This will allow more flexible use of resources across the services to respond to the needs of children, foster carers and adopters. The criteria for accepting applications will be more flexible.

The fostering service will make additional use of tier 3 foster carers in supporting new carers, service developments, specific projects and post adoption support.

Delivering emotional health and wellbeing training to residential practitioners from all ten Lancashire County Council residential homes.

The provision of emotional health and wellbeing interventions with children, young people and carers supported by an appropriate therapeutic intervention which is responsive to the level of identified need.

The overnight short break provision will provide 6-bed new-build home/s.

In the Central/South area this first new build is under construction and will help facilitate a review of all provision across the county based on a further reduction of need.

Overnight short break provision will be offered to other Local Authorities on a full cost recovery basis.

There will be no change to the delivery of youth justice services.

5) How do you monitor the use of your service and which citizens do you monitor? Please ensure you retain information in relation to your monitoring as evidence of it may be required.

We have a legal duty under the Equality Act 2010 to monitor the use of our services by users who share the following protected characteristics:

- age
- disability (including Deaf people)
- gender reassignment/gender identity
- race/ethnicity/nationality
- sex/gender
- pregnancy/maternity
- religion or belief
- sexual orientation
- marriage/civil partnership (in respect of which the s.149 requires only that due regard be paid to the need to eliminate discrimination, harassment or victimisation or other conduct prohibited by the Act)

Monitoring can be done in a variety of ways, to best meet the needs of the service. See the corporate service monitoring form at lccintranet2/corporate/web/?siteid=5580&pageid=33450&e=e

If you are not currently monitoring across all these characteristics, please say how you will develop your monitoring systems to do so.

The Service will continue to consult with local stakeholders when determining the development of provision. It will work in partnership with all those affected and ensure that any impact is minimal.

The fostering, adoption and residential service will continue to review and monitor the use of the service through statistical data and will make any judgements as a part of ongoing business planning. However it is clear that service users are motivated and coordinated, when considering change to overnight break services it is acknowledged that considerable resistance may lead to incidents of disharmony.

We monitor foster carer's information all on one spreadsheet that is regularly updated when necessary. Columns on this spreadsheet include: ethnicity, religion, date of birth, relationship, gender etc.

The spreadsheet is used to collate statistics on a monthly basis and for other ad hoc research projects such as looking at the number of black minority ethnic (BME) carers and same sex couple carers in Lancashire.

6) What does your monitoring information tell you about who is and who is not using your service?

The monitoring information tells us that this proposal will impact on services to Preston, Leyland and Chorley residents who currently or potentially will, access the residential short break service for children and young people with disabilities. This is the first phase of a county wide restructure of the service and additional Cabinets reports will be presented to implement the restructure in other areas. The new service offer will match current need, in terms of nights available, as the new unit/s will be operational for 364 nights per year. Existing units are closed for a significant number of nights. The provision will meet the needs of all young people with disabilities, assessed as eligible and requiring overnight breaks, even those with the most complex needs. Currently not all units can meet the needs of all young people due to building restrictions. Young people in other parts of the county with complex needs are currently served by units in their areas but the new build could be accessed by any young person in Lancashire, if it is assessed that a local unit could not meet their need.

Foster placements are required for young people across Lancashire. Likewise

7) How do you consult, inform, and involve people in developing your service? Please ensure you retain materials relating to your consultation in case evidence of it is required.

There are a range of techniques to involve people in developing your services. They include:

- service user surveys and panels
- service user satisfaction surveys
- focus groups
- community consultation and engagement exercises
- residents' surveys, including the Living in Lancashire survey see http://lccintranet2/corporate/web/?siteid=2660&pageid=3543&e=e
 for more information.
- discussion with front line employees
- complaints, compliments, and comments
- Customer Focus Consultancy see lccintranet2/corporate/web/?siteid=5196&pageid=27362 for more information
- Joint Strategic Needs Assessment (JSNA) see
 http://www.lancashire.gov.uk/jsna for more information
- mystery shopping
- talking to voluntary, community, and faith sector (VCFS) organisations that represent different groups of people

 feedback from district and sub district groups i.e. Local Strategic Partnerships, Area Forums, Area Committees, Neighbourhood Management Boards, Parish and Town Council meetings, Police and Community Together (PACT) meetings etc.

See the Neighbourhood Engagement Intranet site at lccintranet2/corporate/web/view.asp?siteid=3949&pageid=21780&e=e for further advice.

Consultation:

All staff working within the service and other partners will be invited to consultation events to give their views on any suggested changes.

Finally, all young people have been encouraged to participate in the consultation process. Their views are paramount in shaping the service to the needs of young people.

- 8) Which groups of people do you involve in developing your service? Are there any particular groups that you need to target? In considering this question, you should focus first on whether the service has particular relevance to groups of individuals who share the protected characteristics under the Equality Act, namely:
 - age
 - disability (including Deaf people)
 - gender reassignment/gender identity
 - pregnancy or maternity
 - race, ethnicity or nationality
 - religion or belief
 - sex/gender

- sexual orientation
- marriage/civil partnership (in respect of which s.149 requires only that due regard be paid to the need to eliminate discrimination, harassment or victimisation or other conduct prohibited by the Act)

In doing so, where relevant, you should consider any effects on specific groups or sub-groups sharing one or more protected characteristics such as, for example:

- older people
- people of a particular religion or ethnic group
- Gypsy, Roma and Traveller communities
- Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual or Transgender communities
- It may also be appropriate to consider the specific needs of those with non-statutory characteristics, e.g.:
- people living in deprived areas
- people living in rural areas
- Children Looked After
- young people not in education, employment or training (NEET)
- carers
- other groups as appropriate e.g. teenage parents, offenders etc

If there are groups that you need to target, how will you do this?

The Children in Care Council (CiCC) is a group for children and young people looked after by Lancashire. It is designed to give the children the opportunity to have a voice and influence over the decisions made for them. It also provides them with the opportunity to get involved and help make a difference.

The fostering forum is a regular meeting that includes foster carer representatives and county councillors. The representatives take any questions they have from the foster carers under their remit and get information to feedback from them. It is also a time where information about the service is passed to them to fill in the other carers. It is useful as it is a direct route to county councillors on a regular basis and gives foster carers direct responsibility and involvement.

Lancashire Parent Carer forum operates on a three monthly basis and will be updated and consulted with as part of the new service offer.

The corporate parenting board will also be consulted on the above.

9) If appropriate, how have you involved the following in developing your service? Again, please retain any evidence of this.

- Voluntary, Community and Faith Sector (VCFS) organisations
- county councillors
- parish and town councils see
 lccintranet/corporate/atoz/a_to_z/service.asp?u_id=2339&tab=1
 for more information
- district ward councillors/district councillors
- overview and scrutiny committees see
 lccintranet/corporate/atoz/a_to_z/service.asp?u_id=1788&tab=1
- other statutory agencies e.g. National Health Service, Lancashire Constabulary etc

Not considered at this point.

10) Taking into consideration the information you have collected already, are there any potential negative impacts that might affect citizens because of their:

- age
- disability including Deaf people

- race/ethnicity/nationality
- sex/gender
- gender reassignment/ gender identity
- religion or belief
- sexual orientation
- pregnancy or maternity status
- marriage or civil partnership status

Or because they are:

- people who have young children
- living in an area of deprivation
- living in a rural area
- Children Looked After
- young people not in education, employment or training (NEET)
- teenage parents
- carers
- others e.g. offenders, people out of work, problem drug users etc.

There is the potential for negative impact on those families living in rural areas accessing one unit for Residential overnight breaks. This would be dependent on the location of any further new builds.

Please note that the consideration of potential negative effects should be specific and realistic. Potential adverse effects should not be minimised or exaggerated.

11) Does your review indicate that the effect of the policy or decision under review could combine with other policies or decisions of LCC or other public authorities?

V ^ ^
res
100

Could the results of your review combine with other decisions within LCC or elsewhere to affect any of the above groups (i.e. the cumulative effect)?

Are you aware of other local or national decisions which could combine with this decision to particularly disadvantage any specific groups?

No

12) In relation to your service review findings, whether viewed alone or in combination with other factors, are these likely to have adverse effects on groups sharing relevant protected characteristics? If so you must consider how to mitigate such adverse effects.

Please set out any steps you will take to mitigate/reduce any potential adverse effects of your conclusions/proposals on those sharing any relevant protected characteristic. It is important here to do a genuine and realistic evaluation of the likely effectiveness of the mitigation proposed. Over-optimistic and over-generalised assessments are likely to fall short of the due regard requirement.

Also consider if the mitigation might adversely affect any other groups and how this might be managed.

Clearly, when some provision is modified this usually means that a particular area or group will receive a different service. However, it is believed that the clear and fair basis on which these proposals have been developed together with widespread consultation should minimise the chances of any disharmony.

13) Think about the potential positive impacts your service could have on certain groups of people, and in particular those sharing protected characteristics. What are they and how might they be developed?

Use this information to think about how your service might improve quality of life and assist in relation to promoting equality.

Will the positive impacts be accompanied by any negative impacts on groups of citizens sharing the protected characteristics? If so, how might these be addressed or balanced?

The proposals aim is to Improve the emotional health and well-being of Lancashire's children who are looked after/ adopted and whom Lancashire has a responsibility Increase the understanding about emotional health and well-being issues for children and young people who are looked after/ adopted amongst all those working within the professional and carer network. To maintain a professional training programme for foster carers, adopters and staff to ensure the services are equipped to deliver quality care to children and young people.

14) How can your service contribute to the following priority areas:

 Eliminating discrimination, harassment, victimisation or any other unlawful conduct Will the service be provided by people who treat all clients/customers/service users with dignity and respect?

Yes

Will assessment or eligibility criteria be set objectively and fairly? Will training in some form be available to ensure that these requirements are properly applied?

Yes

 Tackling social exclusion and advancing equality of opportunity between persons who share relevant protected characteristics and those who do not share it.

This will involve taking steps to remove or minimise disadvantages suffered by persons who share a relevant protected characteristic and that are connected to that particular characteristic, taking steps to meet the needs of persons who share a relevant protected characteristic that are different from the needs of persons who do not share it, and encouraging persons who share a relevant protected characteristic to participate in public life or in any other activity in which participation by such persons is disproportionately low.

It is important to bear in mind that taking steps to meet the needs of disabled persons which are different from those of persons who do not share that disability include steps to take account of the disabilities in question. This may even include treating some persons more favourably than others in order to allow them to participate in social or public life.

Activities that help improve social inclusion include those that improve the quality of life for people who are disadvantaged or are in danger of poor outcomes in their lives through various circumstances e.g. a lack of money, difficulty in accessing services difficulties accessing premises, and barriers to taking part in relationships and activities that are available to most people in communities etc.

 Improving community cohesion /Fostering Good Relations between persons who share a relevant protected characteristic and those who do not share it

This may include thinking about ways to tackle prejudice and promote understanding between groups of people with protected characteristics and those who do not share those characteristics. Activities that help improve community cohesion include those that bring people from different communities together (e.g. people of different ethnicities, faiths, ages, geographical backgrounds etc); those that empower communities and those that reduce tensions in communities. (See the Community Cohesion website at http://www.lancashire.gov.uk/corporate/web/view.asp?siteid=2966&page id=5956&e=e for more information).

Improving health and wellbeing

Health and wellbeing means that people feel well enough and sufficiently supported to live their lives to the full. Activities that help improve health and wellbeing include those that ensure that basic needs are met, that individuals have a sense of purpose, that they feel able to achieve important personal goals and participate in society.

Supporting the county council's role as a corporate parent

The Corporate Parenting Board ensures that Children Looked After have the same opportunities as their peers to a good quality of life. Activities that help support this are those that help improve health and wellbeing outcomes for children and young people who are looked after and those that support them to be prepared for the future. (See Corporate Parenting Board website at lccintranet2/corporate/web/view.asp?siteid=4183&pageid=17628&e=e for more information).

15) Taking into consideration all the information you have collected in answering the previous questions, what are the changes/actions you will carry out to tackle any issues you have identified? These may be – no change to the service; adjust the proposal; continue with proposed changes or stop the changes and reconsider.

If going ahead with changes, what are the factors you have balanced – e.g. financial, operational – which you have considered alongside your Analysis findings (countervailing factors).

Adjust the proposal.

16) When will you review your actions?

Monitoring should be at least half yearly in line with the business planning performance management cycle.

As appropriate

17) When will you report progress on your actions and who to?

Progress on actions should be reported to relevant county councillors, officers, partnerships and groups etc

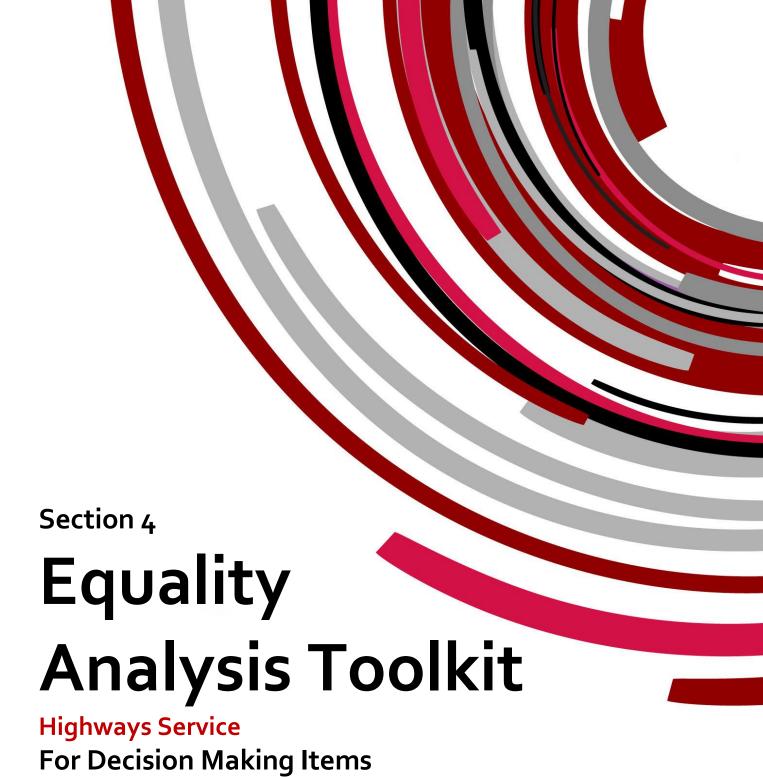

As and when required to Head of service.

18) When will you review your service or service plan?

As required there will be ongoing monitoring in place.

Name/Nature of the Decision

Highways – Service offer

Highways Service offer – taking into account the revised funding envelope available in the years 2015/16 to 2017/18 inclusive.

What in summary is the proposal being considered?

Overall the Highway service offer is providing a reduced level of service which in the main relates to reduced levels of maintenance, this will be achieved through prioritising where and how resources are utilised.

Road & Street Maintenance

A reduction in the level of highway maintenance that will be provided, with a reduction in the level of defects repaired, the point at which we will attend to a footway defect, known as the "intervention level", will increase.

Prioritising the maintenance of road traffic signs and lines associated with enforceable restrictions.

Service requests for the introduction of parking restrictions will be prioritised with a focus on casualty reduction, with strategic traffic management, economic growth and significant environmental improvement being considered where resources allow.

The use of external contractors will reduce as a result of less work resulting in a greater percentage being delivered through the in house team.

Street Lighting

An increase in the number of LED lighting units and where this is not possible the dimming of existing lighting units will be extended to operate at 50% light level during all the hours of darkness, rather than between specified hours as at present.

Drainage & Flood Prevention

A reduction in the level of proactive work undertaken into flood investigations/standing water on the highway and the identification of flood assets, together with a more targeted cyclic maintenance visit to gullies, some of which may be visited less frequently. The development of potential flood alleviation schemes may reduce.

Keep Traffic Moving

A reduction by agreement with the local planning authority on the level of service provided in terms of our highway consultation response for planning applications.

Parking Services

A reduction in the level of enforcement hours available will result in more targeted enforcement, meaning that rural and some urban areas will receive little or no enforcement.

Traffic Signals

Prioritising the maintenance of traffic signals where safety or major delay risks are most acute.

Priorities Contingency

Removal of funding for minor highway and traffic improvements which cannot be prioritised from within other budgets.

Stakeholder Engagement

There will be less capacity within services to undertake liaison with key stakeholders due to reduced management resource and the introduction of new systems. There will be limited capacity to engage direct with Members in the way that they currently enjoy.

The target response time to contacts will be increased to 20 working days

Is the decision likely to affect people across the county in a similar way or are specific areas likely to be affected – e.g. are a set number of branches/sites to be affected? If so you will need to consider whether there are equality related issues associated with the locations selected – e.g. greater percentage of BME residents in a particular area where a closure is proposed as opposed to an area where a facility is remaining open.

The service reductions in the main are likely to affect people across the county in a similar way, however the following service area reductions and or focused delivery may have more of an affect in rural areas:

Enforcement of parking restrictions – this is as a result of less enforcement in the rural areas.

Cyclic gully maintenance and proactive flood investigations, given the topography in rural areas it is likely that the service will be more focused in these areas.

However at this early stage in the development of the analysis it is difficult to fully quantify and understand the impacts and further work will be required.

Could the decision have a particular impact on any group of individuals sharing protected characteristics under the Equality Act 2010, namely:

- Age
- Disability including Deaf people
- Gender reassignment
- Pregnancy and maternity
- Race/ethnicity/nationality
- Religion or belief
- Sex/gender
- Sexual orientation
- Marriage or Civil Partnership Status

In considering this question you should identify and record any particular impact on people in a sub-group of any of the above – e.g. people with a particular disability or from a particular religious or ethnic group.

It is particularly important to consider whether any decision is likely to impact adversely on any group of people sharing protected characteristics to a disproportionate extent. Any such disproportionate impact will need to be objectively justified.

It is likely that the decision to reduce highway maintenance levels in relation to defect repairs, and to extend further the hours of streetlighting dimming where LED's cannot be fitted, will impact individuals sharing protected characteristics – see Q1

What information do you have about the different groups of people who may be affected by this decision – e.g. employees or service users

(you could use monitoring data, survey data, etc to compile this). As indicated above, the relevant protected characteristics are:

- Age
- Disability including Deaf people
- Gender reassignment/gender identity
- Pregnancy and maternity
- Race/Ethnicity/Nationality
- Religion or belief
- Sex/gender
- Sexual orientation
- Marriage or Civil Partnership status (in respect of which the s. 149 requires only that due regard be paid to the need to eliminate discrimination, harassment or victimisation or other conduct which is prohibited by the Act).

In considering this question you should again consider whether the decision under consideration could impact upon specific subgroups e.g. people of a specific religion or people with a particular disability. You should also consider how the decision is likely to affect those who share two or more of the protected characteristics – for example, older women, disabled, elderly people, and so on.

The service doesn't have specific information surrounding the groups with protected characteristics as the service is provided across the county in a universal way

The reduced highway maintenance levels in relation to defect repairs might particularly impact on those with a disability or the elderly, as their ability to identify a defect in the highway that they may subsequently fail to avoid or navigate around may be reduced.

The further reductions in lighting levels might particularly impact the following protected characteristics:-

Age, disability, gender, race/ethnicity/nationality, sexual orientation and gender identity as they are more likely to be the victims of crime including hate crimes and have a greater concern surrounding the fear of crime.

Question 2 – Engagement/Consultation

How have you tried to involve people/groups that are potentially affected by your decision? Please describe what engagement has taken place, with whom and when.

(Please ensure that you retain evidence of the consultation in case of any further enquiries. This includes the results of consultation or data gathering at any stage of the process)

At this stage views have not been sought, however should the proposals progress then wider consultation will be undertaken to understand the impact.

Question 3 – Analysing Impact

Could your proposal potentially disadvantage particular groups sharing any of the protected characteristics and if so which groups and in what way?

It is particularly important in considering this question to get to grips with the actual practical impact on those affected. The decision-makers need to know in clear and specific terms what the impact may be and how serious, or perhaps minor, it may be – will people need to walk a few metres further to catch a bus, or to attend school? Will they be cut off altogether from vital services? The answers to such questions must be fully and frankly documented, for better or for worse, so that they can be properly evaluated when the decision is made.

Could your proposal potentially impact on individuals sharing the protected characteristics in any of the following ways:

 Could it discriminate unlawfully against individuals sharing any of the protected characteristics, whether directly or indirectly; if so, it must be amended. Bear in mind that this may involve taking steps to meet the specific needs of disabled people arising from their disabilities

- Could it advance equality of opportunity for those who share a particular protected characteristic? If not could it be developed or modified in order to do so?
- Does it encourage persons who share a relevant protected characteristic to participate in public life or in any activity in which participation by such persons is disproportionately low? If not could it be developed or modified in order to do so?

In relation to further extending the hours of dimming where LED's have not been introduced, the impact against the specific groups is indicated below:-

Age – Vision deteriorates with age, consequently older people are more likely to be involved in traffic incidents, crime or fear of crime than other groups as a result of these changes. Possibly young people may be adversely affected too as they are more likely to be out during hours when lighting is reduced and are more often the victims of street crime.

Disability including Deaf people – People with poor vision and people who rely more on their own or on other peoples vision to keep them safe on the highway (such as deaf people) are more likely to be impacted by these decisions than other groups. In addition people with 'Low Luminance Myopia' (LLM) resulting in poor night vision are more greatly impacted by these decisions. LLM is suffered by between 10% and 50% of the population depending on the severity being measured. People with other disabilities may also feel more vulnerable due to reduced street lighting as disabled people fear and are victims of hate crimes and other incidents.

Groups that are more concerned about crime and fear of crime are likely to be impacted greater by these decisions there is particular concern amongst Women, LGBT people and some race/ethnicity/nationality groups about the potential personal safety consequences of reductions in street lighting.

In relation to highway defects it is likely that the following specific groups will affected:-

Age - agility deteriorates with age as does vision and older people may be less able to avoid the defects in the highway.

Disability -people with disabilities of varying natures may be impacted as a result of the change in highway defect repairs – e.g. due to mobility or balance difficulties or sight loss.

Question 4 - Combined/Cumulative Effect

Could the effects of your decision combine with other factors or decisions taken at local or national level to exacerbate the impact on any groups?

For example - if the proposal is to impose charges for adult social care, its impact on disabled people might be increased by other decisions within the County Council (e.g. increases in the fares charged for Community Transport and reductions in respite care) and national proposals (e.g. the availability of some benefits). Whilst LCC cannot control some of these decisions, they could increase the adverse effect of the proposal. The LCC has a legal duty to consider this aspect, and to evaluate the decision, including mitigation, accordingly.

If Yes – please identify these.

If evening bus services are reduced then we might see an increase in pedestrian activity during the evenings when light levels will be lower, alternatively this may reduce the number of people leaving their homes and could result in isolation particularly for the older people and females, although other groups could be similarly affected.

The reduction in highway maintenance and reduced lighting levels could lead to an increase in "tripping claims", however the revised intervention level for defects will be in line with many other local highway authorities, and in line with case law established over several years.

Question 5 - Identifying Initial Results of Your Analysis

As a result of your analysis have you changed/amended your original proposal?

Please identify how –

For example:

Adjusted the original proposal – briefly outline the adjustments

Continuing with the Original Proposal – briefly explain why

Stopped the Proposal and Revised it - briefly explain

Analysis stage not yet undertaken, further work will be required in this if the proposals progress.

Question 6 - Mitigation

Please set out any steps you will take to mitigate/reduce any potential adverse effects of your decision on those sharing any particular protected characteristic. It is important here to do a genuine and realistic evaluation of the effectiveness of the mitigation contemplated. Over-optimistic and over-generalised assessments are likely to fall short of the "due regard" requirement.

Also consider if any mitigation might adversely affect any other groups and how this might be managed.

It is likely that any mitigation will arise following the analysis and consultation that has yet to be undertaken.

Question 7 - Balancing the Proposal/Countervailing Factors

At this point you need to weigh up the reasons for the proposal – e.g. need for budget savings; damaging effects of not taking forward the proposal at this time – against the findings of your analysis. Please describe this assessment. It is important here to ensure that the assessment of any negative effects upon those sharing protected characteristics is full and frank. The full extent of actual adverse impacts must be acknowledged and taken into account, or the assessment will be inadequate. What is required is an honest evaluation, and not a marketing exercise. Conversely, while adverse effects should be frankly acknowledged, they need not be overstated or exaggerated. Where effects are not serious, this too should be made clear.

To be developed further informed by analysis and consultation

Question 8 – Final Proposal

In summary, what is your final proposal and which groups may be affected and how?

At this stage the proposal is as documented in the service offer.

Question 9 – Review and Monitoring Arrangements

Describe what arrangements you will put in place to review and monitor the effects of your proposal.

The service will need to develop the review and monitoring arrangements as it moves forward.

Equality Analysis Prepared By Shaun Capper/Rick Hayton/Sue Procter Position/Role ADs Highways service

November 2014

Name/Nature of the Decision

Sustainable Travel Service Offer

- To withdraw the business travel planning service.
- There will be no provision for business engagement (travel planning) apart from work that would be required as part of a planning permission, in which case it would be a condition that the work will be carried out by the applicant and where external government funding is available, the costs of the service will be covered by the external funding.
- There will be less capacity within the new service area to undertake monitoring of S106 monies for business travel planning will be undertaken

What in summary is the proposal being considered?

- Advice, support and provision to businesses and organisations for travel planning, where S106 or external government funding is not provided, will cease.
- There will be less capacity within the new service area to undertake monitoring of S106 monies for business travel planning

Is the decision likely to affect people across the county in a similar way or are specific areas likely to be affected – e.g. are a set number of branches/sites to be affected? If so you will need to consider whether there are equality related issues associated with the locations selected – e.g. greater percentage of BME residents in a particular area where a closure is proposed as opposed to an area where a facility is remaining open.

Those affected by this decision are service users, employers and their employees. As there is currently no similar proposal to discontinue support to schools with the development and implementation of travel plans, this decision could be seen as unduly impacting on post 16 year olds. The decision will affect people across the County in a similar way but will not specifically or unduly impact on any specific group with protected characteristics other than those of employment age.

The proposal is likely to impact on all road users, as the removal of this network management tool could increase congestion, with associated negative air quality and economic consequences. A failure to continue to promote active travel, contained within business travel plans, may lead to population level health issues, with an increased rate of prevalence of heart disease, type II diabetes, obesity and cancer at some stage in the future.

Could the decision have a particular impact on any group of individuals sharing protected characteristics under the Equality Act 2010, namely:

- Age
- Disability including Deaf people
- Gender reassignment
- Pregnancy and maternity
- Race/ethnicity/nationality
- Religion or belief
- Sex/gender
- Sexual orientation
- Marriage or Civil Partnership Status

In considering this question you should identify and record any particular impact on people in a sub-group of any of the above – e.g. people with a particular disability or from a particular religious or ethnic group.

It is particularly important to consider whether any decision is likely to impact adversely on any group of people sharing protected characteristics to a disproportionate extent. Any such disproportionate impact will need to be objectively justified.

No. The impact of withdrawl would be across all protected characteristics and would not be serious or disproportionately adverse on those sharing protected characteristics.

f you have answered "Yes" to this question in relation to any of the above characteristics, – please go to Question 1.

If you have answered "No" in relation to all the protected characteristics, please briefly document your reasons below and attach this to the decision-making papers. (It goes without saying that if the lack of impact is obvious, it need only be very briefly noted.)

The withdrawl of support to businesses and organsiations will not disadvantage particular groups or discriminate unlawfully against any individuals or groups.

Question 1 - Background Evidence

What information do you have about the different groups of people who may be affected by this decision – e.g. employees or service users (you could use monitoring data, survey data, etc to compile this). As indicated above, the relevant protected characteristics are:

- Age
- Disability including Deaf people
- Gender reassignment/gender identity
- Pregnancy and maternity
- Race/Ethnicity/Nationality
- Religion or belief
- Sex/gender
- Sexual orientation
- Marriage or Civil Partnership status (in respect of which the s. 149 requires only that due regard be paid to the need to eliminate discrimination, harassment or victimisation or other conduct which is prohibited by the Act).

In considering this question you should again consider whether the decision under consideration could impact upon specific subgroups e.g. people of a specific religion or people with a particular disability. You should also consider how the decision is likely to affect those who share two or more of the protected characteristics – for example, older women, disabled, elderly people, and so on.

We have some information about service users from some initiatives eg Lancashire Cycle Challenge, Sharedwheels website. This would identify age and gender. Spreads of age are fairly even (no under 16s) and gender is evenly split.

Question 2 - Engagement/Consultation

How have you tried to involve people/groups that are potentially affected by your decision? Please describe what engagement has taken place, with whom and when.

(Please ensure that you retain evidence of the consultation in case of any further enquiries. This includes the results of consultation or data gathering at any stage of the process)

At this stage, views have not been sought but should the proposals progress then wider consultation will be undertaken to develop a fuller understanding of the impacts.

Question 3 – Analysing Impact

Could your proposal potentially disadvantage particular groups sharing any of the protected characteristics and if so which groups and in what way?

It is particularly important in considering this question to get to grips with the actual practical impact on those affected. The decision-makers need to know in clear and specific terms what the impact may be and how serious, or perhaps minor, it may be – will people need to walk a few metres further to catch a bus, or to attend school? Will they be cut off altogether from vital services? The answers to such questions must be fully and frankly documented, for better or for worse, so that they can be properly evaluated when the decision is made.

Could your proposal potentially impact on individuals sharing the protected characteristics in any of the following ways:

- Could it discriminate unlawfully against individuals sharing any of the protected characteristics, whether directly or indirectly; if so, it must be amended. Bear in mind that this may involve taking steps to meet the specific needs of disabled people arising from their disabilities
- Could it advance equality of opportunity for those who share a particular protected characteristic? If not could it be developed or modified in order to do so?
- Does it encourage persons who share a relevant protected characteristic to participate in public life or in any activity in which participation by such persons is disproportionately low? If not could it be developed or modified in order to do so?

 Will the proposal contribute to fostering good relations between those who share a relevant protected characteristic and those who do not, for example by tackling prejudice and promoting understanding? If not could it be developed or modified in order to do so? Please identify any findings and how they might be addressed.

The withdrawl of support to businesses and organsiations will not disadvantage particular groups or discriminate unlawfully against any individuals or groups.

Question 4 –Combined/Cumulative Effect

Could the effects of your decision combine with other factors or decisions taken at local or national level to exacerbate the impact on any groups?

For example - if the proposal is to impose charges for adult social care, its impact on disabled people might be increased by other decisions within the County Council (e.g. increases in the fares charged for Community Transport and reductions in respite care) and national proposals (e.g. the availability of some benefits). Whilst LCC cannot control some of these decisions, they could increase the adverse effect of the proposal. The LCC has a legal duty to consider this aspect, and to evaluate the decision, including mitigation, accordingly.

If Yes – please identify these.

The proposed withdrawal of all subsidised bus services is likely to exacerbate the impact of this proposal.

Question 5 – Identifying Initial Results of Your Analysis

As a result of your analysis have you changed/amended your original proposal?

Please identify how -

For example:

Adjusted the original proposal – briefly outline the adjustments

Continuing with the Original Proposal – briefly explain why

Stopped the Proposal and Revised it - briefly explain

Analysis stage has not yet been undertaken and further work will be required if the proposals progress.

Question 6 - Mitigation

Please set out any steps you will take to mitigate/reduce any potential adverse effects of your decision on those sharing any particular protected characteristic. It is important here to do a genuine and realistic evaluation of the effectiveness of the mitigation contemplated. Over-optimistic and over-generalised assessments are likely to fall short of the "due regard" requirement.

Also consider if any mitigation might adversely affect any other groups and how this might be managed.

No negative impacts on any particular protected characteristic were identified, so it is likely that no mitigation measures will be required.

Question 7 - Balancing the Proposal/Countervailing Factors

At this point you need to weigh up the reasons for the proposal – e.g. need for budget savings; damaging effects of not taking forward the proposal at this time – against the findings of your analysis. Please describe this assessment. It is important here to ensure that the assessment of any negative effects upon those sharing protected characteristics is full and frank. The full extent of actual adverse impacts must be acknowledged and taken into account, or the assessment will be inadequate. What is required is an honest evaluation, and not a marketing exercise. Conversely, while adverse effects should be frankly acknowledged, they need not be overstated or exaggerated. Where effects are not serious, this too should be made clear.

Budget reductions have to be achieved and LCC is required to find £300m in budget savings over the period 2014- 2018 and these proposals will contribute to this reduction.

Question 8 - Final Proposal

In summary, what is your final proposal and which groups may be affected and how?

At this stage, the proposal is set out as above.

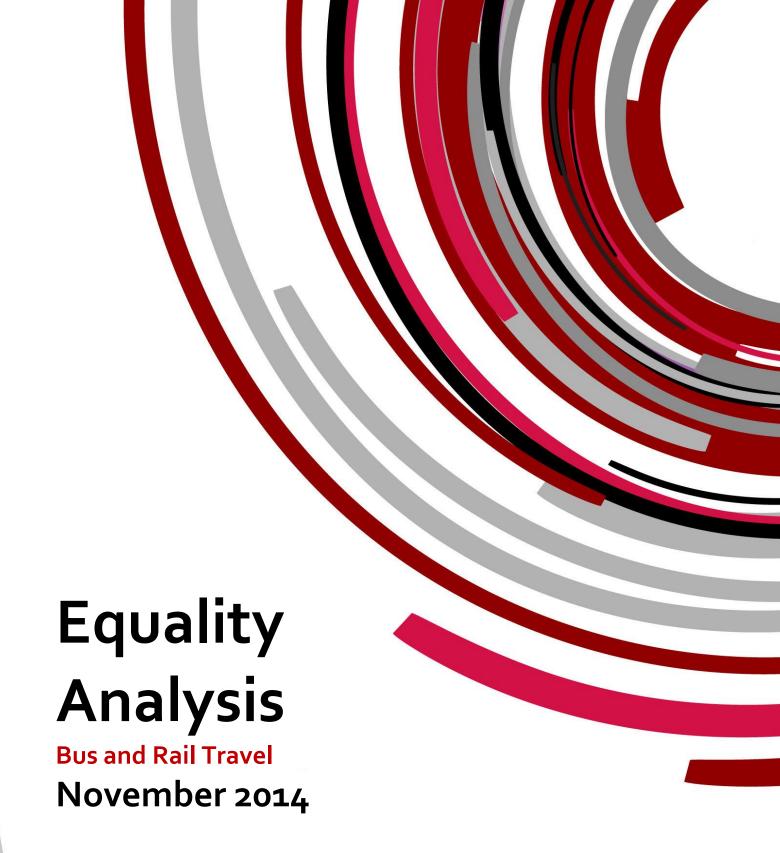

Question 9 – Review and Monitoring Arrangements

Describe what arrangements you will put in place to review and monitor the effects of your proposal.

The new service area will need to develop appropriate review and monitoring arrangements as it moves forward.

Equality Analysis Prepared By Tony Moreton

Position/Role Assistant Director, Sustainable Transport

Nature of the Decision

Bus and Rail Travel Service Offer

To withdraw all funding for Lancashire County Council subsidised bus services operating throughout the County and the closure of County Information Centres at Burscough Interchange and Burnley Bus Station.

What in summary is the proposal being considered?

Subsidised Bus Services

The proposal to be considered involves the withdrawal of all subsidies in relation to the operation of bus services provided by the County Council. The services affected will include rural, daytime, Preston Park and Ride, evening and Sunday bus services. Subsidised bus services are provided where there are no commercial services so in the majority of cases, there will be no alternative bus services. This will result in the withdrawal of approximately 94 contracts consisting of approximately 142 individual bus services. The subsidised network accounts for approximately 20% of bus services in Lancashire and carries 6 million passengers per annum and operates 6.5 million miles per annum. The remainder of the network is operated by commercial bus services and caters for 47 million passenger journeys per year.

County Information Centres

A reduction in the number of County Information Centres that we have in the County. The service offer proposes the closure of County Information Centres at Burscough Interchange and Burnley Bus Station.

County Information Centres will remain at Nelson Interchange, Clitheroe Interchange, Preston Bus Station and Carnforth Railway Station. Is the decision likely to affect people across the county in a similar way or are specific areas likely to be affected – e.g. are a set number of branches/sites to be affected? If so you will need to consider whether there are equality related issues associated with the locations selected – e.g. greater percentage of BME residents in a particular area where a closure is proposed as opposed to an area where a facility is remaining open.

The proposed bus service reductions are likely to affect people across the County in a similar way, in that the proposal is to withdraw subsidised bus services in all areas.

There will be a significant number of areas in the County which will have no alternative local bus services and these are listed below:

A significant number of bus service links between different towns will also be removed.

Twelve weeks notice of termination will need to be given to operators and the proposals will require comprehensive consultation in order to ensure that equality impact issues are addressed and to reduce the likelihood of any legal challenge to the proposals.

The proposed closure of County Information Centres at Burnley and Burscough is likely to affect in the main, those people who live in the vicinity although it will also impact on visitors who live elsewhere.

Could the decision have a particular impact on any group of individuals sharing protected characteristics under the Equality Act 2010, namely:

- Age
- Disability including Deaf people
- Gender reassignment
- Pregnancy and maternity
- Race/ethnicity/nationality
- Religion or belief
- Sex/gender
- Sexual orientation
- Marriage or Civil Partnership Status

In considering this question you should identify and record any particular impact on people in a sub-group of any of the above – e.g. people with a particular disability or from a particular religious or ethnic group.

It is particularly important to consider whether any decision is likely to impact adversely on any group of people sharing protected characteristics to a disproportionate extent. Any such disproportionate impact will need to be objectively justified.

The decision will impact individuals with shared protected characteristics with an anticipated particular impact on the elderly and those with a disability including deaf people.

If you have answered "Yes" to this question in relation to any of the above characteristics, – please go to Question 1.
If you have answered "No" in relation to all the protected characteristics, please briefly document your reasons below and attach this to the decision-making papers. (It goes without saying that if the lack of impact is obvious, it need only be very briefly noted.)
N/A

Question 1 – Background Evidence

What information do you have about the different groups of people who may be affected by this decision – e.g. employees or service users (you could use monitoring data, survey data, etc to compile this). As indicated above, the relevant protected characteristics are:

- Age
- Disability including Deaf people
- · Gender reassignment/gender identity
- Pregnancy and maternity
- Race/Ethnicity/Nationality
- Religion or belief
- Sex/gender
- Sexual orientation
- Marriage or Civil Partnership status (in respect of which the s. 149 requires only that due regard be paid to the need to eliminate discrimination, harassment or victimisation or other conduct which is prohibited by the Act).

In considering this question you should again consider whether the decision under consideration could impact upon specific subgroups e.g. people of a specific religion or people with a particular disability. You should also consider how the decision is likely to affect those who share two or more of the protected characteristics – for example, older women, disabled, elderly people, and so on.

Surveys have not been collected on the current proposed services for withdrawal but surveys on 28 subsidised services for the proposed withdrawal of evening and Sunday services revealed the following information:

Question 2 – Engagement/Consultation

How have you tried to involve people/groups that are potentially affected by your decision? Please describe what engagement has taken place, with whom and when.

(Please ensure that you retain evidence of the consultation in case of any further enquiries. This includes the results of consultation or data gathering at any stage of the process)

At this stage views on these particular proposals have not been sought, however should the proposals progress then wider consultation will be undertaken to understand the impact.

Question 3 – Analysing Impact

Could your proposal potentially disadvantage particular groups sharing any of the protected characteristics and if so which groups and in what way?

It is particularly important in considering this question to get to grips with the actual practical impact on those affected. The decision-makers need to know in clear and specific terms what the impact may be and how serious, or perhaps minor, it may be – will people need to walk a few metres further to catch a bus, or to attend school? Will they be cut off altogether from vital services? The answers to such questions must be fully and frankly documented, for better or for worse, so that they can be properly evaluated when the decision is made.

Could your proposal potentially impact on individuals sharing the protected characteristics in any of the following ways:

- Could it discriminate unlawfully against individuals sharing any of the protected characteristics, whether directly or indirectly; if so, it must be amended. Bear in mind that this may involve taking steps to meet the specific needs of disabled people arising from their disabilities
- Could it advance equality of opportunity for those who share a particular protected characteristic? If not could it be developed or modified in order to do so?
- Does it encourage persons who share a relevant protected characteristic to participate in public life or in any activity in which participation by such persons is disproportionately low? If not could it be developed or modified in order to do so?
- Will the proposal contribute to fostering good relations between those who share a relevant protected characteristic and those who do not, for example by tackling prejudice and promoting understanding? If not could it be developed or modified in order to do so? Please identify any findings and how they might be addressed.

Bus Services

The proposals will disadvantage particular groups, and our own, albeit limited, surveys and consultations show that the young and elderly will be significantly affected by the proposals. These groups, and those without private transport, are most at risk from social isolation and the adverse effects on employment opportunities. Certain communities, and rural areas in particular, will be left without any public transport alternatives.

The proposals do not discriminate unlawfully, but neither do they advance equal opportunity or encourage participation in public life for those sharing a relevant protected characteristic. In terms of fostering good relations between those sharing a relevant protected characteristic and those who do not, the proposals could be a factor against this aspiration. For example, the withdrawal of transport will preclude people from attending community focussed events.

County Information Centres

The proposals will disadvantage specific groups and in particular, the elderly who are more likely to seek information with regard to transport timetables

Question 4 -Combined/Cumulative Effect

Could the effects of your decision combine with other factors or decisions taken at local or national level to exacerbate the impact on any groups?

For example - if the proposal is to impose charges for adult social care, its impact on disabled people might be increased by other decisions within the County Council (e.g. increases in the fares charged for Community Transport and reductions in respite care) and national proposals (e.g. the availability of some benefits). Whilst LCC cannot control some of these decisions, they could increase the adverse effect of the proposal. The LCC has a legal duty to consider this aspect, and to evaluate the decision, including mitigation, accordingly.

If Yes – please identify these.

Lancashire County Council has considered whether there are any combined/cumulative effects that other local or national decisions may have on the proposals, and whether these will increase any adverse effects. There continues to be public funding reductions at local and national level and LCC has highlighted pay freezes, inflation and benefit changes as factors which would directly exacerbate the impact on any groups. Locally, the proposed reduction in street lighting can be considered as a cumulative effect where people may have to walk in unlit areas.

Question 5 – Identifying Initial Results of Your Analysis

As a result of your analysis have you changed/amended your original proposal?

Please identify how -

For example:

Adjusted the original proposal – briefly outline the adjustments

Continuing with the Original Proposal – briefly explain why

Stopped the Proposal and Revised it - briefly explain

Analysis stage has not yet been undertaken and further work will be required if the proposals progress.

Question 6 - Mitigation

Please set out any steps you will take to mitigate/reduce any potential adverse effects of your decision on those sharing any particular protected characteristic. It is important here to do a genuine and realistic evaluation of the effectiveness of the mitigation contemplated. Over-optimistic and over-generalised assessments are likely to fall short of the "due regard" requirement.

Also consider if any mitigation might adversely affect any other groups and how this might be managed.

Lancashire County Council have considered the mitigation of potential adverse effects of the proposed withdrawal of bus services.

The County Council will engage with local bus operators to advise on those journeys being withdrawn and establish whether any could continue to operate on a commercial basis.

Additionally there are a limited number of alternative bus/rail services over certain routes although many communities would remain isolated.

In areas where there are people who will be completely isolated, there may be community transport services which could be reconfigured to cater for the most needy. However, it should be noted that this will cater for a very small number of people compared with the current numbers using subsidised bus services.

Question 7 - Balancing the Proposal/Countervailing Factors

At this point you need to weigh up the reasons for the proposal – e.g. need for budget savings; damaging effects of not taking forward the proposal at this time – against the findings of your analysis. Please describe this assessment. It is important here to ensure that the assessment of any negative effects upon those sharing protected characteristics is full and frank. The full extent of actual adverse impacts must be acknowledged and taken into account, or the assessment will be inadequate. What is required is an honest evaluation, and not a marketing exercise. Conversely, while adverse effects should be frankly acknowledged, they need not be overstated or exaggerated. Where effects are not serious, this too should be made clear.

Lancashire County Council undertook work to assess the impact on the previously proposed withdrawal of evening and Sunday bus services. It was clear from the comments that people will face social isolation and a loss of opportunities. The main concerns are:

- The isolation of communities
- The effect on local business and tourism
- People unable to maintain social lives
- Opportunities for Hospital visiting no longer available
- Emphasis placed on the effects on non-car owners/non drivers and particularly the young and elderly for whom public transport is considered essential
- The reliance on evening, Sunday and Bank Holiday bus services to get to and from work, evening classes and shopping/leisure activities
- The unaffordable alternatives (eg taxis)
- The green agenda, more car use and increased emissions
 From the analysis work undertaken, all the above mentioned areas of concern are recognised as being accurate and mitigation is extremely limited.
 - The fact remains, however, that budget reductions have to be achieved. LCC is required to find £300m in budget savings over the period 2014- 2018.

Question 8 - Final Proposal

In summary, what is your final proposal and which groups may be affected and how?

At this stage, the proposal is as documented in the service offer.

Question 9 – Review and Monitoring Arrangements

Describe what arrangements you will put in place to review and monitor the effects of your proposal.

LCC will consult on the proposals with the following stakeholders:

District, Borough and City Councils in Lancashire

Lancashire MP's

Parish Councils in Lancashire

Lancashire Community Transport Providers

Local Bus Operators (including existing contractors)

LCC County Councillors

Neighbouring Authorities

Name/Nature of the Decision

Charging for Car Parking at Countryside Sites

What in summary is the proposal being considered?

The introduction of car parking charges through the use of pay and display machines at three Countryside Sites managed by the County Council. The proposed standard charge would be £1 per car per visit.

Is the decision likely to affect people across the county in a similar way or are specific areas likely to be affected – e.g. are a set number of branches/sites to be affected? If so you will need to consider whether there are equality related issues associated with the locations selected – e.g. greater percentage of BME residents in a particular area where a closure is proposed as opposed to an area where a facility is remaining open.

Parking charges are already levied at Beacon Fell Country Park, Preston and the Crook o'Lune Picnic site in Lancaster. It is now proposed to introduce charging at Conder Green Picnic Site, Lancaster, Spring, Wood in the Ribble Valley and Wycoller Country Park, Pendle.

The sites attract visitors from the locality and further afield. None of the sites are located in areas associated with a greater proportion of people with any protected characteristic. Most visitors to the sites arrive by car however far they have travelled.

Could the decision have a particular impact on any group of individuals sharing protected characteristics under the Equality Act 2010, namely:

- Age
- Disability including Deaf people
- Gender reassignment
- Pregnancy and maternity
- Race/ethnicity/nationality
- Religion or belief
- Sex/gender
- Sexual orientation
- Marriage or Civil Partnership Status

In considering this question you should identify and record any particular impact on people in a sub-group of any of the above – e.g. people with a particular disability or from a particular religious or ethnic group.

It is particularly important to consider whether any decision is likely to impact adversely on any group of people sharing protected characteristics to a disproportionate extent. Any such disproportionate impact will need to be objectively justified.

Age – older people may be more frequent visitors to the sites as they have a higher proportion of leisure time. They may be more likely to visit managed countryside sites as these are easier to access and have better facilities such as level, well surfaced paths, toilets and refreshment facilities than the wider countryside.

If you have answered "No" in relation to all the protected characteristics, please briefly document your reasons below and attach this to the decision-making papers. (It goes without saying that if the lack of impact is obvious, it need only be very briefly noted.)

Question 1 - Background Evidence

What information do you have about the different groups of people who may be affected by this decision – e.g. employees or service users (you could use monitoring data, survey data, etc to compile this). As indicated above, the relevant protected characteristics are:

- Age
- Disability including Deaf people

You should also consider how the decision is likely to affect those who share two or more of the protected characteristics – for example, older women, disabled, elderly people, and so on.

From Visitor Satisfaction surveys conducted on site the greatest proportion (32%) of those surveyed were over 60. Although the Census information is for 65 plus it lists Lancashire as 18% of population is over 65. This suggests that older people visit countryside sites in higher proportions than they are represented in the population of Lancashire.

Question 2 - Engagement/Consultation

How have you tried to involve people/groups that are potentially affected by your decision? Please describe what engagement has taken place, with whom and when.

(Please ensure that you retain evidence of the consultation in case of any further enquiries. This includes the results of consultation or data gathering at any stage of the process)

Customer Experience Surveys were conducted at Spring Wood in April 2012 to assess customer attitudes to the introduction of car parking charges. Face to face surveys were conducted by volunteers over several weekends. Not surprisingly those surveyed suggested that the introduction of charges would influence their behaviour, 37% suggesting that they are not prepared to pay and 60% suggesting that they would visit less often. However, 50% of those surveyed said they would be willing to pay £1.

Visitor satisfaction surveys have been carried out at Spring Wood and Wycoller for a number of years. The surveys, conducted face to face by volunteer rangers, are carried out throughout the year and data is available to the end of March 2014. The surveys gathered a range of information about the visitors and their satisfaction with the site they are visiting. They do not include a specific question about car parking charges.

Question 3 – Analysing Impact

Could your proposal potentially disadvantage particular groups sharing any of the protected characteristics and if so which groups and in what way?

It is particularly important in considering this question to get to grips with the actual practical impact on those affected. The decision-makers need to know in clear and specific terms what the impact may be and how serious, or perhaps minor, it may be – will people need to walk a few metres further to catch a bus, or to attend school? Will they be cut off altogether from vital services? The answers to such questions must be fully and frankly documented, for better or for worse, so that they can be properly evaluated when the decision is made.

Could your proposal potentially impact on individuals sharing the protected characteristics in any of the following ways:

- Could it discriminate unlawfully against individuals sharing any of the protected characteristics, whether directly or indirectly; if so, it must be amended. Bear in mind that this may involve taking steps to meet the specific needs of disabled people arising from their disabilities
- Could it advance equality of opportunity for those who share a particular protected characteristic? If not could it be developed or modified in order to do so?
- Does it encourage persons who share a relevant protected characteristic to participate in public life or in any activity in which participation by such persons is disproportionately low? If not could it be developed or modified in order to do so?
- Will the proposal contribute to fostering good relations between those who share a relevant protected characteristic and those who do not, for example by tackling prejudice and promoting understanding? If not could it be developed or modified in order to do so? Please identify any findings and how they might be addressed.

There is a potentially greater impact on those who visit the sites more frequently as they will incur a greater cost. Those on low incomes or fixed incomes may visit the sites less often if the cost is prohibitive. This could impact adversely on the health and well being benefits that an individual may gain from a visit to the countryside. Visitor satisfaction surveys suggest that 15% of those surveyed visit the sites once a week or more, 34% of those are over 60. As 32% of all visitors were over 60 this does not suggest that there is a significantly higher proportion of older people amongst those who visit more than once a week.

Question 4 – Combined/Cumulative Effect

Could the effects of your decision combine with other factors or decisions taken at local or national level to exacerbate the impact on any groups?

For example - if the proposal is to impose charges for adult social care, its impact on disabled people might be increased by other decisions within the County Council (e.g. increases in the fares charged for Community Transport and reductions in respite care) and national proposals (e.g. the availability of some benefits). Whilst LCC cannot control some of these decisions, they could increase the adverse effect of the proposal. The LCC has a legal duty to consider this aspect, and to evaluate the decision, including mitigation, accordingly.

If Yes – please identify these.

Increasing costs of fuel may also act as a limiting factor on those who rely on a car to visit the countryside. The sites are not well served by public transport. Only 12 of 1760 visitors surveyed had used public transport to get to a site (all Wycoller) of those 12 only 2 were over 60. Any reductions in bus services will not have a significant impact.

There may be impacts from changes in benefits for working age and older people. Furthermore, current rises in the general cost of living affecting people's disposable income may also combine with the introduction of charges to reduce the frequency of visits for some visitors – i.e. people may previously have seen such visits as a "free" trip out.

Question 5 - Identifying Initial Results of Your Analysis

As a result of your analysis have you changed/amended your original proposal?

Please identify how -

For example:

Adjusted the original proposal – briefly outline the adjustments

Continuing with the Original Proposal – briefly explain why

Stopped the Proposal and Revised it - briefly explain

Continuing with the original proposal as it is considered that a consistent approach for any Countryside Sites where charges for parking are made is reasonable.

Question 6 - Mitigation

Please set out any steps you will take to mitigate/reduce any potential adverse effects of your decision on those sharing any particular protected characteristic. It is important here to do a genuine and realistic evaluation of the effectiveness of the mitigation contemplated. Over-optimistic and over-generalised assessments are likely to fall short of the "due regard" requirement.

Also consider if any mitigation might adversely affect any other groups and how this might be managed.

There will be no charge for blue badge holders where the badge is displayed. The proposed charge is reasonable at only £1 per visit and compares favourably with similar facilities

Examples of Car Parking Charges at other Countryside Sites.

Cuerden Valley Country Park, Bamber Bridge charges £1 per visit, £4 for a weekly ticket and £40 a quarter.

United Utilities in Lancashire charge 80p for 2 hours and £1.50 for the full day.

The Forestry Commission at Gisburn Forest charge £1.50 for 1 hour £3.00 for more than one hour. £30 annual pass.

Derbyshire County Council charge £1.20 for two hours, £2.40 for four hours and £3.60 for a day. They charge £60 per annum for a season ticket.

Leicester County Council charge a flat rate of £2.50 at a number of its countryside sites. An annual pass is £40.

Generally charges at Country Park charges are very reasonable and season tickets for individual sites or groups of sites are usually available.

In comparison with the overall costs of running a car the charges represent good value. However, for very frequent visitors this could amount to a not insubstantial sum over the year. We are proposing to make available an annual pass at a cost of £50. This represents good value to anyone who visits a site twice a week or more.

Question 7 – Balancing the Proposal/Countervailing Factors

At this point you need to weigh up the reasons for the proposal – e.g. need for budget savings; damaging effects of not taking forward the proposal at this time – against the findings of your analysis. Please describe this assessment. It is important here to ensure that the assessment of any negative effects upon those sharing protected characteristics is full and frank. The full extent of actual adverse impacts must be acknowledged and taken into account, or the assessment will be inadequate. What is required is an honest evaluation, and not a marketing exercise. Conversely, while adverse effects should be frankly acknowledged, they need not be overstated or exaggerated. Where effects are not serious, this too should be made clear.

The income generated helps to offset the running costs of such sites and indeed may reduce the possibility of some facilities being closed or service levels reduced.

Many facilities of this type, both in the public and charitable sector, do make a small charge for parking – In Lancashire United Utilities, the Forestry Commission and Cuerden Valley Country Park all charge for parking at Countryside sites.

Charging for parking at Countryside sites may be a deterrent to some visitors, or may result in less frequent visits. However the levels of use of the sites where charges were introduced in 2011 have not seen a significant decrease. Despite a number of poor summers the numbers of visitors has remained remarkably consistent. There is little evidence to suggest that visitors have been deterred.

Taking the monthly average income as a guide, income generated at the sites has remained pretty consistent since the introduction of charging which suggests that visitor numbers have not been adversely affected.

2011/12 £2753

2012/13 £2609

2013/14 £2895

Question 8 – Final Proposal

In summary, what is your final proposal and which groups may be affected and how?

The introduction of car parking charges through the use of pay and display machines at three Countryside Sites managed by the County Council

A low, single rate charge of £1 between 9.00am and 5.00 pm

An annual pass available for £50

No charges for Blue Badge holders.

Visitors on low incomes who frequently visit the sites may be adversely affected and evidence suggests that older people visit our countryside sites is disproportionately higher numbers. As Blue Badge holders are exempt from the charges it is not anticipated that any other groups with protected characteristics will be adversely impacted upon.

Question 9 – Review and Monitoring Arrangements

Describe what arrangements you will put in place to review and monitor the effects of your proposal.

Visitor feedback will be encouraged and monitored. This will be done formally through questionnaires/forms and informally through contact with full time and volunteer rangers on site.

- Race/ethnicity/nationality
- Religion or belief

- Sex/gender
- Sexual orientation
- Marriage or Civil Partnership Status

In considering this question you should identify and record any particular impact on people in a sub-group of any of the above – e.g. people with a particular disability or from a particular religious or ethnic group.

It is particularly important to consider whether any decision is likely to impact adversely on any group of people sharing protected characteristics to a disproportionate extent. Any such disproportionate impact will need to be objectively justified.

Yes. The reduction in maintenance standards across the County generally and on the (to be designated) non-priority network countywide in particular and across Pendle and Ribble Valley if agency agreements are terminated, are likely to make public paths more difficult underfoot and structures less convenient to use. This will affect users with a disability to a greater extent than able-bodied users because greater agility or strength will be required to use some of the paths. Furthermore if vegetation isn't cut back this could reduce the path width which might impact adversely on wheelchair users or families with prams and produce height or other obstacles which could be a hazard to sight impaired users (overhanging branches, white canes being less effective in vegetation).

However, any reduction in standards will have this effect and the identification and promotion of a priority network will mitigate this disbenefit.

lf	you have answered "Yes" to this question in relation to any of the
a	bove characteristics, – please go to Question 1.

If you have answered "No" in relation to all the protected characteristics, please briefly document your reasons below and attach this to the decision-making papers. (It goes without saying that if the lack of impact is obvious, it need only be very briefly noted.)

Question 1 - Background Evidence

What information do you have about the different groups of people who may be affected by this decision – e.g. employees or service users (you could use monitoring data, survey data, etc to compile this). As indicated above, the relevant protected characteristics are:

- Age
- · Disability including Deaf people
- Gender reassignment/gender identity
- Pregnancy and maternity
- Race/Ethnicity/Nationality
- Religion or belief
- Sex/gender
- Sexual orientation
- Marriage or Civil Partnership status (in respect of which the s. 149 requires only that due regard be paid to the need to eliminate discrimination, harassment or victimisation or other conduct which is prohibited by the Act).

In considering this question you should again consider whether the decision under consideration could impact upon specific subgroups e.g. people of a specific religion or people with a particular disability. You should also consider how the decision is likely to affect those who share two or more of the protected characteristics – for example, older women, disabled, elderly people, and so on.

No direct evidence but the MENE survey by Natural England indicates that a significant proportion of users of public rights of way have a disability. Furthermore a significant proportion are older people.

Question 2 - Engagement/Consultation

How have you tried to involve people/groups that are potentially affected by your decision? Please describe what engagement has taken place, with whom and when.

(Please ensure that you retain evidence of the consultation in case of any further enquiries. This includes the results of consultation or data gathering at any stage of the process)

Not as yet. However if a 2 tier network is to be implemented there will be widespread consultation to help identify the primary network.

Question 3 – Analysing Impact

Could your proposal potentially disadvantage particular groups sharing any of the protected characteristics and if so which groups and in what way?

It is particularly important in considering this question to get to grips with the actual practical impact on those affected. The decision-makers need to know in clear and specific terms what the impact may be and how serious, or perhaps minor, it may be – will people need to walk a few metres further to catch a bus, or to attend school? Will they be cut off altogether from vital services? The answers to such questions must be fully and frankly documented, for better or for worse, so that they can be properly evaluated when the decision is made.

Could your proposal potentially impact on individuals sharing the protected characteristics in any of the following ways:

 Could it discriminate unlawfully against individuals sharing any of the protected characteristics, whether directly or indirectly; if so, it must be amended. Bear in mind that this may involve taking steps to meet the specific needs of disabled people arising from their disabilities

- Could it advance equality of opportunity for those who share a particular protected characteristic? If not could it be developed or modified in order to do so?
- Does it encourage persons who share a relevant protected characteristic to participate in public life or in any activity in which participation by such persons is disproportionately low? If not could it be developed or modified in order to do so?
- Will the proposal contribute to fostering good relations between those who share a relevant protected characteristic and those who do not, for example by tackling prejudice and promoting understanding? If not could it be developed or modified in order to do so? Please identify any findings and how they might be addressed.

The reduction in maintenance standards across the County generally and on the (to be designated) non-priority network countywide in particular and across Pendle and Ribble Valley if agency agreements are terminated, are likely to make public paths more difficult underfoot and structures less convenient to use. This will affect users with a disability to a greater extent than able-bodied users because greater agility or strength will be required to use some of the paths and older or mobility-impaired users may be more likely to suffer falls. Furthermore if vegetation isn't cut back this could reduce the path width which might impact adversely on wheelchair users or families with prams and produce height or other obstacles which could be a hazard to sight impaired users (overhanging branches, white canes being less effective in vegetation).

However, any reduction in standards will have this effect and the identification and promotion of a priority network will mitigate this disbenefit, perhaps to a significant degree.

Question 4 –Combined/Cumulative Effect

Could the effects of your decision combine with other factors or decisions taken at local or national level to exacerbate the impact on any groups?

For example - if the proposal is to impose charges for adult social care, its impact on disabled people might be increased by other decisions within the County Council (e.g. increases in the fares charged for Community Transport and reductions in respite care) and national proposals (e.g. the availability of some benefits). Whilst LCC cannot control some of these decisions, they could increase the adverse effect of the proposal. The LCC has a legal duty to consider this aspect, and to evaluate the decision, including mitigation, accordingly.

If Yes – please identify these.

Potentially a person with a disability affected by cuts to public transport or by fare increases might then have greater cause to use public paths which might be less usable if not designated as priority network.

Question 5 – Identifying Initial Results of Your Analysis

As a result of your analysis have you changed/amended your original proposal?

Please identify how -

For example:

Adjusted the original proposal – briefly outline the adjustments

Continuing with the Original Proposal – briefly explain why

Stopped the Proposal and Revised it - briefly explain

Continuing – because the mitigation measure of promoting a priority network should enable users who would be otherwise excluded to have an available alternative. It is envisaged that the priority network will include routes which form important links in the network or to specific destinations and which can be maintained in the medium term to a good standard at a reasonable cost).

Question 6 - Mitigation

Please set out any steps you will take to mitigate/reduce any potential adverse effects of your decision on those sharing any particular protected characteristic. It is important here to do a genuine and realistic evaluation of the effectiveness of the mitigation contemplated. Over-optimistic and over-generalised assessments are likely to fall short of the "due regard" requirement.

Also consider if any mitigation might adversely affect any other groups and how this might be managed.

Identification and promotion of a priority network (perhaps 10% of the statutory public rights of way network in length i.e. about 550km, but focussed on the most popular routes which form important links in the network or to specific destinations and which can be maintained in the medium term to a good standard at a reasonable cost) which would be maintained in as easy-to-use condition as possible within budget.

Question 7 – Balancing the Proposal/Countervailing Factors

At this point you need to weigh up the reasons for the proposal – e.g. need for budget savings; damaging effects of not taking forward the proposal at this time – against the findings of your analysis. Please describe this assessment. It is important here to ensure that the assessment of any negative effects upon those sharing protected characteristics is full and frank. The full extent of actual adverse impacts must be acknowledged and taken into account, or the assessment will be inadequate. What is required is an honest evaluation, and not a marketing exercise. Conversely, while adverse effects should be frankly acknowledged, they need not be overstated or exaggerated. Where effects are not serious, this too should be made clear.

Significant resource cuts have to be made and this will have a very significant effect on the condition and hence usability of public rights of way, especially in the countryside. This will make it harder to use or even impossible to use many paths especially for users with a disability. Public rights of way vary considerably and identification of a primary network would help to make those paths used by less experienced walkers/riders, or those likely to be less robustly clothed/shod, to be better maintained than the wider network.

Question 8 – Final Proposal

In summary, what is your final proposal and which groups may be affected and how?

Introduction of a 2-tier network of public paths for the purposes of maintenance standards; reduction or cessation of pre-emptive seasonal vegetation clearance; termination of agency agreements with district councils for public rights of way maintenance; more direct enforcement procedure.

All users and potential users of the public rights of way network will be affected but on any particular path which is not well maintained older users and those with a disability will feel the affect more keenly as they may be unable to use the path or to proceed without difficulty. However, introducing a 2-tier network and promoting the priority paths within the overall network will allow users to find the better paths although this may mean having to take a longer route in some cases.

Question 9 – Review and Monitoring Arrangements

Describe what arrangements you will put in place to review and monitor the effects of your proposal.

Planning Service Offer

Budget changes (mainly staffing related) to the development management, planning and transport planning teams.

What in summary is the proposal being considered?

- Small reduction in staff costs for the development management, planning and transport planning teams.
- Cessation of ecology advice to district councils for development control purposes.
- Implementation of charging scheme for pre-application advice for major external planning applications.
- Reduced monitoring regime for mineral and waste sites.
- Reduction in resources available to carry out technical work.
- Reduction in external income.

Is the decision likely to affect people across the county in a similar way or are specific areas likely to be affected – e.g. are a set number of branches/sites to be affected? If so you will need to consider whether there are equality related issues associated with the locations selected – e.g. greater percentage of BME residents in a particular area where a closure is proposed as opposed to an area where a facility is remaining open.

None of the reductions are located in areas associated with a greater proportion of people with any protected characteristic. They are equally distributed across the county and will affect everyone in a similar way.

It is very unlikely that any group with protected characteristics will be affected to a greater degree than people without protected characteristics. The impacts on people will be imperceptible and evenly distributed among the population.

Could the decision have a particular impact on any group of individuals sharing protected characteristics under the Equality Act 2010, namely:

- Age
- Disability including Deaf people
- Gender reassignment
- Pregnancy and maternity
- Race/ethnicity/nationality
- Religion or belief

Equality Analysis Prepared By Andrew Mullaney

Position/Role Assistant Director Environment, Planning & Countryside

Name/Nature of the Decision

Libraries, Museums, Cultural & Registrars Service Offer

Service offer for libraries, museums, culture and registrars 2015 – 2018. Registrar's service have submitted a separate EA which has been approved.

Redesign the service currently offered within the available financial envelope.

In order to achieve this, financial reductions will need to be made in the following areas:

- arts budget
- closure of the Bowran Street site
- funding for projects
- library resource fund
- staffing levels

What in summary is the proposal being considered?

A comprehensive service offer which includes the following elements of service:

- A Face-to- face Offer by developing 74 public libraries into the face-to-face channel for the public sector and by integrating different teams of staff colocated in the same building to offer a seamless service to customers and make those services available across the full range of hours that each building is open
- A Digital Information Offer which includes 24/7 access to services through a digital channel; offering free access to the internet, and supporting people to access information and services online in life critical areas such as careers and job seeking
- A Health Offer which supports the health and wellbeing of communities and supports vulnerable people
- A Reading and Learning Offer which will provide a modern reading service within local communities
- A Heritage Offer which will preserve Lancashire's written and physical heritage

 A Culture Offer which will support the creation and development of cultural organisations across the county

The offer will be achieved by:

- Transforming local libraries and museums into vibrant local powerhouses for their communities - bringing creativity, excitement and diversity into the heart of every community with the overall aim to improve the quality of life of individuals and communities. We will do this by involving communities in the co-production and co-delivery of their local service
- Growing the number of volunteers replacing paid staff roles. If it is not possible to recruit and retain volunteers in adequate numbers then a reduction in opening hours or closure cannot be ruled out (for example, closure of the 25 smallest libraries would result in an additional annual saving of £1.1 million)
- Purchasing fewer new books for libraries as budget is reduced
- Employing fewer specialist staff as functions are merged e.g. broader spans of control for managers; Conservation Team from Museums and Preservation Team in Archives; the Collections Team in Libraries and the Collections Team in Museums etc.
- More delegation of responsibility to middle and first line managers with the reduction in the overall number of managers

Is the decision likely to affect people across the county in a similar way or are specific areas likely to be affected – e.g. are a set number of branches/sites to be affected? If so you will need to consider whether there are equality related issues associated with the locations selected – e.g. greater percentage of BME residents in a particular area where a closure is proposed as opposed to an area where a facility is remaining open.

The current offer is delivered through a network of libraries, museums, and Lancashire Archives. There is no proposal to reduce the number of sites, apart from the closure of the Bowran Street site which is used purely for back office purposes and will not have any effect on communities within Lancashire

The proposed offer will be delivered in the following ways:

- Physically through the network of community based libraries, museums, registrars offices and the record office
- In community settings by officers working directly with groups and organisations

- Virtually through an increasing presence on the internet with a growing number of digitised resources
- Developing a range of options which allows services to be developed and delivered in an innovative way with communities involved in:
 - o co-design, including planning of services
 - o co-decision making in the allocation of resources
 - co-delivery of services, ranging from extending current volunteering opportunities through to community managed libraries
 - o co-evaluation of the service

Could the decision have a particular impact on any group of individuals sharing protected characteristics under the Equality Act 2010, namely:

- Age
- Disability including Deaf people
- Gender reassignment
- Pregnancy and maternity
- Race/ethnicity/nationality
- Religion or belief
- Sex/gender
- Sexual orientation
- Marriage or Civil Partnership Status

In considering this question you should identify and record any particular impact on people in a sub-group of any of the above – e.g. people with a particular disability or from a particular religious or ethnic group.

It is particularly important to consider whether any decision is likely to impact adversely on any group of people sharing protected characteristics to a disproportionate extent. Any such disproportionate impact will need to be objectively justified.

The proposal will impact equally on people both with protected characteristics and without protected characteristics. The reduction in the projects budget will mean that funding will need to be sourced from elsewhere. Until service specific Equality Analysis and consultation has taken place it is impossible to predict the level of impact on any specific protected characteristic group

If you have answered "Yes" to this question in relation to any of the above characteristics, – please go to Question 1.
If you have answered "No" in relation to all the protected characteristic please briefly document your reasons below and attach this to the decision-making papers. (It goes without saying that if the lack of impairs obvious, it need only be very briefly noted.)

Question 1 - Background Evidence

What information do you have about the different groups of people who may be affected by this decision – e.g. employees or service users (you could use monitoring data, survey data, etc to compile this). As indicated above, the relevant protected characteristics are:

- Age
- Disability including Deaf people
- Gender reassignment/gender identity
- Pregnancy and maternity
- Race/Ethnicity/Nationality
- Religion or belief
- Sex/gender
- Sexual orientation
- Marriage or Civil Partnership status (in respect of which the s. 149 requires only that due regard be paid to the need to eliminate discrimination, harassment or victimisation or other conduct which is prohibited by the Act).

In considering this question you should again consider whether the decision under consideration could impact upon specific subgroups e.g. people of a specific religion or people with a particular disability. You should also consider how the decision is likely to affect those who share two or more of the protected characteristics – for example, older women, disabled, elderly people, and so on.

We have data relating to:

Footfall at static and mobile sites, Library membership (registrations and "active" members) Library material issues, Library Requests service use, Computer use (PNETs), eBook use, Website / Online services use, Events attendance both at our own venues and when held at other venues, Self-service provision use, promotional activities evaluation (SRC, WW1 etc.), Telly-Talk usage (Customer service centre video conferencing facility), Customer Access Centre use (Telephone enquiries), Home library service use, etc. Also national surveys such as the annual CIPFA library survey and this year the CIPFA Plus Young people survey. Standpoint data from museums

This is used in the following ways:

As many of these areas can be linked to library user records (except footfall) there are a number of parameters that can be examined to determine service use trends, including; age, disability, gender, home location etc. which can be used to build up user profiles for a specified service or site and allow comparison with others, enabling us not only to look at who is using the service, but also identify groups that are not. National surveys and sharing information with other authorities allow further comparison on a wider level. Finally using national statistical information allows use of the service to be measured against regional population figures.

Question 2 - Engagement/Consultation

How have you tried to involve people/groups that are potentially affected by your decision? Please describe what engagement has taken place, with whom and when.

(Please ensure that you retain evidence of the consultation in case of any further enquiries. This includes the results of consultation or data gathering at any stage of the process)

Consultation has not yet taken place about the service offer. When it is appropriate, we will use a combination of the following methods to consult with relevant groups depending upon the decision to be made.

The following are examples of ways in which we have consulted in the past:

- Consultations take place regularly, for example, we have just consulted widely on potential changes to opening hours. County Councillors will also be consulted on the results of the consultation.
- We use the compliments and complaints system
- We are in the process of running a wide consultation with young people through Children's Public Library User Survey. This takes place over a two week period and generates data which is used to develop services

- We have Friends Groups in a number of sites the Friends of the Archives are particularly active in attracting funding
- We have young people's forums active in some areas. Blaze a young people's forum, has been particularly successful in Preston, and has now expanded to areas such as Skelmersdale. We work with these group to develop services which are of interest to young people
- We have developing partnerships in all Districts of the County, and are particularly developing relationships with District and unitary authorities

Question 3 – Analysing Impact

Could your proposal potentially disadvantage particular groups sharing any of the protected characteristics and if so which groups and in what way?

It is particularly important in considering this question to get to grips with the actual practical impact on those affected. The decision-makers need to know in clear and specific terms what the impact may be and how serious, or perhaps minor, it may be – will people need to walk a few metres further to catch a bus, or to attend school? Will they be cut off altogether from vital services? The answers to such questions must be fully and frankly documented, for better or for worse, so that they can be properly evaluated when the decision is made.

Could your proposal potentially impact on individuals sharing the protected characteristics in any of the following ways:

 Could it discriminate unlawfully against individuals sharing any of the protected characteristics, whether directly or indirectly; if so, it must be amended. Bear in mind that this may involve taking steps to meet the specific needs of disabled people arising from their disabilities

- Could it advance equality of opportunity for those who share a particular protected characteristic? If not could it be developed or modified in order to do so?
- Does it encourage persons who share a relevant protected characteristic to participate in public life or in any activity in which participation by such persons is disproportionately low? If not could it be developed or modified in order to do so?

We do not anticipate that the changes proposed are likely to have a disproportionate effect on people with protected characteristics however we acknowledge that more detailed analysis and consultation results will alert us to any potential negative impacts

The reduction in project funding may mean that we are unable to develop some services specifically targeted at groups in the groups mentioned above

Question 4 -Combined/Cumulative Effect

Could the effects of your decision combine with other factors or decisions taken at local or national level to exacerbate the impact on any groups?

For example - if the proposal is to impose charges for adult social care, its impact on disabled people might be increased by other decisions within the County Council (e.g. increases in the fares charged for Community Transport and reductions in respite care) and national proposals (e.g. the availability of some benefits). Whilst LCC cannot control some of these decisions, they could increase the adverse effect of the proposal. The LCC has a legal duty to consider this aspect, and to evaluate the decision, including mitigation, accordingly.

If Yes – please identify these.

The service offer is compatible with the offer being made at a national level by the Society of Chief Librarians(SCL). The stated importance of Health and Well Being is in accordance with the County's priorities. The importance of digital skills is congruent with the County and national approach to the digital age and the digital divide. Once we have agreed the detail of the service offer, we will be in a position to indicate the cumulative effect.

Question 5 - Identifying Initial Results of Your Analysis

As a result of your analysis have you changed/amended your original proposal?

Please identify how –

For example:

Adjusted the original proposal – briefly outline the adjustments

Continuing with the Original Proposal - briefly explain why

Stopped the Proposal and Revised it - briefly explain

No changes made as yet as we are at the initial stages of the review

Question 6 - Mitigation

Please set out any steps you will take to mitigate/reduce any potential adverse effects of your decision on those sharing any particular protected characteristic. It is important here to do a genuine and realistic evaluation of the effectiveness of the mitigation contemplated. Over-optimistic and over-generalised assessments are likely to fall short of the "due regard" requirement.

Also consider if any mitigation might adversely affect any other groups and how this might be managed.

Where direct service cuts/reductions are identified we will source and apply for funding elsewhere and work with partners to generate funding to continue to develop services to targeted groups.

We will encourage Friends Groups and Young People's Forums to apply for funding independently

Question 7 – Balancing the Proposal/Countervailing Factors

At this point you need to weigh up the reasons for the proposal – e.g. need for budget savings; damaging effects of not taking forward the proposal at this time – against the findings of your analysis. Please describe this assessment. It is important here to ensure that the assessment of any negative effects upon those sharing protected characteristics is full and frank. The full extent of actual adverse impacts must be acknowledged and taken into account, or the assessment will be inadequate. What is required is an honest evaluation, and not a marketing exercise. Conversely, while adverse effects should be frankly acknowledged, they need not be overstated or exaggerated. Where effects are not serious, this too should be made clear.

The primary driver behind the proposals is the need to reduce the budget

Question 8 – Final Proposal

In summary, what is your final proposal and which groups may be affected and how?

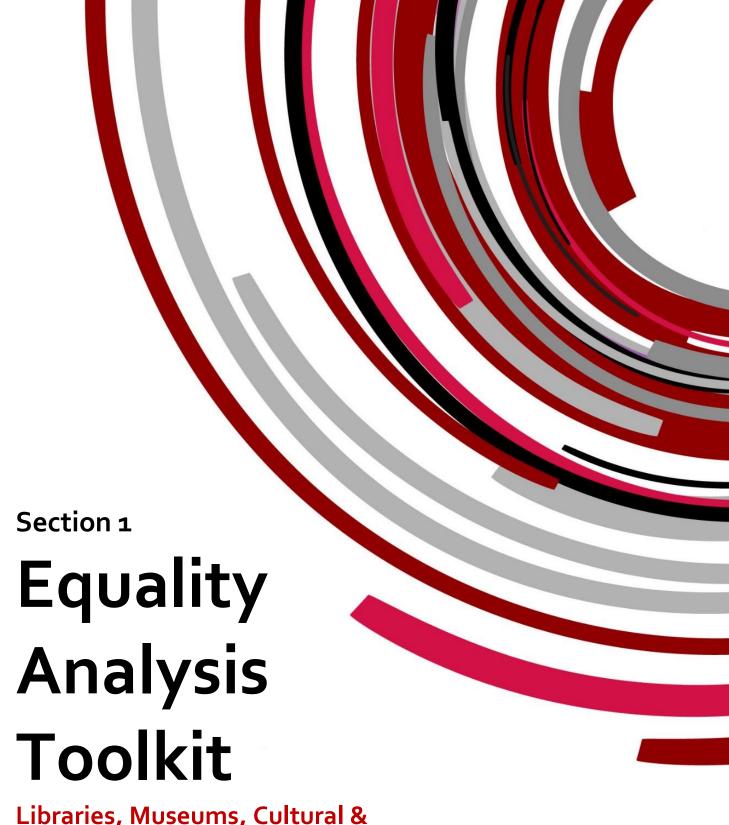

The final proposal is to deliver a service to communities of Lancashire as indicated above.

We will only be able to identify if any particular service user groups are affected after a full EA and consultation has taken place

Question 9 – Review and Monitoring Arrangements

Describe what arrangements you will put in place to review and monitor the effects of your proposal.

Monitoring will be done every six months in line with Business Planning reviews paying particular attention to the 9 x protected characteristic groups in terms of service reduction and take up.

- pregnancy/maternity
- religion or belief
- sexual orientation

 marriage/civil partnership (in respect of which the s.149 requires only that due regard be paid to the need to eliminate discrimination, harassment or victimisation or other conduct prohibited by the Act)

Monitoring can be done in a variety of ways, to best meet the needs of the service. See the corporate service monitoring form at lccintranet2/corporate/web/?siteid=5580&pageid=33450&e=e

If you are not currently monitoring across all these characteristics, please say how you will develop your monitoring systems to do so.

Registration is a universal service and monitoring is not applicable. It would not be appropriate to monitor who uses the service as citizens are accessing a universal service because they have a statutory duty to or they are specifically choosing to. If you wish to marry it is your choice. This choice includes not just marrying but where you wish to marry and whether you wish a religious or civil marriage. Similarly we would not monitor for example informants who access the service to register the death of a family member.

In the customer survey we carry out periodically we ask for customers to provide information on their gender, age, ethnicity and whether they regard themselves as having a disability

6) What does your monitoring information tell you about who is and who is not using your service?

All parts of our communities use the service when they wish or need to.

7) How do you consult, inform, and involve people in developing your service? Please ensure you retain materials relating to your consultation in case evidence of it is required.

There are a range of techniques to involve people in developing your services. They include:

- service user surveys and panels
- service user satisfaction surveys
- focus groups
- community consultation and engagement exercises
- residents' surveys, including the Living in Lancashire survey see http://lccintranet2/corporate/web/?siteid=2660&pageid=3543&e=e
 for more information.
- discussion with front line employees
- complaints, compliments, and comments
- Customer Focus Consultancy see lccintranet2/corporate/web/?siteid=5196&pageid=27362 for more information
- Joint Strategic Needs Assessment (JSNA) see
 http://www.lancashire.gov.uk/jsna for more information
- mystery shopping
- talking to voluntary, community, and faith sector (VCFS) organisations that represent different groups of people
- feedback from district and sub district groups i.e. Local Strategic Partnerships, Area Forums, Area Committees, Neighbourhood Management Boards, Parish and Town Council meetings, Police and Community Together (PACT) meetings etc.

See the Neighbourhood Engagement Intranet site at lccintranet2/corporate/web/view.asp?siteid=3949&pageid=21780&e=e for further advice.

We ask for feedback, we make comments, compliments and complaints forms available on our website and in all our service points, we periodically carry out customer surveys and evaluate responses, staff feedback comments that they receive to their line manager and discuss at team briefings. We encourage staff to share customer experiences and discuss different scenarios that they have encountered and what actions have worked well and not worked as well.

In the customer survey we ask for customers to provide information on their gender, age, ethnicity and whether they regard themselves as having a disability

- 8) Which groups of people do you involve in developing your service? Are there any particular groups that you need to target? In considering this question, you should focus first on whether the service has particular relevance to groups of individuals who share the protected characteristics under the Equality Act, namely:
 - age
 - disability (including Deaf people)
 - gender reassignment/gender identity
 - pregnancy or maternity
 - race, ethnicity or nationality
 - religion or belief
 - sex/gender
 - sexual orientation
 - marriage/civil partnership (in respect of which s.149 requires only that due regard be paid to the need to eliminate discrimination, harassment or victimisation or other conduct prohibited by the Act)

In doing so, where relevant, you should consider any effects on specific groups or sub-groups sharing one or more protected characteristics such as, for example:

- older people
- people of a particular religion or ethnic group
- Gypsy, Roma and Traveller communities
- Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual or Transgender communities
- It may also be appropriate to consider the specific needs of those with non-statutory characteristics, e.g.:
- people living in deprived areas
- people living in rural areas
- Children Looked After
- young people not in education, employment or training (NEET)
- carers
- other groups as appropriate e.g. teenage parents, offenders etc

If there are groups that you need to target, how will you do this?

The service is no more relevant to a particular part of the community. People of all ages may choose to marry or may have to register a death. Clearly birth registration is generally more relevant to younger adults but the age of parents can vary. It is not for the service to judge who might access the service and if a parent is 20 years or 70 years we provide the service so that they can register the birth in the same way but would of course try and meet each parent's needs - so if for example one parent needed to bring an interpreter with them we would accommodate that. A death informant could be an infirm person of 90 or a young person of 20. The older person may need to access a room with no stairs/steps but so could the younger person. One informant may need more explanation of the process than another. Staff are trained to meet different needs and recruitment and training emphasises the universal nature of the service where the understanding of respect, tolerance and the ethos of equality and diversity is key to service delivery. Creating a culture where this is key is a priority objective of the service through communication, policies and leadership.

We have worked with various parts of the community and over several years tried to interact with different parts of the community so that citizens understand what the registration service can deliver and importantly what it can't. Some examples are as follows: putting in place a Memorandum of Understanding with the Preston Muslim Burial Society so that the muslim community in the Preston and surrounding areas understand when we would be able to act and enable a burial to proceed out of normal office hours. We are putting the same in place for a similar Muslim burial society in Lancaster. We have liaised with councillors from Burnley, Hyndbyrn, Pendle and Rossendale so a communication explaining the same has been distributed throughout mosques in the East. We have liaised with an Older People forum in the East around the difficulties legal registration restrictions have for older people needing to register the death of a loved one who dies in Royal Blackburn Hospital. We are interacting with some local schools around citizenship and how a citizenship ceremony is the end of a long journey for many of our Lancashire residents becoming British citizens. We have liaised with local LGBT groups particularly around wanting to ensure that our literature is seen as 'gay' friendly. We have put contacts in place with Hospital Trust bereavement officers to ensure that their policies, procedures and staff information is correct and clear in relation to death certification and registration as this is part of the bereavement journey.

9) If appropriate, how have you involved the following in developing your service? Again, please retain any evidence of this.

Voluntary, Community and Faith Sector (VCFS) organisations

- county councillors
- parish and town councils see
 lccintranet/corporate/atoz/a_to_z/service.asp?u_id=2339&tab=1
 for more information
- district ward councillors/district councillors
- overview and scrutiny committees see
 lccintranet/corporate/atoz/a_to_z/service.asp?u_id=1788&tab=1
- other statutory agencies e.g. National Health Service, Lancashire Constabulary etc

We work with lots of partners depending on the function that is being delivered – Coroners, bereavement officers at NHS Trusts, different staff within the NHS (e.g. midwifes, staff working in the maternity function), funeral directors. Clergy, churches, registered buildings, approved venue owners and responsible persons, cemetery/cremation managers, GP's, councillors, the constabulary, community representatives, colleagues within LCC such as Children's Centres etc. We ensure we have contacts for the service and contacts for local service points and we ensure partners are aware of our services, what we deliver and where and how and when we have shared customers or we are part of the same customer journey (e.g. bereavement journey) we look to work together to make that journey better and more effective for the citizen/customer.

- 10) Taking into consideration the information you have collected already, are there any potential negative impacts that might affect citizens because of their:
 - age
 - disability including Deaf people
 - race/ethnicity/nationality

- sex/gender
- gender reassignment/ gender identity
- religion or belief
- sexual orientation
- pregnancy or maternity status
- marriage or civil partnership status

Or because they are:

- people who have young children
- living in an area of deprivation
- living in a rural area
- Children Looked After
- young people not in education, employment or training (NEET)
- teenage parents
- carers
- others e.g. offenders, people out of work, problem drug users etc.

We have taken into account the different citizens who access our services – most of which can by law only be accessed face to face. We have ensured that service points are accessible, that signage is clear and information is clear and available on the LCC website and in hard copy. We are retaining local service points and using other LCC buildings to provide a wider geographical coverage. We have taken various actions to make the customer/citizen experience better (e.g. adding baby changing facilities to service points, looking at appointment times, changing advice that the LCC Customer Centre gives out, improving advice on our website, making the booking of birth and death appointments available online.

Please note that the consideration of potential negative effects should be specific and realistic. Potential adverse effects should not be minimised or exaggerated.

11) Does your review indicate that the effect of the policy or decision under review could combine with other policies or decisions of LCC or other public authorities?

The Registration Service is aiming to maintain its current service point provision through effective use of their appointment system and use of LCC buildings. The service is looking at maximising as much as it can appointment utilisation.

Could the results of your review combine with other decisions within LCC or elsewhere to affect any of the above groups (i.e. the cumulative effect)?

Nothing identified at this stage.

Are you aware of other local or national decisions which could combine with this decision to particularly disadvantage any specific groups?

Any national decisions would be in respect to changes in legislation and it would then be for government to consider and analyse any negative impact e.g. if birth registration law was changed so it could be done online government would need to think through the impact to some parents and for example would a face to face channel need to remain as an option.

12) In relation to your service review findings, whether viewed alone or in combination with other factors, are these likely to have adverse effects on groups sharing relevant protected characteristics? If so you must consider how to mitigate such adverse effects.

Please set out any steps you will take to mitigate/reduce any potential adverse effects of your conclusions/proposals on those sharing any relevant protected characteristic. It is important here to do a genuine and realistic evaluation of the likely effectiveness of the mitigation proposed. Over-optimistic and over-generalised assessments are likely to fall short of the due regard requirement.

Also consider if the mitigation might adversely affect any other groups and how this might be managed.

We have taken steps to mitigate problems that some citizens may have e.g. if they need a replacement certificate we have ensured that they can apply locally, apply face to face rather than only online or over the phone, can pay 'cash' if they do not have electronic means of making payment.

13) Think about the potential positive impacts your service could have on certain groups of people, and in particular those sharing protected characteristics. What are they and how might they be developed?

Use this information to think about how your service might improve quality of life and assist in relation to promoting equality.

Will the positive impacts be accompanied by any negative impacts on groups of citizens sharing the protected characteristics? If so, how might these be addressed or balanced?

There are no fees associated with the statutory duties for citizens such as birth, still-birth and death registration. For other services it is a citizens choice e.g. if they wish to marry fees are applicable but there are a number of choices and different fees for these choices. Some fees are set nationally. An accessible simple marriage ceremony continues to be made available for those citizens who wish to choose that. The fee for attending a citizenship ceremony to receive a citizenship certificate is set by the Home Office.

14) How can your service contribute to the following priority areas:

 Eliminating discrimination, harassment, victimisation or any other unlawful conduct

Will the service be provided by people who treat all clients/customers/service users with dignity and respect?

The Registration is a neutral service and staff are continually reminded that tolerance and respect and confidentiality are key to service delivery.

Will assessment or eligibility criteria be set objectively and fairly? Will training in some form be available to ensure that these requirements are properly applied?

Staff are observed and customer feedback sought and then action taken – for example best practice shared through team meetings, communication, service networking events, training. The service has designed a one day bereavement course for staff to attend to better equip them dealing with difficult situations and dealing with bereaved citizens.

 Tackling social exclusion and advancing equality of opportunity between persons who share relevant protected characteristics and those who do not share it.

This will involve taking steps to remove or minimise disadvantages suffered by persons who share a relevant protected characteristic and that are connected to that particular characteristic, taking steps to meet the needs of persons who share a relevant protected characteristic that are different from the needs of persons who do not share it, and encouraging persons who share a relevant protected characteristic to participate in public life or in any other activity in which participation by such persons is disproportionately low.

It is important to bear in mind that taking steps to meet the needs of disabled persons which are different from those of persons who do not share that disability include steps to take account of the disabilities in question. This may even include treating some persons more favourably than others in order to allow them to participate in social or public life.

Activities that help improve social inclusion include those that improve the quality of life for people who are disadvantaged or are in danger of poor outcomes in their lives through various circumstances e.g. a lack of money, difficulty in accessing services difficulties accessing premises, and barriers to taking part in relationships and activities that are available to most people in communities etc.

 Improving community cohesion /Fostering Good Relations between persons who share a relevant protected characteristic and those who do not share it

This may include thinking about ways to tackle prejudice and promote understanding between groups of people with protected characteristics and those who do not share those characteristics. Activities that help improve community cohesion include those that bring people from different communities together (e.g. people of different ethnicities, faiths, ages, geographical backgrounds etc); those that empower communities and those that reduce tensions in communities. (See the Community Cohesion website at http://www.lancashire.gov.uk/corporate/web/view.asp?siteid=2966&page id=5956&e=e for more information).

· Improving health and wellbeing

Health and wellbeing means that people feel well enough and sufficiently supported to live their lives to the full. Activities that help improve health and wellbeing include those that ensure that basic needs are met, that individuals have a sense of purpose, that they feel able to achieve important personal goals and participate in society.

Supporting the county council's role as a corporate parent

The Corporate Parenting Board ensures that Children Looked After have the same opportunities as their peers to a good quality of life. Activities that help support this are those that help improve health and wellbeing outcomes for children and young people who are looked after and those that support them to be prepared for the future. (See Corporate Parenting Board website at lccintranet2/corporate/web/view.asp?siteid=4183&pageid=17628&e=e for more information).

As identified previously the service is provided in a way where adjustments required due to accessibility or communication requirements etc. will be accommodated wherever practicable.

15) Taking into consideration all the information you have collected in answering the previous questions, what are the changes/actions you will carry out to tackle any issues you have identified? These may be – no change to the service; adjust the proposal; continue with proposed changes or stop the changes and reconsider.

If going ahead with changes, what are the factors you have balanced – e.g. financial, operational – which you have considered alongside your Analysis findings (countervailing factors).

No changes to the service in terms of reduction. The only changes will be to give wider choice – for example being able to make a notice appointment online as well as birth and death appointments.

16) When will you review your actions?

Monitoring should be at least half yearly in line with the business planning performance management cycle.

The service is reviewed annually in terms of reviewing the service/business plan and customer feedback and the ethos of equality and diversity feeds into that annual process.

17) When will you report progress on your actions and who to?

Progress on actions should be reported to relevant county councillors	з, officers, partnerships and groups etc

18) When will you review your service or service plan?

Name of officer completing this template - Steve Lloyd

Role Head of Registration and Coroners Services
