Guidance on the law relating to the continuous review of the Definitive Map and Statement of Public Rights of Way

Definitions

The Wildlife and Countryside Act 1981 gives the following definitions of the public rights of way which are able to be recorded on the Definitive Map:-

Footpath – means a highway over which the public have a right of way on foot only, other than such a highway at the side of a public road; these rights are without prejudice to any other public rights over the way;

Bridleway – means a highway over which the public have the following, but no other, rights of way, that is to say, a right of way on foot and a right of way on horseback or leading a horse, with or without a right to drive animals of any description along the highway; these rights are without prejudice to any other public rights over the way;

Restricted Byway – means a highway over which the public have a right of way on foot, on horseback or leading a horse and a right of way for vehicles other than mechanically propelled vehicles, with or without a right to drive animals along the highway.
(Mechanically propelled vehicles do not include vehicles in S189 Road Traffic Act 1988)

Byway open to all traffic (BOATs) – means a highway over which the public have a right of way for vehicular and all other kinds of traffic. These routes are recorded as Byways recognising their particular type of vehicular highway being routes whose character make them more likely to be used by walkers and horseriders because of them being more suitable for these types of uses;

Duty of the Surveying Authority

Section 53 of the Wildlife and Countryside Act 1981 provides that a Surveying Authority shall keep the Definitive Map and Statement under continuous review and as soon as reasonably practicable after the occurrence of any of a number of prescribed events by Order make such modifications to the Map and Statement as appear to them to be requisite in consequence of the occurrence of that event.

Orders following “evidential events”

The prescribed events include –

Sub Section (3)

- b) the expiration, in relation to any way in the area to which the Map relates, of any period such that the enjoyment by the public of the way during that period raises a presumption that the way has been dedicated as a public path or restricted byway;
- c) the discovery by the Authority of evidence which (when considered with all other relevant evidence available to them) shows –
  - (i) that a right of way which is not shown in the Map and Statement subsists or is reasonably alleged to subsist over land in the area to which the map relates, being a right of way such that the land over which the right subsists is a public path, a restricted byway or, a byway open to all traffic; or
  - (ii) that a highway shown in the Map and Statement as a highway of a particular description ought to be there shown as a highway of a different description; or
  - (iii) that there is no public right of way over land shown in the Map and Statement as a highway of any description, or any other particulars contained in the Map and Statement require modification.

The modifications which may be made by an Order shall include the addition to the statement of particulars as to:-

- (a) the position and width of any public path or byway open to all traffic which is or is to be shown on the Map; and
- (b) any limitations or conditions affecting the public right of way thereover.

Orders following "legal events"

Other events include

"The coming into operation of any enactment or instrument or any other event" whereby a highway is stopped up diverted widened or extended or has ceased to be a highway of a particular description or has been created and a Modification Order can be made to amend the Definitive Map and Statement to reflect these legal events".

Since 6th April 2008 Diversion Orders, Creation Orders, Extinguishment Orders under the Highways Act 1980 (and other types of Orders) can themselves include provisions to alter the Definitive Map under the new S53A of the Wildlife and Countryside Act 1981 and be "combined orders" combining both the Order to divert and an order to alter the Map. The alteration to the Definitive Map will take place on the date the extinguishment, diversion or creation etc comes fully into effect.

Government Policy - DEFRA Circular 1/09

In considering the duty outlined above the Authority should have regard to the Department of the Environment Food and Rural Affairs' Rights of Way Circular (1/09). This replaces earlier Circulars.

This Circular sets out DEFRA's policy on public rights of way and its view of the law. It can be viewed on the DEFRA web site. There are sections in the circular on informing and liaising, managing and maintaining the rights of way network, the Orders under the Highways Act 1980 and also sections on the Definitive Map and Modification Orders. Many aspects are considered such as -

When considering a deletion the Circular says - "4.33 The evidence needed to remove what is shown as a public right from such an authoritative record as the definitive map and statement – and this would equally apply to the downgrading of a way with “higher” rights to a way with “lower” rights, as well as complete deletion – will need to fulfil certain stringent requirements.

These are that:

- the evidence must be new – an order to remove a right of way cannot be founded simply on the re-examination of evidence known at the time the definitive map was surveyed and made.
- the evidence must be of sufficient substance to displace the presumption that the definitive map is correct; □ the evidence must be cogent.

While all three conditions must be met they will be assessed in the order listed.

Before deciding to make an order, authorities must take into consideration all other relevant evidence available to them concerning the status of the right of way and they must be satisfied that the evidence shows on the balance of probability that the map or statement should be modified."

Where a route is recorded on the List of Streets as an Unclassified County Road the Circular says – "4.42 In relation to an application under the 1981 Act to add a route to a definitive map of rights of way, the inclusion of an unclassified road on the 1980 Act list of highways maintained at public expense may provide evidence of vehicular rights.

However, this must be considered with all other relevant evidence in order to determine the nature and extent of those rights. It would be possible for a way described as an unclassified road on a list prepared under the 1980 Act, or elsewhere, to be added to a definitive map of public rights of way provided the route fulfils the criteria set out in Part III of the 1981 Act. However, authorities will need to examine the history of such routes and the rights that may exist over them on a case by case basis in order to determine their status."

Definitive Maps

The process for the preparation and revision of definitive maps was introduced by Part III of the National Parks and Access to the Countryside Act 1949.

Information about rights of way was compiled through surveys carried out by Parish Councils (or District Councils where there was no Parish Council) and transmitted to the Surveying Authority (County or County Borough Councils) in the form of Survey Maps and cards.

The Surveying Authority published a draft map and statement and there was a period for the making of representations and objections to the draft map. The Authority could determine to modify the map, but if there was an objection to that modification the Authority was obliged to hold a hearing to determine whether or not to uphold that modification with a subsequent appeal to the Secretary of State against the decision.

After all appeals had been determined the Authority then published a Provisional Map and Statement. Owners, lessees or occupiers of land were entitled to appeal to Quarter Sessions (now the Crown Court) against the provisional map on various grounds.

Once this process had been completed the Authority published the Definitive Map and Statement. The Map and Statement was subject to five yearly reviews which followed the same stages.

The Map speaks as from a specific date (the relevant date) which is the date at which the rights of way shown on it were deemed to exist. For historic reasons different parts of the County have different Definitive Maps with different relevant dates, but for the major part of the County the Definitive Map was published in 1962, with a relevant date of the 1st January 1953 and the first review of the Definitive Map was published in 1975 with a relevant date of 1st September 1966.

Test to be applied when making an Order

The provisions of the Wildlife and Countryside Act 1981 set out the tests which must be addressed in deciding that the map should be altered.

S53 permits both upgrading and downgrading of highways and deletions from the map.

The statutory test at S53(3)(b) refers to the expiration of a period of time and use by the public such that a presumption of dedication is raised.

The statutory test at S53(3)(c)(i) comprises two separate questions, one of which must be answered in the affirmative before an Order is made under that subsection. There has to be evidence discovered. The claimed right of way has to be found on balance to subsist (Test A) or able to be reasonably alleged to subsist. (Test B).

This second test B is easier to satisfy but please note it is the higher Test A which needs to be satisfied in confirming a route.

The statutory test at S53(3)(c)(ii) again refers to the discovery of evidence that the highway on the definitive map ought to be shown as a different status.

The statutory test at S53(3)(c)(iii) again refers to evidence being discovered that there is no public right of way of any description after all or that there is evidence that particulars in the map of statement need to be modified.

The O'Keefe judgement reminds Order Making Authorities that they should make their own assessment of the evidence and not accept unquestioningly what officers place before them.

All evidence must be considered and weighed and a view taken on its relevance and effect.

An Order Making Authority should reach a conclusion on the balance of probabilities. The balance of probability test demands a comparative assessment of the evidence on opposing sides. This is a complex balancing act.

Recording a "new" route

For a route to have become a highway it must have been dedicated by the owner.

Once a route is a highway it remains a highway, even though it may fall into non use and perhaps become part of a garden.

This is the position until a legal event causing the highway to cease can be shown to have occurred, or the land on which the highway runs is destroyed, perhaps by erosion which would mean that the highway length ceases to exist.

Sometimes there is documentary evidence of actual dedication but more often a dedication can be inferred because of how the landowner appears to have treated the route and given it over to public use (dedication at Common law) or dedication can be deemed to have occurred if certain criteria laid down in Statute are fulfilled (dedication under s31 Highways Act).

Dedication able to be inferred at Common law

A common law dedication of a highway may be inferred if the evidence points clearly and unequivocally to an intention on the part of the landowner to dedicate. The burden of proof is on the Claimant to prove a dedication. Evidence of use of the route by the public and how an owner acted towards them is one of the factors which may be taken into account in deciding whether a path has been dedicated. No minimum period of use is necessary. All the circumstances must be taken into account. How a landowner viewed a route may also be indicated in documents and maps

However, a landowner may rely on a variety of evidence to indicate that he did not intend to dedicate, including signs indicating the way was private, blocking off the way or turning people off the path, or granting permission or accepting payment to use the path.

There is no need to know who a landowner was.

Use needs to be by the public. This would seem to require the users to be a number of people who together may sensibly be taken to represent the people as a whole/the local community. Use wholly or largely by local people may still be use by the public. Use of a way by trades people, postmen, estate workers or by employees of the landowner to get to work, or for the purpose of doing business with the landowner, or by agreement or licence of the landowner or on payment would not normally be sufficient. Use by friends of or persons known to the landowner would be less cogent evidence than use by other persons.

The use also needs to be “as of right” which would mean that it had to be open, not secretly or by force or with permission. Open use would arguably give the landowner the opportunity to challenge the use. Toleration by the landowner of a use is not inconsistent with use as of right. Case law would indicate that the use has to be considered from the landowner’s perspective as to whether the use, in all the circumstances, is such as to suggest to a reasonable landowner the exercise of a public right of way.

The use would have to be of a sufficient level for a landowner to have been aware of it. The use must be by such a number as might reasonably have been expected if the way had been unquestioningly a highway. Use must not be interrupted.

Current use (vehicular or otherwise) is not required for a route to be considered a Byway Open to All Traffic but past use by the public using vehicles will need to be sufficiently evidenced from which to infer the dedication of a vehicular route. Please note that the right to use mechanically propelled vehicles may since have been extinguished.

Dedication deemed to have taken place (Statutory test)

By virtue of Section 31 of the Highways Act 1980 dedication of a path as a highway may be presumed from use of the way by the public as of right – not secretly, not by force nor by permission without interruption for a full period of twenty years unless there is sufficient evidence that there was no intention during the twenty year period to dedicate it.

The 20 year period is computed back from the date the existence of the right of way is called into question.

A landowner may prevent a presumption of dedication arising by erecting notices indicating that the path is private. Further under Section 31(6) a landowner may deposit with the Highway Authority a map (of a scale of not less than 1:10560 (6 inches to the mile) and statement showing those ways, if any, which he or she agrees are dedicated as highways. This statement must be followed by statutory declarations. These statutory declarations used to have to be renewed at not more than 6 yearly intervals, but the interval is now 10 years. The declaration would state that no additional rights of way have been dedicated. These provisions do not preclude the other ways open to the landowner to show the way has not been dedicated.

If the criteria in section 31 are satisfied a highway can properly be deemed to have been dedicated. This deemed dedication is despite a landowner now protesting or being the one to now challenge the use as it is considered too late for him to now evidence his lack of intention when he had failed to do something to sufficiently evidence this during the previous twenty years.

The statutory presumption can arise in the absence of a known landowner. Once the correct type of user is proved on balance, the presumption arises, whether or not the landowner is known.

Guidance on the various elements of the Statutory criteria;-

- Use – see above as to sufficiency of use. The cogency, credibility and consistency of user evidence should be considered.
- By the public – see above as to users which may be considered “the public”.
- As of right - see above
- Without interruption - for a deemed dedication the use must have been without interruption. The route should not have been blocked with the intention of excluding the users. The period of time footpaths and bridleways were closed for Foot and Mouth in 2001 is an interruption.
- For a full period of twenty years - Use by different people, each for periods of less than twenty years will suffice if, taken together, they total a continuous period of twenty years or more. The period must end with the route being "called into question".
- Calling into question - there must be something done which is sufficient at least to make it likely that some of the users are made aware that the owner has challenged their right to use the way as a highway. Barriers, signage and challenges to users can all call a route into question. An application for a Modification Order is of itself sufficient to be a “calling into question” (as provided in the new statutory provisions S31 (7a and 7B) Highways Act 1980). It is not necessary that it be the landowner who brings the route into question.
- Sufficient evidence of a lack of intention to dedicate - this would not need to be evidenced for the whole of the twenty year period. It would be unlikely that lack of intention could be sufficiently evidenced in the absence of overt and contemporaneous acts on the part of the owner. The intention not to dedicate does have to be brought to the attention of the users of the route such that a reasonable user would be able to understand that the landowner was intending to disabuse him of the notion that the land was a public highway.

Documentary evidence

By virtue of Section 32 of the Highways Act 1980 in considering whether a highway has been dedicated, maps plans and histories of the locality are admissible as evidence and must be given such weight as is justified by the circumstances including the antiquity of the document, status of the persons by whom and the purpose for which the document was made or compiled and the custody from which it is produced.

In assessing whether or not a highway has been dedicated reference is commonly made to old commercial maps of the County, Ordnance Survey maps, sometimes private estate maps and other documents, other public documents such as Inclosure or Tithe Awards, plans deposited in connection with private Acts of Parliament establishing railways, canals or other public works, records compiled in connection with the valuation of land for the purposes of the assessment of increment value duty and the Finance Act 1910. Works of local history may also be relevant, as may be the records of predecessor highway authorities and the information gained in connection with the preparation and review of the Definitive Map.

It should be stressed that it is rare for a single document or piece of information to be conclusive (although some documents are of more value than others e.g. Inclosure Awards where the Commissioners were empowered to allot and set out highways). It is necessary to look at the evidence as a whole to see if it builds up a picture of the route being dedicated as a highway.

It should be noted that Ordnance Survey Maps (other than recent series which purport to show public rights of way and which derive their information from the Definitive Map) contain a disclaimer to the effect that the recording of a highway or right of way does not imply that it has any status. The maps reflect what the map makers found on the ground.

Synergy between pieces of highway status evidence – co-ordination as distinct from repetition would significantly increase the collective impact of the documents.

Recording vehicular rights

Historical evidence can indicate that a route carries vehicular rights and following the Bakewell Management case in 2004 (House of Lords) it is considered that vehicular rights could be acquired on routes by long use during years even since 1930. However, in May 2006 Part 6 of the Natural Environment and Rural Communities Act 2006 came into force. Public rights of way for mechanically propelled vehicles are now extinguished on routes shown on the definitive map as footpaths, bridleways or restricted byways unless one of eight exceptions applies. In essence mechanical vehicle rights no longer exist unless a route is recorded in a particular way on the Council's Definitive Map or List of Streets or one of the other exceptions apply. In effect the provisions of the Act curtail the future scope for applications to record a Byway Open to All Traffic to be successful.

The exceptions whereby mechanical vehicular rights are "saved" may be summarised as follows-

- 1) main lawful public use of the route 2001-2006 was use for mechanically propelled vehicles
- 2) that the route was not on the Definitive Map but was recorded on the List of Streets.

- 3) that the route was especially created to be a highway for mechanically propelled vehicles
- 4) that the route was constructed under statutory powers as a road intended for use by mechanically propelled vehicles
- 5) that the route was dedicated by use of mechanically propelled vehicles before December 1930
- 6) that a proper application was made before 20th January 2005 for a Modification Order to record the route as a Byway Open to All Traffic (BOAT)
- 7) that a Regulatory Committee had already made a decision re an application for a BOAT before 6th April 2006
- 8) that an application for a Modification Order has already been made before 6th April 2006 for a BOAT and at 6th April 2006 use of the way for mechanically propelled vehicles was reasonably necessary to enable that applicant to access land he has an interest in, even if not actually used.

It is certainly the case that any application to add a byway to the Definitive Map and Statement must still be processed and determined even though the outcome may now be that a vehicular public right of way existed before May 2006 but has been extinguished for mechanically propelled vehicles and that the route should be recorded as a restricted byway.

Downgrading a route or taking a route off the Definitive Map

In such matters it is clear that the evidence to be considered relates to whether on balance it is shown that a mistake was made when the right of way was first recorded.

In the Trevelyan case (Court of Appeal 2001) it was considered that where a right of way is marked on the Definitive Map there is an initial presumption that it exists. It should be assumed that the proper procedures were followed and thus evidence which made it reasonably arguable that it existed was available when it was put on the Map. The standard of proof required to justify a finding that no such right of way exists is on the balance of probabilities and evidence of some substance is required to outweigh the initial presumption.

Authorities will be aware of the need, as emphasised by the Court of Appeal, to maintain an authoritative Map and Statement of highest attainable accuracy. "The evidence needed to remove a public right from such an authoritative record will need to be cogent. The procedures for defining and recording public rights of way have, in successive legislation, been comprehensive and thorough. Whilst they do not preclude errors, particularly where recent research has uncovered previously unknown evidence, or where the review procedures have never been implemented, they would tend to suggest that it is unlikely that a large number of errors would have been perpetuated for up to 40 years without being questioned earlier."

Taking one route off and replacing it with an alternative

In some cases there will be no dispute that a public right of way exists between two points, but there will be one route shown on the definitive map which is claimed to be in error and an alternative route claimed to be the actual correct highway.

There is a need to consider whether, in accordance with section 53(3)(c)(i) a right of way is shown to subsist or is reasonably alleged to subsist and also, in accordance with section 53(3)(c)(iii) whether there is no public right of way on the other route.

The guidance published under the statutory provisions make it clear that the evidence to establish that a right of way should be removed from the authoritative record will need to be cogent. In the case of R on the application of Leicestershire County Council v SSEFR in 2003, Mr Justice Collins said that there “has to be a balance drawn between the existence of the definitive map and the route shown on it which would have to be removed and the evidence to support the placing on the map of, in effect a new right of way.” “If there is doubt that there is sufficient evidence to show that the correct route is other than that shown on the map, then what is shown on the map must stay.”

The court considered that if it could merely be found that it was reasonable to allege that the alternative existed, this would not be sufficient to remove what is shown on the map. It is advised that, unless in extraordinary circumstances, evidence of an alternative route which satisfied only the lower “Test B” (see page 4) would not be sufficiently cogent evidence to remove the existing recorded route from the map.

Confirming an Order

An Order is not effective until confirmed.

The County Council may confirm unopposed orders. If there are objections the Order is sent to the Secretary of State for determination. The County Council usually promotes its Orders and actively seeks confirmation by the Secretary of State.

Until recently it was thought that the test to be applied to confirm an Order was the same test as to make the order, which may have been under the lower Test B for the recording of a “new” route. However, the Honourable Mr Justice Evans-Lombe heard the matter of Todd and Bradley v SSEFR in May 2004 and on 22nd June 2004 decided that confirming an Order made under S53(3)(c)(i) “implies a revisiting by the authority or Secretary of State of the material upon which the original order was made with a view to subjecting it to a more stringent test at the confirmation stage.” And that to confirm the Order the Secretary of State (or the authority) must be “satisfied of a case for the subsistence of the right of way in question on the balance of probabilities.” i.e. that Test A is satisfied.

It is advised that there may be cases where an Order to record a new route can be made because there is sufficient evidence that a highway is reasonably alleged to subsist, but unless Committee also consider that there is enough evidence, on balance of probabilities, that the route can be said to exist, the Order may not be confirmed as an unopposed Order by the County Council. This would mean that an Order could be made, but not confirmed as unopposed, nor could confirmation actively be supported by the County Council should an opposed Order be submitted to the Secretary of State.

Revised basic Guidance on the law relating to certain Orders to be made under the Highways Act 1980

- Extinguishment Orders under s118B
- Extinguishment Orders under s118C
- Creation Order under s26

Committee members have received a copy of the relevant sections from the Highways Act 1980 (as amended). The following is to remind Members of the criteria for the making of the Orders and to offer some guidance.

DEFRA's Rights of Way Circular (1/09 version 2) sets out DEFRA's policy on public rights of way and its view of the law. It can be found on DEFRA's web site. Orders made under the Highways Act 1980 are considered in Section 5 where the Guidance says that "the statutory provisions for creating, diverting and extinguishing public rights of way in the Highways Act 1980 have been framed to protect both the public's rights and the interests of owners and occupiers. They also protect the interests of bodies such as statutory undertakers."

Often the legal test requires the Committee to be satisfied as to the expediency of something. It is suggested that for something to be expedient it is appropriate and suitable to the circumstances and may incline towards being of an advantage even if not particularly fair. Something which is expedient would seem to facilitate your achieving a desired end.

Whether something is as convenient or not substantially less convenient may need to be considered. It is suggested that convenient refers to being suitable and easy to use.

Under S40 of the Natural Environment and Rural Communities Act 2006, every public authority must, in exercising its functions, have regard, so far as is consistent with the proper exercise of those functions, to the purpose of conserving biodiversity.

Under Section 11 of the Countryside Act 1968 in the exercise of their functions relating to land under any enactment every Minister, government department and public body shall have regard to the desirability of conserving the natural beauty and amenity of the countryside.

Diversion Order s119

TO MAKE AN ORDER

To be satisfied that it is expedient in the interests of the owner, lessee or Occupier.

OR

To be satisfied that it is expedient in the interests of the public

To be satisfied that the Order will not alter a point of termination at all if it is a cul de sac route (ending at a beauty spot for example).

OR

If the route terminates at a highway to be satisfied that the termination point is only being moved to another point on the same highway or to another highway connected to it and the point is substantially as convenient to the public.

To have due regard to the needs of agriculture and forestry and the desirability of conserving flora, fauna and geological and physiographical features.

TO CONFIRM THE ORDER IF UNOPPOSED OR SEEK CONFIRMATION FROM THE SECRETARY OF STATE (AT A PUBLIC INQUIRY IF NECESSARY) IF THE ORDER IS OPPOSED

To be satisfied that it is expedient in the interests of the owner, lessee or occupier

OR

To be satisfied that it is expedient in the interests of the public

To be satisfied that the route will not be substantially less convenient to the public.

That it is expedient to confirm it having regard to the effect the diversion would have on public enjoyment of the path or way as a whole.

That it is expedient to confirm it having regard to the effect on land served by the existing right of way (compensation can be taken into account)

That it is expedient to confirm it having regard to the effect on the land over which the "new" section runs and any land held with it (compensation can be taken into account).

Also having regard to any material provision of any Rights of Way Improvement Plan.

To have due regard to the needs of agriculture and forestry and the desirability of conserving flora, fauna and geological and physiographical features.

That there is no apparatus belonging to or used by statutory undertakers under, in, upon, over, along or across the land crossed by the present definitive route unless the statutory undertakers have consented to the confirmation of the Order (consent not to be unreasonably withheld).

GUIDANCE

The point of termination being as substantially convenient is a matter of judgement subject to the test of reasonableness. Convenience would have its natural and ordinary meaning and refer to such matters as whether the new point of termination facilitated the access of the highway network and accommodated user's normal use of the network.

That the diverted path is not substantially less convenient would mean convenience again being considered. The wording in the Statute allows the diversion to be slightly less convenient but it must not be substantially less so. The length of the diversion, difficulty of walking it, effect on users who may approach the diversion from different directions are factors to be considered.

The effect on public enjoyment of the whole route has to be considered. It would be possible that a proposed diversion may be as convenient but made the route less enjoyable (perhaps it was less scenic). Alternatively the diversion may give the route greater public enjoyment but be substantially less convenient (being less accessible or longer than the existing path).

In deciding whether it is expedient to confirm a public path diversion order in the exercise of the power conferred by section 119(6) of the 1980 Act, the decision-maker must have regard to the effect of the matters specified above (and any material provision of a rights of way improvement plan) and may have regard to any other relevant matter, including if appropriate the interests of the owner or occupier of the land over which the path currently passes, or the wider public interest. The expediency test therefore brings in having regard to various issues. This approach was confirmed as correct by the Court of Appeal this year (2021) in The Open Spaces Society v Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs.

It may be that the grounds to make an Order are satisfied but the Committee may be unhappy that the route can satisfy the confirmation test. It is suggested that in such circumstances the Order should be made but the Committee should consider deferring the decision on whether to confirm it (if there are no objections) or (if there are objections) whether to instruct officers not to even send the Order to the Secretary of State for confirmation or to instruct to submit the Order to the Secretary of State and promote the confirmation of same. The Council has a discretion whether to submit this type of Order to the Secretary of State. It is not obliged to just because it has made the Order.

Under amended provisions, the "new" section of route will "appear" on confirmation of the Order (or a set number of days thereafter) but the "old" route will remain until the new route is certified as fit for use. It would appear that the public could quickly have the use of a new section which is fit for use as soon as confirmed but if the new route is unfit for use for a long time, the old line of the Right of Way is still there for the public to use.

It is advised that when considering orders made under Section 119(6), whether the right of way will be/ will not be substantially less convenient to the public in consequence of the diversion, an equitable comparison between the existing and proposed routes can only be made by similarly disregarding any temporary circumstances preventing or diminishing the use of the existing route by the public. Therefore, in all cases where this test is to be applied, the convenience of the existing route is to be assessed as if the way were unobstructed and maintained to a standard suitable for those users who have the right to use it.

It would appear that a way created by a Diversion Order may follow an existing right of way for some but not most or all of its length.

Diversion Orders under s119A

TO MAKE AN ORDER

To be satisfied that it is expedient in the interests of the safety of members of the public using or likely to use a footpath or bridleway which crosses a railway otherwise than by a tunnel or bridge

To be satisfied that the Order will not alter a point of termination at all if it is a cul de sac route (ending at a beauty spot for example).

OR

If the route terminates at a highway to be satisfied that the termination point is being moved to another point on the same highway or to another highway connected to it.

To have due regard to the needs of agriculture and forestry and the desirability of conserving flora, fauna and geological and physiographical features.

Whether the railway operator be required to maintain the diversion route.

Whether the rail operator enter into an agreement to defray or contribute towards compensation, expenses or barriers and signage, bringing the alternative route into fit condition.

TO CONFIRM AN ORDER IF UNOPPOSED OR SEEK CONFIRMATION FROM THE SECRETARY OF STATE (AT A PUBLIC INQUIRY IF NECESSARY) IF THE ORDER IS OPPOSED

To be satisfied that it is expedient to do so having regard to all the circumstances and in particular to –

Whether it is reasonably practicable to make the crossing safe for use by them public; and

What arrangements have been made for ensuring that any appropriate barriers and signs are erected and maintained.

A rail crossing diversion order shall not be confirmed unless statutory undertakers whose apparatus is affected have consented to the confirmation (such consent not to be unreasonably withheld).

GUIDANCE

The statutory provisions make it clear that the diversion can be onto land of another owner lessee or occupier

A change to the point of termination has to be onto a highway but the statutory provisions do not insist that the point has to be substantially as convenient (as is the requirement in S119).

The grounds for this type of diversion order refer to balancing the safety of continuing to use the level crossing and whether it could be made safe rather than divert the path. The information from the rail operator is therefore considered to be very important.

Diversion Orders under s119B

Diversion Orders under s119C

Extinguishment Order under s118

TO MAKE AN ORDER

To be satisfied that it is expedient that the path be stopped up on the ground that the footpath or bridleway is not needed for public use.

To have due regard to the needs of agriculture and forestry and the desirability of conserving flora, fauna and geological and physiographical features.

TO CONFIRM THE ORDER IF UNOPPOSED OR SEEK CONFIRMATION FROM THE SECRETARY OF STATE (AT A PUBLIC INQUIRY IF NECESSARY) IF THE ORDER IS OPPOSED

To be satisfied that it is expedient to do so.

To have regard to the extent to which it appears that the path would be likely to be used by the public.

To have regard to the effect which the extinguishment would have as respects land served by the path (compensation can be taken into account).

Where the Order is linked with a Creation Order or a Diversion Order then the Authority or Inspector can have regard to the extent to which the Creation Order or Diversion Order would provide an alternative path.

That there is no apparatus belonging to or used by statutory undertakers under in, upon, over, along or across the land crossed by the present definitive route unless the statutory undertakers have consented to the confirmation of the Order (consent not to be unreasonably withheld).

GUIDANCE

Temporary circumstances preventing or diminishing the use of the path shall be disregarded. These include obstructions, which are likely to be removed. Trees and 4 feet wide hedges have been held to be temporary and even an electricity sub station. Many obstructions seem therefore to be able to be disregarded but this does make it difficult to assess what the use of the path would be if the obstruction were not there.

To be satisfied that it is expedient to confirm means that other considerations other than use could be taken into account perhaps safety, perhaps cost.

An Order can be confirmed if it is thought that, despite the fact that it was likely to be used, it is not needed because of a convenient path nearby.

Councils are advised to take care to avoid creating a cul de sac when extinguishing only part of a way.

The reference to having regard to needs of agriculture includes the breeding or keeping of horses.

Extinguishment Orders under s118A

TO MAKE AN ORDER

An Order under this section can be made where it appears expedient to stop up a footpath or bridleway in the interests of the safety of members of the public using or likely to use a footpath or bridleway which crosses a railway, other than by tunnel or bridge.

TO CONFIRM AN ORDER IF UNOPPOSED OR SEEK CONFIRMATION FROM THE SECRETARY OF STATE (AT A PUBLIC INQUIRY IF NECESSARY) IF THE ORDER IS OPPOSED

The Order can be confirmed if satisfied that it is expedient to do so having regard to all the circumstances and in particular whether it is reasonably practicable to make the crossing safe for use by the public and what arrangements have been made for ensuring that, if the Order is confirmed, any appropriate barriers and signs are erected and maintained.

GUIDANCE

It is noted that there is not the same requirements as under S118 to consider need for the route. Instead it is safety which is the reason for the Order being made to close the right of way.

Extinguishment Orders under s118B

Section 118B enables footpaths, bridleways, restricted byways or byways open to all traffic to be extinguished permanently by two types of Special Extinguishment Order.

TO MAKE THE FIRST TYPE OF S118B ORDER

The highway concerned has to be in an area specially designated by the Secretary of State.

To be satisfied that it is expedient that the highway be extinguished for the purpose of preventing or reducing crime which would otherwise disrupt the life of the community.

To be satisfied that premises adjoining or adjacent to the highway are affected by high levels of crime and

That the existence of the highway is facilitating the persistent commission of criminal offences.

TO CONFIRM THE ORDER IF UNOPPOSED OR SEEK CONFIRMATION FROM THE SECRETARY OF STATE (AT A PUBLIC INQUIRY IF NECESSARY) IF THE ORDER IS OPPOSED

The Order can be confirmed if all the reasons for making the Order (above) are still satisfied and also

That it is expedient having regard to all circumstances

Also having regard to whether and to what extent the Order is consistent with any strategy for the reduction of crime and disorder prepared under S6 Crime and Disorder Act 1998 and

Having regard to the availability of a reasonably convenient alternative route or, if no such route is available, whether it would be reasonably practicable to divert the highway rather than stopping it up, and

Having regard to the effect the extinguishment would have as respects land served by the highway account being taken of the provisions available for compensation.

TO MAKE THE SECOND TYPE OF S118B ORDER

To be satisfied that the highway crosses land occupied for the purposes of a school.

That the extinguishment is expedient for the purpose of protecting the pupils or staff from violence or the threat of violence, harassment, alarm or distress arising from unlawful activity or any other risk to their health or safety arising from such activity.

TO CONFIRM THE ORDER IF UNOPPOSED OR SEEK CONFIRMATION FROM THE SECRETARY OF STATE (AT A PUBLIC INQUIRY IF NECESSARY) IF THE ORDER IS OPPOSED

The Order can be confirmed if all the reasons for making the Order (above) are still satisfied and also

That it is expedient having regard to all circumstances

That regard is had to any other measures that have been or could be taken for improving or maintaining the security of the school

That regard is had as to whether it is likely that the Order will result in a substantial improvement in that security

That regard is had to the availability of a reasonably convenient alternative route or, if no such route is available, whether it would be reasonably practicable to divert the highway rather than stopping it up, and

Having regard to the effect the extinguishment would have as respects land served by the highway account being taken of the provisions available for compensation.

GUIDANCE

Under S118B there are specific criteria to be satisfied before an Order can take effect and to remove a highway from the network of rights of way. It should be noted that an Order extinguishes the footpath (or other type of highway) permanently. Members of the Committee may also be aware of the power, since April 2006, of the Council to make Gating Orders whereby highway rights remain but subject to restrictions which are reviewed annually and will eventually be lifted.

Guidance under this section will be made available when required

Extinguishment Orders under s118C

Guidance under this section will be made available when required

Creation Order under s26

TO MAKE AN ORDER

To be satisfied that there is a need for the footpath or bridleway and

To be satisfied that it is expedient that the path be created

To have regard to the extent the path would add to the convenience or enjoyment of a substantial section of the public, or

To have regard to the extent the path would add to the convenience of persons resident in the area

To have regard to the effect on the rights of persons interested in the land, taking compensation provisions into account.

To have due regard to the needs of agriculture and forestry and the desirability of conserving flora, fauna and geological and physiographical features.

The same test as above.

GUIDANCE

Again there is convenience to consider.

There may also need to be some consensus as to what constitutes a substantial section of the public.

Persons interested in the land may include owners and tenants and maybe mortgagees.

The reference to having regard to needs of agriculture includes the breeding or keeping of horses.

Guidance on the actions to be taken following submission of a Public Path Order to the Secretary of State

Procedural step

Once an Order has been made it is advertised it may attract objections and representations. These are considered by the Authority and efforts made to get them withdrawn. If there are any objections or representations duly made and not subsequently withdrawn the Authority may -

1. Consider that information is now available or circumstances have changed such that the confirmation test would be difficult to satisfy and that the Order be not proceeded with;
2. Consider that the Order should be sent into the Secretary of State with the authority promoting the Order and submitting evidence and documentation according to which ever procedure the Secretary of State adopts to deal with the Order; or
3. Consider that the Order be sent to the Secretary of State with the authority taking a neutral stance as to confirmation

Recovery of Costs from an Applicant

The Authority may only charge a third party if it has power to do so. We can charge an applicant for a public path order but only up to a particular point in the procedure – in particular, once the Order is with the Secretary of State we cannot recharge the costs incurred promoting the Order at a public inquiry, hearing or by written representations.

The power to charge is found in the - Local Authorities (Recovery of Costs for Public Path Orders) Regulations 1993/407

Power to charge in respect of the making and confirmation of public path orders

(1) Where—

- (a) the owner, lessee or occupier of land or the operator of a railway requests an authority to make a public path order under section 26, 118, 118A, 119 or 119A of the 1980 Act, or
- (b) any person requests an authority to make a public path order under section 257 or 261(2) of the 1990 Act, and the authority comply with that request, they may impose on the person making the request any of the charges mentioned in paragraph (2) below.

(2) Those charges are—

(a) a charge in respect of the costs incurred in the making of the order; and

(b) a charge in respect of each of the following local advertisements, namely the local advertisements on the making, on the confirmation, and on the coming into operation or force, of the order.

Amount of charge

(1) Subject to paragraphs (2) and (3) below, the amount of a charge shall be at the authority's discretion.

(3) The amount of a charge in respect of any one of the local advertisements referred to in regulation 3(2)(b) shall not exceed the cost of placing one advertisement in one newspaper

Refund of charges

The authority shall, on application by the person who requested them to make the public path order, refund a charge where—

(a) they fail to confirm an unopposed order; or

(b) having received representations or objections which have been duly made, and have not been withdrawn, the authority fail to submit the public path order to the Secretary of State for confirmation, without the agreement of the person who requested the order; or

(c) the order requested was an order made under section 26 of the 1980 Act and proceedings preliminary to the confirmation of that order were not taken concurrently with proceedings preliminary to the confirmation of an order made under section 118 of the 1980 Act; or

(d) the public path order is not confirmed by the authority or, on submission to the Secretary of State, by him, on the ground that it was invalidly made.

Policy Guidance on these Regulations is found in Circular 11/1996. Administrative charges can be charged up to the point where the order is submitted for determination and thereafter for advertising the confirmation decision and any separate notice of the Order coming into operation or force.

Careful consideration of stance

Recently there has careful analysis of all the work officers do and the cost of these resources and how to best use the resources.

The above Regulations have been considered and it is advised that the test as to when an Order should be promoted be clarified and applied consistently.

It is advised that consideration needs to be given to whether the diversion is of such little or no real public benefit such that resources should not be allocated to promoting the Order once submitted although where there is no substantial disbenefits to the public the applicants be able to promote the Order themselves.

This is not the same as considering whether the Order can be confirmed as set out in the statute. It is consideration of what actions the Authority should take on submitting the Order. It is not an easy consideration but officers will be able to advise in each particular matter.

Brief Summary

Proposed creation by agreement of a publicly maintainable bridleway across the Old Tram Bridge and any replacement bridge on same line providing access to and from Avenham Park, Preston.

Recommendation

- (i) That the proposal to dedicate a bridleway over the Old Tram Bridge and any replacement bridge on the same line crossing the River Ribble along the approach ramp at the north end of the bridge to bottom of the ramp on the south end and down the slope towards the river, as shown on the plan attached as U-Y, be accepted on the main terms as set out in the report.
- (ii) That the Director of Environment and Planning be authorised to finalise and enter into a Public Path Creation Agreement under Section 25 of the Highways Act 1980 between Preston City Council, as the owner of the Old Tram Bridge and its replacement, and Lancashire County Council, with completion at a time and to include wording in accordance with the main terms as set out in the report to dedicate a length of bridleway marked by a bold dashed line on the attached map and annotated U-Y.
- (iii) That Committee note the recording of bridleway (BW0602072) on the Definitive Map and the making of an Order in 2003 to record bridleway rights over part of the route, but both are believed to have been in error. Officers will take any appropriate action to resolve these issues in due course.

Detail

A bridge known as the Old Tram Bridge (the Bridge) provides access to and from Avenham Park over the River Ribble. The Bridge is owned by Preston City Council, having been acquired by its predecessor, Preston Corporation on 17 July 1872 when Avenham Park and Miller Park were being completed. The original wooden structure was replaced by Preston City Council's predecessor in the 1960s with the current concrete structure. Consent of Borrowing for the reconstruction of the bridge in 1965 was from Government. The Ministry of Housing & Local Government agreed to the borrowing by the Public Walks and Pleasure Grounds service of the Council of the County Borough of Preston. The purpose noted was under Public Health Acts 1875-1925 and 1961 for 'Reconstruction of tram bridge across River Ribble between Avenham Park and Playing Fields.' There is no suggestion it was for highway purposes.

The Bridge is currently unsafe and requires demolition and replacement. It is temporarily closed by virtue of a temporary traffic regulation order.

Until its closure, the Bridge was well-used on foot and on cycle. The northern half of it is recorded on the Definitive Map as a bridleway (BW0602071). At the time it was recorded, the route did not connect to other bridleways and the use by the public which led to its recording as bridleway is now considered to have been 'by right' and not 'as of right', as it was part of and/or access to a public park and area of public open space formerly managed by Preston Borough Council, then its successor Preston City Council. This may, on balance, have precluded a public right of way being created by presumed or inferred dedication.

Recent investigations carried out by Officers suggest that public rights may have been incorrectly recorded over part of the Bridge, and that a subsequent unconfirmed Definitive Map Modification Order made in 2003 to record public rights over the other half of the Bridge may also be erroneous for the same reason.

Preston City Council has obtained funding for a scheme to deliver the demolition of the Bridge and the construction of its replacement on the same line, although at a higher level. Both Lancashire County Council and Preston City Council are keen to secure that outcome. The funding provided is allocated on the basis that the scheme does not require a Compulsory Purchase Order and access to carry out the work also relies on the County Council having a power to maintain the bridleway. It is proposed to enter into a public path creation agreement under Section 25 Highways Act 1980 for a new bridleway maintainable at public expense, which would formalise the public rights and maintainability of the surface.

By entering into an agreement, this would impose a statutory duty of maintenance on Lancashire County Council in relation to the surface of the bridleway carried by the present Bridge and its replacement, as Committee will note the right for the owner to raise the level of the highway as a main term in the draft agreement, albeit the structure itself would remain in the ownership and responsibility of Preston City Council and would not be part of the highway maintainable at the public expense.

It is proposed that Lancashire County Council as Highway Authority enters into Agreement with Preston City Council as landowner, to create a bridleway as shown as U-Y on the attached plan, to include the main terms set out below and to allow for work on the Bridge to take place.

Dedications under agreements usually require the way to be fit for purpose and public use at the point of dedication. In this matter, it is suggested that the dedication be taken whilst the bridge is out of repair but that the costs of bringing the bridleway into a safe condition be agreed to be met by Preston City Council, given that the bridleway will not be in a safe condition at the time of it becoming maintainable at the public expense, due to the danger arising from the supporting structure. It is strongly advised that the county council not agree to the bridleway being maintainable at the public expense in circumstances which would result in Lancashire County Council being immediately in breach of its s.41 duty.

Dedications under agreements require the way to connect with the network or places of public resort. Point U connects to the park and Point Y connects to a track in the ownership of the county council (not subject to any tenancy) connecting to Bridleway along the river banks. Officers advise that the county council construct and open to the public a bridleway Y-Z on the plan, and agree that Y-Z also be recorded as bridleway which would also be maintainable at public expense under S36 thereby connecting the network.

It is advised that the Agreement wording be finalised and agreed by an authorised officer (the Recommendation advises the Director of Environment and Planning) on the line shown on the plan in accordance with these main terms -

1. That the agreement is only completed once funding for the Bridge rebuild is confirmed and collaboration agreement and all other agreements between the parties in connection with this project are completed contemporaneously.
2. That it provides for the repair or rebuild of the Bridge structure in the next three years by Preston City Council at Preston City Council's cost to keep bridleway users safe.
3. That it provides for Preston City Council changing the level of the bridleway as the new proposed Bridge is higher and will require ramped accesses.
4. That it provides for the Bridge structure to remain Preston City Council's structure to maintain.
5. That it provides for the width and what constitutes the surface of the bridleway so that it is clear what it entails and where it is.
6. That it provides for an easement to access and work on the Bridge if necessary in connection with works by Lancashire County Council on the Bridleway surface.
7. That it provides some explanation as to why the new bridleway is appropriate.

A draft agreement is being considered by the parties at present which deals with all the main terms above, and is only intended to be completed once funding is confirmed and other agreements are also able to be completed. Some wording will need finalising. Preston City Council confirms that they are content with the main terms of the agreement as above and will work to finalise the wording.

Consultations

Section 25 of the Highways Act 1980 requires that Lancashire County Council shall consult any other local authority in whose area the proposal is situated before entering into the agreement. Accordingly, the necessary consultations have been carried out with Preston City Council and South Ribble Borough Council.

In making the decision to enter into an Agreement to create the bridleway, the Authority must have due regard to the needs of agriculture and forestry and the desirability of conserving flora, fauna and geological and physiographical features. It is believed that this proposal will have no adverse effects on these matters.

Furthermore, it is considered to be compatible with the material provisions of the Rights of Way Improvement Plan. It is also advised that the needs of the disabled have been actively considered and as such, the proposal is compatible with the duty of the county council, as a Highway Authority, under The Equality Act 2010. The route will be of adequate width, firm and well drained underfoot, ramped not stepped and without gates or stiles.

Financial Implications

It is proposed that the county council will enter into Agreement with Preston City Council to rebuild the Bridge to create a path that will be suitable for use by pedestrians, equestrians and cyclists. Funding has been obtained by Preston City Council subject to not needing a Compulsory Purchase Order.

Preston City Council, as the landowner, is in agreement with this creation of a right of way and has agreed not to take a consideration payment for this Public Path Creation Agreement under Section 25 of the Highways Act 1980.

As soon as may be after dedication of a bridleway in accordance with the Public Path Creation Agreement, Lancashire County Council is required to give notice of the dedication by publication in a local newspaper circulating in the area in which the land to which the agreement relates is situated.

It is proposed that the cost of the newspaper advertisement will be borne by Lancashire County Council.

Risk management

Consideration has been given to the risk management implications associated with this proposal and based upon relevant information contained in the report, there are no significant risks associated with the decision-making process as long as the terms of the Agreement ensure that Lancashire County Council is not responsible for rebuilding or repairing the structure of the Bridge.
